FIRE ENGINES ON EXHIBITION

In order that Winchester residents might learn about the greatly augmented fire fighting facilities which have been installed here in recent months, Public Safety Director Harold S. Fuller arranged the parade and public demonstration which took place last Saturday afternoon at the bridge on Shore road.

The parade started from Fire Headquarters, led by Motorcycle Officer D. Irving Reardon. Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan very graciously furnished the popular St. Mary's Band directed by Prof. Frank Barone, to provide the necessary music.

The roster of the procession was as follows:

Motorcycle Officer D. I. Reardon
St. Mary's Band, Prof. Barone lead
Auxiliary Police Battalion with Chief Arnold Nichols in command
Fire Chief John J. Gorman, in chief's car in command of fire engines and firemen.
Engine 1, 3, 4.
Auxiliary Engine 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.
Water Works 1000 gallon Emergency Supply Tank.

Engines 1 and 3 returned to quarters immediately after the parade.

Engine 4 took part in the demonstration because it carries one of the Federal loaned front-end pumps. Engine 5 is the trailer pump bought by the town last year. Engine 6 and the Water Supply Tank were built by our own Water Works shops. Engines 7 8 and 9 were supplied by the Federal Government but were assembled on Water Department trucks. Engine 10 is on hand to be mounted when a spare truck can be found.

Great credit is due Water Commissioner Edmund C. Sanderson, Water Supt. Harry W. Dotter and their department mechanics for making this large group of effective fire trucks with a very small outlay of money.

The display of hose streams was varied and powerful and an unfortunate shift in the wind caused the spray to shower many of the spectators.

The Auxiliary Fire Department has two members who are expert hydraulic engineers and they made numerous highly technical tests.

These men are Clifford H. Williams and Roland E. Simonds, the latter being a former Winchester fire engineer.

There were many compliments extended by Director Fuller, and his assistants Messrs. F. B. Craven, Donald Heath, Elliot F. Cameron, R. H. B. Smith as well as by the many prominent men and women. Fire Chief Eames of Reading, was generous in his praise of the work.

Chief John M. Gorman was assisted by Drill Master Capt. J. Edward Noonan, Deputy Chief T. Parker Clarke, Capts. Henry E. Simonds, Theodore E. Chilcott, Donald E. Woodward and Elmer D. Ripley, also by Lts. Samuel Roberts, William G. Morse, Jr. and Carrick D. Kennedy. Water Supt. Harry W. Dotten and his able technicians gave invaluable support to the tests.

WINCHESTER GAREN CLUB WINS HONORS

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, president, and Mrs. Frederick Russell won the first award in the Melrose Flower show last week for their pedestal arrangement. Two awards were also won by members of the club in the flower show this week at Jordan Marsh's, Mrs. Ghirardini winning a first with her arrangement of red geraniums and pine in an Early American setting and Mrs. Burton L. Gale of Nahant, formerly of this town, for her arrangement of dried tropical foliage, flower buds and fruit, in a modern setting. This entry is on display in the store windows on Avon street.

Other wards were won by club members in the Victory Garden Harvest show, including a first, won by Mrs. Frederick Russell, for her dried flower arrangement of fountain grass.

BUTTERWORTH GETS SILVER STAR

Paul R. Butterworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Butterworth of Englewood road has been awarded the Silver Star and citation for gallantry in action while serving as private with the medical detachment of the 30th Infantry, 3rd Division, in Sicily. The citation, issued by command of Major General Truscott reads:

"On the morning of Aug. 2, 1943, Company K, 30th Infantry was marching east on highway 113 near the town of Caronia, Sicily. The leading elements of the Company having rounded a sharp turn in the road were subjected to heavy fire from enemy machine guns and artillery. The fire killed some men and wounded others. Pvt. Butterworth, on hearing the call for aid men, left his position in defilade and hurried to the front, where the barrage was still in effect. Refusing help from a rifleman, Pvt. Butterworth ran to the spot where Sgt. Towner and Pvt. Giardina lay wounded. With shells exploding as close as 10 yards from him and bullets snapping overhead, Pvt. Butterworth administered first aid to both Sgt. Towner and Pvt. Giardina. He then looked about for other wounded men to aid. The actions of Pvt. Butterworth, voluntary and exemplary in its utter disregard of personal safety, reflects a high degree of credit on himself and the military service."

COL. DEIBERT TO ADDRESS THE FORUM ON SUNDAY

Colonel Deibert, Assistant Commandant of the Army Chaplain's School at Harvard will be the first Forum speaker of the year. He will speak to the high school students on this Sunday morning at 9:30 in the Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church.

Last Sunday evening the Forum began its year with a Registration Supper in the large social hall of the church. The new president, Ted Atkinson, took the gavel and got the group off to a good start. The 40 freshmen were thoroughly initiated to the enjoyment of everyone present and to the consternation of a few upperclassmen who were unknowingly brought into the initiation.

The Rev. Benjamin Anderson, famous Negro singer led the group in singing some of the spirituals.

The program closed wtih a brief Vesper service in Ripley Chapel. The chapel was lighted only by candles and was most impressive. Every one felt that the Forum had a big program which needed the help of each Forum member.

"AL" GAUM IN THE ARMY AGAIN

Albert F. Gaum of 176 Mystic Valley Parkway, a 53 year old father of two married daughters and a son on foreign duty with the famous Canadian Black Watch has enlisted in the Army again and leaves on Monday for ms indoctrination at Fort Devens.

Al, as he is known to everyone in and around Winchester, served overseas in World War 1 under General Dwight D. Eisenhower in the Tank Corps with the rank of sergeant. Feeling a bit doubtful of being accepted for service in the current global conflict, he bethought himself of his old comamnder and wrote him last April, telling of his desire to enlist and asking his advice.

General Eisenhower, despite his multitudinous duties and responsibilities as an overseas commander, took the time and trouble to write Mr. Gaum a personal letter, which is reproduced as just another reason why this American General is great and beloved by his men. The letter follows:

Allied Force Headquarters
Office of the Commander-in-Chief
May 18, 1943

Dear Sergeant:

I greatly appreciate the patriotic spirit which prompts you to write so enthusiastically about your desire to get back in the service. This is typical of the "Treat 'em rough gang".

It seems to me you are performing a real service for your country in the job you are now doing. Unfortunately, you are too old for combat duty. However, if you persist, in your desire to get back on active duty in the Army, you might get in touch with Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlop, Personnel Division, Office of the Adjutant General, War Department, Washington, D. C., who can give you complete advice as to your best possibility. Good luck!

Sincerely,
(Signed) Dwight D. Eisenhower

Al took his old C. O.'s advice and wrote General Dunlop and again he received a personal reply, suggesting that he enlist in the 743rd Heavy Shop Company, Engineers, at Camp Claiborne, La., a mobile unit recently activited.

That was all right with Al. He passed his physical examinations in Boston and at Fort Banks a couple of weeks ago, now he has his orders to report and he will be on his way again Monday, proud as the proverbial Punch!

Al is well known in Legion circles as a member of Winchester Post. He is also a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M. His son with the Black Watch is Albert "Buster" Gaum, former high school football player. The daughters are Mrs. Nena Webb of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Marie Monroe of Bristol, Conn.

LT. VOLPE PRAISED

Under the heading "Know Your Officers" the D-234-Log, official Seabees publication at Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va., has the following to say in praise of Lt. (jg) John Volpe of Highland avenue, which his many Winchester friends will find very interesting:

"Lt. (jg) J. A. Volpe is our Military Training Officer, and from the results of his training program there is no doubt as to his ability as such. Not only are we "blowing" because we practically have a monopoly on the Camp Peary drill penant but we think we have the smartest military area in camp.

Prior to coming to this area Lt. Volpe served seven months as officer-in-charge of Area C7 and for two months he was the only officer in the area.

It seems that Lt. Volpe wasn't satisfied with just doing his part in the Seabees. He also was a self-appointed recruiting officer for his family. He convinced two brothers that the Seabees was the branch of service to join. One brother Richard Volpe, SFlc is out with the 105th Batt., and the other, Peter Volpe, CMlc just recently came to camp.

It is with sincere respect that we smartly salute Lt. Volpe for the service he has rendered to our area."

MEN'S CLUB BIBLE CLASS

The Men's Club of the Unitarian Church announce that it will hold the first session of its new Men's Bible Class on Sunday, Oct. 3 at 9.45 a. m. The minister of the church, Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman will be the leader of this free, frank and liberal interpretation of the Bible and its application to modern life. President Don Kroell states that the class will be divided into two teams under Capt. Ray Terhune and Capt Arnold Nichols. All men of the parish and their friends are invited to join in the hymn singing and the discussions on Sunday mornings at the Unitarian Church.

COMMUNION SUNDAY

Communion Sunday will be observed next Sunday, Oct. 3, by all the Protestant Churches throughout the world.

The Protestant Churches of Winchester are participating in this world-wide observance.

The movement for such a service was inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ of America some five years ago, and has been of unusual interest to all Protestant churches, since it gives them a feeling that, notwithstanding denominational differenees, they all belong to one faith, and acknowledge one leader.

KNIGHTS DEDICATED HONOR ROLL

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, dedicated its honor roll of members serving in the country's armed forces last Sunday afternoon with impressive exercises in the town hall. More than 800 Council members and their guests stood in reverent silence as two Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Edmund L. Dunn, mother of Naval Radioman Edmund L. Dunn, Jr.; and Mrs. Mary G. Halligan, mother of U. S. Coastguardsman John Halligan; both lost in action, unveiled the roll, bearing the names of 73 members of the Council. Both Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Hallgan were presented with flowers before the unveiling ceremony. As they pulled the ribbons, dropping the veil from the roll, St. Mary's Band under the direction of Prof. Frank Barone, played America. The handsome mahogany placque is mounted on gold and superimposed with a gold eagle above the names. It will be placed permanently in the Council Chambers on Mt. Vernon street.

Preceding the exercises in the hall a parade was held, starting at St. Mary's Church and proceeding to the hall by way of Washington, Main and Mt. Vernon streets. In line were the Knights of Columbus, St. Mary's Band, the Legion Colors and color guard and members of the State Guard.

Grand Knight Henry P. Murray made the address of welcome and Past Grand Knight George F. Young acted as master of ceremonies. Rev. Fr. James F. Fitzsimons, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church and Chaplain of the Council, offered the invocation immediately preceding the unveiling ceremony, in which Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Halligan were assisted by Dennis J. Collins, chairman of the dedication committee. State Guardsmen formed a guard of honor. On the platform with other invited guests and speakers were Chairman William J. Speers, Jr., James A. Cullen, Alfred J. Higgins and Daniel A. Murray of the Board of Selectmen.

Speakers included Judge Frank Tomasello, State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus; Chairman Speers of the Selectmen, Lt. Walter J. Burns, Lt. (jg) John Volpe, George Foley and Lt. Walter O'Malley, all members of Winchester Council. Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Gordon Brennan, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. William McGann; and by Dana J. Kelly, baritone, accompanied by Professor Barone. Mrs. McGann sang In a Monastery Garden by Ketelby and The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise. Mr. Kelly, a past Grand Knight of Winchester Council and Past District Deputy sang The Caissons Go Rolling Along by Brig. Gen. Edmund L. Gruber and God Bless America by Berlin.

Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, Past National Commander of the American Legion, was the principal speaker. In the course of his brief address he stressed the importance of winning the peace and pointed out the necessity for sacrificing pleasure to strengthen the war effort to the end that our victory may be sure and as speedy as possible.

Rev. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, pronounced the benediction and exercises were closed with the Star Spangled Banner played by the band.

Dennis J. Collins headed the committee of arrangements, the other members of which were Henry P. Murray, Rev. Fr. James F. Fitzsimons, Frank E. Rogers, Luke P. Glendon, William F. FILE A-BOOK APPLICATIONS AT ONCE

The Winchester War Price and Rationing Board is quite disturbed over the small number of applications for new gasoline A-Ration Books received thus far at the local offices. There are 4000 A-ration holders in Winchester, yet at the present time only about 25 per cent of them have filed applications for new books.

Present A-books now expire Oct. 21 instead of Nov. 22. This means that the local Ration Board office staff has a month less in which to get out the new books. As the rate the applications have been coming in it is going to be physically impossible to get all of them out by Oct. 21, which means that late filers are going to be without books which are valid at that time. Applications were mailed to A-book holders Sept. 1 so there is no time excuse for not having them in by now.

It is necessary when sending in an application for a new book to include with it the back cover of your old ration book and your tire inspection certificate. This does not mean the inspection certificate attached to the application, but the one which you already have and on which, presumably you have a record of your tire inspections, signed by the inspector.

There has been considerable confusion about the necessity for tire inspection. Holders of A and B ration books must have had their tires inspected twice before Sept. 30. Holders of C books must have had at least three inspections by that time.

If the rear cover of your old ration book is not included with your application it will be necessary for you to take your registration to the ration board's office and identify yourself as the proper person to receive the new book for which you apply.

Because the Winchester Chapter of Red Cross is now well organized and ready to assume full responsibility of this war effort, it seems advisable for Civilian Defense to discontinue this particular phase of its work. In doing this we urge everyone who has given, to give again.

NEW RESIDENTS

Among recent new comers to Winchester are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stevenson who have taken up residence at 7 Wolcott road.

Later he served mining interests in the West, being located at Los Angeles, then spent a year in France and Germany and from 1928 to 1933 managed a summer conservatory at Monbsee, Austria, organizing and managing an Institute of World Affairs there in 1933.

For the past 10 years Mr. Stevenson has been interested in the problem of reducing preventable asphyxial deaths in the United States, having been instrumental in stimulating research and the wider use of automatic breathing equipment for this purpose. He is now associated with J. H. Emerson and Company, the country's largest manufacturers of iron lungs and resuscitation equipment.

She has had five papers published in the American Association's bulletin and recently wrote the script for, and directed the filming of "Anaesthesia Serves Mankind", a motion picture designed to educate the public and remove the dread which many have for this pain alleviating agent.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The attractive 1943-44 year books are now out and attention is called to two important matters.

The club activities open two weeks earlier this year, the first regular meeting being the second Monday in October. The second meeting in December, which comes at a time when people are always extra busy and the weather is usually bad, will be omitted. Remember the first meeting is Oct. 11.

The one big event for raising money for club philanthropies this year is the rummage sale in Fortnightly Hall, Oct. 28 and 29. Your generous cooperation is needed to make it a real success.

Now is the time to begin to collect for it. To reverse an old phrase. One man's poison is another man's meat. What may seem worthless to you may have a real value to someone else. Nothing will be refused.

Consult your year book, page 10, for more definite information and then send everything you possibly can and urge your friends to do likewise.

It will be of inestimable help if all articles of clothings contributed are marked with the correct size.

TO MOTHERS OF FIRST GRADE CHILDREN

The mothers of children in the first grade of the Winchester public schools are invited to attend a series of meetings for the study of the ways in which young children learn to read.

These meetings will be held at 1.30 o'clock on Oct. 19, Nov. 2 and Dec. 7 in the assembly hall of the Lincoln School on Westley street.

Young children accompanying their mothers will be cared for in the kindergarten rooms. o1-2t

MOSSY-CUP OAK AT SYMMES CORNER

Few of This Fine Tree Left in New England

The Star is indebted to Mr. Samuel S. Symmes, president of the Cooperative Bank and authority on Winchester history, for its first glimpse this week of the apple of the Mossy Cup Oak, known in the West as "the Burr Oak. The apple is like an ordinary acorn, except that two thirds of it is covered with a bell-shaped non prickly burr which ends in a soft fringe rolling back from the pointed end of the nut.

Winchester's only Mossy-Cup, or at least the only one that Sam knows about, which is the same thing, stands in front of the home of Dr. Arthur Jackson on Main street at Symmes Corner.

This house was built in 1806 by Deacon John Symmes and sheltered members of the Symmes family continuously from that time until the death of Miss Alice F. Symmes, who was born in 1851 and died Jan. 11, 1922.

It was while Sam Symmes' uncle, Luther R. Symmes, was living in the house, more than 60 years ago that the Mossy-Cup Oak was planted for him by the late Michael O'Leary, who was the forester for the Brooks Estate for many years. It is now a magnificent specimen of tree.

The Mossy-Cup or Burr Oak was once common to New England, but is now very rare, having been practically wiped out because of its adaptibility for ship building. It does not bear apples, or acorns, each year, and when it does there are not many. The one which Mr. Symmes brought to the Star Office is available there for any one to see who may care to do so.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Dr. Walter N. Kotschnig to Speak Oct. 15

"The Future of Europe" will be Dr. Kotschnig's subject for his talk at the Evening meeting of the Winchester League held this year on Friday evening, Oct. 15 at 8.15 p. m. in the Wyman School Auditorium.

This distinguished speaker has a very interesting personal record which helps fit him to speak on this important subject. He was born in Austria and studied at the universities of Graz and Kiel. At Kiel he became associate at the Institute of World Economics. From 1925 to 1933 he served as general secretary of the International Student Service at Geneva, where he made an extensive study of problems of higher education throughout the world.

For two years 1934 to 1936 Dr. Kotschnig served as director of the League of Nations High Commission for Refugees coming from Germany. He has been a member of the Commission to study the organization of peace since its inception, and chairman of its sub-committee on international education and educational reconstruction. At present he is professor of comparative education at Smith College.

As usual at this evening meeting an admission fee is charged. The meeting is open to the public and we hope that many beside League members will make use of this opportunity to hear a really exceptionally good speaker right here in Winchester.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS ASSOCIATION

The many talented members of the Winchester Mothers Association who will act as models in Fashionable Whimsies at the high school auditorium on Friday evening, Oct. 8, are: Florence Jope, Eleanor McCall, Miriam Thomson, Olive Peter, Lora Symmes, Joy Woolley, Dorothy Wadsworth, Elizabeth Flanders, Ruth G. Smith, Ruth Johnston, Wilhelmina Bagbee, Ruth Freeman, Catherine Ayer, Aleda Ives, Anne Harbison, Katrine Morse, Esther Sawyer, Marian Ross, Elizabeth Riga, Edith Jones, Esther Borden, Kathryn Embich, Marian Pierce, Marie Chatfield, Ruth Hart, Eleanor Davis, Beatrice Abbott, Ruth Dolliker, Bertha Barnett, Sarah Mullen, May Roberts, Madeleine Zimmerman, Anna McLean, Dorothy Cullen, Deborah Millet, Janet Burbank, Mary Morgan, Marianne Keyes, Margaret McCreery and Kathryn Carroll.

Appropriate musical selections have been arranged by Mrs. Thomas J. Edwards, and a most enjoyable entertainment is being anticipated. There is much interest this year in the Special Two Hours from 10 to 12 following the Fashionable Whimsies when Ben Reeves and his orchestra will furnish music for dancing and a sociable time has been planned for all.

Considerable credit is due Mrs. Theodore Chilcott and her committees for the efficiency with which the many details have been perfected that will insure a successful evening's entertainment and a substantial contribution to the scholarship fund of the Winchester Mothers Association.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE

The Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church opens its years activities on Tuesday, Oct. 5 with luncheon at 1 o'clock under the chairmanship of Mesdames Theodore R. Godwin and Theodore von Rosenvinge. The meeting follows at 2 o'clock. The general subject for the winter is "The Brotherhood of Man." A most interesting program has been arranged, including among the speakers a past president of the General Alliance, a Chaplain of the United States Navy, a reading of a Christmas Play, a dewish Rabbi, a Negro of note and a play by the younger members of the society, coached by Mrs. Dermot Townsle Tilson.

The speaker for Tuesday will be Mrs. Russell P. Wise on "Unitarian Democracy" and a treat is in store for all who attend. Mrs. Wise was president of the General Alliance for six years, was very much interested in the work and gave freely of herself. She traveled from coast to coast, has an extended knowledge of the outposts of Unitarianism and will bring to us a vivid picture of what she considers Unitarian Democracy. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone, whether members of the Alliance or not.

THE THIRD GLOBAL EVENING

Rev. and Mrs. Roger Makepeace will open the parsonage on Sunday evening, Oct. 3 for the third in a series of six Global evenings sponsored by the Women's Organization of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Mr. Jack McCombe, leader of the 10 young men sent from the Boston University School of Theology by the Methodist Board of Missions into Mexico last summer to develop an educational and recreational program in rural communities, will be the guest speaker. His timely subject, "Our Good Neighbor to the South" will be presented with humor and entertainment as well as with much factual data.

WINCHESTER WELLESLEY CLUB

At a meeting of the Winchester Wellesley Club held Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. F. M. Blanchard, 14 Dix street plans for another country dance were made. Mrs. F. E. Asbe is chairman of the committee and Mrs. Richard Gould is in charge of tickets. The refreshments will be under the supervision of Mrs. Lester Armstrong and Miss Mary Hodge.

All who recall the previous dance, will wish to plan for another evening of fun sometime in October. Watch for the date.

TO OUR GAS CUSTOMERS . . .

THE NATIONAL VOLUNTARY CONSERVATION PROGRAM, sponsored by our government, calls for the cooperation of everybody and all companies engaged in the use, production and distribution of gas, electricity, coal, oil, transportation, communications and water. Your gas company is proud to cooperate and urges Americans everywhere to conserve these vital materials and services to hasten victory.

In launching this program the following joint statement was made by Donald Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board; Joseph B. Eastman, Defense Transportation Director; and Harold L. Ickes, Administrator for Hard Fuels and Petroleum Administrator for War:

"Conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a 'must' for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants.

"We have, therefore, called upon the coal, petroleum, electric, natural and manufactured gas, water, communications and transportation industries to join with us in a broad conservation campaign to accomplish these results. The campaign will be voluntary. Cooperation of these industries in asking the public to use their services only as absolutely necessary represents a real sacrifice by them. We ask the American public to appreciate that sacrifice and to give them and the war effort enthusiastic and unstinting cooperation as this campaign develops."

GAS IS VITAL FUEL USE IT WISELY BUY WAR BONDS EVERY PAY DAY

Last winter gas customers were asked to conserve gas to save vital fuels. The response was effective. We thank all of our customers who cooperated and we ask your renewed help in the months ahead.

C., and has been promoted to primary flight training at the Naval Air Station at Norman, Oklahoma.

Cadet Derby graduated from Winchester High School in 1942, captaining the basketball team and playing both varsity football and baseball. He was one of the stars of the football team in his senior year playing quarterback and being on the receiving end of many of Pete Provinzano's forward passes, one of which won the Woburn game in the fall of 1941.

SOCIETY YOUNGSTERS WORK A BOON TO FARMERS

Last spring, the Eaglebrook School in Deerfield, a well known private school for younger boys, heard the call of the farmers in the neighboring countryside who were hard pressed for willing hands to carry on necessary farm work and organized the Eaglebrook Summer Work Camp. Then an hourly wage scale was established. Among those from Winchester who were included in the group of helpers were Virginia F. Burr, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie S. Burr, 71 Wildwood street, and William von Rosenvinge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge of 14 Wedgemere avenue.

MORAN 4-H WINNER AT VICTORY SHOW

Through an unfortunate error the name of Harold Moran was omitted from the list of Victory Garden Harvest Show winners published in last week's Star. The show was held two weeks ago at the Town Hall under the auspices of the Winchester Garden Club, the Better Homes Garden Club and Winchester Civilian Defense.

Harold, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Moran of 969 Main street, was awarded first prize in his 4-H Club exhibit of victory garden vegetables, entered by the Middlesex County 4-H Club. Included were beets, wax and butter beans, tomatoes, carrots, Swiss chard, cucumbers potatoes summer squash and onions.

Harold's brother James, Jr., is in the United States Marines, stationed in Guadalcanal theatre of war.

SWAMPSCOTT HIGH 26—WINCHESTER HIGH 6

Breaks Hurt Locals' Chances With Big, Experienced Club

A big, rangey Swampscott High football team beat Winchester 26-6 last Saturday afternoon at Swampscott and the score would seem to indicate that the locals were completely outplayed. Such is hardly the case as the statistics will demonstrate. Swampscott was the better team, by far, but a better team and the margin of improvement is not all one-sided and deserved such a lopsided score as the game would indicate. Many times could quite easily have been a different story. Credit for all of Swampscott's superiority.

Swampscott made nine first downs to six for Winchester, rushing for 167 yards to 67 yards for the locals. The winners completed two of six passes for 21 yards while Winchester made 10 of 25 passes good for 113 yards. Swampscott didn't fumble while Winchester made four bobbles, all but one recovered by the enemy.

The second half statistics are especially interesting. Winchester made five first downs to Swampscott's two and each team rushed for 78 yards. Winchester outpassed Swampscott 84 yards to 21.

Swampscott had all the better of the first half. The local linemen were over-eager and were being trapped to death by the big blue-clad forwards while the plays selected on offense just weren't the ones to go against the over-shifted Swampscott line.

Winchester stopped Swampscott at the 12 yard line at the end of the first quarter. Roche kicked out well to Baily but the latter made a nice runback to the 22 as the teams changed goals. From there Swampscott scored in six running plays, Friberg going over around Winchester's left end standing up. A bad pass from center spoiled the try for the extra point.

On the second play after the second half kickoff Winchester fumbled and Swampscott recovered at the locals' 35. The winners were stopped dead and Grant kicked outside at the locals' 5. Roche slid off tackle for 4 and then called for a double lateral. S. Tibaudo to Roche to DiMambro. The play worked well, but Chucker's pass bounced off DiMambro's chest to be recovered by Swampscott at Winchester's 25, all this when the speedy DiMambro was cleanly outside with a clear path to the goal line. It would have taken quite a runner to catch But once he got away.

At last Swampscott got the touchdown, Friberg cutting back over center on second down to go 23 yards for the score. The whole Winchester line blocked an attempted dropkick for the extra point.

Sam Tibaudo ran back the Swampscott kickoff to his 37, Roche got 6 at tackle and then on a quick starting "Chamber of Commerce" play Sam Tibaudo got away around the Swampscott left end for a 39 yard jaunt to the Swampscott 18. Winchester lost 5 for a back in motion, but Roche passed to Walsh for nine and then passed to DiMambro for a first down on the 6. In three smashes at the line Sammy Tibaudo went over, driving three yards inside his own right tackle for the score. Lambiase missed the try for the extra point at placement.

Winchester stopped Swampscott dead after the kickoff and Friberg kicked outside at Winchester's 38. On the first running play Winchester fumbled and Swampscott finally recovered back on Winchester's 32. With Grant doing most of the carrying, Swampscott drove to Winchester's 12. Here the locals' braced and drove the ball back to the 16 where it was fourth and 14. Friberg started out to the right on what looked like an end sweep. Instead he rifled a pretty pass to Murray who caught the ball on the five and ambled over with no one near him. Friberg rushed for the extra point.

Jim Tibaudo ran the kickoff back to his 38. A pretty pass from Roche to Walsh went to the Swampscott 34, another pass to Walsh was good for five and a pass from S. to J. Tibaudo made first down at the 13.

An interference ruling made first down on the 10 where little Tony Saraco slid off this right tackle with a clean path to the goal line, only to trip over the foot of Sammy Tibaudo who was blocking in the runner's path.

That ended it for Winchester. Tibaudo was snowed back on the 11 on a spinner and two passes were grounded, giving Swampscott the ball. The winners had to kick and Sam Tibaudo ran back to midfield. A Roche to Walsh pass went to the Swampscott 35, but a moment later an attempted screen pass went right into the arms of reserve guard Greene and the latter galloped 63 yards for the final score. Coon kicked in the extra point.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A highly successful "Freshman Night" was attended by more than 100 parents Tuesday evening of this week. Welcoming them to the Washleigh were seniors Ted Atkinson, Stephen Greene, Donald French, Kenneth Harvey, Stillman Hilton, Herbert Chenoth, Dave Elledge, Gordon McGovern, Jos Bailey, William Thompson and Richard Wells. Assisting in recess' ation were the freshman Student Council members, Roxanne Herbert, Irving Dodgwell, Elizabeth Forbes, Jean Grimes, Edward McGrath, Elizabeth Moore, Virginia Symmes.

Throughout the evening coffee was served by Mrs. Sanford Graves and Mrs. Gordon Smith, assisted by Mrs. J. Roy Nourse.

The many expressions of appreciation have gone far to insure the representation of "Freshman Night" on Open House another year.

A recent communication from the South College Press Board reads as follows:

"Miss Jean Drake and Miss Edna McCormick, both seniors at Smith College have been announced as members of the First Group Scholars for the preceding year. Miss Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drake, has also been active in extra-curricular activities, and is a member of the college orchestra and her class choir. She was the recipient of a poetry prize during her junior year and is a member of the Alpha-Phi Kappa Psi, college society for those outstanding in one of the arts. Miss McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCormick, is also a member of her class choir, and has been on the Dean's List since her sophomore year."

Two hundred four dollars and ninety five cents worth of War Savings Stamps and Bonds were sold at the high school on the first bank day of the school year, Tuesday of this week. This year the sale of stamps and bonds is under the direction of the Junior Red Cross instead of the Red and Black.

Mathematics students James and Margaret Ware, Francis Sleeper, Gordon McGovern, Ewen Cameron, Ruth Tapley, Theodore Atkinson, Stephen Greene, and Ruth Denby met with Mr. Butters recently to formulate plans and policies for this years Math Club. Dealing with brain teasing problems in mathematics, this club has seen a great increase in interest and membership since its inception a few years ago.

President Robert Lynch of the Student Council presided at an assembly on Wednesday morning the object of which was to present to the school the new leaders of student activities. Those who spoke for their organizations were Dick Fenno, president of the A. A. who announced that W. H. S. is now 100 per cent enrolled in the Athletic Association, a modern record; B. J. Smith, secretary of the Dramatic Club, who predicted a busy year; Bert Moore, Editor of the Red and Black, who outlined the forthcoming issue; Ruth Tapley, secretary of the Junior Red Cross, who appealed for donations of used clothing, clean and mended, for Russian relief; and Virginia Terhune, president of the Thrift Association, who pleaded for a continued 100 per cent in banking.

President Lynch spoke in behalf of the waste paper drive, sponsored by the Student Council, which aims to provide funds for assembly programs with outside talent.

HOLMES NOW ENSIGN

Stephen W. Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Holmes of Lakeview road, was among the 110 midshipmen graduated Sept. 22 from the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., receiving the commission of ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Ensign Holmes is a graduate of Winchester High School, having been president of the class of 1940 and a member of the football team. Before entering the service he attended Dartmouth College where he made his letter as a member of the varsity football team.

CAPETO AT BOMBARDIER SCHOOL

Aviation Cadet Charlie Caputo, a reliable tackle on the Winchester High School football team, several seasons ago and later a student at Northeastern University, has passed for duty at the Army Air Forces Bombardier School, Carlsbad N. M., having completed his pre-flight training at the Army Air Forces Replacement Center, Santa Ana, Cal.

At Carlsbad he will learn the bombardier's art under simulated combat conditions, be taught the intricacies of the famous Norden bombsight and, in addition, will be given an intensive course in dead-reckoning navigation. This revolutionary cadet training will qualify him as a bombagator, equally skillful in both fields of warfare and as a consequence especially valuable in the medium bombers where space is at a premium.

Cadet Caputo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Caputo of 62 Swan street.

LEXINGTON HERE SATURDAY

Winchester High meets Lexington High in football Saturday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field commencing at 2:30.

Coach Knowlton is shaking up his lineup for the Minuteboys, sending quarterback Fran Lambiase to left guard in an effort to get more weight in the center of the line and starting Sarto Walsh at quarter.

Lexington lost to Wellesley 25-0 last Saturday, but Asst. Coach Andy Webster, who scouted the game, feels they are a lot better than that score would indicate. The Minuteboys had had their pads only four days before meeting Wellesley, having been engaged in farm work. They will be much better tomorrow.

FREEMAN-MORTON WINNERS

The town's annual tennis tournament ended on Sunday morning Sept. 26, when Maurice Freeman and Bill Morton defeated Stretch McGovern and Jim Ware Jr. 7-5, 6-8, 6-4, 6-1. On Saturday, the 25th Herb Ross and Sylvia Campbell won the mixed doubles from Jim Riley and Polly Kimball, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. This year the players gave their usual, good co-operation, and the weather man did more than his share by providing three successively good week-ends. As reported previously, Herb Ross was winner of the finals against Jim Ware, Jr. and Polly Kimball won from Dotty Hills.

All this town needs now in tennis is a good permanent trophy for womens singles. All interested in doing something about it should communicate with either Les Leathers or D. Bellows.

WINCHESTER COMPANY MASSACHUSETTS STATE GUARD

Although State Guard Week is over Winchester Company will continue the pace it set for itself when it was first organized last spring.

During State Guard Week 10 new men were sworn in, now bringing the enlisted strength of the company to 48.

Last Sunday was an active day, for the Winchester State Guard company. Fifteen members in charge of Lt. Ernest B. Duckworth spent the entire day on the rifle range at Wakefield.

In addition to the men who attended the course of instruction at the rifle range, the Winchester Company also was represented by a detail of ten men in charge of 1st. Sgt. Arthur F. Haskell at the dedication of the plaeque which was unvailed Sunday afternoon by the Winchester Council Knights of Columbus.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Aviation Cadet Richard J. Merrow has been home on a furlough before returning to final instructions in meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This training, usually available only to graduate engineers, is reputedly the finest weather-forecasting instruction in the world. It is being given to a selected group of Navy officers and Army Air Force officer candidates. Dick Merrow is a graduate of Winchester High School and was, when he enlisted last year, a sophomore engineer at M. I. T.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY GAME OCT. 14

Coach Deborah Fenton of the Winchester High School girls' field hockey team is having plenty of trouble lining up games for her eleven, many of the schools with which the local girls usually compete having given up hockey.

Apparently hockey coaches are going into the WACS, WAVES, Matrimony and Defense in droves so that a number of nearby schools have no one to direct this great fall sport. Stoneham is playing to hockey this fall, Medford is waiting to get a new coach and other schools which Miss Fenton has contacted are uncertain whether they will field teams.

As a consequence it won't be until Oct. 14 that the local girls will play an interscholastic game as things now stand. On that Thursday afternoon, they will play Lexington, always a hard team to beat. It would be nice if they could have a game under their belts before tackling the Minutegirls.

WINCHESTER HIGHLANDS MEN'S CLUB

Winchester Highlands Men's Club will hold their opening meeting of the season on Thursday evening, Oct. 7 in the assembly hall of the Second Congregational Church. The speaker will be Lt. Joseph J. McArdle, USNR, of the Navy Physical Fitness program. Lt. McArdle was formerly line coach under Frank Leahy at Boston College and it is expected that he will attract a large turnout.

RUNAWAYS PICKED UP IN WASHINGTON

Last Saturday night at 11 o'clock Police Headquarters was notified by the Western Union that its Boston office had a telegram from Robert Barrett, chief of detectives in Washington, D. C., stating that two Winchester boys, aged 15 and 16, were being held as runaways in the National Capitol. A request was made that the parents of the boys either come to Washington for them or send money to pay their transportation back to Winchester.

The local Police contacted the parents of the boys who sent on money to defray the cost of the return trip home.

Police Headquarters was notified shortly before 10:30 Monday evening that three Winchester girls, aged 14, 15 and 15, were missing from their homes. The trio went from high school to Boston to attend a show and had not been heard from. A description of the girls was broadcast over the teletype and radio, but nothing was heard of them through the night. The next morning however at 9:55 the father of one of them notified the authorities that he had picked up the girls on Tremont street in Boston and had returned them to their homes.

Next week has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week. Chief John J. Gorman of the Fire Department is urging all residents of Winchester to observe the occasion by at least seeing to it that their homes are not cluttered with inflamable material and by resolving anew to exercise all reasonable precautions in the kindling of necessary fires, both in and out of doors. The great lack of rain during the past summer and the fall thus far offer great possibilities in the matter of costly fires, potentially destructive of valuable timber vital to the war effort. Here in Winchester dry foliage is ready to crackle into a blaze, calling for the service of the Fire Department, often to a much greater extent than is safe, let alone necessary. We could all use much more care than we do in the matter of setting outdoor fires, especially after dark. It seems hardly consistent to have air raid wardens requesting householders to lower their shades when a neighbor is permitted to have a bonfire blazing to high heaven. It is against the fire laws to set any sort of fire outdoors after dark and it is also against the law to set outdoor fires at any time without a permit. Burning in an incinerator does not obviate the necessity of securing such a permit. Fire laws are made for the protection of life and property. They should of course be observed, and they would be, at least to a far greater extent than they are if a few prosecutions were made for flagrant violations of them. Such prosecutions would do more than all the Fire Prevention Weeks imaginable.

WE CAN'T DO THE IMPOSSIBLE

Although for years we have done it—here at the Star Office. We have worked early and late. We have printed your society news, your club notes and your church information. More than once we have viewed our accomplishment in sheer wonder. We have given all of you free advertising and fought with a few of you over the fifty-per cent off your seventy-five cent charge, but all in all we have taken care of you.

Some of you we have never satisfied. Some of you we have pleased. Most of you have gone right along with the usual demands. So many times we have done the impossible that our hair is thinning and turning gray. In all these hectic days we employed a mechanical force of seven, and all seven were just as hard pressed as we ourselves. The Star staff can look back with satisfaction, no matter how you view it.

But now! Alas. Our mechanical force is reduced to four—three are in the Army—enlisted, we are proud to say, and you all know that good printers, the kind you like to have do your work, are not too plentiful here in Winchester. You know too, that these are Brave New Deal Daze (we have certainly told you so), and that we are at war, and that times are confusing to all of us. All of which tends to bring the impossible right here to our door.

We will continue to give you all the news—of course. We will continue to give you your club and society notices. Please bring them all in to us. We will not stop giving you one "free" reader for your fair, concert, lecture or show. (You know dam well you ought to pay for it though.. It costs us money and Lord, there are so many of you!) In fact we will continue to serve you now as in the past. But—

Get your copy in early. Don't expect the account of last Friday's meeting to get service on Thursday. We want to serve you and give you "publicity," but "news" is what we furnish. Don't bring in a column of matter giving the opinion of someone in Seattle on how the World should be run. Be complete but brief. Don't try to smuggle in an ad by omitting the price of tickets. In fact, please give recognition to today's conditions and help us out.

And remember- we cannot set in type all the news of the Town on Thursday. This is final! But if the setting is spread from Monday to Thursday, we can give you a lot.

And if they all do this, dear Lord, how we'll meet the impossible.

GAS STATIONS

Would appreciate your co-operation in advising car owners to get their A renewals in to the Rationing Board just as soon as possible.

The Government had informed us to start work on these at once and there is a possibility the renewal date may be advanced.

It is necessary that tire inspection certificate and back cover of A book be enclosed with Form R-570. Also that tire inspections be up to date.

NEW DEAL'S CLIMB TO POWER

Promises Recklessly Made, Callously Broken, Steps to Control

To the New York Herald Tribune:

This country is no longer governed by law but rather by bureaucratic executives and an organized favored class ruled by puppet dictators aided and abetted by a New Deal dictator-in-chief. How did this happen? The story of the genesis of it is an account of one of the most adroit political campaigns ever executed in this country. It began in the Presidential campaign of 1932 and the present national state of affairs is the direct result of political strategy that has never risen above the level of Tammany Hall ward political methods.

First on the agenda was to win the election and seat a subservient Congress. There was nothing new in the tactics used to accomplish this, just the old, old trick of promising a trusting people the millennium, better times, a new deal. New deal had not been capitalized then, that was done later to designate the name of a political party. This was the successful strategy of the Fascist, Mussolini and Hitler and their predecessors who used it over and over again through the centuries in the rise and fall of nations.

Pertinently I quote Mr. Roosevelt's own words uttered in a speech at Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 29, 1932. "I propose to discuss up and down the country, in all seasons and at all times the duty of reducing taxes, of getting the most public service for every dollar paid in taxation. That I pledge you, and nothing I have said in this campaign transcends in importance this covenant with the taxpayers of the United States." At St. Louis, Oct. 31, 1932, he said, "It is my pledge and promise that rigid governmental economy shall be enforced by a stern and unremitting Administration policy of living within our income." In a radio address duly 30, 1932, he said, "Let us have the courage to stop borrowing to meet continuing deficits. Stop the deficits."

These promises of an arch politician, none of them fulfilled, with the disgraceful smear-Hoover propaganda swept the "New Deal" into power.

A hypnotized, servile Congress, spineless and disloyal to the people whom it was chosen to represent, renounced its Constitutional rights and duties, acted as a White House puppet and became subservient to a degree that speedily earned for itself the cognomen "rubber stamp" Congress. As a representative body it went the way of the dodo.

The next step in the New Deal strategy was to make organized labor a favored class by exempting it from the laws and the Constitution that govern the mass of the people. That was easy for the astute White House politician. The puppet Congress passed the notorious Wagner act, the President made it law by signing it, thus securing the support and votes of ten million of organized labor. He has opposed all attempts to amend the act to make it fair to all the people, vetoed all off rts to make labor subject to the common law that governs corporations and the rest of us.

Congress subjugated, the next act on the President's agenda was the control of the judicial department. That also was easy for him. A mediocre lawyer, ex-member of the Ku Klux Klan, a governor who sided with a lawless mob against the Supreme Court of his state were appointed to the United States Supreme Court. That with other devices, metamorphosed that once august tribunal into the Roosevelt Supreme Court whose decisions are founded on political expediency. Today no man is wise enough or learned in the law to a degree that makes it possible for him to tell what the decision is likely to be in any case of law submitted to it. Sound established law, accepted legal precedent and edicts of the Constitution have no bearing on its rulings. In a recent case it ruled that it was illegal for a member of a religious cult to refuse to salute the flag in a public school and a little later it decided it was not. With confidence in the court destroyed the legal profession is confused and balked in its effort to establish justice and counsel its clients wisely.

Petrillo, head of the department of organized labor, has flouted the laws with impunity, which, if done by a corporation member or anybody outside of organized labor, would have been severely punished. The Roosevelt court on appeal refused to do anything about it. It affirmed a ruling of Federal District Judge John P. Barnes, of Chicago, that "a labor dispute was involved in the case and therefore an anti-trust injunction suit was barred." Thus the court flouted the Constitution, demonstrating its inclination to protect organized labor and its abandonment of the people in their plea for justice, liberty and freedom.

With Congress and the United States Supreme Court eliminated, the President has achieved his ends by adroit politics of the Tammany Hall type and, aided and abetted by lawexempted organized labor and "New Deal" puppet executives appointed to key positions in the departments of government, he has established the first totalitarian government in the United States, with himself as dictator.

The build-up of his power has been shrewdly planned and progressive, step by step without a hitch. From time to time, to appease the people, wise and able men have been appointed to administrative positions, supposedly with full power to direct their departments, only to find they were stymied by some puppet executive concealed somewhere in a maze of New Deal bureaucrats who thwarted their efforts to drive to a desired goal, to disentangle a mess of conflicting and overlapping government edicts. These appointees were really figureheads, as recent political squabbles in Washington have revealed.

It is realized by those real Americans who long for the return of sound, democratic principles that the so-called "New Deal" is a misnomer, that it is in fact nothing but a political old deal dressed up for vote-getting propaganda. Not one of its administrative methods palmed off on the nation in the last ten years is less than 2500 years old, not one that has not been discredited over and over again and, en masse, whenever instituted by an ancient or a modern nation, has resulted in totalitarian government and dictatorship, just as it has in the United States.

Not long ago the President stated that millions of our people are undernourished and ill-fed. When that statement was made we had bumper crops and a surplus of food beyond the needs of the nation. The farmers were ordered to destroy the surplus—bury the corn and wheat, destroy the hogs, raise less and they were paid for doing it. The under-fed who needed the food were compelled by taxation to pay their share for destroying it. Thus was perpetrated the most inhuman crime in our history, the dog-in-the-manger crime—if you cannot eat your super-abundance yourself do not let anybody else have it. Now it is proposed to feed the poor in foreign countries free of charge, billions for them. Our own undernourished in the Southern mountains and the city slums may shift for themselves. The good-neighbor policy does not apply to them. Do any feel that charity should begin at home? If the Government had used the money it paid the farmers to destroy food to buy it for the poor and undernourished who have invoked the President's solicitude, would it not have been far better than the New Deal experiment with the theory of scarcity to promote prosperity?

Twenty-five hundred years ago Confucius, the wise Chinese philosopher, advised his people to build storehouses for their surplus food in time of plenty for use in time of famine. If common sense had dictated that policy in this country the starving in Europe could have been fed with the treasured surplus and the current harvests supplied our own people without rationing.

Now and in the reconstruction period to come, this country needs the leadership of the strongest and wisest men, chosen regardless of party affiliation for the good of all the people; men of deeds, not of words; men of common sense and great executive ability. For ten years the nation has suffered from lack of these in high places.

The next Presidential election will decide for or against totalitarianism, make no mistake about that. Even if you are opposed to it you will be taxed to help pay for Administration propaganda in favor of it. Be guided by sound fundamentals, not by plausible propaganda. Thrice our voters have been deceived by specious arguments, persuaded by the wile of unscrupulous politicians. The qualities that make an individual trustworthy and successful are essential for national strength and prosperity. With this fact in mind one may choose wisely worthy representatives loyal to all the people.

If you are one in the ranks of our 50,000,000 unorganized laborers do you want to continue paying tribute to the Administration's 10,000,000 organized favored class who are exempted from the laws and the Constitution that govern you and whose bosses tell you what you may or may not do? Do you want to run your own country, represented by a Congress legislating for you in the spirit of the Constitution or do you prefer to be misrepresented by a spineless New Deal "rubber stamp" one representing a clique of selfish Washington politicians?

The issue is clear. The next election will reveal whether or not you are still hypnotized by the propaganda of the Washington clique of arch politicians who are now directing the affairs of this country for themselves, not for the people.

A government splurge on borrowed money, a $50,000,000,000 peace-time debt, an emasculated Supreme Court, the crime of the dog-in-the-manger food edict, a maze of puppet bureaucrats, the Wagner act creating a lawless, favored class; Petrillo instead of liberty and freedom, a totalitarian government instead of democracy, an Army and Navy sleeping until awakened by the Japs at Pearl Harbor, an Administration glorified by ghost writers, suave insincerity, Messrs. Hopkins, Wallace, Ickes and Mme. Perkins—these are the supreme contributions of the New Deal to the American people. Shall this Administration be continued or shall government of the people, by the people, for the people supplant it?

TWO PAIRS OF SHOES NOT ENOUGH FOR CHILDREN

The Massachusetts Chiropody Association, of which Dr. John D. McLean of this town is president, is gravely concerned with the Rationing authorities' recent decision to limit everyone to two pairs of shoes a year. It is with the decision as it will affect children that the chiropodists are most concerned.

There are periods in a child's growth, say the chiropodists when it is entirely possible for him to outgrow a pair of shoes in three weeks. Wearing outgrown shoes is one of the surest ways possible to contract foot ills that will eventually produce a foot cripple.

Army physicians have been amazed at the number of prospective selectees who have had to be rejected because of faulty feet. The chiropodists believe that the limiting of children to two pairs of shoes yearly will in 15 years bring about conditions that will result in the United States being a nation of foot cripples.

OCTOBER EXHIBITION OF OILS

Ernest L. Major, veteran teacher at the Massachusetts School of Art, beloved by generations of students, and master of the brush, has outstanding canvasses in the October exhibit of the Winchester Art Association, which will open Tuesday evening, Oct. 5 at 7.30 o'clock in the library gallery. Mr. Major, who is doing some of the finest work of his career at 80, combines that rare ability of being able to teach art and create it. When 70 he was surprised with a birthday celebration of marked importance given by many of our foremost painters and teachers of art, who as students had felt the impact of his influence on their lives.

Showing with Mr. Major's works will be the fine landscapes of Marian P. Sloane. Born in Salem, pupil of the Museum School in Boston, and especially fond of Vermont's mountains, Mrs. Sloane portrays with skill and finesse. She is a constant exhibitor at the Grand Central Galleries in New York, a member of the National Association of Women Painters, the Copley Society, the Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts and the Guild of Boston Artists.

At the opening artist John Enser, will give a painting demonstration. He was formerly a pupil of Herman Dudley Murphy.

Hostesses for the evening: Mrs. Truman Godfrey and Mrs. Robinson Whitten.

Pouring will be: Mrs. Charles Underwood and Mrs. Sherman W. Saltmarsh.

NEEDLE-WORK GUILD OF AMERICA

Governor's Proclamation

Massachusetts is always in the lead for good works and Governor Saltonstall has joined with 41 other states in proclaiming Oct. 10-16 as Needle-Work Guild Week.

Every autumn 700 branches throughout the country join in the ingathering of thousands of items of wearing apparel and household linens. Last year the number reached the 2,000,000 mark. For its great value to the National war effort, and through its affiliation with the American Red Cross in caring for home front needs, the Guild is highly commended by President Roosevelt.

Winchester's local branch, with its 20 directors invites your interest, and membership is open to everyone.

Watch the Star for further information until the annual meeting on Nov. 3.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, noted geographer and geologist and president of Clark University, Worcester, will deliver before the teachers of Winchester an interesting series of lectures on the subject of geography, beginning on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 6.

Dr. Atwood has been president of Clark University since 1920. He received his B. S. degree from the University of Chicago in 1897 and his Ph.D. in 1903. He was Professor of Physiography at Harvard for seven years prior to going to Clark. Dr. Atwood is a member of the Geologist Society of America and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He is the author of several books, one of the latest, published in 1941, being Protection of Nature in the Americas.

All of Winchester's schools are striving for the United States Treasury flag which may be flown from the flag staff of any school which has 90 per cent of its students regular purchasers of war savings stamps and bonds. In many of the schools booths are prepared for the purchase of stamps. In the high school, the Junior Red Cross conducts the sale in home rooms on Tuesdays and maintains a booth in a main corridor.

Members of the Winchester Teachers Association gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary Randlett on Hillcrest parkway on Wednesday afternoon of this week for the first meeting of the year. A cook-out, arranged by a committee chosen by President Larry Cooper, and consisting of the building representatives, proved a good drawing card. Coffee by Leary was a feature as usual.

Parents may be interested to know that school children are assisting Russian war relief through the Junior Red Cross. Calls for used clothing, clean and mended, are legitimate at this time.

PAST NOBLE GRAND'S SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grand's Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, I.78, held its first meeting of the season on Wednesday evening at the home of Sister Bessie Mobbs. The business meeting was presided over by our president, Sister Elsie Lyons, at the close of which a very lively discussion took place, the subject being some Crown heads of Europe and their wives. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Sister Jessie Ripley.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Sister Lillian Donaghey, Glenwood avenue on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21.

NOONAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Noonan School Mothers Association will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 5, following the meeting a reception and tea will be tendered the teachers. On Monday evening, Oct. 25, there will be a whist and bridge party in the auditorium of the school in aid of the scholarship fund.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Of course the censor, examiner they call it in that part of the Allied Armies, cut a neat hole where the sailor had put the place where he was writing his letter of thanks to Mrs. Minnie Fletcher. But even with that lacking, the letter had so much interest for United States women that she shared it with her fellow workers in the luncheon hour of British War Relief Wednesday. His place of writing was a long way off from Winchester, for the letter written April 9 was not in the mail here until the morning of Sept. 29. American pride in our men and our machines was gratified with this: "Whilst home on leave a few months ago, I had the pleasure of seeing one of your giant bombers destroy four German fighters in aerial combat; I have seen many air battles during this war, for my home was on the south-east coast during the Battle of Britain, but I can honestly say that that particular feat was the finest I have ever seen."

Now Mrs. Fletcher is knitting away on her 54th pair of these enormous seaboot stockings. A lot of men go about icy tasks the more comfortably because of her unwearying fingers.

Yarn for navy gloves, gray socks, and the long white seaboots may be had at Epiphany parish hall on Wednesday.

The first bakers dozen of cuddly animal toys went into Boston as a result of the first Wednesday's work. Others are assembling each week. Workers, gift toys, or materials will be welcome on the two Wednesdays remaining for work before Oct. 15, the date for shipping. As to materials if you have any legs of black cotton stockings, or bright calico or gingham for an Aunt Jemima's apron hurry them over to the parish hall, Oct. 5.

BACKING CAMPAIGN

The 2000 volunteer workers for the Salvation Army's annual appeal in Greater Boston are enthusiastically back of this campaign to make it an outstanding success.

Winchester has $3000 to contribute to this drive and it is the high hope of the local sponsoring committee that donations here will more than top this amount.

More and more people everywhere are realizing that the Salvation Army's work is an indespensible asset to every community, for the Salvation Army is in every city and town. It is everybody's Army and ever on the alert with its humanitarian services all along the global war fronts.

Because of the increases demands put upon this great organization, and right here in our own Greater Boston area, the Army will need, more than ever before, the loyal support of its many friends. It calls upon the people of Winchester to stand staunchly by during this drive.

Our campaign chairman, William N. Beggs, calls attention that as a result of this annual appeal, a local service fund is maintained in this community to provide help in worthy cases.

Mr. Beggs and his campaign treasurer, Donald J. Lewis, are high in their praise of the Women's Division headed by Mrs. Harold Farnsworth. Through her capable organization of this volunteer group, she has speeded up the collection work here and added a note of interest to the campaign in Winchester.

All these women workers are provided with credentials which they will gladly supply for inspection. The chairman asks that citizens, when approached in this residential canvass ask to see these credentials.

RED CROSS HOME NURSING

Two classes in Red Cross Home Nursing will start next week. An evening class begins Oct. 4 at 7.15 to 9.15 p. m., meeting twice a week every Monday and Wednesday evenings in Room 11, Locatelli Building.

An afternoon class begins Oct. 5, 2.30 to 4.30 p. m. meeting twice a week in Room 11, Locatelli Building. To enroll call Mrs. H. R. Browne, tel. Win. 2646 or Winchester Chapter, Win. 2300.

The Winchester Chapter American Red Cross has been given a large hospital quota for military and naval hospitals. Bedside bags and fracture pillows are needed. Red Cross needs workers to make these articles. Will you come Tuesday, Oct. 5 or Thursday Oct. 7 or both days, to the Town Hall Red Cross work room to help?

BANK BOND SALES TOTALED $76,050

Winchester Banks sold $76,050 worth of War Bonds Monday evening in a voluntary contribution to the town's bond drive which was a part of a program carried out by banks throughout the State. Members of the local bank staffs gave their services for the evening to assist the drive and an overwhelming majority of those who purchased bonds Monday evening stated that the opportunity to do so after working hours was a welcome one. Several said that they probably would not have bought bonds had the Monday evening hours not been available.

Selectman James A. Cullen of Bacon street won the $100 "E" Bond awarded by the Winchester National Bank for bringing in the greatest number of subscribers, 42.

The National Bank sold $38,625 worth of bonds, the other totals being, Trust Company, $26,000; Savings Bank, $8400; and Cooperative Bank, $2025.

WAR BONDS
4 for 1

U. S. destroyers and other anti-submarine vessels of the Navy are equipped with quadruple tubes, meaning they are capable of firing four torpedoes simultaneously, making it more difficult for the target to escape.

Modern warfare is the most expensive destruction the world has ever experienced both for the destroyed and the destroyer. There is no point where we can stop in this war this side of peace so all of us will be required to buy an extra $100 Bond in the 3rd War Loan.

ART AS A STIMULANT IN WAR TIME

With the traveling exhibit of the Boston Camera Club, still on display at the library, the Winchester Art Association enters its second full war year. While realizing that the war effort is paramount, President Bush and the members of the board still feel a greater civic responsibility than ever before in providing for the Town of Winchester a program of value that brings the cultural enrichment of art to the citizen carrying his extra war time load.

Within Winchester itself, at the Public Library, a minimum of distance from any town residence, the gallery with its exhibitions, talks and demonstrations functions throughout the year. The Association is including in its 1943-44 program a show of Chinese Art, a group of early American Primitives and a collection of Maps. The stimulated interest in maps all over the country is amazing.

In these busy days the evident advantage of seeing the best in Art, here in town, is the privilege of every person in Winchester, for the exhibits are open each month for the benefit of the public. The attendant gallery talks, demonstrations and teas are also open to any resident who avails himself of the opportunity to become a member of the Winchester Art Association. Mrs. Trueman Godfrey of Everett avenue can answer any questions in connection with prospective membership. Service men and women are the Association's welcome guests at all times.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

Lt. (jg) John A. Volpe is home on leave for a few days from Virginia. Last Sunday he attended the dedication of the K. of C. Honor Roll, which was made possible partly through his effort and generosity. He was also one of the speakers at the dedication.

Headed by our Ven. A. P. Tofuri, many members and officers of our lodge attended the K. of C. Honor Roll dedication.

Lt. Barone has been promoted to Captain and Pfc. John Benenato has been promoted to a Corporal. Good luck boys. Will DiMinico is now a Corporal in the Marines and he is stationed in California.

Jumbo is still around. He recalled the time when he was working with Chesty as a plumbers helper. Chesty would ride him because he couldn't lift a bathtub. After fooling around Army tanks Jumbo said he'll take on Chesty any time now.

Antonio Giliberti, Jr. (better known as Kelley) was inducted and at this writing he is still in Fort Devens, waiting to be assigned to an outfit.

Just a few words about some of the corner boys. Tom Rania is home on a furlough. He is stationed somewhere in the North Atlantic. Joe Ferro is home from the South Pacific. Jerry Palumbo is in the Army. At present he is attending Yale where he is studying engineering.

Mary Tucci of the Ladies' Lodge, who is a WAVE, has been promoted to a Yeoman 2nd Class. She is still stationed in Washington, D. C. How's about it Mary? Give out with the penmanship and send us a letter. The same goes for your sister Anita and WAC Grace Marchesi.

I received a letter from Cpl. Joe Fiocciello in which he said he had been to Miami to see Johnny Dello. They had quite a reunion as they hadn't see each other for over a year. Sniff also saw some boys from Woburn and Stoneham. He regretted he was unable to find Peter Provinzano and Barney Vespucci.

Musky received a letter from Butsy Mistretta. He says: I am fine, the weather is fine, the location is fine, the food is fine, in fact everything is fine. How is everybody at the clubhouse? Give them my regards and tell them I hope it won't be long before I join them again. Good old clubhouse.

Thanks Butsy old boy. We at the clubhouse wish you lots of luck and good hunting. Kill a few of them so and so's for me, will you?

We received a letter from "Nick" Molica who is in the Marines. He says: In answer to Ficky's statement, he is all wet. The Paratroopers cannot compare with the Paramarines. I'll also have St. Sgt. Ficocielli know that I expect to be home in November and I will straighten him out in this matter. Give my best regards to my fellow Marines Penta and DiMinico, who will also back me up in this matter.

Thanks for your letter, Nick. Well Paratroopers the score is Marines 1, Paratroopers 0. The Marines have landed, when are you. Incidentally, Nick, I understand Jerry will be home late in November, so it looks like there will be a hot time in the old town.

To Johnny Bananas, now that you have been made a Corporal, how long will it be, before you are a General.

Fresh Water in Jamaica

Unlike some of the islands in other parts of the West Indies Jamaica is plentifully supplied with fresh water. The Spanish term from which the name Jamaica is derived means "Island of Springs," and fresh water springs abound throughout the island.

Canadian Axes Help Bomb the Axis

CANADIAN woodsmen are working long hours to cut down forests of Sitka spruce, the result of which is having such a telling effect on the bombing of Germany.

Now that it has been proved in actual combat that plywood can replace steel in the building of such speedy and deadly aircraft as the Mosquito, and now that Canada is turning out such warplanes, the demand for aircraft quality Sitka spruce has greatly increased, not only for her own use, but for that of the United States and other United Nations.

Sitka spruce is found only on the Pacific Coast. Trees of a size suitable for aircraft production, ranging from six to fourteen feet in diameter, take several hundred years to grow, and are not plentiful. To conserve the supply, the logs are policed through the mills, so that no piece of aero lumber may be lost. In addition, inspectors are employed in aircraft factories to guard against wastage during processing. The photographs show lumbermen running the logs down a British Columbia river, a giant Sitka before being felled and the finished product, one of the many Mosquitoes which are now stinging Germany.

It is believed that the box either fell from a passing truck and was picked up, or was taken from the machine by some one. Either way, whoever took it to the rear of the theatre for a look-see didn't want the hot stuff after making the examination.

WINCHESTER RESPONDS TO CLOTHING FOR RUSSIA

The collection of clothing for Russia is well underway in Winchester. It is most vital that it continue efficiently, so that the garments, shoes, and blankets may reach some of the 30 million homeless men, women and children of Russia before winter.

Already Massachusetts has collected in July and August 107,820 pounds of clothing, valued at $102,638; the fourth largest amount in the Russian War Relief clothing drive in our 14 states. New York City leads with 241,464 pounds, Ohio second, and California third. With clothing valued at 82 cents a pound, one can realize how much real help a wearable old pair of shoes, warm overcoat, felt hat or sweater can be.

One of Winchester firemen asked a volunteer who was removing donations from the barrel of the fire station if the clothing was sold to junk dealers for funds. The answer is No. Garments are cleaned (washed) and mended (when necessary) packed and sent to Russia through Russian War Relief, Inc.

Each Public School, through the responsive co-operation of Mr. Quinn, the School Committee and the teachers, are having posters, educational maps and cartoons in the schools to urge children to bring donations.

With the clergymen of each church as sponsors of the Winchester Russian War Relief Committee, their help in getting church groups to collect and receive clothing is valuable.

The Winchester Theater through Mrs. Lucius Smith, has made it possible to use the lounge as a sewing circle mornings from 9-12 to mend and pack clothing donated in bins in the theatre lobby.

The fire station is a convenient place to leave your contribution when down town and the kind co-operation of the firemen is helpful.

Through Mrs. Gilbert Tapley and Mr. Charles Noyes, the Girl and Boy Scouts will help collect, mend and pack.

Don't delay, bring or send articles to any of the collection centers listed above.

McLAUGHLIN AND BUTTERS

"Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nabnassett, paired with Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, to win top honors in last week-end's regular matches of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, Pitching was on the whole mediocre, Mr. McLaughlin being by a comfortable margin the best of those competing, even though it must be admitted, considerably below his best Nabnasset form. Mr. Butters, after a brief spurt at the start of play, during which he averaged a ringer a box for eight boxes, slumped badly, his old axiomatic hyperdiometric shoe missing the stake rather more than it connected and by wide margins at that. Arthur can thank his pedagogical partner for his championship stature last weekend, and it must be admitted that he himself was not slow in according Wild Willie the credit that was his due.

Before we mislead the readers of this column we must emphatically state that there was nothing of presidential calibre about even the McLaughlin pitching. As a matter of fact Royal Paper Trade Teele, president by acclaim since the Association's inception, was so unimpressed with his efforts that he didn't even bother to watch his most persistent rival, turning his back upon play and burying himself in the antiques section of the paper.

Mr. Teele had had luck in the matching that determined those who were to play at the start of the session and as a consequence was relegated to the bench. His subsequent efforts when he finally entered the lists with Herbert Garrulous Gardner as partner were such as to cause grave doubts in some circles as to the advisability of his ever having left it.

It was not Royal's day any more than it was Roland Thin Finger Pridham's, or the Secretary's, though the latter almost never has a day anyhow, and was about as usual as far as form went.

It was something of an event to have old Garrulous Gardner back in the fold. Herb has been vacationing since away back the latter part of the summer, and his long layoff hadn't done his submarine shoe any good. In fact there were some present, notably Mr. Teele, who felt, with some justice it must be owned, that lack of practise had actually dimmed the Gardner eye and aim. The fact that in one of the four straight games that he and Mr. Teele lost in the course of the session Mr. Gardner made more points than the champion of the Boston Paper Trade indicates the level at which Royal was operating. The best that can be said of it was that it was elementary.

It remained for Thin Finger and the secretary to give the Champs their only battle and the first named pair actually won a series, beating the Champs 25-2 in one of the games at that. In the game that decided the second of the three series between these teams Mr. Pridham and the Secretary were behind 24-13 an almost hopeless outlook. A Pridham ringer, followed by an unbelievable double-header by the Scrivener made the score 24-22, but the aroused Mcloughlin then covered Mr. Pridham's close ones with two ringers and it was lights out.

ROTARY CLUB

At the regular Thursday noon meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club, Mr. William P. Goddard, former librarian for the City of Woburn, was the guest speaker. From his intimate contact with the Far East, particularly China and Japan, he brought an enlightening story of Oriental art and customs. He was born in China, the son of a missionary and some years later took up residence in Woburn. As the librarian in Woburn, he became very much interested in the early history of Woburn and Winchester and related many local historical incidents.

The matter of regular attendance at the regular weekly meetings of the club provoked much discussion. It was suggested that an honor roll for attendance should be set up as an incentive to a more perfect attendance record, and that some means should be used to contact those who are careless in their attendance.

Harry Bigelow has been arranging worth while speaking programs and the caterer has been serving tasty luncheons, in spite of rationing. Let us all show President Ernie that we are behind him by making every effort to be present at the regular Thursday noon meetings.

The new seating arrangement has been finally solved by some of our better-known political members and they are once again back with their old dining neighbors.

BOND DRIVE ECHOES

The Winchester War Bond staff wishes to thank all those who co-operated so heartily in making the Third War Loan drive such a tremendous success.

Especial credit should go to the Winchester National Bank, who donated the $100 War Bond awarded to Mr. James Cullen, and to the following Real Estate brokers for the gift of the two $50 bonds won by the Winchester Smith Club and the Fortnightly: Vernon Jones, Murray and Gillett and H. I. Fessenden.

Appreciation is also expressed to Mr. Joseph Worthen, chairman of the War Bond Theatre party, to Mrs. Lucius Smith, manager of the Winchester Theatre, to the Winchester Star for its generous allotment of publicity space, to the Women's Organizations and to the vast army of war bond solicitors without whose efforts the drive could not have succeeded.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Earle Edwin Andrews, Jr., 196 Highland avenue and Barbara Haynes, 11 Welgate road, West Medford.

Thomas Worthen, 29 Wedgemere avenue and Nancy Elizabeth England, 1 Ledgewood road.

CAPT. KEENAN HOME AFTER 17 MONTHS

Capt. James H. Keenan, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Keenan of Highland avenue, is back in this country after 17 months of blasting Japs, Germans and Italians in all the principal theaters of war. He is now located at Biggs Field, El Paso, Texas, where he is to assist in the heavy bombardment training program.

"Jimmy" Keenan has been in the Army Air Forces for nearly four years. He has been decorated by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Air Forces Commanding General and has flown from Bangor, Me., to Bangalore, India, and Bangkok, Siam. Among other exploits he is credited with flying a B-24 on one of the longest raids on record, a round trip of 2850 miles in 16½ hours from an Indian base to strike at Bangkok.

He and his crew had trouble opening their bomb bays on their longest flight and in working on them all forgot about a cluster of incendiary bombs they were carrying. When the big 500 pound bombs finally ripped open the bays the incendiaries also went through the torn doors and exploded.

Fortunately the plane cleared the flames or there might have been a different story to tell. Fortunately also was Capt. Keenan that he did not quite fall through an open door while chopping away the doors that were cutting down the plane's speed on its 1400 mile return flight.

Another thrilling experience Jimmy had was near the Andaman Islands where he expected to find two Jap tankers. Flying in at night at 2500 feet, he found instead the whole Japanese fleet for Ceylon. His ship managed somehow to dodge the concentrated Nipponese fire, getting away with the loss of a left wheel and right flap.

On one mission two ships of Capt. Keenan's squadron were credited with having destroyed 70 of 116 Jap planes at Mingaladon airdrome near Rangoon in Burma.

Other adventures include a crash landing in Venezuela 80 miles from a telephone, flying British subjects out of Burma (he had as many as 55 women and children in his plane at one trip), hombing over the Mediterranean at Crete, Navarino Bay, Greece; and Tobruk; smashing Jap targets in India and meeting the famous Jimmy Doolittle after his epic Jap raid. His gyro stuck while he was flying low in clouds over Egypt and when he leveled out according to his instruments he went into a tight spiral, which he was lucky to pull out of. As he tried to land he burned out a brake and almost ground-looped. Taking off again, the plane ran out of oxygen at 32,000 feet. All he could do before passing out was put the plane in a dive and hope he'd come to in time to do something about it.

He regained consciousness at 18,000 feet with the plane diving 330 miles per hour for Tobruk. "And of course," he added, "people were shooting at us!"

FAMOUS INDIAN TO ADDRESS SENIOR FORUM

Dr. Mithrapuram Alexander of Travincore, India, will be the speaker at the high school Forum in Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church on Sunday morning at 9.30. Dr. Alexander will speak on, "The Great Oriental Religions." This subject was chosen by the request of the high schoolers who asked for as speaker from the Orient to tell about Buddhism, Mohammedism and Hinduism.

Dr. Alexander is an Indian from Travancore, South India. He is a highly educated man having specialized in Philosophy and Religion. A world figure, Dr. Alexander comes to the Winchester young people with a background that is colorful and fascinating.

The Forum young people who went to the Wilbraham Summer Conference last June became acquainted with Dr. Alexander who was on the faculty there, and they assure us that he is a great person whom we must not miss.

FBI AGENT TO ADDRESS LEGION

John J. Keefe will preside at the short business meeting which will commence promptly at 8 o'clock. Mr. Doherty will speak at 8.30.

His address will be illustrated by the sound film "The FBI Front" which will be well worth seeing. All Legionnaires are urged to make a special effort to attend.

POSTOFFICE COMMITTEE REPORT IN

The committee, appointed by the Moderator as the result of action taken at the March town meeting to investigate the desirability of having the Winchester Post Office included in the Boston Metropolitan District has filed its report with the Selectmen. Under the vote creating the committee any action upon the committee's findings will be taken by the Board.

The committee has conducted a lengthy investigation, the subject matter of which is included in its report to the Selectmen. One of the objections to having the Winchester office retain its independent identity which the committee encountered was the three cent postage which has to be paid by communities not included in the Metropolitan District with the attendent nuisance of receiving postcards from Boston asking for the one cent additional for pieces of mail being held there for short postage.

There is now a bill in Congress seeking to establish universal three cent postage. If this becomes law the most serious objection to Winchester's remaining an independent office will have been automatically removed.

Until such time as a decision upon this bill is reached, the Post Office committee, the members of which are Carlisle W. Burton, Ernest Dudley Chase and Rex T. Crandall, have felt it impossible to make any definite recommendation to the Selectmen and has simply passed in a record of its investigation and findings to date. The Selectmen have received and filed it as a report of progress.

So far as the committee's report actually concerned Winchester opinion its members found "a large number" of citizens not pleased with the local service. Letters were written to a number of leading businesses and well known citizens. Of the 20 replies received from business men, 11 were opposed to entering the Boston District, seven favored it and two were undecided. The sentiment of those opposed was that our service is good and would not be improved by tying up with Boston.

ELKS BACK SLIPPERS FOR VETS DRIVE

Winchester Lodge of Elks, always alive to every charitable and patriotic opportunity which presents itself, is now backing the campaign to provide a pair of slippers for every disabled service man, sponsored by the Elks' War Commission, headed by James R. Nicholson. The local lodge is directly concerned with the conduct of the campaign in Massachusetts.

Elks' Lodges everywhere are collecting scrap material, from which the slippers will be made. All material will be professionally cleansed before it is used. The Elks' War Commission has been advised that disabled veterans returned from far flung battle fronts are in need of slippers as an added comfort during their convalescence. Individual members of the order are enthusiastically assisting in aiding the drive to provide them.

Scrap wanted by the local lodge includes rugs, carpets, seat covers, canvas, ticking, cotton batting, muslin from bed sheets and pillow-cases, oilcloth, draperies, dress goods and similar materials. In Winchester they may be left at either Hevey's or McCormack's Pharmacies.

If there are instances were there is suitable scrap available that cannot be taken to either Hevey's or McCormack's, a telephone call to Joseph Peel, heading the local Elks' committee, Win. 1066, will bring a collector.

TIMOTHY CALLAHAN

Timothy Callahan, retired member of the Highway Department and long time resident of Winchester, died Thursday morning, Oct. 7, at his home 26 Elm street. A native of Ireland, he had spent most of his 80 years in Winchester, having been a member of Winchester Court, M. C. O. F.; and of St. Mary's Holy Name Society. He leaves four daughters, Mrs. Abbie C., Miss Gertrude M., and Miss Phyllis M. Callahan; and Mrs. Walter J. Appleton, all of Winchester. Mr. Callahan's wife, the former Elizabeth Harkins died in September of 1940.

The funeral will be held Monday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

FILE FOR A-BOOKS NOW!

Don't forget, you holders of A gasoline ration books, that the time for filing your application for a new book is rapidly approaching the point where you just won't get your new coupons when your old ones cease to be any good. At the slow rate applications for new A-books have been coming in at the local rationing board office it's going to be a physical impossibility to do the necessary checking and get the new ones out by the new expiration date, Oct. 21. With the big ration boost to the fortunate A book holders it is going to be a crying shame to be deprived of the privilege of buying any gas at all (legitimately) because you didn't get your application filed in time to get the new coupons when they become due.

The Frederick D. Bartholomews, well known residents of Fairmount street have left Winchester and are now located on Summer avenue in Reading.

WILL WED SATURDAY

Although it has not been possible to make formal announcement, a wedding of much interest to Winchester residents will take place on this Saturday afternoon when Cadet Thomas Worthen, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen of Wedgemere avenue, now on furlough from the advanced army air base at Douglas, Arizona, and Miss Nancy England, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall J. England of Ledyard road, will be married in the Ripley Chapel at the First Congregational Church, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony at 4 o'clock, and a reception will be held at the England home following.

Owing to lack of time, invitations to the ceremony and reception have been made so far as possible by telephone. Miss England is a graduate of Abbot Academy, Andover, and Mr. Worthen is a Dartmouth man.

It is hoped that Mr. Worthen's brother, Cadet Palmer Worthen, now stationed at a Michigan air base, will be a member of the wedding party.

CPL. GEORGE H. LEYDON

Cpl. George H. Leydon, USA, of 132 Main street, died suddenly on Friday, Oct. 1, at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. He was reported to have been apparently in the best of health before the fatal attack.

The remains were brought to Winchester and the funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church by Rev. George F. Wiseman. Full military honor were accorded by a firing squad and bugler from an Army camp in Melrose. St. Mary's Band, in uniform, stood at attention as the casket was taken into the church and also attended the mass. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by St. Mary's pastor, Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan.

Cpl. Leydon was born in Woburn 43 years ago, son of the late Patrick J., and Mary (Hevey) Leydon. He attended the Woburn schools and Woburn High School and had been in the service for the past 11 months. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Frances Weafer, Miss Mary Leydon and Miss Ruth Leydon.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. George G. Brayley opened her home to the Winchester League at the first meeting of the fall last Friday afternoon.

The President of the Massachusetts League, Mrs. Arthur E. Whittemore, in an inspiring talk outlined for the local members the program of League work which this year places emphasis on Foreign Policy. She stressed the importance of spreading to individuals everywhere an understanding of the fundamental concept of international co-operation so that each and every American can know why we must have such co-operation, not just in theory but in practise, in order to secure a better chance for peace. A second main concern of the League program, she explained, is control of inflation especially by means of bigger and better taxes.

Miss Corinne Meade, Winchester's distinguished librarian, spoke a few minutes on library plans for the fall. She was pleased to note the really great interest shown by those coming to the library in the field of post-war planning.

Mrs. Howard J. Chidley and Mrs. Bowen Tufts poured tea after the meeting. The tea was served by Mrs. Maxwell McCreery aided by the following committee: Mrs. William Bowe, Mrs. Percy Glenson, Mrs. Don Greer, Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell and Mrs. Roland Patrick.

ARTICLES FOR SERVICEMEN'S BOXES

The Servicemen's Committee of the First Congregational Church has had several requests for information from other churches and organizations, both in Winchester and outside of Winchester, about what is being done for the Congregational Church's men and women in the armed forces.

In regard to what is put in boxes the Servicemen's Committee is very happy to publish below a list of articles being sent this week to overseas men for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Included in this list are also articles to be sent early in November to church men and women still in this country.

Inasmuch as there are 250 men and women from the Congregational Church in the armed forces, the Committee felt it necessary to give a great deal of careful study to the contents of the boxes, especially those that go overseas. The Committee sent a questionnaire in July to our overseas men, asking for a list of articles most desired by them. The Committee also consulted the church's chaplain, Capt. John Philip Lindsay, and many other officers and men. The study of the contents of the boxes was begun last June, and work on some of the articles was under way during the summer.

Each overseas box sent out this week contains: wooden clogs (to be used for shower slippers), a small bath towel, foot powder, two cakes of soap, a comb, toothbrush, tooth paste, six Gillette razor blades, box of 100 Vitamin pills, packages of playing cards, a mystery or detective novel, air mail paper and envelopes, six air mail stamps, two pencils with clips, two handkerchiefs with name-tapes embroidered on, and hand-rolled hems, cigarettes, chewing gum, and hard candy.

The exact contents of the Thanksgiving and Christmas boxes for men and women in the service who are still in this country has not yet been determined.

M. C. W. G.

The regular meeting for October will be held at the home of Mrs. Julia Fitzgerald, 183 Washington street, Thursday evening, Oct. 14.

TO OUR GAS CUSTOMERS . . .

THE NATIONAL VOLUNTARY CONSERVATION PROGRAM, sponsored by our government, calls for the co-operation of everybody and all companies engaged in the use, production and distribution of gas, electricity, coal, oil, transportation, communications and water. Your gas company is proud to cooperate and urges Americans everywhere to conserve these vital materials and services to hasten victory.

In launching this program the following joint statement was made by Donald Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board; Joseph B. Eastman, Defense Transportation Director; and Harold L. Ickes, Administrator for Hard Fuels and Petroleum Administrator for War:

"Conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a 'must' for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants.

"We have, therefore, called upon the coal, petroleum, electric, natural and manufactured gas, water, communications and transportation industries to join with us in a broad conservation campaign to accomplish these results. The campaign will be voluntary. Cooperation of these industries in asking the public to use their services only as absolutely necessary represents a real sacrifice by them. We ask the American public to appreciate that sacrifice and to give them and the war effort enthusiastic and unstinting cooperation as this campaign develops."

GAS IS VITAL FUEL USE IT WISELY BUY WAR BONDS EVERY PAY DAY

Last winter gas customers were asked to conserve gas to save vital fuels. The response was effective. We thank all of our customers who cooperated and we ask your renewed help in the months ahead.

Recovered Fumble Leads to Visitors' Score

Winchester High won its first football game in three starts Monday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field, beating Lexington High, 26-6, in a game postponed from the previous Saturday because of wet grounds.

The local outclassed Lexington and might have rolled up a much larger score had Coach Knowlton kept his first team in action longer, but the Winchester mentor, never one to rub it in, was more interested in seeing his reserves in action than he was in the size of his winning margin, and the scouts from Reading, Stoneham, Punchard, Woburn, et al, saw little that was of any value to them. When Lexington scored just before the final whistle there was a no-descript team of "Heebie-Jeebies" defending the Winchester goal, yet this same fourth string lineup, studded with freshmen, stopped Lexington once in the shadow of their goalposts, only to lose the ball by fumbling on the first play thereafter. Lexington recovering on the 7. From there the visitors scored in four plays, Fradette going across from the one yard line, diving over, right tackle. The try for extra point at placement was wide.

Winchester scored almost before the starting whistle had stopped echoing. DiMambro ran the Lexington kickoff back to the 35, Roche picked up four and Sam Tibaudo broke through for a first down at the 48. Roche and DiMambro picked up eight and Tibaudo again broke through for a first down at the Lexington 25. O'Rourke on an end around made five and then Tibaudo broke through again, this time to go all the way for the touchdown. Lambiase kicked the goal.

Lexington had to kick after the kickoff and Roche was downed at midfield. Sam Tibaudo passed to brother Jim for a first down at the 15. Sammy and Bird made it first down at the 2, and Tibaudo then cracked over tackle for the second touchdown, failing however to kick for the extra point.

Coach Knowlton sent in a whole second string lineup, at I even though the classify returned to action toward the end of the second quarter, took charge toward the Lexington goal, stopped at the Lexington 20 on a 15 yard penalty, having plenty to do with their failure to go further.

Winchester drove to its scoring position down with the resumption of play after the half. Sam Tibaudo ran the kickoff back to his 42. From where he, Saraco and DiMambro advanced to the Lexington 12. Here Sammie gave the ball to Jim Tibaudo who hoisted the Lexington frontier and drove through to reach the 14 for another first down. Saraco and Tibaudo made it first down at the 5 yard line, from where the former lofted his way over off right tackle. Lambiase kicked the goal.

The locals were threatening again soon after the ensuing kickoff when Murray ran back to his 20. Charlie Walsh immediately intercepted a Lexington pass at the visitors' 25. Tibaudo picked up 9 and Haggerty smashed through for a first down at the 9.

Here Lexington braced and stopped Bird on a reverse, Haggerty hit the line for 3, Gambino got two, but on fourth down Haggerty just failed to make the necessary yardage and Lexington took over.

DiMambro, playing defensive left end, broke through to smear a play for a four yard loss and Lexington kicked. The kick was blocked and recovered by Winchester at the 3, Mike Gambino fighting his way over off his own right end. Lambiase's attempted placement for the extra point was wide.

Soon after the start of the last quarter Lexington's touchdown was set up when after a 20 yard runback of a punt by freshman John West, a clipping penalty set Winchester back on its own 20. Despite two five yard bucks by West, one good for first down, Winchester had to kick, and starting from its 41, Lexington, against second, third and even fourth stringers, drove down to a first down at the 20.

Here a fumble lost nine and the fighting Winchester scrubs finally took the ball on downs at their 22. A moment later Lexington recovered a Winchester fumble at the 7 and drove over.

Winchester made 13 first downs and rushed for 237 yards, adding 50 yards by completing two of six passes. Lexington made six first downs and 99 yards on the ground, completing three passes for 17 yards.

Lambiase made a good showing at his new guard position, stopping several Lexington plays dead and bolstering the middle of the local line appreciably. DiMambro looked good as a defensive end. Bird contributed a corking block and Flagg a spectacular tackle to the local cause. Hickson starred for Lexington.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

The Winchester Lodge received a letter from Fret (Pollack) McCormack, which was enjoyed by all the members at the club house.

Pollack says: I've followed your doings in the Star and also you are to be congratulated for the activities and doings of your members. Recently my ship pulled into Arzeu, Algeria and I was granted a 7 day leave. I met the pleasure of meeting "Little Pelosi" (don't know Christian name) Cpl. We spent the afternoon sitting in sight of the Mediterranean Sea. He informed me of getting letters from Sam and Mollie and the happenings.

I was very much surprised to find Pelosi getting so very young, although, it seems he has acquainted himself to the customs of the country and he handles the shrewd natives and shop keepers like a veteran.

Best regards to John Bonenato and I wish you would remind Bananas of my vacation and I spent Independence Day on Bay on the Cape. Hope we have another soon. This constitution can stand it.

My best regards to ex- [illegible] your Lodge, both at home [illegible] war front.

Thank you Polack. Write us soon. This column is open to [illegible] service man. As most of our members are the service are reluctant to write about themselves, we would appreciate letters like the one Polack McCormack wrote about two of our members.

Sunday afternoon on Swanton street looked like the Army had moved into town. Andrew Buzzotta, Frank Buzzotta, Sam Graziano, Rocco De Teso, Jerry Palumbo and Joe Rosato were in a group. In their midst was Frank Palli, better known as the "Japanese General" who was entertaining them. The General had bowed a little too frequently at the altar of Bacchus and being short of stature, he frequently was at precarious angles in his effort to remain steady and carry on a conversation with the soldiers, who are all around 6 feet tall. Frequently, he would stop talking, square off and would challenge everyone. Boy, talk about a circus.

Angelo Tranfaglia was home for a few hours. Through the Star he wishes to be remembered to all the other boys in the service.

Gay Vespucci who is stationed somewhere in England met Frank Provinzano again. I expect a letter from Gay soon with the details. I'm not throwing any hints Gay.

Last Sunday the Adelaide Cairoli Lodge of Lynn held their 23rd annual ball. They invited the Winchester Men's Lodge and our Venerable Angelo P. Toffuti, our ambassador of good will, Anthony C. Ficociello and Frank Frongillo were able to attend. Our Venerable with Mayor Arthur J. Frawley of Lynn led the Grand March. Musky said that Grand March was really something. It was something different and he was really impressed. He also said an honor was paid our lodge by being the only Men's Lodge invited to the ball. As usual Bro. Ficociello promoted more good will for our Lodge, being ably assisted by Frank Frongillo, brother of the great Mingie, and a good disciple of the Mingie technique.

Speaking of Mingie, he is still carrying on, on the home front.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At an assembly convened by the Junior Red Cross on Monday of this week an urgent plea was made for the immediate purchase of War Bonds and Stamps.

Robert Halstead led the morning devotional exercises, after which Barbara Foley and Fergus Cameron outlined the responsibility of the Junior Red Cross, which normally means every student in school. In conclusion, President Betty Moore urged the students to follow the example of several of their amtes who had already signified their intention of converting summer savings into bonds. He added more enthusiasm to the campaign by saying that if sufficient bonds and stamps were sold in the next three weeks to insure the price of a Jeep, that Jeep would be brought to Winchester for the students to see. A further goal, the purchase of an ambulance is just ahead.

As a follow-up of the Monday assembly, over $500 worth of bonds and stamps were sold. At this rate the visit of a Jeep is practically assured.

Mr. J. Roy Newton has begun preliminary search of talent for the annual Underclass Class Play, which this year will be produced on Dec. 18, thus eliminating the vacation rehearsals.

Mr. Martin Cooper Hubbard, recently appointed Spanish teacher has been selected to serve as adviser for the next Aberjona. During his several years at Kimball Union Academy, Mr. Hubbard was in charge of the annual there.

In accordance with a new official interpretation of the flag salute, pupils now hold their right hand over the heart during the entire pledge of allegiance.

Spectators at the Lexington-Winchester game undoubtedly noticed the new photographers' platform constructed by the Park Department with the assistance of the football managerial staff. Official Photographer George Gould was able to work without the customary jar from the stands, which, unfortunately, was most bothersome during the most important phase of his work.

The appearance of many recent graduates in service uniforms has been the occasion for numerous reunions in the last few weeks. Teachers and pupils alike eagerly await more such pleasant visits.

Although the game with Lexington was postponed until Monday, readers of the metropolitan newspapers were surprised to see the W. H. S. featured in a Sunday edition.

NEW SHOES AT PALMER STREET

The regular matches of the Palmer [illegible] Association has been [illegible] were made notable by the introduction into play of new shoes [illegible] by President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele and Attorney [illegible] Butters of a struggling one in the [illegible] that the all knowing, all-seeing, meddling government has forbidden the manufacture of horseshoes except by directive for the armed forces.

Reaction to the new shoes was [illegible]

The Association's better pitchers [illegible] accepted them without enthusiasm [illegible] with pessimism. "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and champion of all Nahmassett, [illegible] especially critical at first and Arthur F. Butters, sometimes called the Statue of Marco Champ, also experienced difficulty in deciding just where to [illegible] the new hoofers to make his [illegible] open prosperity. Mr. Teele, perennial champion of the Boston Paper Trade, having paid for the shoes, [illegible] fed them warmly, and it must be admitted his game with them suffered [illegible] comparison much less than those [illegible] McLaughlin and Butters; that [illegible] along. Later in the session [illegible] were's game suffered by comparison with "Wild Willie," the pedagogical Nahnasset Chimp acting the [illegible] with set greatness and a Vevey [illegible] start of hostilities only two [illegible] secretary seemed to find the [illegible] to his liking. This can be [illegible] explained by the fact that [illegible] at any time [illegible] was [illegible] of the vagaries of the new [illegible] Association's pitchers [illegible] corrections. Howard [illegible] and Herbert "Garrulous [illegible] found no comment upon the [illegible] that fact in the case of Mr. [illegible] occasioning no great surprise.

Roger" Pridham was absent from [illegible] session, but as he took the trouble [illegible] clear in advance and was prevented from attending by working on [illegible] active action is contemplated. Mr. Teele particularly feeling that Mr. Pridham's work is of a necessary nature.

Matches played resulted in the President and Secretary taking the Pedagogical Champions, Messrs. Butters and McLaughlin, two straight [illegible] the Secretary and Mr. McLaughlin defeating Mr. Teele and Mr. Butters two out of three. The fact that the Secretary won with "Wild Willie" was nothing to lift an eyebrow over, but the fact that he and Mr. Teele won from those stout "amateurs", Willie and Arthur, was worthy of special notice, and there can be no gainsaying that the winners were very happy about their victory. Mr. Teele was indeed surprised that he "put it there" right heartily with the defeated warriors, assuring them both that when he got "back from Wells River" he would look in and see them.

Following these matches Mr. Butters and Mr. Gardner engaged Mr. Teele and Mr. Witter in a match of Marathon proportions, if not surpassing excellence. Mr. Gardner did pretty well in the first game, which he side won, and at least carried [illegible] share of the load in the second, which stood 24-19 against him and Arthur when Mr. Butters came to pitch.

There is in the Butters family a motto, which runs to the effect that you should never miss the stake when you are 19 and behind. How in Mr. Butters lived up to the tradition of his forebears can be gathered from the fact that he hung two on the upright for the game-set-match-and-tournament.

The final match brought together Messrs. McLaughlin and Butters opposing the Secretary and Mr. Teele, "Willie", after a long succession of ringers, naively admitted that he was "getting the feel" of the shoes and his feeling was away too good for the Association's officers who went down two straight.

STATE GUARD NEWS

Again the Winchester Company loses a man to our armed forces, this time Pvt. James N. Rosa, who volunteered for induction, is now in the U. S. Navy, having been inducted on Sept. 30. Pvt. Rosa reports for duty Oct. 7 in the U. S.'s. Good luck Jim, the best wishes of every man in the Winchester Company Mass. State Guard goes with you. The State Guard loses a good soldier and the Navy gains a good sailor, such is life.

This coming Sunday afternoon the Winchester Company will spend several hours in the Town Forest practicing the "buddie system," which was developed at Guadalcanal. This is a method of advancing in enemy territory in which a unit is divided in pairs or buddies and one of these buddies advances while the other covers him from the rear and the one in the rear advances while his buddie covers him.

After completing this course the Company will be divided into two sections, with one half acting as an attacking force, while the other half act as a defense force. This part of the program will be handled by the Non-Commissioned Officers with Capt. Leslie A. Tucker, 1st Lt. Henry A. Dellicker, and 2nd Lt. Duckworth, acting as umpires.

Three more new members were sworn in last week including: John P. McHugh, George S. Harris, George F. Dejon, Jr.

Effective this week, the members of the Company are back in their forest green winter uniforms and their summer chino uniforms are packed away until next May.

One poor fellow you don't hear much about in the Army is the company clerk, he is the one who writes all the letters, makes up the payrolls, sends in the reports, etc., etc. So we want to introduce our Company clerk, Cpl. William A. Swett (at least that is what he is known as formerly, however to the boys he's just plain Bill). The truth of the matter is we are only introducing Bill because we want to also introduce his very charming assistant (yes, we do mean charming). She is Miss Margaret Hodgson of Highland avenue and week after week she is on hand to make out enlistment papers, helping Bill write the letters and our only regret is that we don't have a beautiful forest green uniform to issue to her.

SNOW WINS SHERMAN TROPHY

Sailing sensationally throughout the entire series of six races, James Snow with four firsts, a second and a third, won the coveted Alden Sherman Memorial Trophy. Capt. Jim's Salome won the first three races, to pile up a good lead and was never headed throughout the series, although both Bill Hall and George Jones (last year's winner) threatened seriously right to the last race.

Jim's brilliant sailing the past few weeks makes him a heavy favorite to break up the Simonds-Wiswell domination of the fleet. If he continues in 1944 where he left off in 1943, the boys had better look to their laurels. And while they're looking they'll better take good glances at Bill Hall, Jim Newman and Roger Curtis, too.

Thus the curtain falls on another sweet season of Snipe Sailing and there isn't a single skipper in the fleet who won't readily admit that from every point of view it was one of the most successful ever.

Chowder Party, Friday, Oct. 15

They're combining business with pleasure at the annual boat club meeting by staging an old fashioned Chowder Party before the meeting. Steaming bowls of fish chowder and all the fixin's, topped off with homemade apple pie and cheese are on the menu. And to complete the evening's entertainment several reels of sport movies and a good old-time silent comedy will be shown.

The Chowder Party starts at 6:30 and will continue until the meeting begins at 8. It's the last get-together of the year so you'd better come over and see your old friends before they go into hibernation. There'll be a roaring fire and a lot of fun.

If you can't make the Chowder Party, come to the meeting anyway, and enjoy the movies afterward.

POLLY KIMBALL WINS

Miss Rachel (Polly) Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Kimball of 18 Cabot street, is the winner of the Jackson Soldier Sonnet tournament, the Jackson Department of Physical Education has announced. Miss Kimball, a member of the senior class, has been very active in athletics while in college, and for participation in the tournament will receive 50 points toward the Athletic Association award. A graduate of Winchester High School in 1941, she is secretary of the Athletic Association and secretary of the Student Government.

WINCHESTER AT DANVERS

Winchester High will try to make it two in a row tomorrow afternoon when the football team goes to Danvers for a game with Danvers High School at the St. John's Prep field commencing at 2:30.

The local boys will well remember their last trip to Orchard when they were forced to a hard-fighting Danvers team. They are planning no repetition of that upset, and it wouldn't be a bad idea that the year's Danvers team is as strong as that of two years ago.

Danvers has dropped three in a row to Beverly, Winthrop and Punchard. Unless Beverly and Winthrop took too much out of Danvers its defeat at the hands of Punchard, beaten by Concord, 12-6 would seem to indicate that Yale Blues won't be too much for the locals tomorrow.

UNUSUAL TREES

To the Editor of the Star:

In scrutinizing the columns of the last issue of the Star I was delighted to read of the mossy cup oak tree at Symmes Corner. It is the only tree of its kind that I know of in Winchester. Several years ago there were several chestnut trees and hazel nut bushes in town. They appear to be extinct now. I do not refer to the horse chestnut trees that apparently are abundent in this locality. The largest chestnut tree that I can recall was adjacent to the late Alfred Oliver estate on Washington street between Harvard and Irving streets.

In regard to the famous Baldwin apple tree, some folks assert that the original Baldwin tree was located adjacent to Black Horse Tavern, from which numerous scions were taken at various times.

In scrutinizing the history of Woburn I observe that to Colonel Baldwin the public is indebted for the introduction of the famous Baldwin apple. He did not invent it or grow it out of wild stock, but he discovered it on a tree on the farm of J. Butters in Wilmington and being attracted by its fine flavor and free bearing, secured scions from it for his own use and afterward freely distributed them to all the neighborhood. Col. Baldwin died on the 20th of October, 1807, at the age of 83.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

AIRCRAFT WARNING POST ON PART-TIME BASIS

The personnel of Winchester Observation Post will carefully note the following letter from H. H. Arnold, Commanding General, Army Air Forces.

(COPY)
War Department
Headquarters of the Army Air Forces
Washington, D. C.

To All Volunteers of the Aircraft Warning Service:

The War Department has directed that certain elements of the aircraft warning service be placed on an alert status and that henceforth observation posts and filter centers be manned at intervals rather than on a 24 hour basis.

The considerations which have led to this decision are not based upon any belief that the war's end is in sight. On the contrary, between us and final victory lie many months of bitter fighting. We have made the transition, however, to the offensive. We are pressing the attack home upon our enemies, and we must at once bring to bear every ounce of offensive power of which this nation is capable.

The War Department is assuming the calculated risk that the small-scale air attack of which the enemy is now strategically capable may meet with some measure of success. This course is justified because manpower and facilities are thereby released that will contribute directly or indirectly to offensive action—manpower and facilities that may bring the war's end months closer.

Ever since Pearl Harbor, the volunteers of the aircraft warning service have done a magnificent job in the finest traditions of the Army Air Forces and that job is by no means finished. The War Department proposes that the Army Air Forces shall maintain the Ground Observer Corps and the Aircraft Warning Corps as trained organizations which can be fully alerted in the event of imminent attack. Meanwhile, the part-time operation of observation posts and filter centers will release additional military personnel, ease the burden on vital communications facilities, and permit hundreds of thousands of members of the Corps to undertake other important war time responsibilities in addition to their duties as members of the aircraft warning service.

I wish to express my personal appreciation to all of you for the work you are doing and my conviction that the Army Air Forces can count on you to carry out your duties under the new plan of operations directed by the War Department with the same devotion you have demonstrated in the past. You have helped us to take the offensive. Now let us get on with this war and get it over with.

(Signed) H. H. Arnold.
General, U. S. Army
Commanding General, A. A. F.

The orders from the War Department are very definite that the organization is NOT to be disbanded, but will continue to operate on a "part-time" set-up. Details as to the specific times when the Post will be manned will be announced by the Chief Observer in the near future. ALL observers will hold themselves in readiness to take their regular watches when called upon to do so.

(Signed) Stafford Rogers,
Chief Observer, Post 97-A

ALBERT F. HUNT
Vice President and Director Swift & Co.

FORMER RESIDENT SPEAKER AT GARDEN

Many Winchester residents were among the 10,000 to 12,000 persons who attended the Swift and Company Family Suggestion Party held recently in the Boston Garden, and sponsored by five Greater Boston concerns associated with Swift and Company, including New England Dressed Meat and Wool Company, whose Manager is Mr. James Rose of Central street, and John P. Squire Company, of which J. H. McManus, Harrison street is general manager.

Principal speaker was Mr. Albert F. Hunt, vice president and director of Swift and Company, former Winchester resident, who resided on Cabot street at the time he was president of the A. C. Lawrence Leather Company in Peabody, and prior to the time he was elected vice president and director of Swift and Company.

Mr. Hunt has two children, Blanche, now Mrs. Palmer, and Albert F. Hunt, 3rd, who attended Winchester schools and are well known.

Mr. Hunt told of the scope of suggestion ideas as adopted by Swift and Company plants all over the country and outlined the benefit to both the company and the employes in this plan, which has been so widely accepted and has now spread to many other companies.

Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill was another speaker, who was introduced by Mr. H. J. Nichols, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Other Winchester men who either attended or took an active part in the program were Timothy Carroll of Sylvester avenue, who was one of the Suggestion Award winners. Other Winchester men noted in the audience were Fletcher Oakes of Forest street, now a company pensioner and at present well known to Winchester Theatre audiences, Herbert Tetreault of Winthrop street, Roger "Ty" Sherman, now a resident of Arlington but formerly a well known Winchester resident, who is married to the former Margaret Sawyer of Cabot street, Wellington Caldwell of Main street, Theodore O. Waller of Ardley place, Bill Sawyer of Lloyd street, Donald Preble of Washington street and Gordon Lorentzen of Forest street.

Mr. Rose made the current Suggestion appreciation awards and told of the gathering that during the past year 150 suggestions had been received and 150 had been accepted, with total of more than $3000 in awards given out.

NOTABLE ART SHOW AT LIBRARY

The exhibition of oil paintings which the Winchester Art Association is currently showing at the Library Art Gallery is in every respect a notable show. The exhibiting artists, Ernest L. Major and Marion P. Sloane, have handled their subjects in masterly fashion, alike from the standpoint of draftsmanship and color, and the result is a collection of pictures that appeal to the eye as artistic without outraging the sensibilities of those who feel that form, proportion and restraint are also important.

Mr. Major's studies are wholly of flowers or still life with the exception of a single portrait. It would be difficult to choose any of them for especial praise, all are so beautifully done. Nor has Mr. Major been content merely to paint lovely blooms as nature created them. He has placed them in settings that enhance their beauty, exercising his artistry to the same degree upon the flower holder and lesser accompanying objects as he has upon the central motif. His glass has real sheen and transparency. Here is a cunning little brass dog to add interest, there a bit of lustrous Chinese porcelain, or a string of pearl beads painted with great delicacy. Appealing little china animals add piquancy to one flower study, a curious old Chinese God of Life smiles benignly from another canvas. A wedgewood vase, a low glass bowl on a teak stand, a Chinese Foo Dog, a bit of rich tapestry, all add their interest and embellishment to the studies of which they are a part, but never are they the things which first strike the eye. Never do they detract from the main theme.

Extremely interesting and to the very life is that study of a cauliflower grouped with red peppers and bread fruit and shown against a heavy dull brass kettle and small blue jar.

From the local angle Mr. Major's portrait of Mr. L. L. Wadsworth of Arlington street is most important. It is a thoroughly masculine study, lifelike without being photographic and artistic with no trace of distortion. It was kindly loaned, upon request, for the exhibition by Mr. Wadsworth.

Notable among Mrs. Sloane's fine landscapes is "November," a sombre study of long gray buildings huddled on the high dead-green bank of a shallow stream, the still slaty gray waters of which reflect the leaden hues of a heavily clouded sky. This picture catches in remarkable degree the haunting, brooding melancholy of fall, piquing the imagination as well as pleasing the eye.

Still another outstanding canvas is "Late Afternoon," a most attractive study of a rambling red barn and silo, mellowed in the warm sunshine and shown in an attractive setting of pastureland with vague blue highlands in the distance and a sky filled with fleecy, orchid tinted clouds.

Mrs. Sloane shows several small pictures, entitled sketches, that are especially fine. That showing a windswept stream, stretching away between green-clad banks to purpling highlands is notable for the depth achieved in the handling of the hills, so often simply a flat daub at the hands of less gifted artists.

The same feeling of bulk and vagueness of skyline shows in "Dark" Mountain with its nicely painted gray stones in a foreground touched with flecks of red foliage. A small sketch of New Hampshire has good perspective in its characteristic white frame house seen through leafy trees and another fine small study is that of a green-gray barn and outbuildings with attached rusty red silo and bit of white farm dwelling showing in the right background under a turning maple.

The arrangement of the pictures on the walls is worthy of comment, many believing it Library Custodian Robert Eason's best effort.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE

On Tuesday, Oct. 5 the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church held its first meeting. Luncheon preceded the meeting. Interesting reports were given and an outline of the years work presented. Mrs. William Miller of Arlington spoke for the Community Fund.

The meeting was then turned over to the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Russell P. Wise a past president of the General Alliance. Her subject was Unitarian Democracy.

All went home with the feeling of an afternoon well spent and with the determination to further Democracy in every field.

ROTARY NOTES

Capt. William H. Whorf, USMC, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Whorf, 2 Central green, was the guest speaker at the regular Thursday noon meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club.

Capt. Whorf was a member of the initial Marine landing party on Guadalcanal Island and has just recently returned home on a short furlough. His vivid portrayal of the life and actual combat on Guadalcanal was interspersed with many amusing incidents and held the members in suspense throughout. He was greeted with spontaneous applause and received the congratulations of the members on his recent promotion to the rank of Captain in the Marine Corps.

Jim Scott, George Hayden and Vin Ambrose were appointed a committee of three, without portfolio or funds to send Christmas boxes to the five Winchester Rotarians now serving with the armed forces of the United States.

President Ernie announced a marked inerease in the attendance, with 34 members present for a percentage of 82.5, an increase of more than 10 per cent over the preceding Thursday. It is hoped that this increase will continue each week so that Secretary John may soon be able to report a perfect attendance record. Those members who failed to attend this week's meeting certainly missed a rare treat in not hearing Capt. Bill Whorf's personal story.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has issued permits to erect and alter buildings on the property owned by the following for week ending, Thursday, Oct. 7:

PROTECTING AMERICA!

Just as the home throws a wall of physical protection around the family, insurance throws a wall of financial protection around the home, around the personal possessions of its occupants, and around their plans and legal obligations.

In helping to protect America by safeguarding its vast property values, the insurance industry particularly values the high responsibility and privilege of standing financial guard over the insurable interests of the nation's millions of home-owners.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services and Sunday School, 10:45 a. m.
Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 p. m.
Reading Room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.; Sundays and Legal Holidays from 3 to 5 p. m.

Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real? is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, Oct. 10, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all of its branches.

The Golden Text is: "I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 30:17). Other Bible citations will include: Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober (1 Thess. 5:5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, among wheih is the following: "If evil is real, Truth must make it so; but error, not Truth, is the author of the unreal, and the unreal vanishes, while all that is real is eternal. . . . Truth destroys falsity and error, for light and darkness cannot dwell together (p. 474).

PACK 6, B. S. A.

In spite of the graduation of a large number of boys in to Troop 6, the Pack started off with more boys than ever. Twenty-one new boys were present at the first meeting of the season on Oct. 1. Only seven or eight were able to join as the pack has a rule that no boy can register unless accompanied by a parent.

Cubmasters Paul Chapman, Charles Hart, Jim Coon and Bob Carruthers conducted a lively and interesting meeting. The pack regrets that its former Chairman Harold Pease has moved to New York and that Den Mothers Mrs. L. C. Williams and Mrs. J. S. Donnell have also moved out of town. The pack appreciates the fine work they did in getting things started in its first year and is sorry not to have them in things this year.

Chairman Stark Mills announces that Leon F. Fernandez and E. G. Pierce are new members of the pack committee. Other members of the committee are Russell Symmes, Clarence Zarse, Clinton Mason, Alvin Smith, Leo Garvey, and John Foley.

In response to a demand for another den on the West Side a new den No. 8 has been established. Three new Den Mothers have been appointed Mrs. Paul Forrester, Mrs. Henrietta Blake, and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff. The line up of dens is:

Den 1 Mrs. Henrietta Blake; Den 2, Mrs. Stark Mills; Den 3, Mrs. A. F. Johnson; Den 4, Mrs. A. Samoiloff; Den 5, Mrs E. G. Pierce; Den 7, Mrs. J. J. Michelsen; Den 8, Mrs. Paul Forrester.

Cubmaster Coon led the boys in singing at the first meeting of the pack and Cubmaster Carruthers gave out the leather vests and the prizes to the boys of Pack 6 who won recognition for their work at the Cub Day Camp last summer. The pack got many laughs out of a sound movie of Carnival Time in Montivedeo. The Den Chiefs David Coon, Ted Covert, Carl Goddard, Ed. Ball assisted Cubmaster Chapman in closing the meeting and retiring the colors.

Troop 6, B. S. A.

The new Boy Scout Troop 6 at the Unitarian Church began its season with an enthusiastic meeting and a investure ceremony on Sept. 30.

Commissioner Weld presented the Troop Charter to Troop Committee Chairman Dr. Chester Wolfe who accepted it with his fellow-committeemen C. C. Covert, Clarence Zarse and Lt. Robert L. Cox. Commissioner Weld remarked that it was the first time in 5 years that a new troop had been established in Winchester, and that he felt specially honored to have some part in starting off this new troop. He charged Scoutmasters Rev. Paul Chapman, Charles Hart and Dr. John Wallace with the obligations and duties of leadership in these times when such leadership is more needed than ever. He was accompanied by Commissioner Fred Cole and commented on the excellent deportment of the boys, the interesting program and splendid spirit of co-operation of all concerned.

Scoutmaster Hart with the aid of a number of scouts arranged a very impressive investure ceremony. In addition to the boys who had graduated from Pack 6 eight other new boys were admitted into membership in the Troop. To top off a grand meeting the boys enjoyed a colored, sound movie of South America. Troop 6 meets each Tuesday evening at the Unitarian Church The Scouts are competing with the Cubs in Pack 6 in selling tickets for the lecture to be given by Dr. Dorizas at the Unitarian Church on Oct. 23. Latest reports indicate that the boys of both groups have done such a job of selling tickets that they are practically sold out.

ENSER PAINTS FOR RECORD OPENING

John En-er, painter, illustrator, and teacher delighted the members of the Winchester Art Association with his swift changing of a blank canvas to a colorful landscape of Mt. Monadnock, in Autumn, on Tuesday last, first of the evening pre-views replacing the afternoon teas formerly marking the opening of the Art Association's exhibits.

Mr. Enser is on the faculty of the Middlesex School in Concord; studied at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Academy of Fine Arts there, as well as with artist J. Arpa and Winchester's Hermann Dudley Murphy. Although born in Texas, Mr. Enser considers himself a New Englander after 14 years of residence here. He is a member of the Boston Guild of Artists and the Grand Central Galleries in New York and is represented in the City Hall, Brockton, the Cary Library in Lexington, the High School and Post Office in Boston, the office of Senator Moses in Washington, D. C.

Following the gallery demonstration, attended by a record audience, cider and doughnuts were served in rich brown Bennington ware. Mrs. Charles Underwood and Mrs. Sherman W. Saltmarsh poured. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Robinson S. Whitten and Mrs. Truman M. Godfrey. The latter, together with Mrs. Underwood arranged the distinctive table setting of Victory garden harvest, in adjacent harmonies, flanked by Sheffield candlesticks whose green candles blended with the green and butternut of the homespun coverlet beneath.

The exhibition of oils by Marian P. Sloane and Ernest L. Major will remain open to the public week days at the Library from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. through Oct. 27.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

A quaint keepsake to recall in happier years of peace the crowded few weeks when she was a bride in Boston making the utmost of each day before her young husband would start for some un-named place at the ends of the earth. That's one war need the Caledonian Market is meant to supply. The market is re-opening in a new place and Winchester friends of war relief were asked at the Wednesday luncheon hour to look up gifts for the market.

They may bring them on next Wednesday to the Epiphany parish hall or take them any day to 27 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Any salable thing, from a bangle to a blanket will be welcome. The money made by the market buys wool and other materials for service men or for civilian relief.

There is only one more Wednesday, Oct. 13 for the fun of making sleepy dolls or cuddly toys at the Epiphany workroom. After Oct. 15 shipping will have to go to other uses. New friends of war relief are invited to bring needle, thimble and a bite of lunch and meet the workroom family. The cheerful sound of making Christmas merry for children afar greets you even as you are at the foot of the stairs.

BOY DRIVER PICKED UP

In response to complaints about a boy, thought to be unlicensed, driving an automobile near Harvard and Washington streets last Friday afternoon, Officer John Murray stopped a Ford sedan on Washington street and asked the operator for his license.

The driver, a Winchester boy, told Officer Murray that he was not old enough to have a license. Officer Murray made him leave the car at the side of the road until the owner could get a licensed operator to drive it away. The boy will be summonsed into court and the owner of the car reported to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
October 3-9

SECOND QUALIFYING TEST

The second qualifying test for the Army Specialized Training program and the Navy College program V-12 will be given through the country on Tuesday, Nov. 9, will be administered at the Winchester High School, Mr. Samuel M. Graves, announced this week. A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission identification form may be obtained at the High School there. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to the High School office in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidates to enlist in the service.

The Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the armed services. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the Army or the Navy.

Those selected for the Army will, after further screening and basic military training, be sent to college. Students chosen for the Navy program, after selection by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, will be detailed directly to college. Students who attend college under either of the programs will be under military discipline on active duty in uniform with pay. All expenses, including tuition, food, housing, books and uniforms will be paid by the Army or the Navy.

The teacher of Advanced Spanish will be Senor Jose Godoy, who teaches at the Boston Center for Adult Education and at the Pan American Society.

Lt. Pereira Pinto, an officer in the Brazilian Navy will teach the Portuguese classes. Lt. Pinto is at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

LATIN AMERICAN LECTURES AT LIBRARY

The Trustees of the Winchester Public Library and Miss Corinne Mead, Librarian, in conjunction with the Pan American Society of Massachusetts are sponsoring a series of lectures on South America during the fall and winter at the Public Library.

These programs will be held monthly, beginning Tuesday evening, Oct. 19 at 8 o'clock. The first program will be an illustrated lecture, "Inter-American Co-operation in the War Effort" by Mrs. Marian S. Eberly of the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs in Washington.

Other topics will be "Problems of the Carribean" by Mr. Jose Padin, a former Commissioner of Education in Puerto Rico, a program of Latin American Christmas customs arranged by Mr. Jose Godoy and his daughter, "South America, a Naturalist's Paradise" by Mr. Ludlow Griscom, Research Curator of Zoology at Harvard. There will be an evening of South American Music with a talk on the musical instruments by Mr. Granola, a popular young South American student at M. I. T.

The course will be open to all Winchester residents without charge.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES

Action is the keynote of the Auxiliary Police program for the coming season, as plans were discussed at the second fall meeting held at the Town Hall last Friday night.

Civilian Defense Chairman Harold S. Fuller commented on the fine appearance made by the Auxiliary Police escort at the demonstration of Auxiliary Fire equipment on Sheffield Road, as well as welcoming the new recruit officers selected by Chief Arnold Neagle to assist him. Those appointed were: Allen, Bird, Black, Fenno, Hughes, Johnston, Larson, Moriarty, McTighe, Moffat, Murdock, Sennett and Wadsworth.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Oct. 22 at 7:45 p. m. After a short business meeting, the group will hear a member of the F. B. I. talk on pertinent police topics.

Have you been down to the range lately? If not, you will be pleasantly surprised at the numerous improvements introduced by our three efficient range officers: Warren Goldin, Jon Allen, and Ralph Larson. The manner in which some of the novices are grasping the fundamentals of pistol shooting is most gratifying. There is usually a hot match in progress between experts too. Last week your reporter found himself between Bob Johnston and Jon Allen, who were shooting it out with excellent scores.

Remember the range is open every Thursday night, and all members are urged to be present. An extra night has been added, bringing the total to five and you can be sure of a congenial and instructive evening.

We still have a few vacancies and would like to fill with good men. If you know of anyone who is interested drop his name and address to P. O. Box 212, Winchester, and an application will be forwarded.

Well, see you at the range next Thursday evening, and don't forget the meeting on the 22nd. Unless notified otherwise, it will be at the Town Hall.

Special Exhibit

A fine model of the Flying Cloud (famous sailing ship built by Donald McKay) is now on display in the library.

This model was built to scale by Ward A. Albro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram A. Albro of this town. It took two years to build. Pfc. Ward A. Albro is now in his last year at Tufts Medical School.

This exhibit will remain at the library until Oct. 20.

WEEK-END FIRES

The Fire Department was called Sunday night at 11 o'clock to the Locatelli Building where trouble was caused by an over-heated hot water boiler.

At 1:45 Monday morning neighbors heard a loud knocking in a vacant house at 11 Lloyd street. The Police were notified and upon investigation found that a lighted hot-water stack had caused the safety valve on a water boiler to let go. The Fire Department was notified and a piece of apparatus sent to correct the trouble.

Monday afternoon Box 542 came in at 2:21 for a fire in the kitchen of the Scnaffner home on Ardley place, where parafin being used in canning got over-heated and went on fire. The blaze was confined to the kitchen.

CARE FOR SICK AND NEEDY GIVEN BY WINCHESTER SOCIETY ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

Few people in Winchester realize the outstanding service done every year for suffering in the name of Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

This unique group was founded in France by Frederick Ozanam in 1844. Its first work was among the sick privileged people of France and was carried on by French students. Today the Society has spread all over the world and, although its work is largely direct and personal, it always a great help to the sick and needy, wherever they are.

"Red Feather" Campaign Aids Society

Although part of the funds for the operation of the Society St. Vincent de Paul is supplied by private individuals or by benefits, it is a member agency of the United War Fund and your gifts during the "red feather" campaign assure its continued existence in Winchester.

Dental care for children (as shown in the picture above) and for adults, the testing of eyes and fitting of glasses, and the payment of part or all of hospital bills are typical of the fine public spirited work administered by the men of St. Vincent de Paul. Also, the Society provides clean warm clothing and well mended shoes to deserving families. Their callers working in pairs, assist in solving family problems and give aid and counsel in time of trouble.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul is one of seven Winchester member agencies of the United War Fund. The other six are:

KHARKOV, GOAL OF RUSSIAN DRIVE

A Pittsburgh on Ukraine Plain

Kharkov, pre-war Russin's fourth largest city and a goal in the Red Army's current Ukrainian drive, is a new city built for peace and not for war. Fully exposed on the broad south Russian plain, Kharkov offers few advantages as a military base because its once-mighty industries and community facilities have been shattered by war, says the National Geographic Society.

The few inhabitants remaining of the 830,000 pre-war total are facing the city's fourth change of hands since 1941. The Germans took the city as the last major conquest of their 1941 drive. Russian armies retook it Feb. 15, 1943, but lost it three weeks later.

Kharkov was one of the world's fastest growing cities. Industrial growth doubled the population between 1926 and 1939. Locomotive, tractor, turbine and factory machine industries were fed by near-by deposits of iron and coal.

The Black Earth belt, a wartime liability because of its openness to attack, produced many crops and livestock. It made Kharkov a trading center and provided materials for the manufacture of leather goods, beer, soap, rope, threshing machines, candy and tobacco products.

Founded in the middle 17th century, Kharkov was razed by invading Tatars and later rebuilt by Russians. It was still a struggling crossroads settlement in 1805 when its industrial development began. The rapid population and industrial growth, earning for the city the name Pittsburgh of Russia, took place almost entirely in this century.

Oxalic Acid in Plants

Oxalic acid is found in a wide variety of American plants, but seldom in quantities sufficient to cause illness. Leaves, not stems, of the garden rhubarb occasionally cause enough of it to cause trouble. The most important oxalic acid plant, economically, in the United States is the greasewood that grows abundantly in the arid regions of the West. Sheep often are injured by it.

Names of Continents

The two Americas are usually regarded as two separate land masses or continents. Similarly, physical geographical regards Europe and Asia as one great land mass, Eurasia, though politically they are separate continents. The great land mass around the South pole is generally considered a separate continent, Antarctica.

Forget Their Youth

One of the manifestations of old age is failing memory. Which tends to explain why the older people get the more they knock the current younger generation.—Arkansas Gazette.

Stone Age Notebooks

The most numerous public monuments to be found in China are stones on which the Chinese have engraved their important records and chief historical facts during the past 1,200 years.

Wanted Winding

An absent-minded man was a member of a geological survey expedition in Arizona.

One morning he found that his watch had stopped. It would not respond to shaking, and as the party was dependent upon it for observations the owner traveled thirty miles by wagon to a little town where there was a watch repairer.

The man opened the case, explored the works, closed the case, twisted the winder, and handed the watch back to its owner with the remark:

"That's a fine movement—one of the best I've seen. But you'll have to wind it."

LORD MILFORD TO SING AT CRITTENTON MEETING

At the first regular meeting of the Florence Crittenton Circle, which takes place on Friday, Oct. 22 at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., 6 Everett avenue, a real treat is promised members with the announcement that Lord Milford, outstanding tenor, and son of a member of the British nobility, is to give the musical program. Lord Milford has been in the United States since 1936 when he crossed the ocean to appear on a coast-to-coast net-work. At present he is putting his shoulder toward winning the war by working in a defense plant in Arlington. While doing this war work he has been living in Winchester with his wife and small daughter.

Mrs. G. Lindrov Witham, who with Mrs. Walter Winship heads the music committee, feels it is a great honor for the Florence Crittenton Circle to have him as guest artist. He will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Witham.

The speakers for this meeting are two very able women from Red Cross headquarters in Boston. Mrs. C. Willard Bigelow, chairman of Canteen, will explain this great phase of Red Cross work and give stories and illustrations of some of her experiences, while Mrs. Frank Allen, head of the Nurse's Aide will review that angle of the Red Cross. Since some of the requirements have been revised regarding these two branches of service, the talks should be both timely and helpful, and it is a real privilege for the Winchester Circle to learn of this work directly.

Tea will be served by the tea committee, headed by Mrs. Stephen Nichols, and presiding at the tea urns will be Mrs. Langley Keyes, 1st vice president; and Mrs. Elisha Pierce, bazaar chairman.

Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard, president, will conduct the meeting.

WINCHESTER AT PUNCHARD

Winchester High journeys to Punchard tomorrow afternoon for a football game with Punchard High School and unless all signs fail as they do sometimes, Coach Knowlton's charges should experience little difficulty in notching their third straight victory. Kickoff at 2.30.

The locals looked very good at Danvers last Saturday and although the opposition wasn't too sharp, their showing was by far the best of the season, especially in the matter of blocking.

Punchard hasn't been too good in its last two starts, losing 12-6 to Concord and 14-0 to Reading. The Andover team won a 12-6 victory over Danvers.

Coach Knowlton will probably start the same team at Punchard that went against Danvers, though it may be that little Tony Saraco's fine work at Oniontown will win him the starting nod at left halfback.

Saraco is a great offensive back, but hasn't the stature to be as strong defensively as Chucker Roche, especially in the matter of pass defense.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR

Miss Brenda Dissel of 8 Fairview terrace was among the 90 odd men and women admitted to practice at the bar of this state at ceremonies held Wednesday morning at the Single Justice Session of the Supreme Judicial Court at the New Court House in Boston.

Miss Dissel graduated from Northeastern Law School this past June. After Nov. 1 she will be associated with the Boston law office of Messrs. Philip Nichols and Joseph Boyer.

Miss Ruth Kingman, specialist technician, 3-c in the WAVES was in Winchester last week for a five day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kingman of Herrick street. Miss Kingman is a link trainer instructor, teaching naval pilots instrument flying at the Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Fla.

CHARLES WILLIAM MORRILL, JR.

Charles William Morrill, Jr., son of C. William, and Marion (Tillinghast) Morrill of 40 Lloyd street, passed on Tuesday morning, Oct. 12, at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. He became ill while training with the United States Army Ordnance Corps at Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

Pvt. Morrill was born in Winchester April 30, 1923. He attended the Winchester schools and was graduated from Winchester High School in 1940, entering Cornell University that fall.

At Cornell he was a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and of an honorary engineering society. He won several scholarships, was assistant comptroller as a junior and had been elected comptroller for his senior year, but was unable to hold this office because of being called to active duty in the Army. He was a member of the Ordnance Corps enlisted reserve while at Cornell and of the University's Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Pvt. Morrill first reported for Army duty at Fort Niagara, N. Y., from where he was sent to Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland for ordnance training. He was one of ten chosen from his regiment to be sent to Cornell for an officers' training course when he became ill.

He leaves, besides his parents, a sister, Miss Priscilla Morrill, of this town.

Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Saville and Kimball chapel, 39 Church street. Mr. Prescott W. Baston, first reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Winchester will officiate.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTED MEDICAL SLIDES

Dr. Otis Alley of the Science Department at Winchester High School has been presented for use in his department a set of microscope slides showing diphtheria, trench mouth, meningitis, spinal fluid, blood poisoning and other blood specimens.

The slides are the gift of Cadet Robert "Iron Mike" McCormack, former Winchester High football star now in the Merchant Marines. They were made by his brother, Richard, former all-Middlesex League football guard at Winchester and now a pharmacist's mate, second class, in the United States Navy. They were prepared in a Naval Hospital at Davisville, R. I., before "Richie" was assigned to sea duty "somewhere in the Pacific.

Dr. Alley, in commenting upon the slides, expressed himself as very pleased to have them. "They are excellent," he said.

Miss Mary Farquhar of West Medford was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Herbert Fazio and Miss Barbara Rockwell, both of West Medford, Mrs. Frederick W. Micklay of West Roxbury and Miss Shirley Hossack of Upper Montclair, N. J.

The honor maid wore a gown of deep rose velvet with a coronet of matching flowers and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. The bridesmaids wore sage green velvet dresses with matching flower coronets and carried talisman roses.

Mr. Andrews was best man for his son and the usher corps included Allen W. Abbott, USNR and G. Raymond Bancroft, Jr., of Winchester; Paul E. McNamara of West Medford and Charles F. Loveys, Jr., USN, of Melrose.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church hall, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving with the honor maid and bridesmaids. Ensign Andrews and his bride are spending their honeymoon in New York and the South.

The bride is a graduate of Medford High School, class of 1939. Ensign Andrews, who was commissioned June 15 following his graduation from Midshipman's School at Columbia University, graduated from Winchester High School in 1939 and from the Tufts College Engineering School under the accelerated program in December, 1942. He recently completed a course in diesel engineering at Cornell University and has been assigned to active duty in the South.

MURPHY—MURPHY

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at St. Mary's Church, Melrose, on Monday morning, Oct. 4, when Miss Marian Veronica Murphy, daughter of Mr. Dennis J. Murphy of Cleveland street, Melrose, became the bride of John J. Murphy, son of Mr. Patrick J. Murphy of Salem street. Rev. Joseph P. Burk, DCL, performed the marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her brother, Clarence P. Murphy, the bride wore a gown of off-white satin, having a sweetheart neckline trimmed with seed pearls and a court train. Her full length veil of tulle was caught to a coronet of satin and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and bouvardia.

Miss Lillian C. Fitzgerald of Melrose was maid of honor, wearing green velvet and faille with a matching headdress of ostrich feathers and tulle and carrying yellow pom pom chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids wore gold colored dresses similar to the honor maid's with matching headdresses and carried bronze and gold pom poms. They were Mrs. Edwin C. Cook of Malden, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Murphy of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Joan Marie Murphy of Stoneham, small niece of the bride, and Miss Diane Lowthers, also of Stoneham, were flower girls. They wore long pale green taffeta frocks trimmed with black velvet and baby lace. Instead of bonnets they wore wreaths of natural flowers and they carried baskets of variegated sweet peas.

John P. Davey of Winchester was best man and John F. Murphy of Melrose, brother of the bride, was usher.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's father. Upon their return from a wedding journey to Montreal Mr. Murphy and his bride will make their home in Melrose.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and Fisher Business College in Boston. She is employed in the Division of Child Guardianship at the State House. Mr. Murphy, a graduate of Winchester High School and member of Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, is employed as a horticulturist in Arlington.

WORTHEN—ENGLAND

Miss Nancy Elizabeth England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall J. England of Ledgewood road, and Thomas Worthen, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Worthen of Wedgemere avenue, were married on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 9, at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church. White chrysanthemums made an attractive setting for the candlelight service which was read by Rev. Arthur Beane, rector of Avon Old Farms School in Avon, Conn.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss England had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Betty Jean England. Another sister, Miss Carolyn England was one of the three bridesmaids, the others being Miss Joanne and Miss Mary Worthen, sisters of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of pale rose-glow satin, fashioned with a bouffant skirt. Her floor-length veil of tulle was caught to a Juliet cap of fine lace and she carried calla lilies.

The honor maid wore an ashes of roses gown having a satin bodice, full tulle skirt, a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves edged with tulle. Her flowers were autumn colored chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids carried the same flowers and also wore dresses of slipper satin, styled like those of the honor maid, in soft old blue.

Mr. Worthen had his father for his best man. Ushers were Capt. William Whorf, USMC, and Shailer Avery, both of Winchester and Ensign Thomas Smith, USNA, of Peoria, Ill.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents which was decorated with candelabra and autumn tinted leaves. The parents of both the bride and bridegroom were with them in the receiving line. Mrs. England wore American beauty satin with an old-blue velvet hat and matching veil. Her flowers were American beauty orchids worn as a corsage. Mrs. Worthen, mother of the bridegroom, wore a soft delicate blue satin gown with an American beauty hat and a corsage of white and yellow orchids.

The ceremony, which was advanced from its original date because of the bridegroom's Army orders, was attended only by members of the immediate families.

DADS HAVING RIGHT TO APPEAL INDUCTION

Now that the Local Selective Service Board has begun the processing of fathers for the induction which will take place on Nov. 30 it seems proper to call to the attention of all registrants in this group their legal rights with respect to appeal from decisions of the local board. For this purpose portions of the Selective Service Regulations covering appeals are quoted verbatim as follows:

627.2 Who may appeal registrant's classification to board of appeal under certain circumstances.

(a) The registrant, any person who claims to be a dependent of a registrant, any person who has filed written evidence of the occupational necessity of a registrant, or the government appeal agent may appeal to a board of appeal from any classification of a registrant by the local board except that no such person may appeal from the determination of the registrant's physical or mental condition by the examining physician, the examining station of the armed forces, or the local board.

(b) The government appeal agent may take any appeal authorized under paragraph (a) of this section at any time within 10 days after the date when the local board mails to the registrant a Notice of Classification (Form 57) or at any time before the registrant is mailed an Order to Report for Induction (Form 150).

(c) The registrant, any person who claims to be a dependent of the registrant, or any person who has filed written evidence of the occupational necessity of a registrant may take an appeal authorized under (a) above at any time within 10 days after the date when the local board mails to the registrant a Notice of Classification (Form 57). At any time prior to the date that the local board mails to the registrant an Order to Report for Induction (Form 150), the local board may permit any such person to appeal, even though such 10-day period has elapsed, if it is satisfied that the failure of such person to appeal within the 10-day period was due to a lack of understanding of the right to appeal or to some cause beyond the control of such person. Unless the local board thereafter permits an appeal, the right of such persons to appeal shall expire at the end of the 10-day period. If such an extension of time to appeal is granted by the local board, a record thereof shall be entered on the Selective Service Questionnaire (Form 40) under the heading "Minutes of Other Actions."

627.11 How appeal to board of appeal is taken.

(a) Any person entitled to do so may appeal in either of the following ways:

(1) By filing with the local board a written notice of appeal. Such notice need not be in any particular form but must state the name of the registrant and the name and identity of the person appealing so as to show the right of appeal.

(2) By signing the "Appeal to the Board of Appeal" on the Selective Service Questionnaire (Form 40).

627.12 Statement of person appealing.

The person appealing may attach to his notice of appeal or to the Selective Service Questionnaire (Form 40) a statement specifying the respects in which he believes the local board erred, may direct attention to any information in the registrant's file which he believes the local board has failed to consider or give sufficient weight, and may set out in full any information which was offered to the local board and which the local board failed or refused to include in the registrant's file.

ROTARY NOTES

Now that President Ernie is in voice again he rendered a short fight talk on better attendance, all absentees please take notice.

Dr. Sheehy reports Nick Fitzgerald is on the mend and we all hope we will see him at meeting soon.

AMONG ART SHOW PATRONS

Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff of Highland avenue, is among the patrons for the exhibit of drawings and paintings by refugee children in an internment camp that is being shown at the New England Museum of Natural History, corner of Boylston and Berkeley streets, Boston. This showing, which started on Oct. 5 and will continue for six weeks, is sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, (Quakers) and by the Museum of Natural History.

The drawings and paintings in the collection are the work of English, French, Spanish, and Chinese young people, all children of war. The present exhibit is an effort to ameliorate some of the distress which the upheavals of war and social changes inflict on these innocent children.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

You remember what a survivor's kit is? Vessels that combat submarines in the Atlantic carry them. Each kit has warm clothing and underwear and shoes for a man who is picked up after his ship has been torpedoed. Anything warm is welcome. The man who puts them on won't be fussy. The color of the sweater may fight with the color of the slacks; the vest and coat and pants may be no match; the shoes, though strong and sound, may be beyond a high shine. So long as Nazi u-boats prowl, this provision for those who survive a wreck will be needed. Garments may be brought to the central work room on Wednesdays or to the Epiphany parish house on any day if they are just marked for British War Relief. British boats carry them; but, with the Nazi submarines again active, it may be one of our own U. S. men who puts the warm garments on.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club, Mrs Virgil Ghirardini, president, will meet on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 1.30 at the home of Mrs. J. Robie Cove, 8 Fernway. After the dessert, which will be served by the hostess, there will be a business meeting, followed by the program, which will consist of oral judging of the flower arrangements brought by the club members. Each member is asked to bring one arrangement, of any size, to the meeting.

PAN AMERICAN EVENING

Winchester Public Library

Inter-American Co-operation in the War Front will be the theme of a Kodachrome-illustrated lecture next Tuesday evening, Oct. 19 at 8 o'clock at the Winchester Public Library. The lecture will be presented by Mrs. Marion S. Eberly of the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs in Washington.

To give the people of the United States the story of Inter-American cooperation in the war effort, an extensive collection of Kodachrome slides has been assembled. This is the first collection to be made of pictures in color, showing phases of war activities in the other American Republics How their raw materials are needed for our war production is graphically explained and the inter-dependence of all the Americas in defense of our hemisphere is stressed. The pictures show, also, something of the life and culture of the people who are giving us invaluable aid in our prosecution of the war.

Mrs. Marion S. Eberly, under whose direction the lecture has been prepared, was formerly with the New York Herald Tribune and for ten years a resident of several Latin American countries.

This is the first in the series of Pan American Evenings sponsored by the Trustees and Librarian of the Winchester Public Library in conjunction with the Pan American Society of Massachusetts. The course will be open to all residents of Winchester without charge.

Mrs. George Cheever Shattuck, president of the Pan American Society of Massachusetts will be a special guest as will Mr. Richard Parkhurst of Winchester who is connected with the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs in Washington.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED DANVERS

DiMambro Scored Twice in 30-0 Victory

Speedy "Rat" DiMambro, local wingback, thrilled the not-so-big crowd that saw Winchester High's outclass Danvers, 30-0 last Saturday afternoon at Danvers by twice galloping 59 yards for touchdowns on succeeding plays. The first was called back by the referee for a rule infraction, or what the whistle-blower deemed was not according to the code, but on the succeeding play "Rat" was off again and once more went all the way. Two 59-yard jaunts following each other, in football togs, on a hot day like last Saturday was quite a chore and DiMambro was a tired boy when he left the game shortly afterward to the cheers of the Winchester stands.

DiMambro was not the only hero in Red and Black last Saturday. Little Tony Saraco, 120 pounds or so of running fool, was another standout and the real sparkplug of the local team. Tony tossed a thrilling 32 yard touchdown jaunt into the local victory parade and also threw the vital block that enabled DiMambro to score on his second goal-line run. Add to this some pretty faking and another effective block on Teddy O'Rourke's touchdown sortie and you'll sort of get the idea that little Dynamite Tony was very much in the ball game. He looked like the best offensive back on the field last Saturday and this is in no sense discounting the fine all around game played by Sammy Tibaudo, the boy who really makes those plays go in the local backfield. "Sarto" Walsh did some nice blocking for Winchester at Danvers and "Chucker" Roche some effective tackling from his halfback slot. Phil O'Rourke did some good tackling early in the game and "Shiny" Amico was a bulwark on the local frontier with Fran Lambiase continuing to look good in the middle of the line.

For Danvers Daley stood out. The Yale Blues didn't have too much last Saturday and had Coach Knowlton cared to do so, he could have run up a much bigger score. Two of Danvers best Piccolo, a good back, and Spofford, veteran lineman, were out with injuries.

Winchester made only eight first downs while rolling up the tremendous total of 374 yards from scrimmage. The locals only tried two passes, completing neither; they made three very costly fumbles and lost 55 yards to a referee who surely missed nothing and saw a lot not apparent to experienced observers on the sidelines.

Danvers made 84 yards and five first downs, completed one of three passes for three yards, lost 15 yards to the ref and fumbled five times, recovering thrice.

The first time Winchester had the ball Tibaudo drove from the Danvers 30 inside the 20, only to have the ball brought back and lose 15 yards for holding. A bit later Sammy fumbled after smashing through from the Danvers 24 to the 9.

Soon after the start of the second quarter Sillars kicked to the Winchester 15 and the locals were off. Sam Tibaudo lateraled to Roche for a first down at the 30. DiMambro reversed for another at the Danvers 47 and Saraco drove and smashed off tackle to reach the 25.

Once again DiMambro got away off to the left and was barely knocked outside at the Danvers 2 by Poor. Sammy Tibaudo cracked over inside Amico's tackle for the touchdown. Lambiase missed the goal.

The next time Winchester got the ball the locals advanced from the Danvers 45 to score in six plays, despite penalties of 5 and 15 yards, the latter for clipping as Haggerty plowed through for 20 yards to the Danvers 10.

The penalty put the ball back on the 32, but on the very first play Saraco broke through the line and whirling away from the secondaries, outraced the Danvers safety man to score. Lambiase again failed to convert.

Just before the half Winchester drove to the Danvers 9, but a fumble lost the ball on the 14 at the whistle.

In the closing moments of the third quarter Winchester started at its 36 with a 5 yard lateral from S. Tibaudo to Saraco. On the next play, Sammy again lateraled to Saraco who shot the ball out sidewise to DiMambro and the speedy "Rat" was off to the races, going 59 yards without a hand being laid on him.

Referee Boyson called the play back, ruling Sammy's lateral had been forward, and the disappointed Winchester boys lined up again. Sam Tibaudo slung a short shovel pass to DiMambro and the little wingback, behind swell blocking, shot off to the left and once aagin raced all the way, Saraco erasing Danvers' Poor at the 20 to make the touchdown sure. Lambiase once more missed the extra point.

Just to show that the varsity had no scoring monopoly a second string backfield of freshman Johnny West, Tony Saraco and junior Teddy O'Rourke scored at the start of the last quarter, starting from the Danvers 46. West started the lateral and went through nicely for an effective block. Saraco did some pretty faking before passing out to O'Rourke and then blotted out one of the two Danvers men who had a chance, Teddy outracing the other down the sidelines for the touchdown. Lambiase missed his dropkick try.

The last score came shortly before the final whistle when Sam Tibaudo, Saraco and DiMambro worked another pretty double lateral to go all the way from the Winchester 42. Again the extra point was no go.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES

It is of the utmost importance that every member of the Auxiliary Police be at his post during the practice air raid, scheduled for Thursday evening, Oct. 21. As you know, umpires are grading the showing of the Civilian Defense work done here, and the final results will be sent to Washington.

This is an opportunity for our organization to show the town that we have been working hard since our inception, and that we are truly qualified to act as Auxiliary Police.

Unless otherwise directed, each member should go directly to his regular post when the mobilization signal sounds. Those scheduled to report to Police Headquarters are requested to remain on call in the hallway just outside the Auxiliary Headquarters.

All members should be fully equipped with cross belts, arm band, badge, helmet, whistle, night stick, flashlight, pencil and pad of paper or notebook. As many as possible reporting to Headquarters should bring cars.

If for any reason you will be out of town, or otherwise unable to report to your regular post, please drop a card to Box 212, Winchester, immediately, stating the reason you will be unable to be present. By giving prompt notification, replacement will be easier.

Everyone on his toes to make the Auxiliary Police the outstanding Civilian Defense unit in this test!

McLAUGHLIN AGAIN!

"Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nabnassett, won whatever honors there were at last week-end's regular meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association. There were hardly enough warriors for a mess at any time and for about half an hour it was a moot question whether the matches wouldn't have to be scratched.

Heading the list of casualties was President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele, who developed such a cold upon his return from Wells River that those in authority at the Teele domicile took strong steps through the proper channels to keep him indoors. Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, once again inexplicably chose to play golf, and there are those among the Palmer Bach members who are being forced to the opinion that Arthur must be good at THAT game. Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham was once more engaged in duties attendant upon his business, of which it has been said Mr. Teele entertains so high a view. That left of the original members only Mr. McLaughlin and the Secretary, both of whom put in for them a very prompt appearance at the beach.

After shivvering in the high wind for about an hour and speculating as to how soon two or three hardy fishermen on the shores of the lake would freeze to death, "Willie" and the Scrivener were just about to give up the ghost, and start for home when Tom McKee, very natty in a Cossack jacket and hunting cap, among other garments, put in an appearance. Tom throws a good shoe and was not averse to pitching, so it wanted but one more devotee to start hostilities, since there is an unwritten law at Palmer street that only doubles shall be indulged in by Association members.

Casting a hopeful eye along Palmer street the Secretary beheld the towering form of Howard "Foul Line" Witlet mounted on a bike and pedalling like the wind, toward the beach, his smiling face blue with the cold.

Welcoming shouts sped Howard along, coins were flipped and "Foul Line" and Tom McKee squared off against "Wild Willie" and the Secretary. Midway through this match, won by McLaughlin, in spite of the Secretary, Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner blew around the corner of the bath house, bundled against the weather in a windbreaker over a lumberman's shirt and other cold weather incidentals.

"Garrulous" matched his way into play immediately and he and Tom took on McLaughlin and the Secretary, once again "Wild Willie" being too much for the field. McLaughlin and McKee also won the succeeding match in which they were opposed by "Foul Line" and "Garrulous."

Mr. McKee by this time was getting the range and the hang of the Secretary's shoes. As a consequence he was pretty hot in the final match of the session, in which he and Mr. Witter took the measure of Mr. Gardner and the Secretary, two out of three.

The victory was hard fought and had the Secretary supported Mr. Gardner as well as ol' "Foul Line" aided Mr. McKee, there might have been a different ending. Mr. Gardner flung a number of very nice ringers, but Mr. McKee threw a larger number of equally impressive hookers. Mr. Witter's old dipsy-doo shoe was laying in very close to the stake each time for many an odd point while the Secretary's few ringers were inconsistently covered by Mr. McKee. The winners' scores were 25-24, 24-25 and 25-23, for three about as even games as you could ask for.

WEEK-END FIRES

Saturday morning at 6.13 Box 23 came in for a fire in the kitchen of the Christie McDonald bake shop at 19 Mt. Vernon street. The firemen found an overheated pipe from one of the ovens had set fire to a partition, doing slight damage. The bakery is in operation at the shop every Saturday morning shortly after midnight.

Sunday afternoon at 4.10 there was a grass fire on the Brooks estate off Grove street. At 7.19 Sunday evening Box 542 came in for a fire in the kitchen of the home of Mr. Bernard A. Marvin. The firemen found upon their arrival that the curtains and window casings in the kitchen were afire. Children with lighted candles were blamed for the trouble.

Monday morning at 7.32 the Department was called to take care of an over-heated stove at the home of Mr. George M. Bryne, 4 Copley street.

MOTORISTS SMASHED WINDOWS

Monday night shortly after 10.30 Police Headquarters was notified by Mrs. Doris DelSordo of 67 High street that some one from an automobile proceeding along High street toward Cambridge street had hurled a large rock against her house, smashing in a screen and breaking a window. Shortly afterward Mrs. Lea Burroughs of 64 Dunster lane reported a similar occurance at her home.

Police Sgt. Joseph Derro went to investigate and found that big stones had been used in both instances. The car from which they were thrown wasn't seen and no trace of it could be found by the Police.

Columbus Day Observed

A large number of members gathered at the Sons of Italy Club Hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 12 to celebrate Columbus Day, an event that in the past, has been celebrated with an annual banquet and dance.

The occasion was an open house with sandwiches and refreshments and plenty of fun. The members sat around the hall with the center of the hall left for dancing space, or whatever the member who had the floor wanted to use it for.

Songs were sung by Mario Lonigro, Dominick Casalennova, a service man who was home on a short furlough and Giacomo Pantaleo. "Peter Fish" Marchesi sang "Coming in on a wing and a prayer." All the members came in gradually as a chorus and for an unrehearsed song it was very well rendered.

Then Pantaleo and Lonigro sang a duet which was followed by a song by Anthony Ficociello while Pantaleo did a solo dance for which he is well known. Then to the tune of "Take it Off" Henry Peluso did a burlesjue of Gypsy Rose Lee that was enjoyed by the members.

As is the custom, the well known Tarantella was done by Pantaleo and Harry Ciarcia. Talk about Fred Astaire, what has he got that Jack hasn't?

The only regret of the audience was that Sam Puma refused to sing a song. Henry Peluso begged and begged but to no avail. Henry was everywhere getting everyone to do something, sing, dance or recite. I wonder where he gets his energy.

Throughout the evening the piano was played by Miss Rosalie Peluso, daughter of Henry Peluso. Everyone marveled at her ability as an accompanist. She played continuously for two hours and she played any and all songs requested, be they classics, Italian folk tunes and ballads or popular tunes. The committee was very grateful for her assistance, but for her, it wouldn't have been the success it was.

The speaker of the evening was the assistant Venerable, Carmine Frongillo. He said:

"We are gathered here this evening to celebrate Columbus Day. Many of our brothers are not present this evening because they are all over the world fighting to preserve the right for us to be able to gather as we have here tonight. As long as they are away we shall continue to carry on, in our humble way a tradition that many of them have worked so hard to establish. Our annual banquet and dance has been the outstanding event of the Winchester Lodge. Oct. 12 is our day and as long as the Winchester Lodge exists it shall continue to be observed."

With the singing of our degree team song and America the festivities came to an end. It was an evening that will be remembered by all present for a long time.

Anthony Ficociello acted as toastmaster. The committee was headed by Antonio Giliberto, Sr., as chairman; and consisted of the following: A. Giliberti, Henry Peluso, Anthony Barbaro, Francis Muraco, Vincent Gigliotte and Anthony Ficociello.

I will acknowledge any cards or mail I received next week. Until then, keep writing.

NOT DRESSED FOR IT!

At least that is what they must have thought at the Home for Aged People last Sunday morning at 7.30 when a little girl arrived there through the blustery wind, clad in her pajamas. If you happened to be out in your pajamas at that hour last Sunday, you probably realize how brisk the atmosphere was about that time.

The matron called Police Headquarters and Patrolmen Hogan and McDonald were sent to pick up the little wanderer. Meanwhile a mother living not too far from the home also telephoned Headquarters that her small daughter was missing. Mother and daughter were reunited shortly after the second call was received.

STRAY TIRE INJURED WOMAN

Miss Leontine T. Pote of 22 Myrtle street, while walking on Myrtle street near Washington street, was struck and painfully injured by an automobile tire which got away from a boy who was rolling it down Myrtle street. The tire left the roadway and rolled up onto the sidewalk where it struck Miss Pote, injuring her right knee.

The boy, who was with his younger brother, also rolling a tire down hill, went to Miss Pote's assistance and Dr. Milton J. Quinn was summoned to attend her. He ordered her removed to her home in the Police ambulance.

OCTOBER

Here we are again, on time, always on time, never failing. We have traveled long and fast never once pausing, night and day, week by week, month in and month out, always moving, always on time.

None have ever traveled faster—no track nor trail, no road, no wheels nor sail nor wings, no east or west nor height nor depth—on, on we go through the utter darkness of the airless ether, whither, God only knows.

We have journeyed together, you and you and all who live, fast, on time, arriving just where we were a year ago—we have come, glorious October.

The sun never rises and it never sets, it seems to because the earth, our home, is rolling over and over, warbling a little, now facing the healing, golden light and again turning away to the soft darkness of soothing night when the firmament reveals the gleaming suns of other worlds in the vastness of illimitable space—all planned in order, exactness, perfection, unchangeable so that the stars in the heavens as the shepherds saw them that night in Bethlehem and as they will be a thousand years hence may be shown with exactitude in the domes of our planetaria.

We have come once more October, and will come again to see the matchless art of Autumn transform the New England landscape into glorious beauty beyond our power to portray. When fall comes and crickets sing through the lengthening hours of cooler nights, when meadow mists veil lowlands and valleys and the first hoar frost turns dewy grass to crispness some stilly, moonlit night, then the master artist with magic hand begins the transformation of the rolling countryside making a superb spectacle of the vast panorama of resplendent hues.

With the passing of this symphony, nature's vespers of fall, as mystically and silently as the phantoms of the night vanish at the coming of dawn, unseen hands scatter autumn leaves to mantle the embracing earth, protecting the myriad sleeping things till winter comes to spread her snowy sheets over all abiding there. Dormant but vital, silent and unseen but living, they rest until spring removes the protecting covers. Then countless blossoms in transcendent resurrection, uplift their smiling faces to greet the vernal sun, transforming the dull, brown fields into a varicolored floral paradise of living, radiant beauty. He who witnesses the autumnal panorama at its best may well exclaim, "My eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord!"

The miracle of October is glorious death, enfolding rest and peaceful sleep in preparation for new and abundant life when spring comes round again to awaken all that have slumbered for a time in nature's fond embrace, all that sleepeth but are not dead.

The New England miracle of October is God's perfect benediction.

ALL WINCHESTER TENNIS FINAL AT MIDDLEBURY

Winchester just couldn't lose the women's tennis championship of Middlebury College this year for the finalists in the championship bracket were Dolly Greene, defending champion, and Betsy Drake, both widely known local girls. Dolly, a junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene of Highland avenue, had held the championship for the past two years. Betsy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Drake of Lagrange street, entered Middlebury as a freshman under the accelerated program last summer.

Both girls were all around sports stars at Winchester High, being standouts in field hockey and tennis. The Middlebury paper has the following to say of their match for the college title, the scores being 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.

"Each girl was playing a hard, fast game and giving no quarter. There were few net shots for the drives were hard and deep to the baselines. Points were won by good placing or on tricky shots dropped close to the net.

"Betsy was ahead 4-0 in the last set, when Dolly staged a comeback and tied the score 4-4. The set then went to 5-5, but Betsy took the last two games for the set and match. She will be presented with a cup in chapel soon."

LECTURE POSTPONED

Due to military demands made upon Dr. Michail Dorizas it is necessary to postpone his Winchester lecture, sponsored by Cub Pack 6 and Troop 5, B. S. A., from Oct. 23 to Friday evening, Oct. 29. The lecture which is illustrated and deals with vital world events will be given in Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church.

UNITED WAR FUND

Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols Heads "Come and See Tours"

Have you really ever visited the various agencies in Winchester or Boston which the United War Fund actually benefits? Then this is your most cordial invitation to do so by contacting Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols, Win. 1428, who is in charge "Come and See Tours" for the United War Fund.

Groups, no matter how small, are welcome. Many of these agencies have a great deal to offer which groups of all ages would enjoy, men and young people as well as women.

The Community Workshops and the Morgan Memorial are among the most varied, and the USO buildings always have a great deal going on in the evenings, as do the boys' clubs and the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation. Some of the Settlement Houses have evening groups which are well worth a visit, as well as their usual daytime activities.

Do call Mrs. Nichols and let her arrange for you and your friends! It really will do your heart good and make you glad to be able to give to the United War Fund "because you care."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father. Upon their return from a wedding journey over the Mohawk Trail to Canada Mr. Patterson and his bride will make their home in Maine.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. Patterson has recently received a medical discharge from the United States Navy after seeing action in the South Pacific battle zone.

"Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." These words from John 14:5, 6 comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, Oct. 17, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all of its branches.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be Doctrine of Atonement, and included in the Scriptural passages will be: "Grace be to you and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ, who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal. 1:3, 4).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done . . . For this glorious result Christian Science lights the torch of spiritual understanding. (p. 292).

SALVATION ARMY'S ANNUAL APPEAL

The Salvation Army's annual appeal in Greater Boston is now at the half-way stage. The out-of-town communities play an important part in this campaign of the Army as their combined quotas make up a generous portion of the grand total aim of $210,000 which the Army must receive by Nov. 1, in order to maintain the efficient standards traditional with the Salvation Army's work.

Because of the increased demands for the war services through the Red Shield clubs and mobile canteens, the Army needs the generous support of its friends in these communities in Greater Boston. It needs the men and women of Winchester to recognize an individual responsibility in helping their fellowman through the 27 institutions and departments of the Salvation Army, and the activities for our boys in the fighting forces.

William N. Beggs, chairman of the Local Sponsoring Committee, together with the campaign treasurer, Donald J. Lewis, call attention that $3000 is not an excessive amount for a town such as Winchester. It is their high hope that this quota will be generously topped when the final returns are in.

As more and more people learn about the various activities of the Army, they appreciate that this work must go on; that the Salvation Army has become such a valuable asset to the community and nation that passing up a donation is somewhat like shirking one's obliation to serve their less fortunate brothers.

Give as generously as possible to this worthiest of causes. Give thankfully for that freedom to give.

Co-operate with the volunteer women workers when they call in your neighborhood in order to make their task as pleasant and profitable as possible.

Share in helping to keep the Salvation Army on the march!

PREPARE FOR WINTER

Do you know how to "fix it yourself?" Here are a few suggestions:

"Keeping Your House in Repair" explains how to make repairs outside as well as inside your home. It includes repairing of the heating plant, plumbing system, electric installation, masonry and plastering.

The "Handbook for Home Mechanics" is a first aid manual for modern home equipment and simplified household mechanics is an explanation of how the mechanical and electrical equipment of your home is made, how it works, and how it is serviced.

"The Handy Man's Handbook" included wood, metal, electrical and plumbing work. Build it Yourself gives a hundred good ideas for making your home more comfortable and Your House: Its Upkeep and Rejuvenation and War Time Guide Book also contain many helpful suggestions.

Solve your interior decorating problems by using some of the hints in our many books on Home Decoration such as Decorating the Home and Do it Yourself.

The housewife will be especially interested in the Complete Book of Sewing and other books containing patterns and suggestions for making curtains, draperies, slipcovers, etc.

And, don't neglect your automobile. Be sure to read, Your Car Is Made to Last and keep it in good working order also.

SHARING THE JOB.
MOLLY PITCHER WAS THE FIRST AMERICAN WOMAN SOLDIER. WHEN HER HUSBAND WAS KILLED IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, SHE MANNED HIS GUN, FOUGHT IN THE BATTLE OF MONMOUTH,- WAS MADE A SERGEANT BY GENERAL WASHINGTON.

SHARING THE JOB— GETTING INTO THE FIGHT.

STEPHEN PARKHURST BROKE HIS LEG PLAYING FOOTBALL, BUT DISTRICT NURSE CHEERS HIM UP

Football was a lot of fun for young Stephen Parkhurst of 30 Grove street until that last collision that brought him down with a broken leg. Of course Stephen had the best of care to set the bones and apply the cast, and he's proud as punch of that cast because it's covered with autographs of his friends, but a broken leg takes a lot of care and that's where our Winchester District Nursing Association was called in to help. The picture above shows Stephen getting a sponge bath with the help of Mrs. Angeline R. O'Leary, supervising nurse of the Association.

Stephen's case is just one of the many, many ways that our District Nursing Association is helping the people in Winchester every day. For the year ending April 1, 1943, in fact, 3589 calls were made in the town by teh Association's nurses, Mrs. O'Leary and Miss Alice Petersen, staff nurse. This is truly a most impressive record of service!

"Red Feather" Campaign Aids Association

Charges for District Nursing service are very modest; only $1 for the first hour or any part thereof, but for those who cannot pay the regular fee, or some lesser amount, the services are free. This help is available to anyone in the town merely by calling Win. 1900. The remainder of the funds required to run the Association are supplied by your gifts to the United War Fund during its annual Red Feather campaign.

Winchester's District Nurses perform a wide variety of aid to our community including home nursing care, maternity service of both pre and post natal nursing and instruction, health inspection of pupils of private nursery schools, adult health supervision, nutrition instruction, home nursing classes, and lectures to Mothers' Associations throughout the town. The work is carried on in close co-operation with the medical profession, through a medical advisory committee, appointed by the staff of the Winchester Hospital.

First organized in 1899, the Association employed the first school nurse in 1910. In 1912 they equipped a private dwelling on Washington street as the town's first hospital. In 1918 the hospital was moved to its new quarters at the Highlands and in 1937 it became a separate organization. The amount of public health work became so great in 1927 that the District Nursing Association found it necessary to employ the services of two full time public health nurses.

21 Directors Govern Association

Administration of the District Nursing Association activities is in the hands of the following officers and board of directors for the current year:

President, Mrs. Harlow Russell
Vice President, Mrs. Wayne B. Thompson
Secretary, Mrs. Ralph T. Jope
Treasurer, Mrs. Amy E. Pond
Directors, Mrs. Everett P. Stone, Mrs. James J. McGovern, Mrs. Alfred J. Higgins, Mrs. William A. Kugler, Mrs. Albert Huckins, Mrs. Erskine White, Mrs. John Coulson, Jr., Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Malcolm S. Nichols, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. James B. Willing, Mrs. Leslie A. Tucker, Mrs. Chandler Symmes, Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. James W. Russell, Mrs. Colver Dyer and Mrs. Paul Elliott.

The Winchester District Nursing Association is one of seven Winchester member agencies of the United War Fund. The other six are:

Society St. Vincent de Paul

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS LAND COURT

SUFFOLK, SS. 7154. Misc.

TO THE HONORABLE THE JUDGES OF THE LAND COURT FOR THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Respectfully represents LILLIAN COLE, of South Portland in the State of Maine, and ETHEL M. RICHARDSON, FLORENCE M. RICHARDSON, GEORGE W. RICHARDSON, WILLIAM E. RICHARDSON, AND JOHN RICHARDSON, all of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth: that they are owners of a certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in Winchester, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:

WESTERLY by Cambridge Street;

SOUTHERLY by land now or late of Edmund Parker; and

EASTERLY and NORTHERLY by land now or late of Thaddeus Parker;

Containing about five (5) acres of land and being the same premises conveyed to George F. Richardson, late of said Winchester, by Amasa Richardson, by deed dated November 1, 1871, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 1195 at page 96.

That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by GEORGE F. RICHARDSON, to DONA M. BASSETT, of Boston in said County of Middlesex, dated December 1, 1893, and duly recorded Book 2276, Page 104 in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds purporting to secure a note for $630.00, payable in 5 years (Dec. 1, 1898) with interest semi-annually, which mortgage appears to be undischarged, unassigned and unforeclosed on and by the record.

That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limit for the full performance of said condition no payment has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage; and

That the mortgagor named in said mortgage and those claiming under him have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of time limited in said mortgage for the full performance of the condition thereof.

WHEREFORE your petitioners pray that after appropriate notices a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 15, Chapter 240 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20 of the Acts of 1924.

By their Attorney,
William E. Ramsdell

THE PAGES OF MEMORY

(Written for the Winchester Star)

Turning back the pages of memory copious
We sadly remember that never-ending throng
That all too quickly pass from life
emulous;
May we ponder on our almost unforgiveable wrong
Of neglecting to embrace our opportunity plainly
By intimate acquaintance with and appreciation to subserve
More friendly relations with others and to more sanely
Rid ourselves of all selfness with its resultant swerve
From irascible personality patterns that condone
Apartness from the sphere of a faith
unrepentful
And rushing along day by day refusing to loan
One iota of the sweetness and tenderness of sympathy fundamental
For the strengthening of friendships blessing by wearing
Our heart conspicuously and not out of sight in contravention
Of the best we can give to our fellows, thus daring
Much more than a glimmering ray as we pause
On the threshold of the future with heart aglow
To strengthen inter-relations and help the cause
Of making more worth while memory's pages glow.

Canada's Women Keep 'Em Flying

UNIFORMED women of Canada's Army, Navy, Air Force, are Jills of all trade, no job is too tough for these girls in service to release men for overseas duty.

The Battle Dress of Canadian women ranges from house dresses and business suits to overalls and service uniforms.

The number of women engaged directly or indirectly in war industries has increased from 95,000 in February, 1942, to 255,000. In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1944, war industries are expected to use 60,000 more women, and the armed forces an additional 24,000.

The youngest women's service organized to release men to more active duties, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, had attested 3,104 officers and ratings, and called up 2,396 by June 26, 1943, one year after its establishment.

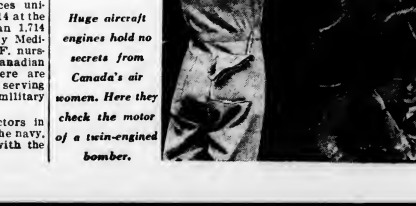
Officer members of the W.R.C.N.S. now will hold the same rank titles as men in the R.C.N., and will be referred to as commander, lieutenant and sub-lieutenant instead of the previous counterpart, chief officer, first officer, second officer and third officer. The Canadian Women's Army Corps was the first women's service to use the same titles as men.

Formed in September, 1941, the Canadian Women's Army Corps has enlisted more than 11,500.

The first women's service, established in July, 1941, the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) had enlisted more than 12,300 by the end of June.

Women in nursing services uniforms totalled more than 2,414 at the end of June, with more than 1,714 in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, 276 in the R.C.A.F. nursing service and 169 in the Canadian Navy nursing service. There are also 255 Canadian nurses serving with the South Africa military nursing service.

There are 37 women doctors in the armed services, four in the navy, 21 with the army, and 12 with the air force.



A member of the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) checks a 'chute for tears.

WINCHESTER RATIONING OFFICE ENTERED

Would-Be Thieves Got Nothing

Would-be thieves got nothing for their pains when they broke into the office of the Winchester War Price and Rationing Board at 5 Common street last Sunday. Rationing coupons and other valuables had been placed in a safety deposit vault with the surplus being left at the Police Station.

Patrolman William E. Cassidy discovered the break while trying doors Sunday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock. He found that a hole had been cut in a screen door at the rear of the office and the glass broken over the lock of the inside door, enabling the intruders to reach through and snap the catch.

There was no evidence that the office had been ransacked and nothing was missing. Officer Cassidy notified Headquarters of the break and Mrs. Mabel Doherty McCarthy of the clerical force was notified. She in turn notified Mr. Elliott F. Cameron of the local board, both visiting and inspecting the office.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB STARTS SEASON

The Mystic Glee Club, Winchester's popular male chorus, has opened its current season and has already met for rehearsal. Although several valuable members have been lost through military service and removal from town there is still the nucleus for an effective glee club and with several new singers already seeking membership President Carl Wood is confident that the coming year will measure up to past standards.

It is with real regret that the club announces the loss of Bill Cruger who has directed the chorus since its inception. Bill is now in the Army Air Corps somewhere in the South. His loss is hard to overestimate for Bill was not only a competent musician and fine vocalist, but was possessed in large measure of that pleasing type of personality which is such an asset in a director. His singers respected his musicianship and had a genuine affection for the man himself, while the club's audiences were always pleased with his effective unobtrusive leadership.

Several candidates for Bill's baton are under consideration and it is expected that a definite announcement can be made shortly. It is with pleasure that the club announces Mary Louise Wood as its accompanist for the coming season. Francis O. Marchant has been chosen as secretary of the club to replace Charles Jordan who is now teaching in Maine.

The club has already been approached for concerts, both in and out of Winchester, but no definite schedule has been made as yet. No rehearsal was held this week because of the blackout last night, but next week the usual rehearsal will be held Thursday evening in Masonic Hall. Tenors and baritones are especially needed and will be eligible for club membership upon passing the usual voice test.

BROTHERS-IN-LAW MET "OVER THERE"

Mrs. Virginia Woodbury of Washington street received on Monday a letter from her brother, Charles Walter Dolloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dolloff of Norwood street, in which he describes a meeting in North Africa with her husband, 1st. Lt. Edward B. Woodbury, USAAF, former teller of the Winchester National Bank and son of Mrs. Anna F. Woodbury of Newton and Mr. Harold M. Woodbury of New York.

"Charlie" Dolloff, former high school football player, is now serving in the United States Navy as machinist mate, first class. He has been in North Africa since the time of the invasion last February while Lt. Woodbury has been overseas since last September. They have been trying to meet for some time now, and once missed by only a few hours when Lt. Woodbury arrived at a North African port shortly after Dolloff's ship had left.

Finally they were successful, Dolloff coming on deck after his ship made port to find Lt. Woodbury already overside. They had a real reunion and gab-fest which was concluded by dinner ashore. Dolloff is married to the former "Vel" Clement, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clement of Lincoln street. They live in Quincy and have a son, Gary. Lt. and Mrs. Woodbury have two children, David and Carol.

WINCHESTER AT STONEHAM

Winchester High goes to Stoneham Saturday for a football game with Stoneham High School at the new Stoneham athletic field.

Stoneham beat Lexington 6-0 Monday afternoon, but hasn't been having too good a season, and in view of Winchester's easy 26-6 victory over Lexington ought not to be too tough for the locals tomorrow.

One thing is certain Winchester won't take Stoneham lightly after what happened to last year's un-um team, which barely squeaked out a 12-10 victory after being outplayed most of the way.

Stoneham's last year's team was however, a big, burly club that could and did pack its defense to stop Winchester's chief scoring threat, big Bill West.

This year's Stoneham defense will have to worry about Sam Tibando, a very hard running sophomore fullback not yet in West's class to be sure, but still hard to stop, and in addition there will be dynamite Tony Sunaro and the fleet "Rat" DiMambro, to worry about as well as Jim Haggerty, who as a tailback gives promise of being one of those explosive runners likely to go all the way anytime.

Winchester ought to win its fourth straight tomorrow. If it doesn't, it won't be because the boys are taking Stoneham too lightly.

LT. HOWELL ASSIGNED

WAC 2nd Lt. Elizabeth A. Howell, daughter of Mrs. Flora Pond Alward, 6 Marchant road, following her arrival at the Randolph Field headquarters of the Army Air Forces Central Flying Training Command in Texas, has been assigned to an assistant in the officers's section for the personnel division.

Lt. Howell's civilian occupation was that of a chief classifier for the Medford Public Library.

She is a member of the American Library Association, the Massachusetts Library Association, the Charles River Library Association. During 1942-43, she was chairman of the Boston Group of Classifiers and Catalogers.

Lt. Howell's husband, Chester A. Howell, makes his home in Winchester with her mother.

TO SING WILSON ANTHEM SUNDAY

The Chancel Choir of the First Congregational Church will sing on Sunday morning at the service commencing at 10.45 the new anthem, "Build Thee More Stately Mansions," composed by their organist and choirmaster, J. Albert Wilson.

This anthem, written by Mr. Wilson last season and published by a Boston music house, sets to music the last verse of Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem, "The Chambered Nautilus." It is scored for four mixed voices with the men's parts dividing again into four parts in places. The melody is appealing and the entire composition highly regarded by competent musicians who have heard it. It should prove especially interesting to Mr. Wilson's many friends and musical admirers in Winchester.

Besides the Chancel Choir the Junior Choir of the church, composed of 55 boys and girls, will sing. Miss Frances Randall, a pupil of Mr. Wilson, will play the organ postlude, choosing the March from Widor's Third Symphony.

She is the former Ernestine Eason, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Eason, formerly of Middlesex street, now residents of Woburn. She will be remembered as an operator at the Winchester Telephone Exchange who left her switchboard to go to China and there marry a man named Swan, who was then associated with the British Exporting Company.

Their married life has been spent at Hong Kong, but in the present unsettled state of China it was deemed best for Mrs. Swan and her two children to return to the United States.

Difficulty was experienced in obtaining a passport, it being necessary for Mrs. Swan to establish her identity. This was done through the State Department contacting Mr. Eason and she was able to sail on the Gripsholm reported yesterday in Portugal.

CLEAN UP THE GARDENS

Before putting garden tools away for the winter, be sure to clean up the remains of the Victory Gardens. Gathering up and disposing of the old stalks and vines does not involve very much work and will pay dividends next year. If a cover crop of winter rye can be planted it will restore much to the land and will save on next year's fertilizer.

MEET THE TOWN'S BIGGEST AND HAPPIEST FAMILY!

Here's a most unusual Winchester family. They don't all have the same name, but they do live at the same address, 110 Mt. Vernon street. They share this charming home together and enjoy the many real comforts, fine meals, and the care and attention which it affords. The telephone book lists their family as the Home for Aged People in Winchester, but that doesn't tell you much about the interesting people who live there.

If you had been present last week at the Home when Bob Keller, the United War Fund photographer, took the above picture, you'd probably met the family from left to right around the circle as follows: (They're proud of their birthdays too, so we'll mention those as we go around).

Front row: Mrs. Emma R. Hall, 88, Mrs. Ordla L. Kimball 81, Mrs. Mercy J. Goodwin 81, Miss Ida L. Bruner 82, Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers 74, Mr. William B. Simonds 90, Miss Jessie F. Adams 80, Mrs. Edith E. Lloyd 78, Mrs. Ella C. Perry 91, Mrs. Carrie C. Cutler 76, Miss Mary P. Kinner 85 and Miss Lydia L. Sanderson 95. In the back row are: Mrs. Elizabeth C. Mac-Wha, cook; Mrs. Maude T. Wolloff, matron; and Mrs. Edith Coulter, nurse.

Several other members of the Home were not present when the picture was taken. They are: Mr. Charles E. Cushing 82, Miss Myra H. Smith 83, Mrs. Maude A. Wilde 69 and Mrs. Ellen P. Dickie 80. Also, Mrs. Isabella L. Tufts 87, was absent because she is at the Winchester Hospital recovering from a broken hip! Yes, the doctors were amazed to find the X-rays showed the bones to be knitting beautifully.

Red Feather Campaign Aids Home

Although part of the funds for the operation of Winchester's Home for Aged People is provided from endowments this income is not sufficient to meet necessary expenses. For this reason the Home is a member agency of the United War Fund and your gifts during the Red Feather campaign assure its continued existence in Winchester.

This fine Home was established in 1891 (next February 1 is its 50th birthday). Its purpose is to provide a home for and otherwise assist deserving and respected elderly people in this town. The home belongs to the citizens of Winchester as a trust which has been handed down through the years.

Much credit for improvements in the Home is due Mr. Charles R. Main, who was president for six years before his death last year. Mr. Robert M. Stone is now president and he has devoted a great deal of time and effort to have everything at the Home carried on as nearly normal as possible, in spite of rationing and other wartime problems.

Mrs. Maude T. Wolloff is the very gracious and capable Matron of the Home and she is most popular with all the members. Her staff includes a nurse, Mrs. Edith Coulter, and a cook, Mrs. Elizabeth MacWha.

In addition to Mr. Stone, the president, the other officers and directors of Winchester's Home for Aged People are:

Vice Presidents, Mr. Marshall J. England, Mrs. Grace H. Hight, Mrs. Elsie E. Ferguson; Secretary, Mr. Francis E. Smith; Treasurer, Robert E. Fay; Auditor, William E. Ramsdell. The directors of the Home are: Mrs. Florence H. Richmond, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Freeburn, Mrs. Carol T. Nickerson, Miss Alice Main, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Abbott, Mrs. Christine M. Clarke, Dr. William L. Davis, Mr. G. Raymond Bancroft.

Town Doctors Deserve Great Credit

For almost 50 years the doctors of Winchester have given, without charge, immeasurable comfort and happiness to members of the Home through their many visits and administrations.

Our Home for Aged People is one of seven Winchester member agencies of the United War Fund. The other six are:

Society St. Vincent de Paul
District Nursing Association
Girl Scouts
Boy Scouts
Winchester Hospital
Social Service Council of Winchester

At the recent annual meeting of the Massachusetts Civic League, Dr. Bryant E. Moulton of Symmes road, was reelected to the Central Council of the League which is known as the Committee on Legislation and Administration.

MEN'S CLUB, UNITARIAN CHURCH

A largely attended supper meeting of the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church heard a most interesting talk by Herbert Black, foreign news editor of the Boston Globe, at its first fall meeting held last Thursday evening, Oct. 14, with nearly 60 members and guests enjoying a feed served by a committee headed by James M. Joslin.

Mr. Black, a recent member of the club, spoke on the subject, The News Behind the War News. His talk was highly informative and gave those present an insight into the confusing and often contradictory reports of the doings of the United Nations and the propaganda utterances of spokesmen for all the combatants. He pictured the task of the news agencies and editors in the daily receipt and sifting of war news averaging better than 60,000 words in order to present to their readers an adequate coverage in three or four thousand words that is permitted by existing space limitations. Mr. Black counselled his listeners not to limit their reading of war news and commentators to one newspaper but to seek to obtain contrasting viewpoints and ideas in order the better to be able to distinguish the genuine news from calculated and cunning propaganda. He said he is convinced that Hitler is now engaged in a prodigious effort to sow dissension among the United Nations and to split them apart preliminary to making their people and leaders receptive to the idea of a negotiated peace.

Russia, he stated, is moving steadily to the right and hence he felt America need not fear Communism too much. Our job is to make democracy work here and appear attractive abroad as the ideal for all the races of mankind striving to better themselves.

Following Mr. Black's talk, a lively question and answer period lasted nearly an hour and was ended by a rising vote of thanks in appreciation of his address.

Don R. Kroell, president of the clubs, announced that the next meeting, planned for Nov. 19, is to be a Fathers and Sons Night with Scout guests and a notable sports authority as the special speaker.

Interest is growing in the Sunday morning Bible Class, was the report given to the members of the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church, sponsors of the class, at their first fall meeting held the evening of Oct. 14.

"It unquestionably fills a need on the part of many men for a better grasp of essential facts about the Bible and a more comprehensive understanding of its significance for our modern world" said Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman in explaining to the members of the club what he and the officers of the club have planned for each of the forthcoming Sunday morning sessions. The discussion will provide a birdseye view of the origin and basis for much of the Bible lore and the differing beliefs of various sects.

The class meets at 9.45 each Sunday morning with the singing of old gospel songs led by Arthur W. Hill.

From present indications it is believed that the attendance committee headed by Raymond C. Terhune will soon be able to report that the optimum hopes of the club have been realized in a regular attendance of over 30 men.

FERULLO—PORTER

At a nuptial mass at St. Joseph's Church in East Woburn on Friday morning, Oct. 15, Miss Grace V. Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Porter of Central street, Woburn, became the bride of Lt. Harry A. Ferullo, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferullo of Royal street, Roxbury. Rev. Laurence Killian performed the marriage ceremony at 10:30 and was celebrant of the mass which followed. The bridal music was played by Mary A. Callahan, organist, and Arnold Callahan, tenor, was the soloist.

Miss Porter was given in marriage by her father. She wore a long gown of ivory damask, having a fitted basque, sweetheart neckline and bracelet sleeves. Her finger-tip length tulle veil was caught to a coronet of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of bouvardia and ivy.

Miss Mary L. Porter of Woburn was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of pale gold damask, styled like that of the bride, and a calot of the same material trimmed with matching plumes. Her flowers were Dubonnet pom poms chrysanthemums.

Donald M. Ferullo of Winchester was best man and the ushers were Andrew S. Porter of Woburn and Richard MacNeill of this town.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. The house was attractively decorated with white pom poms and a wedding breakfast was served by a caterer.

The bride is a graduate of Woburn High School and of Malden Commercial School. Lt. Ferullo graduated from Winchester High School and from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the class of 1940. He was graduated from the Army Air Forces Training Command School at Yale University, receiving his commission as second lieutenant in Aircraft Maintenance Engineering on Oct. 14.

He and his bride plan to make their home at the Air Forces post to which he will be assigned.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., held its first meeting of the fall at the home of Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, 18 Brooks street, on Monday afternoon, Oct. 18, with Miss Clara R. Russell, the Regent presiding.

The Chapter was honored by having as its guest, Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, the State Regent, who spoke on The Molly Pitchers of 1943. She told of the many ways in which the women of today are serving in this war, in the Army and the Navy, in the Red Cross, and in Civilian Defense, doing willingly whatever is asked of them. Members of the D. A. R. are serving as WACS, WAVES and SPARS and others are working faithfully for the Red Cross and Civilian Defense. Memorial Continental Hall in Washington has gone to war, with much of its space turned over to the Red Cross for the duration.

It is a cause for gratitude that the D. A. R. Blood Plasma Fund on Sept. 23, reached the sum of $135,926.82.

The hostess and her committee, consisting of Mrs. Carlisle W. Burton, Mrs. William B. Denison, Mrs. Charles O. Nichols, Mrs. Stephen G. Nichols, and Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, served refreshments at the close of the meeting with Mrs. Harry S. Parsons presiding at the tea table.

EN KA SOCIETY MEETING

Mrs. Marjorie Mason graciously opened her home at 11 Ridgefield road on Tuesday, for the first En Ka Society meeting of the year. Preceding the business meeting a dessert and coffee was served by the tea committee, Mrs. Roland W. Fletcher, chairman; Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, Miss Dorothy Hall and Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth.

Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, president of the Society, presided and interesting reports were given by the following chairmen: Miss Gretchen Stone, finance; Mrs. Raymond C. Dexter, membership; Mrs. Gordon H. Smith, Red Cross; Mrs. Roland R. Carter, Civics and Mrs. Arold Bates, placement.

Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard, a member of En Ka, spoke briefly on behalf of the United War Fund.

TONY DeTESO

WINCHESTER BOY WINS TUFTS SCHOLARSHIP

Anthony E. DeTeso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore DeTeso of Olive street, was awarded the Bennett Memorial Scholarship, established by the Class of 1914, at the degree convocation at Tufts College last Sunday.

The Bennett Scholarship honors the memory of William J. Bennett, a member of the Tufts Class of 1913, who was killed in World War 1. He was an outstanding scholar and athlete while at Tufts, captaining the 1913 eleven and being known as one of the best small college ends in New England. He was also a member of the baseball team and will be recalled by local sports followers as having caught a season for Woburn back in the Halcyon days of semi-pro ball hereabouts.

"Tony" DeTeso, latest to win the Bennett scholarship, was an outstanding athlete at Winchester High School and has played regular center on the Tufts varsity eleven for the past three seasons. Despite the fact that he is one of the smallest men playing center in the college ranks, Tynamite Tony has been especially outstanding in the Tufts line, his tackling being particularly effective and his ability to diagnose opposing plays especially marked.

He is co-captain of this year's eleven, is a Navy V-12 enrollee and a good scholar, having already won several scholarships at Tufts.

Tony will play his last football game in a Brown and Blue uniform Oct. 30 as he expects to be transferred by the Navy to another college after that. It goes very much without saying that his brilliant all around play will be missed plenty in the center of the Jumbo line.

ANOTHER WINDOW SMASHED ON HIGH STREET

Tuesday morning Police Headquarters was notified that a window had been broken at the home of Mr. Chauncey L. Mitchell, Jr., 45 High street. Mrs. Mitchell was on the second floor of the house when she heard a noise and coming downstairs, found that the glass in a window at the rear of the house had been shattered and strewn about the floor of the room.

There was no missile to be seen and nothing to indicate how the glass had been broken. Officer D. Irving Reardon was sent to investigate, but neither he nor Fire Chief John J. Gorman was able to determine what had caused the breakage.

The Mitchell house is the third in that neighborhood to have had windows unaccountably broken within a short time. In the case of the other two, big stones were found to have broken the glass, and it was thought that the missiles were thrown from an automobile.

WINCHESTER 26—PUNCHARD 0

Long Run by Haggerty Featured Slow Game

On a soggy field, made increasingly slippery by two heavy showers in the second half, Winchester High defeated Punchard High at Andover last Saturday afternoon, 26-0. The locals were not too impressive despite their easy victory, the boys lacking drive in the first half and being handicapped by the treacherous going in the last two periods. Punchard never threatened but the blue-clad warriors did show a stubborn defense which with the slippery field, prevented Winchester from staging any really sustained drives.

Winchester made 10 first downs and rolled up 270 yards on the ground, completing two of four passes for another 61 yards. The locals made three costly fumbles, the first of which at the Punchard 2 at the very start of the game, preventing a sure touchdown. Thirty-five yards were lost in penalties.

Punchard made two first downs, one on an penalty, and rushed for 50 yards, completing three of 11 passes for 17 yards. Punchard lost 20 yards to the whistle tooters.

The home team received and on first down passed, Walsh intercepting for Winchester at the Andover 36. The locals drove to the 6 where Sam Tibaudo broke through and attempted to lateral out to Roche. A Punchard boy grabbed Sam's arms as he threw and the ball went to a defensive player, being downed on the Punchard 1.

From then until the end of the quarter Punchard held Winchester, but as the team's changed goals the locals scored in two plays from the Punchard 34. Sam Tibaudo passed to DiMambro, who grabbed the ball at the 15 and was downed on the 1, and Tibaudo then knifed his way over inside right tackle. Lambiase missed the try for the extra point.

Just before the half Winchester scored again, Sam Tibaudo starting things by running back a punt to his 41. A lateral from Tibaudo to Roche to DiMambro made first down at the Punchard 40 and on the next play the same trio staged a repeat performance, shaking the speedy "Rat" outside to go all the way to pay dirt. Lambiase made a pretty placement kick for the extra point.

DiMambro set up Winchester's third touchdown by intercepting a Punchard pass and getting back to his 14. From there with Sam Tibaudo doing most of the carrying the locals drove to a first down at the Punchard 28.

Here Sammy faded and shot a pretty pass out to the right to brother Jim Tibaudo who made the catch about the 20 and went over standing up, eluding two Punchard tacklers just after making his catch. Lambiase again got off a perfect kick from placement for the extra point.

The last quarter had hardly begun when Punchard recovered a Winchester fumble at the locals' 15. Winchester braced and took the ball on downs at the 21, West bucking the line for 6 yards on first down.

Here sophomore Jim Haggerty, playing tail-back instead of fullback, found a big hole off his own right tackle, was into it like a scared rabbit and simply bulling his way through the Punchard secondaries, he straightened out to leg it 73 yards for a pretty touchdown, outracing the safety man in the final 20 yards to pay dirt. Teddy O'Rourke, in at wingback, attempted to convert but failed and there was no more scoring though late in the game a local passer just over-threw the towering Spider Latham who was all by himself about the Punchard 25.

Winchester missed another touchdown in the third quarter when Sam Tibaudo lofted a beautiful pass down the middle to DiMambro who was a good 15 yards beyond the safety man on the Punchard 25. It was raining hard at the time and the slippery ball trickled through DiMambro's fingers for an incomplete pass instead of an easy touchdown. The summary:

WON FRESHMAN PRIZE AT TUFTS

James Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Lane received one of the prizes for general excellence in freshman English at Tufts College at the honors convocation there on Sunday.

He left college Thursday, at the conclusion of the fall term to enter the service, waiving the deferment which he might have as a student of chemical engineering in the Tufts Engineering School.

Jim has been a member of the Coast Guard reserve since last June, serving with the Gloucester Flotilla, of which his father is the commander.

SLIM HOUSE AT PALMER BEACH

It turned out to be slim pickings for the second straight meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association last week-end, and President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele has several punitive measures in mind which he believes will put a very definite end to what he can only feel is gross dereliction of duty on the part of certain of the members.

The doughty President himself, quite recovered from the heavy cold which he brought back with him from Wells River the previous week-end, was early at the courts and the Secretary too was on the beach betimes. There, however, the matter rested. Fishermen there were in sight but no horseshoers. The outlook for any sort of play seemed more than dark.

"Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nahnassett, was known to be out of town, and a visit to the Pridham house brought to light the fact that "Flin Finger" was still engaged in overtime work in connection with his business. While deploring the necessity both the President and Secretary felt there was little that could be done in this case.

When, however, the Butters home was contacted and it was learned that the "State of Maine Champ" was playing golf again there was less disposition to view the matter calmly. President Teele's usually sunny visage grew tense with suppressed emotion and his ominous silence boded little good for Mr. Butters when he attempts to talk his way back into good standing. Royal seemed definitely in a mood to stand no fannygazoo when he learned that Arthur had chosen the Scottish instead of the harnyard variety of golf last week-end.

Having, however, a certain faith in the orderly dispositions of providence, Mr. Teele and the Secretary repaired to the Gardner dwelling and found "Garrulous" just about to leave for the beach. This made three of a necessary foursome so Howard "Foul Line" Wittet was called on the phone and admitted of all things that he was planting blueberry bushes! Emphatic orders from the President brought him to the beach on his bike in a hurry and then it was discovered that no one had any stakes. There were three sets of shoes, but nothing stouter than sumac wands to throw them at. With an exclamation that was a combination of sob and imprecation Mr. Teele started home for his stakes, he living the nearest to the beach.

Finally play was joined and although Royal gave of his best as he always does, the mental stress which he had undergone plus the unwonted physical activity of rounding up players, to say nothing of the long trek home and back for stakes, had taken too big a toll of the Teele frame, wasted as it was by that cold he picked up at Wells River. He lost both matches, the first paired with Mr. Gardner to Mr. Wittet and the Secretary, and the second with Mr. Wittet as partner to the Secretary and Mr. Gardner. The competition was keen in both matches, and there was one stretch along in the second game of the first match during which Mr. Teele was red hot.

Had it not been for the handicap of stress and strain under which he was competing, and had it not been for the fact that both "Foul Line" and "Garrulous" contributed their best pitching while paired with the Secretary, Royal might have been "the winnah." Who knows?

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Under the leadership of Miss Mackedon, the Junior Red Cross has produced startling results during the first weeks of the school year. Besides conducting the usual drive for membership, President Bert Moore and his associates have collected clothes for Russian relief and have made the buying of War Stamps and Bonds a regular Tuesday feature. Results of the sale for the first three weeks totaled $1493.85. Of that figure $1165.00 is considered equivalent to the purchase price of a Jeep. By Dec. 7 W. H. S. pupils hope to add the estimated cost of an ambulance $1780. With approximately $400 worth of stamps and bonds sold this week, it would seem that success of the drive is virtually assured.

The drove for clothing brought in 69 dresses, 28 sweaters, 11 pairs of shoes and two blankets.

Under the leadership of Miss Claudia Renehan, more than 300 students have been trying out for this year's chorus and glee clubs. Officers chosen by the boys' chorus are Tom Derro, president; John Ottiano, vice president; Bob Johnston, secretary; Ken Harvey, treasurer; Joe Foley and Charles Lovejoy, librarians. The girls' chorus chose Edith Dover, president; Anne Richardson, vice president; Barbara A. Smith, secretary; Marilyn Drake, treasurer; Barbara Galucia and Susan Hight, librarians. Accompanists are Anne Richardson and William Everett.

Recently elected to head their respective classes were Senior Joseph Foley, Junior Ted Wallis, Sophomore Sam Tibaudo, and Freshman Eddie Hicks. Others elected by the seniors were Frank DiMambro, vice president; Mary Power, secretary; and Larry Norton, treasurer. The junior class officers are Jim Tibaudo, vice president; Priscilla Morrill, secretary and Nancy Norton, treasurer. Sophomores chose Virginia Lovejoy, vice president; Myrna Zamanakos, secretary; and Don Armstrong, treasurer. Freshman officers include James Olivier, vice president; Anne Harris, secretary and Mario Buzzotta, treasurer.

Classes were suspended at noon on Wednesday to enable teachers to attend professional meetings with the department heads.

"June Mad" is the play chosen for this year's junior-senior production. Once again under the direction of Mr. J. Roy Newton, tryouts began last Monday. The play, suggested by their novel "This Awful Age" was revised and rewritten in 1939 by the authors, Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements. First produced by Henry Duffy at Las Palmas Theatre, Hollywood, in 1939, the play is distributed by Samuel French of New York.

Elections in the Science Club returned Herbert Mahoney, president; William McGrail and Ewen Cameron, vice presidents; William Eaton, secretary and James Ware, treasurer.

At an assembly on Wednesday morning moving pictures of the victory in Sicily and the surrender of Italy were shown.

Although our senior boys are not eligible to take the tests for the Army Specialized Training Program and for the Navy College Program which are to be given on Nov. 9, they will keep in mind similar tests to be given in March, 1944. Special preparation in physical fitness is being conducted by Director of Physical Education Henry Knowlton.

Well, anyhow, those would-be Ration-Board thieves now know how a lot of Winchester people feel! They didn't do so well at the office either!

Those who are trying to promote a student band at Winchester High School might well get in touch with those who are responsible for the excellent organization at Punchard High in Andover. Here is a school which we should suppose is neither as large nor has as much money behind it as Winchester's High School, yet they have a 60 piece uniformed band of girls which would be a credit to any institution. The girls present a very trim appearance in really attractive uniforms (not caps and capes), they march precisely and they play mighty well. Their performance of the "Star Spangled Banner" before the game had the real tempo of an Army band. The girls didn't drag it and they didn't drag the stirring "March of the Marines" which they played entering the field. All in all they were the best looking and best sounding high school band we have encountered in the long time, and we couldn't help wondering how they do it. Skilled direction and lots of time must have gone into that band to make it the success it is. Punchard may well be proud of its young musicians and we should imagine when the school authorities are listing their high school assets they rank that snappy band high on the list.

SKULL MAY HAVE BELONGED TO SMALL-POX VICTIM

Not long ago the Star mentioned the fact that a skull had been found in the cellar of a house in the Dunster lane section of the town. It was old and had evidently been in the house for some time, though newly discovered by the occupants of the dwelling who came to town about the first of the year. The Police believed the skull might have been dug up from some private burial lot, of which there were several in the "Hill District" in the old days.

A life-long resident whose family goes back to the earliest days of the town writes the Star that the skull very probably was that of a small-pox victim. In early Colonial days, according to our informant, the pest-house for Charlestown was located in the "Hill District" of Winchester which was originally Charlestown Village before it was annexed to Woburn. Victims of small-pox, whose bodies were not claimed at once by relatives were buried at night in a field near the pest-house, now over-grown by woods.

Pvt. Albert F. Gaum of the Parkway, a veteran of World War I, who recently battled his way into the Army at the age of 53, has been assigned to the 743rd Heavy Engineering Company of the 1st Prov. Rgt. at Camp Claiborne, La.

ELKS HAD VISITATION

Peter Leger of Milford Lodge, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of the Massachusetts Central District made his annual visitation to Winchester Lodge, 1445, B. P. O. E. Tuesday evening at the lodge hall in Lyceum Building.

The District Deputy was accompanied by the Grand Lodge officers and by a distinguished suite. A large gathering witnessed the exemplifying of the initiatory ritual, for which music was furnished by Fred Strachan's Elks' Orchestra.

Exalted Ruler Fred Connor presided and introduced the speakers, who included Warren M. Cox, P. D. D. of Woburn Lodge, Thomas J. McCafferty, P. D. D. of Cambridge, William Pike, E. R., of Somerville, Paul Eschelbach, E. R., of Newton, John O'Brien of Cambridge and two former Exalted Rulers of Winchester Lodge, Harry A. McGrath and Charles A. Farrar. The impressive Elks' 11 o'clock toast was proposed by Past Exalted Ruler Edward Lutsky of Marlboro Lodge.

District Deputy Leger, in the course of his address, told of the Lodge's activity in promoting the slipper drive for disabled veterans. He praised Winchester Lodge especially for its $200 donation to the Elks War Relief Fund and for its splendid record of donations to the Blood Plasma Bank in Boston.

At the conclusion of the visitation an excellent supper was served by the Board of Stewards and a social hour was enjoyed. Among those the local Elks were pleased to greet was Pvt. Philip H. Gallagher, a former officer of Winchester Lodge, recently discharged from the hospital at Fort Devens where he has been under treatment for some time for a severe knee injury.

HIGH SCHOOL FIELD HOCKEY NOTES

After yesterday's game with Arlington, Winchester has two more games on its war-abbreviated schedule, Belmont at Belmont on Oct. 25 and Melrose here on Nov. 4. Both of these should be hard.

Coach Deborah Fenton isn't blessed this year with too much veteran material, but she has a big squad, including some promising sophomore material, and these girls should pay off once they get the feel of varsity competition.

Anne Richardson, left halfback, is captain of this year's team. Anne Penniman, manager, is doubling in brass, combining her managerial duties with those of the varsity's right inner. Eddie Dover, veteran left winger, Ruth Tapley and Mary Murray are the other letter players on the squad, the members of which are:

Ellen Bayliss, Jean Bradley, Mary J. VISITORS FROM OBERLIN

"Squire" and Mrs. George W. Franklin of Fairmount street had as guests over the past week-end their son, Russell B. Franklin and Dr. Loren Kerr, both of Oberlin, Ohio. Mr. Franklin is chief sanitarian of Loraine County and Dr. Kerr is in charge of the public health and sanitation program there.

For the doctor the week-end was memorable. Interested in historians he was taken on tour of Lexington and Concord, after which he was introduced to that dish so relished by your true New England epicure, oil cheeks and tongues. Saturday evening the doctor and the Franklins were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hayward of Eaton court.

Saturday afternoon the doctor and the Franklins, father and son, were members of a select party who went up to Andover to attend the Winchester-Punchard football game. Perhaps this part of the program appealed most to the younger Franklin, who played a smart guard on Winchester High School's last Mystic Valley League championship eleven in 1927. "Bull" allowed that his team-mate and captain of that year, Heinie Knowlton, has done a really high grade coaching job with this year's club.

Dr. Kerr was greatly impressed with the fine 60 piece girls' band at Punchard High School and when last seen was sketching out preliminary plans for the organization of a similar band in Oberlin. Come again, Doctor!

GEORGE C. SQUIER

Committal services were held on last Saturday afternoon at Wildwood Cemetery for George C. Squier of Bayside, Long Island, N. Y., whose late wife was Mary Hinds, sister of Mrs. George Soley of Forest street and of the late James Hinds, for many years Winchester's town engineer. Rev. D. W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, was the officiating clergyman.

Mr. Squier, a combustion engineer with headquarters in New York, died in Bayside Oct. 13. He married Miss Hinds in Winchester in 1901 and they were for a short time residents here. Mrs. Squier died 20 years ago.

Mr. Squier leaves a daughter, Mrs. Roger Barton of Bayside, with whom he made his home; and a son, George C. Squier, Jr., who is a teacher in Brooklyn, N. Y.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

Mingie received a card from Capt. Joseph Tansey who is stationed in California, Muggins said, "My best regards to all your members in the service. Read your column in the Star every week. Keep it up. I see Dick MacAdams often. He is stationed here.

Albert Derro wrote an interesting letter. He writes, "We have a WAC area. There's quite a few here. And they sure can march. There are a number of Italian prisoners in this camp. They come by my barracks every morning and night. Once I stood outside my barracks and as they went by I said something to them in Italian. You should have seen the looks on their faces. They answered but I was unable to understand them, as the house of the tricks was very loud. But I can't get over the looks on their faces. As they go back and forth by my barracks, they look for me. They are always singing and seem to be very happy.

Jumbo is in again. In the letters he wrote, he has been telling about the basketball team he is in charge of. He says, "The beauty of being in charge of any team in the army is that you have an abundance of material to pick from. I think I've got another winner in this basketball team."

I got a letter from Al Subilzio. He is in South Dakota. He told about the latest squadron party his outfit had. As usual Wick Carroll was the life of the party with his singing of Italian songs and ballads, for which he is well known. It seems to me that Carroll and Wick are the only two Winchester boys who are stationed together.

If I'm wrong will you boys write and tell me so.

Last week, a team consisting of Sam Poma, Mingie, Frank Dattilo, Mario Manoli and Micky bowled a team consisting of Chick Sam Corsi, Scuzzi, Joe Vesperi and Tony Rizzo. Chick and Sam Poma were the captains and they were each boasting about how well they would beat the other. Well, at the end of the second string Chick's team was leading by 54 pins so Chick was really rubbing it in to Sam. Chick was beating Sam by a big margin, so you can imagine the riding going on between the two of them. Anyway Sam's team, in the third string began to get rolling. Chick and Micky were the anchor men. Going into the last box Chick's team was leading by only 6 pins. It seemed like a cinch for Chicks team. In the last box Chick bowled a 6 box, which meant Musky had to get a 6 to win. So what happens, Musky gets off a strike and a spare on it. They say pandemonium reigned for a while. A return match will be played soon. Musky was not that right, saying that he'd been getting rusty.

One sentence items. Sam Ignazzi has been released from the Army. Kelly Giobetti is stationed in Texas. Scott Fiscarello is on a trash boat in Tampa Bay. What happened to that Marine-Paratrooper fued?

Gee, I almost forgot. The last of John Bananas was home Frank Fiscarello and Phil Muraco went down to see him. So they decided to have a feed if mushrooms. They got some boxes and baskets and started out for mushrooms. They came home well loaded, but it wasn't mushrooms.

Miss Mary Tucci, a yeoman, second class in the WAVES, arrived in Winchester last week-end to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Tucci of Washington street. She returned to her station in Washington yesterday.

BOAT CLUB NEWS

NEWMAN RE-ELECTED COMMODORE

Unanimously Chosen to Head Club in 1944

There may have been some moments during the 1943 season when Comdr. Jim Newman paused to wonder if all the fine work he was doing was really appreciated, but if he entertained any such doubts they must have been quickly dispersed last Thursday night when the club membership unanimously chose him their leader for 1944. Thus the club gave him tangible proof that they really appreciated all the hard work he had done and heartily approved of his 1943 administration. So Jim can go into his winter's hibernation with the comforting knowledge of a job well done.

In addition to Jim, the following members were elected to help him guide the destiny of the club in '44:

Vice Comdr., Sidney Burr.
Secretary, Robert Hight.
Treasurer, William Hall.
Board of Directors, Everard Eldredge, Carl Freyer, Arthur Hall, Donald Simonds, Charles Lovejoy, Thomas Salmon, James Snow, Bartholomew Sullivan, Leon Tuck.

The chowder party prior to the business meeting was a huge success. Copious quantities of a most delicious chowder were served, piping hot with pilot crackers and all the fixin's. Top this off with home made apple pie and cheese plus steaming coffee and you know why Mrs. Jim Newman and her fine entertainment committee are and have been the toast of the club this season. Proof that these girls are cooking experts one and all, lies in the fact that we heard three different husbands asking the waitresses if they wouldn't try to serve them pie made by their own wives. Need we say more?

After the business meeting two Mayan of Tiger movies were shown plus a cartoon comedy.

The first film was Bill Jack vs Hitler, which showed the unique methods the Jahco company uses to get maximum production from their employees while keeping them healthy and happy.

The second, "A Day of War in Russia" presented some of the most amazing battle scenes ever pictured, while at the same time showing the magnificent courage and fortitude of our worthy ally.

The comedy Boy Meets Dog put everyone in the proper frame of mind for farewells to their friends.

Club Chatter

Last Sunday the fleet faithful were on hand to do the mournful jobs of taking the floats, docks and boats out of the water. They worked swiftly and efficiently at the hated task and by 1 o'clock everything was high and dry including the skippers. Right now it seems like an awful long time 'til the boats are launched again but while we're all busy with war work and send buying the time will pass swiftly.

Perhaps more than anyone else, your scribe regrets the passing of another season. There's a good deal of satisfaction in reporting the club's activities and gently ribbing some of its members. Only once have we been threatened with bodily harm because of something we wrote and on that occasion a few lollypops bought as our safety. So it's been a safe and satisfying task.

Yet, as we write this, we can look out of the window at our clothes line and see our red flannels swaying in the breeze, so you can be sure that through the winter months yours truly will be "itching" to get back to the club once more.

You: Well pretty far I guess. Why do you ask?

Us: Because we could show you how to make your dollars reach a home of your own!

You: That sounds picture-que, but I'm not going to get saddled down with heavy mortgage payments.

Us: Nonsense—with our plan your home loan payments are tailored to fit the budget. Your interest reduces consistently and there are no lump sum payments!

You: You mean I could own my own home just as easily as I pay rent.

Us: Indeed we do. We have a plan that shows you right from the start the exact date your home will be debt-free. Why don't you stop in tomorrow and let us explain it to you.

You: (Well, you supply the answer, but we hope you'll stop in and let our home loan experts show you just how easy it is to own your own home.

The Golden Text is: "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved" (Psalms 16:8). Other Bible citations will include: "Always, we have confidence, and make it our business to be well pleasing unto him" (II Corinthians 5:6). "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (Isaiah 55:7).

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon will contain the following: "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable. . . . God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won (p. 253).

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Though Dr. Walter Kotschnig's feelings about the Future of Europe were far from those of easy optimism his excellent talk to a large Winchester audience last Friday night did carry the conviction that the problems of peace are not unsolvable. Dr. Kotschnig spoke to the Winchester League and its friends at Wyman School Hall. It was his opinion that a willingness by the United States for co-operation with Russia as essential to the peace and not as difficult to attain with the Russia of today as it would have been in the early twenties. Complete occupation of Germany by United Nations forces so that every German will realize that German armies are not invincible and the liquidation of the classes in Germany which have long supported a militaristic policy are, Dr. Kotschnig feels, other prerequisites for permanent peace. "Peace is indivisable" and America is building for her own peace wherever she helps build the peace of others.

After the lecture the audience was invited by Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, League president to enjoy cider and doughnuts in a friendly social hour. The Kindergarten room had been very attractively decorated with seasonal material by Mrs. Ralph M. Sparks, chairman of the serving committee this year, and Mrs. William Goodhue, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, League Hospitality Chairmen was aided in serving by a large committee.

ROTARY NOTES

Community singing, led by Music Director, Aram Mouradian, with Albert Folsom of the Boston Edison Co. office at the piano, was very much enjoyed by the members and their guests at the regular Thursday noon meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club. Perhaps if Aram were to employ the use of a baton, he would have more success in keeping harmony in his attempts at producing music from some of our singing members.

Mr. Irving F. Richardson of Medford, an Automotive Engineer with the New York office of the Socony Vacuum Co., was the guest speaker. His talk on the care and running of the ordinary automobile engine was highly informative. He pointed out many ways in which the life of an automobile engine and also a storage battery could be prolonged by using just ordinary safeguards. The question which he was called upon to answer during the informal question period following his talk, were ample proof of the interest which he aroused by his remarks.

Robert E. Dickson, Jr. of 9 Wilson street, student at Wilbraham Academy, participated in the senior orations this week.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

"I get the Winchester every week and that way I keep up with the news. The first thing I read is the British relief news." Well, we won't praise ourselves by quoting any more from Nicky Amato's greeting to the unit on Will Rogers Field, where Nicky is chumming with a lot of planes really nice looking and dangerous and getting well acquainted with the cola in a way up. The unit sends back cordial greetings to Nicky and to Jackie Haines, who is now where there is now enough to satisfy even his skiloving soul. The unit remembers a gay and profitable party at the home of Mrs. John Haines, Jr., with Nicky and Jacky battling during a school vacation.

Mrs. Ernest Chase announced that 50 children would find in their Christmas stockings cuddly dolls or animals that the unit made during its toy-making Wednesdays. In addition the unit sent a number of used cuddly toys, scrubbed sanitary and retouched. These too will bring Christmas smiles.

Now the workroom is moving briskly in on utility sewing, girls attractive dresses, little boys shorts and always layette articles.

Each Wednesday brings back some friend of B. W. R., often bearing gifts of summer work. For example Mrs. Harry Brown brought a box of crocheted squares, ready to be assembled into an afghan.

Speaking of afghans Miss May Wilson has checked in her 52nd of these useful covers. This was a small one for a child's crib or the chair in which a convalescent wounded man might be wheeled out to get healing air and sun.

Knitters will find a fresh and ample supply of wool at the workroom next Wednesday.

Mrs. Kenneth W. Gurney (Kiki Sullivan) received word last week that her husband, Lt. Kenneth W. Gurney, USAAF, has been promoted to Captain. Gurney, pilot of a Flying Fortress has been in England 14 months.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The official opening of the fall and winter season was ushered in on last Tuesday afternoon at Lyceum Hall. President, Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, welcomed each and every member present after the long summer vacation. Mrs. Hintlian gave a brief outline of the many activities to come.

A very successful dessert bridge was the feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Frank Murphy was chairman of the committee. After dessert and coffee were served, contract and auction were enjoyed. Many beautiful prizes were awarded, among them a very lovely evening purse, containing a new $5 note. Mrs. Raymond Gagan was the lucky winner.

Among the many events Mrs. Hintlian has planned for us, will be the annual bazaar on Nov. 9 and penny sale on Nov. 22. Both of these affairs will take place in Lyceum Hall.

The bazaar will be opened at 10 a. m. and continue throughout the day. Luncheon and tea will be served by the refreshments committee headed by Mrs. William Murray. Many beautiful tables are planned and as usual our prices are very reasonable. So please come and bring your friends.

Mrs. Hintlian also announced that due to our opening meeting day occurring on Columbus Day. There will be another meeting on next Tuesday, Oct. 26. This will be at Lyceum Building and a large gathering should be in attendance to greet our new spiritual director, Rev. James Doyle. Father Doyle succeeds Monsignor Robert P. Barry and has been his assistant for many years. The problems of the Catholic Charitable Bureau have been Father Doyle's chief interest during this time, so he is without a doubt the logical successor to Rt. Rev. Barry. Try to attend this very important meeting on next Tuesday at 2:30. Afternoon tea will be served by Mrs. John Lennon and committee hostesses.

There will also be the regular sewing meeting on Oct. 26 at 10 a. m. Those who can possibly do so should attend these sewing bees which occur once a month. Bring needle, thimble and thread, also a box lunch. A hot beverage will be served at noon. Mrs. George McDuffee, sewing chairman, will preside.

TO SPEAK ON CHINA

Dr. Glover, general director of the China Inland Mission, will be the speaker on Sunday evening, Oct. 24 at the Evangelical Free Church on Montvale avenue in Woburn at 7 o'clock. Dr. Glover has had a wide experience as a missionary to China and as a traveler and is in demand as a conference speaker. The China Inland Mission is an inter-denominational organization and the public is cordially invited to hear this lecture. The topic of Dr. Glover's address will be: "China's Tomorrow."

Mrs. Maurice F. Brown has been spending the week in Derby, Conn., visiting her cousin, Miss Helen Barber.

MME. MAGIDOFF TO SPEAK ON RUSSIA

The Fortnightly Invites Public to Meeting

The Fortnightly extends a cordial invitation to all residents of Winchester to attend its next regular meeting, Monday, Oct. 25 at 2 o'clock in the Town Hall.

Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, president, will preside and Mrs. George G. Brayley, chairman of the international relations committee, will present, as guest speaker, Mme. Nila Magidoff, who will speak on Russia.

Mme. Magidoff is the Russian wife of Robert Magidoff, the American correspondent who broadcasts for NBC from Moscow.

The rules governing Americans abroad require that wives of American correspondents be evacuated and Mme. Magidoff, despite her desire to participate in the defense of her native-land, had to submit to regulations.

She is a first hand authority on Soviet Russia, having grown up there and taken part in many of its activities.

In Moscow she had been a student of literature at the Moscow University, then a writer on the staff of the Literary Gazette; later an associate editor of the French-language newspaper, Journal de Moscow.

Before joining NBC her husband had been correspondent for the Associated Press, and, in addition to her other work, Mme. Magidoff used to help him write his dispatches from Russia, reading 50 Russian newspapers regularly and digesting their contents for her husband's correspondence.

During the war, before she left for the United States, she was air raid warden in Moscow, building sandbag constructions for the city's defense and guarding roofs from incendiary bombs, snatching what sleep she could get in the subway air raid shelters of the city.

Since arriving in the United States a little over a year ago, she has been touring this country extensively in the interests of Russian War Relief, a cause very close to her heart.

She has delivered over 200 talks throughout the country, has toured hundreds of cities in the interest of Russian War Relief, speaking in some cities three and four times, and always receiving return invitations. She was the principal speaker on June 22, Tribute to Russia Day, at the Hollywood Bowl where she was received with great acclaim.

There is no admission charge, but a voluntary offering will be taken for the purchase of blankets for Russian relief.

This is an excellent opportunity to get first hand, reliable information about this great country so much in the public eye at present. The Fortnightly will be very happy to welcome all who care to take advantage of this opportunity, and is sure they will enjoy Mme. Magidoff.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Marianne Tofuri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tofuri, recently celebrated her second birthday by having a party for a group of her little friends at the home of her parents, 52 Harvard street.

The house was decorated with small flags and matching red, white and blue streamers. Refreshments were served and games were played by the children, each child wearing a patriotic hat. Marianne received many beautiful gifts.

Her guests included Helen Tofuri, Rosemarie and Kathleen Piccodus, Mary Jane Colucci, Lois Russo, Marie Macorio and Marianne, all of Winchester; also Mary, Dennis and Patrick ODonnell of Woburn.

M. S. P. C. AUXILIARY NOTES

The first meeting of the fall was held on Thursday, Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. Richard S. Taylor. The attendance was most gratifying and plans for a busy winter of humane activity was discussed and approved. Our annual sale will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth, 371 Highland avenue on Thursday, Nov. 18 from 1.30-5 p. m. Watch the Star for further notice. At the close of meeting a social hour followed.

CHIEF NEWS OF THE ANNUAL BAZAAR

At the first meeting of the Epiphany Service League for 1943-44 Tuesday, Oct. 19, the co-chairmen of the annual bazaar, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker and Mrs. Henry Elton Mofette had the spotlight for their news of things done and things ahead.

Mrs. Shoemaker introduced in person a few of these commanders who have "landed and have the situation well in hand." Mrs. E. Phillips Walker has captained a group that has sewed every Friday this summer, and knitted a lot of days between. Mrs. Everand Elledge showed samples of what her toy table will have to charm the money out of the pockets of children and doting grandmothers.

As table chairmen, who have licked intimidating scarcities she introduced Mrs. Merton E. Grush, who will have a delicious dinner for the first 200 parishioners who buy their tickets from Mrs. Herbert Kelley; and Mrs. Henry K. Fitts of the plant table, who has some interesting surprises up her sleeve. Also Mrs. Alfred Denley for the kitchen table of the Evening Branch.

These captains said the credit must go to the privates in their outfits who gave unlimited work and apples and a 25 pound squash from a victory garden, etc. Mrs. H. P. Richardson, in charge of the variety table has been scouting busily at other church fairs and at craft centers.

In spite of war and points, Mrs. P. Stewart Newton will have a table of home-cooked foods for sale and Mrs. Henry Sawyer's Harvest table will help fill a vacant spot on a pantry shelf.

Mothers who come to shop and to tea will find their small children happily cared for in the nursery with Mrs. Edwin P. Hall in charge.

Second only to the bazaar in interest were the reports on parish remembrances for men and women in service. Mrs. S. Walter Taber, keeper of the list, says these now number 180. Mrs. Paul Roberts showed the parish birthday card, designed by Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard and Mrs. Hollister Olmstead, which she sends out. Mrs. William C. Sache had ready the Christmas cards.

News was given also of work done during the summer. On an average 16 women worked in the parish hall on Tuesdays. Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter reported 142 garments made for the Red Cross and Mrs. Herbert Hawkes several thousand surgical dressings for the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard spoke on the work done by the community fund that Winchester is soon to be raising, particularly the care of children facing wartime neglect.

Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker presided at the luncheon and at the council meeting which preceded it. Mrs. Lester Troast, co-chairman with Mrs. Maxwell McCreery of the Tuesday Luncheon Group was in charge of the luncheon.

PAN AMERICAN EVENINGS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The first in the series of Pan-American Evenings sponsored by the Trustees of the Winchester Public Library was held in the Art Gallery, Tuesday evening, Oct. 19. Mr. Edgar J. Rich, chairman of the Board of Trustees welcomed the guests and spoke of the importance of Inter-American understanding.

Mrs. George Cheever Shattuck, president of the Pan-American Society of Massachusetts, outlined briefly the organization and aims of the Society.

Miss Corinne Mead, librarian, read a letter of greeting from Mr. Richard Parkhurst of Winchester who is now in the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs in Washington.

Mrs. Marion S. Eberly, of the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs spoke on the topic Inter-American Co-operation in the War Effort and illustrated her lectures with Kodachrome lantern slides. To an interested and enthusiastic audience Mrs. Eberly showed how vitally our interests both politically and economically are linked with those of our good neighbors to the south. War materials are as essential to the war effort as manpower and Mrs. Eberly illustrated how our war materials are aided by the hemp, rubber and nitrates from Latin America. And our coastal defenses and our manpower are supplemented by the efforts of our 19 allies, the Latin American Republics. At the conclusion of the program, Miss Mead introduced Senorita Cecilia Jimenez of Bogata, Columbia who is a Pan-American Scholarship student in Library Science at Simmons College.

The next in the series of programs will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, and the speaker will be Dr. Jose Padin, a former Commissioner of Education in Puerto Rico. His topic will be Problems of the Carribean. There is no admission fee to the Pan American Evenings, and the public is cordially invited.

ATTENDED LEAGUE MEETING

Goddard represented the Winchester Historical Society at the fall meeting of the Bay State Historical League at Danvers last Saturday. OVER TWO MILLION USERS

A NEW TRAIN??? NO, JUST A LOCOMOTIVE!!!

It's the newest, largest and most powerful locomotive in use on any New England railroad. Diesel-Electric! 196 feet long! 5400 horsepower!

Two of these are now at work on the Boston and Maine, hauling oil and gasoline and coal and other necessities into New England for our homes and our factories.

From the B and M's western gateways at the Hudson River in New York State, they can haul as many as 125 loaded freight cars more than a mile of train—up hill and down dale in speedier time and with greater ease than two steam locomotives could formerly. Faster, more frequent service for New England.

The same day, each of these Diesel-Electrics makes a return trip back over the 200-mile stretch of rails from Boston to Mechanicville, N. Y., taking out of New England the products of our important war industries, and food grown on farms in Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts—much of it destined for our fighting men and those of our Allies on far-flung battle lines all over the world.

Ten more of these mammoth pieces of railroad power—each costing $500,000—are being built for Northern New England's largest railroad. One more is scheduled for delivery before the end of this year.

The 16,000 New England men and women who are the Boston and Maine, naturally, are proud of these latest additions to our modern locomotive fleet. More important than pride, however, is the fact that these and other modern weapons of rail transport will enable us to further speed movement of goods for our homes, our factories, our fighting men—for Victory and the end of the war.

FACTS ABOUT THE NEW B & M DIESEL-ELECTRICS

5400 horsepower is furnished by four 16-cylinder engines.

Capable of speeds as high as 70 miles an hour.

Hauls its loads, without the help of "pusher" engines, over the steepest grades in the Berkshires.

Has a complete operating cab on either end.

Can be separated, if desired, in the center, and used as two 2700-horsepower Diesel-Electric locomotives in either freight or passenger service.

Its cab is equipped with arm-chair seats for engineman and fireman; radiators for their comfort; windshield wipers; defrosting apparatus, and even sun visors for the windshields to shade the crew's eyes.

OPPORTUNITY FOR WOMEN

Training Starts In Winchester

Women, young and old, who would love to do something worthwhile in this war, if I only had the time can find the opportunity immediately, it was disclosed in an announcement this week by the Nurses Aid Section of the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross.
Nurses aides are needed, badly, to relieve graduate nurses for work at the fighting fronts. Any woman, 18 years of age or over, who has the equivalent of a high school education is eligible.
The sixth class in training in Winchester will start on Monday, Nov. 15, according to the announcement by Mrs. Wayne Thompson. The course is a hort one, 7 weeks, with classes being held Monday through Thurdays from 9 until 12 noon.
Applicants, no matter where they reside, may apply in person for enrollment in the classes and registrations for enrollment will be at the Winchester Town Hall, second floor, Oct. 25 to 29 inclusive, from 2 until 5 o'clock p. m.
Women who are able and willing to serve at least 300 hours each year especially on week-ends are sought, according to Mrs. Thompson and she or Mrs. Howard Morrison of Winchester will be glad to provide detailed information to anyone who is interested.
The activity is a joint one of the Red Cross and the Civilian Defense organization.

WOMEN STEPPING UP EFFORTS

With two weeks, only, left in the Salvation Army's annual appeal in Winchester, the Women's Division, headed by Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, are stepping up their efforts in the residential canvassing.
Winchester must more than meet its quota of $3000 this year, as the Army is calling for the whole-hearted support of its many friends in the Greater Boston communities in order to carry on efficiently. More and more demands are made upon the services of the Army as the program of the home front is expanded and the war service activities, through the Red Shield Clubs and Mobile Canteenmeresa. This war service, alone, will require, at least, an expenditure of $74,250 through to Sept. 30, 1944.
Each donation made in this campaign is a signature of enlistment; each donation will be put to the use needed to help those in distress, the less fortunate, and in carrying cheer, comfort, hope and spiritual fortitude to our men in the fighting forces. A portion of the donations received in this campaign remains here as a local fund and is under the supervision of a local committee for its use in problems of need. During the last year this fund provided for 20 cases where food, fuel, hospitalization etc., were needed.
William N. Beggs, chairman of the local sponsoring committee, praises the tireless efforts of the volunteer workers, these women who are giving so generously of their time, despite the fact of pressing obligations on every side. He asks that all possible co-operation be given to these workers making the residential canvass. It is not easy work, but testimony of the worthiness of the Salvation Army's cause, for which these women gladly volunteer. Make their task a pleasant and profitable one. Without their help at this time of the man-shortage problem, this collection work would suffer, with resultant consequences which might greatly handican the success of the campaign.
In the event that any should miss the collector when she calls in your neighborhood, Mr. Beggs suggests that the donation be sent to the campaign treasurer, Donald J. Lewis, at the Winchester Trust Company.
Have you made your donation? You are asked to do so only once a year.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSIC GROUP

One of the most unusual and interesting organizations in Winchester is the Children's Music Group. This group is made up of children who are studying some musical instrument and who meet once a month during the winter to play for each other, to listen to musicians of note, often members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and to study together the best in music.

Begun 11 years ago as an experiment the group first met at the homes of some of its members, but as the enrollment increased it was found necessary to use a hall, and due to the kindness of Rev. Dwight Hadley it has used the hall of the Parish House of the Episcopal Church for its meetings during the last few years. The soloists, including Roland Hayes, whom the children have been privileged to hear, the beautiful Christmas festivals it has given at the Country Club, its plays and tableaux, have proved it to be a very real contribution to the cultural development of its members. That it has been so successful has been due to the untiring work and the careful planing of Mrs. Charles Livingstone, Mrs. John Carr and Miss Alice Main, whose enthusiasm for and love of the best in music has been contagious.

This year a new committee has been persuaded to take over the organization with the original committee acting as advisers and councillors.

The following group met last week at the home of Mrs. Leon Sargent and made plans for the first meeting which will be held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31 at 3 o'clock: Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Guy Livingstone, Mrs. Murray Moore, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Carle Zimmerman, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Howard Bartlett, Mrs. James Willing, Mrs. William Morse, Miss Ruth Hayden, Mrs. Robert Drake, Mrs. Robert Keeney.

The delightful children's opera Hansel and Gretel will be discussed and some of its melodies played and sung. The guest of the afternoon will be Master Russell Ames of Lexington, a young cmpooser who wrote the cantata sung at his Junior High School graduation last June. He will play some of his own compositions.

If you have a boy or girl who is interested in this group and who would like to join it the committee would be glad to have you telephone Win. 2236-W and make arrangements for him to be a member.

Later he was called upon by the American Baptist Home Mission Society to accompany "the covered wagon" which followed the trail of the pioneers of 100 years ago, covering all the central states from Boston to Portland, Oregon. He then became associate pastor of the Brockley Baptist Church of Philadelphia, and after four years was called to become the director of the young people's work in Tremont Temple. Mr. Turkington is now the singer evangelist of the Evangelistic Association of New England, 600 Tremont Temple, Boston. He possesses a rich baritone voice and is considered one of the outstanding trumpeters of New England. His leading of congregational singing is excelled by none.

OPA REGULATIONS ON FAIRS AND FOOD SALES

It is no longer possible for churches and other charitable organizations to conduct fairs and food sales in the accustomed manner. Any group conducting such a fair or sale must register as a retailer with the local board, if it plans to sell any rationed food commodity. It may then receive points with which to acquire rationed foods. No commercially processed foods may be the subject of gifts by individuals. Home processed foods may be given by he producer up to 50 quarts for each member of his family unit.

1. For commercially processed foods, the number of points required by OPA point value schedules current at the time the sale is made.

2. For home processed fruits and vegetables, 8 points per quart, 4 pts. per pound.

3. For rationed home processed jams, jellies, fruit spreads, etc., point values will be announced by OPA on or before Nov. 1.

Following the same, points must be surrendered to the local board with a complete report.

N. E. HELICOPTER SERVICE PROPOSED BY FILENE'S

A petition to establish helicopter service between Boston and all the leading cities of New England was filed today by Wm. Filene's Sons Company with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington. The petition was filed by Dudley H. Dorr, president of the Boston Aeronautical Association, and is the first petition of its kind ever to be filed by a department store.

The petition specifically states that Filene's "proposes to operate in this service helicopters or such other aircraft as may be capable of landing on roofs of the applicant's buildings or in areas as small as 500 square feet."

Six routes for this helicopter service were outlined in the petition:

No. 1. Boston, Cambridge, Belmont, Wellesley, Worcester, South Hadley, Northampton, Springfield, Mass.

No. 2. Boston, Cambridge, Mass.; Providence, Rhode Island; Hartford, Conn.; Worcester, Mass.

No. 3. Boston, Milton, Quincy, Weymouth, Hingham, Plymouth, Hyannis, Nantucket, Martha's Vineyard, Falmouth, New Bedford, Fall River, Taunton, Mass.; Providence, R. I.

No. 4. Boston, Medford, Malden, Melrose, Lynn, Salem, Magnolia, Newburyport, Mass.; Portsmouth, N. H.; York Harbor, Portland, Lewiston, Me.

No. 5. Boston, Fitchburg, Mass.; Keene, N. H.; Brattleboro, Rutland, Burlington, Vt.

No. 6. Boston, Cambridge, Arlington, Winchester, Lowell, Andover, Lawrence, Mass. ;Nashua, Manchester, Concord, Laconia, N. H.

Mr. Hodgkinson of Filene's admitted that the petition was "somewhat unusual" and explained, "Inasmuch as we believe we are the largest specialty store in the world, it seems fitting we should be the first to file an application to establish helicopter service between Boston and leading cities of New England, in many of which communities Filene's has branch shops. We believe that helicopter service opens a new door to better store service. By these air routes our personnel will be in continuous contact with all our stores. Deliveries will be expedited. The Filene store in Boston, with its enormous stocks, will be available to customers all over New England in the shortest possible time. This means that a cargo landing in San Francisco on Saturday, for example, can be air freighted to Boston and be in each New England city Monday. We realize that we are the first store in America to have filed such an application. The cities covered by the suggested routes have a very large population and our proposed service will constitute a real public convenience. We have every reason to believe that it will be favorably acted upon."

COMMISSIONED AS 2ND LIEUTENANT

Ralph T. Ambrose of 42 Vine street received his commission as 2nd lieutenant on Oct. 21 in the Coast Artillery Corps upon successfully completing the officer candidate course at the Antiaircraft Artillery School, at Camp Davis, North Carolina.

The newly commission officer will take up his new duties in the Antiaircraft Artillery after a short furlough. The course at the Antiaircraft Artillery School is one of the most difficult of the officer candidate tests in the army. Not only do candidates have to meet the high standards of leadership necessary to all officers, but they must be able to master and put into practice the complicated technical art of Antiaircraft Artillery. Their studies and practical work involve mainly the means and actions by which swift flying enemy aircraft can be shot down or kept from successfully performing bombing missions. In addition, A. A. officers must be able to put their guns to use in other military purposes, such as anti-tank.

LT. SHERMAN M. DODGE

REPORTED MISSING IN ACTION

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Dodge of Vine street received word Wednesday morning that their son, Lt. Sherman M. Dodge, USAAF, was reported missing after the Allied air raid over Germany on Oct. 14. Lt. Dodge was pilot of a Flying Fortress and had been overseas with the Army Air Forces based in England since early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodge learned that their son was missing from his bride, the former Jeannette Buehler, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Carl W. Buehler, who had been visiting the Dodges here and received word of her husband upon her return to her home in Columbus, Ohio. She and Lt. Dodge were married in Kentucky on May 11 of this year.

Lt. Dodge had participated in two raids since his arrival overseas, that over Emden in Germany on Oct. 10 and the big raid which did so much damage to the German ball-bearing works at Schweinfurt on Oct. 14. This raid cost the Allies 60 planes and it was from it that the Winchester flyer failed to return.

Capt. Kenneth Gurney, Winchester flyer and close friend of Lt. Dodge, upon receiving the news that the latter was missing, went from his own British base to that from which Lt. Dodge started on the raid over Schweinfurt. There he talked with flyers who got back safely and learned that Lt. Dodge's plane had been forced down deep in Germany. When last seen one of the engines was disabled but the ship was under control and eight men had already bailed out to descend on chutes.

The fact that the ship was under control and the opinions of the flyers who last saw it make Capt. Gurney very hopeful that his pal reached the ground safely.

Lt. Dodge graduated from Winchester High School in 1936 and at the time he was accepted as a cadet by the Army Air Forces May 10, 1942, was a member of the Star's pressroom staff. He trained at Greenville, Miss. and was commissioned at Blytheville, Arkansas, Feb. 16, 1943.

WINCHESTER COUPLE RECEIVE "E" AWARD

Winchester friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parker of Hillside avenue will be interested in learning that the Parkwood Corporation of Wakefield of which they are the heads, is soon to receive the coveted Army-Navy "E" award for high achievement in the production of war material. The date of the ceremony of presentation has not yet been announced.

The fact that this award is the first of its nature to come to the Town of Wakefield holds much significance to residents of that community.

The Parkwood Corporation occupies a considerable amount of space in two of the former Heywood-Wakefield Co. buildings and has been a Wakefield industry since the fall of 1939. At the time of its start in Wakefield it manufactured a thin laminated woven veneer wood which was developed by Mrs. Parker and her husband and was used for lampshades, pocketbooks, cigarette cases, table tops, etc. The firm has grown and its line has been considerably expanded in the past four years until it changed to the production of war materials?

Mr. Gordon Parker is president of the Corporation. His wife and other members of the family have done considerable research towards development of the Corporation's products and aided materially in the success of the enterprise.

Last July the firm was presented with a Minute Man Flag by the U. S. Treasury Department's war savings staff for having made outstanding production records and also in recognition of the employees' subscribing generously to the regular buying of war bonds. At that time a dinner for all of the firm's 50-odd employees was served and outstanding public figures were guests.

SHORT CHANGED

A Winchester woman living not far from Symmes Corner notified the Police Monday afternoon that in response to an advertisement which she inserted in an out-of-town paper seeking to sell a used fur coat a woman had presented herself and purchased the garment for $15.

The purchaser gave the former owner of the coat two bills which the latter believed to be a $5 and a $10 bill. The first was on the outside and after the purchaser had gone and the woman unrolled the bills she found that the inner note was a "two" and not a "ten." What it all amounted to was that the seller had been short-changed exactly $8 and she was not overly pleased.

She was able to give the Police a description of the woman who bought the coat, but did not get her name, and beyond the fact that she asked about buses to Woburn, the Police have little on which to work.

MAGAZINE FEATURES WINCHESTER GARDEN

The Herbert Wests' Winchester garden, featured in the November issue of Better Homes and Gardens, succeeds in "making a quarry grow a rose."

"Winchester was founded," says Herbert West, "in 1638, and in the course of time the wilderness was tamed—all but one spot. That was a mess. Well, I needed exercise, so I bought the ugly five acres and set about making the stone quarry grow a rose."

Up the rocky slope behind their home, the Wests carry their garden over terraces to five different levels. The stone supporting walls and steps were laid by Mr. West.

Not only roses wander over the rocks, but wisteria, ivy, and honeysuckle, too. The little dirt pockets between rocks have turned green with hardy sedums and ferns. On lower levels near the house, deep-planted bulbs and shallow-rooted annuals hobnob in colorful beds.

On the climb up the slope Mrs. West has planned little surprises. In one niche a little hand-carved St. Francis blesses the birds that come to drink from the basin at his feet. From other tiny grottoes a Madonna and Child or Buddha peers out. Ferns and mosses keep these nooks cool and alive.

But the Wests' gardening hasn't cluttered their garage. A small tool house keeps tools, baskets and plant food conveniently, a practical idea for any gardener-in-earnest.

Eight photographs of the garden accompany the article.

The Victory party committee reports that the pledge cards are beginning to come in and the members are responding in a most favorable manner. The committee's motto is "Lets make the Victory Party Fund our greatest achievement." Indications are that it will be just that.

Jumbo is in again. For a soldier who is so active in promotin sports in whatever camp he happens to be, certainly finds a lot of time to write. In his latest letter, he would like to have us, through the column, ask "Deadhorse" to drop him a line. Yeah, and how about dropping us one, too, "Deadhorse"?

Al DeMinico has been home on a short furlough. He is stationed in California. I understand his brother Willie is on the West Coast, too. He wrote and said he had been out with a well-known movie actress. How about the details, Willie?

By the way, what's happened to Larry? I know he writes quite a few letters. So how about dropping us a line or two at the club, Larry?

Clarkie Lentine writes, "Guess its about time I dropped you all a line. I am kept busy moving around. Give my brothers of the lodge my best regards. Also my best to the rest of the boys in town. Will be seeing you all soon." Attaboy, Clarkie, keep it up. We'll be waiting for that next letter.

We received an interesting letter from Lt. Joseph Ciarcia. Joe writes about his military training, and gives his impressions of the localities in which he's been. At present he is in Louisiana, of which he writes, "This state is one of the nicest in the Union with such interesting cities at Baton Rouge, Shrevesport and New Orleans. I've seen two good football games, one between LSU and Rice University and the other between LSU and the Texas Aggies. Boy what games! While at Camp Stewart, Ga., I saw Tony Penta, brother of Larry. My best regards to all. Tell my uncle, Mingie, to keep up his good work."

We received a V-mail letter from Gay who is now a Sergeant. It is dated Oct. 12 and he writes, "Here it is Columbus Day and quite naturally my memory takes me back to the banquet and dance of our lodge in years gone by. It seemed fitting that I should write to you all today and express my sincere hope that on this date in 1944 we shall have been able to carry on from where we left off."

Thanks Gay, for your letter. You have expressed the feelings of 42 members of our order who on Oct. 12 recalled the importance of that day to our lodge. Heres to a speedy end to this mess.

The Lodge received word recently of Coach Wendell D. Mansfield of Springfield College and it will interest the members to know that the former Winchester High School athletic director enjoys the Sons of Italy column in the Star. "Coach" knows most of the boys mentioned in the column and worked with many of them while at high school, preparing them, as things turned out, both physically and morally for this biggest of all games which they are playing so well. Their achievements have made their old teacher both proud of them and very happy, and wherever they are and whatever they are doing, he wishes them "Godspeed!"

Phil and Gray Twombly, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Twombly of Lawson road, returned to duty yesterday after spending ten days in Winchester. Phil is with the United States Ski Troops at Camp Hale in Colorado and Gray is in the Marines training at Bucknell University. Pete, their younger brother and captain of last year's basketball team at Winchester High School, is entering the Navy early in November.

READING HERE TOMORROW

Visitors Expected to Extend Winchester

Winchester High returns to the Shore road athletic field tomorrow to play Reading High School in the first home football game in a month, commencing at 2.30.

Reading is expected to be tougher for Winchester than its last four opponents, Lexington, Danvers, Punchard and Stoneham. Those who scouted the Woburn-Reading game for Winchester returned with a wholesome respect for the locals' opponents tomorrow and make no bones about their belief that Reading should have won.

That 14-14 tie with Woburn is Reading's achievement for the season. Aside from this the visitors have nothing to offer that would indicate they are any world-beaters. They were beaten 38-0 by Johnson High of North Andover early in the season and dropped another game to Governor Dummer Academy which is not too strong this year. Reading won from Punchard 14-0, a team Winchester beat 26-0 and last Saturday beat Chelmsford 12-0.

Coach Knowlton looks for a good game with Reading and expects the visitors to provide the best opposition his boys have faced since Swampscott. He's not expecting to lose and after watching backs like Devine and Somma of Framingham and Grant and Friberg of Swampscott go against his boys he isn't worrying too much about Reading's "Busher" Ahearn, good as the latter may be.

All in all tomorrow's game ought to be a good one and it is very much to be hoped that it will be a lot harder for the locals to win than have their last four. With Wakefield, Belmont and Woburn coming up, Winchester needs just the real testing Reading is expected to supply.

WEST TO PLAY AGAINST YALE

"Bill" West, Winchester's all scholastic fullback of 1942, is expected to see action for Dartmouth Saturday against Yale.

Big "Monk", now a freshman in the Navy V-12 course at Hanover, became eligible to play with the closing of the first semester last week. There has been no questioning his ability on the part of Dartmouth coaches from the first. He would have been in the big Green lineup against Holy Cross in the season's opener except for the Navy ruling which required first year men to complete a semester before participating in varsity contests.

"Bill" weighs 196, or did last weekend when he was watching the Winchester-Stoneham game. They have been using him as a tail-back at Hanover, giving him more opportunity to kick and pass than he would get in college ball at the fullback slot. Report has it he has taken to both these chores satisfactorily.

Those who watched "Bill" pilot Winchester to its first State football championship had no doubts at all about his making the college grade and from the reports which have come out of the Hanover hills this fall the Dartmouth coaches are agreeing.

FOURTH STRAIGHT FOR WINCHESTER

Stubborn Stoneham 27-7 Victim

Winchester High beat a stubborn Stoneham football team at Stoneham last Saturday afternoon for its fourth straight victory.

Stoneham played hard, aggressive football, throwing a seven and eight man line against the local running plays that prevented the Winchester backs from breaking away as they did at Punchard and Danvers. All in all the game was a good workout for Coach Knowlton's charges who had their toughest opposition since the Swampscott game.

Winchester led by the margin of a safety at the half, but had all the better of the second half and might have had a larger total had Coach Knowlton cared to pile it on. Winchester rolled up 11 first downs and 205 yards by rushing, completed five of 11 passes for 62 yards, lost 10 yards in penalties and fumbled twice, one of the fumbles paving the way for the Stoneham score.

Stoneham made two first downs and 31 yards on the ground, completed three of 10 passes for 30 yards, also fumbled twice and lost 15 yards to the officials.

Lambiase kicked off for Winchester and Stoneham had to punt. Angelo's boot was returned by Sam Tibaudo to his 45 and after Sammy had bucked for five, he broke through again and lateraled out to Roche, Chucker passing along to DiMambro who reached the Stoneham 21 for a first down. Roche and Tibaudo made first down on the 10, Sammy made three inside and then on a reverse the speedy DiMambro streaked around his own left end to go over without being touched. Lambiase kicked the goal from placement.

Winchester continued to press and just before the end of the quarter Roche got off a nice coffin-corner kick that rolled outside at the Stoneham 1. Here the locals lost five for offside, but on the next play Angelo, attempting to punt, got a bad pass from center and his team-mate Murphy barely fell on the ball in the end zone for a safety.

Stoneham scored midway through the second quarter. Angelo had kicked outside at the Winchester 25 and the locals tried a lateral. The ball was sloppily handled and finally fumbled, Stoneham recovering at the 20. A pass from Murphy to Mercer advanced to the 2 and on third down with the ball still at the 2, Mercer ran out to his left and flipped a pretty little pass over DiMambro's head to the sprinting Murphy who made a nice catch for the touchdown in the Winchester end zone. Murphy kicked the goal and Winchester had only a two point lead.

Starting with the kickoff which Walsh ran out to the 28 Winchester drove down the field until Jim Haggerty cracked through from the Stoneham 15 to a first down at the 8. Here the locals took to the air and grounded two passes before the whistle sounded for half time.

With the resumption of play Stoneham ran the kickoff back to its 33, but Sammy Tibaudo intercepted a pass at midfield and drove back to the Stoneham 32. Here the locals pulled the old Chamber of Commerce play out of their bag of tricks and Sam Tibaudo, behind 10 driving interferers, went all the way to pay dirt. Lambiase missed the try for the extra point.

Stoneham had to punt after receiving the kickoff, Tibaudo being downed on his 30. Roche got away around his right end for a first down at the 45 and a long cross-the-field pass from S. Tibaudo to Roche made first down at the Stoneham 40. A lateral and two shots at the line made it first down at the 29 and here Sam Tibaudo faded and chucked a pretty pass down the middle to Teddy O'Rourke, reserve wingback, who grabbed the ball at the 15 and drove over, barely keeping his feet after making a leaping catch. An attempted pass for the extra point was batted down and at this point Coach Knowlton sent in subs with a reckless hand.

Neither team showed much from then on until just before the final whistle when Latham recovered a fumbled punt for Winchester at the Stoneham 8. Stoneham held for downs at its 1, but when Angelo tried to kick "Spider" Latham got in fast to block the boot with the one-and-only "Red" Hannon, reserve tackle, falling on the ball for a touchdown. An attempted pass for the extra point was no good as the game ended. The summary:

BUTTERS STILL A. W. O. L.

For the third straight time Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, absented himself from the regular matches of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association last week-end. Worse than all that even those nearest and dearest to him were unable to tell where he was at the time when he most emphatically should have been at the courts beside Wedge Pond.

As a consequence of this latest defection Arthur's standing reached a new low on the Palmer Beach books and it is going to take quite a bit of collateral to cover the outstanding margin on his stock.

The thing that matters most to Arthur's friends in the Association is the whispering campaign, begun at the time of his first absence and weekly backing away at the underpinning of what was at one time one of the outstanding reputations of the Association.

Boiled right down and jelled, what they are beginning to say about Arthur is that he can't take it. Credence to this needling is lent by the fact that at his last appearance at the beach in special matches on Oct. 12 the Maine State Champ went home at luncheon without a victory to his credit. Records can be advanced in support of this statement.

However, those who know Arthur best know indeed that a single setback, no matter how staggering the proportions, could not in itself suffice to keep him from a game in which he enjoys a champion's stature. Those who have seen him meet all comers at snooker-pool, who have watched him get that spare in the teachers' bowling league, who have marvelled at the erudite manner in which he plays a hand of cards close to his belt-line, realize only too well that he can take the bitter with the better, even if there were not at hand cups to indicate something of his prowess on the links and at the hellum. All who have followed the State of Maine Champ through the years know that win, lose or draw Arthur has been in there keeping his curve low and outside whatever the opposition.

So it is that the ugly rumors to the effect that Mr. Butters is absenting himself from Palmer street because of the humiliation he experienced upon the date of his last appearance are causing so much distress among his friends in the Horseshoe Association and his admirers about town. For the rumors will not down, at least while President Royal P. Teele escapes laryngitis At first distressed over the Butters absence, the doughty President is now greatly annoyed over the whole thing and makes no bones about his own inclination to the contention that Arthur likes golf better than horseshoes because he wins more often at it.

"Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nabnassett, in attempting to defend Mr. Butters, advanced as an excuse for his failure to appear two weeks ago the possibility that he was on a "fish fry." This statement in extenuation has however, now worn so thin by repetition that even "Willie" didn't try it last week-end, prudently holding his peace.

There still are those in the Association who have faith in Arthur and look for his return to competition at any moment None have to date offered to meet the fines which the outraged Mr. Teele has levied against that moment.

Last week-end's matches were chiefly featured by the return to competition of Henry "Tiffany" Knowlton of the Maxwell Road Mugwumps. Paired with Mr. Teele, Mr. Knowlton dropped two out of three to the Secretary and Mr. Wittet in the only match of the session worth recording.

Whatever honors there were belonged to McLaughlin, but he had to shift shoes to win them, so Mr. Teele refused to read his victories into the records, since the shoes he insisted upon discarding were those recently purchased by the President. Not many matches were played due to the time wasted in measuring and remeasuring the course, in adjusting and readjusting stakes and as Mr. McLaughlin put it, generally foolin' around

Police work in plenty is scheduled for the Auxiliary Police during the coming months. Besides periodic checking of headlights, the force will be on duty on Hallowe'en and plans for several patrols to augment the regular police during the evening hours are being worked out. This latter will be welcome news to many who dread walking alone on darkened streets.

Harmless fun during Hallowe'en will not be interfered with, but the Auxiliaries will be on the alert to prevent property damage or rowdyism.

Of great interest to all members who attended the meeting a week ago, was the news that Auxiliary Police headquarters are being established at our present pistol range, after some improvements are put into effect. Additional flooring will be laid and more chairs added. Besides furnishing a place for the regular meetings, the headquarters will be open several nights a week so that members may drop in to shoot or otherwise spend an interesting evening. Anyone desiring to help in the work of laying the new floor, or who has any spare lamps or tables to donate, should get in touch with Warren Goddu.

A representative of the FBI was present at the last meeting, and gave an interesting account of the Japanese situation on the West Coast at the outbreak of the war, and how it was handled. Following this, moving pictures on correct methods of disarming and searching prisoners were shown.

The practice air raid on Oct. 21 went off smoothly from the police standpoint. Special mention goes to L. R. Stucky, Auxiliary Officer No. 18, who was assigned to guard the railroad switch at the Woburn loop, near the center. Arriving there at 8.40, Officer Stucky noted a figure recumbent on the tracks. Summoning Officer Callahan of the regular police who was in the Square, Stucky and the latter escorted the sleeping party to the Police Station for a night's rest. The 8.45 train went through on time, but what the consequences would have been had it not been for Officer Stucky's sharp eyes is a question. Just another indication that the Auxiliary Police Force is on the job.

This week-end will witness the advent of Hallowe'en, the actual date being Sunday but the observance being more likely to be on Saturday. Many dread the approach of this carnival of hoodlumism and with reason. Aside from the nervous apprehension of wondering where the tornado will strike there is the necessity of providing eadible blackmail for the youthful mauraurders or being subjected to punitive measures for failure to satisfy their demands. Often in the past, whether or not blackmail is provided, property has been damaged, or so messed up that owners have been put to considerable trouble and not a little expense to clean things up. This isn't pleasant at any time and this year few people are in the mood to take youthful hoodlumism with equanimity or pay for its consequences, even if they have the cash left to do it. Even the youth of the town can realize that these are not normal times and that things which increase the stress and strain under which the average person is carrying on should be taboo. Parents ought to impress upon their children that this emphatically is no year for rowdyism on Hallowe'en.

Winchester is falling far behind in its quota of Surgical Dressings for our armed forces, according to an announcement this week by Mrs. Gladys Dutting, executive secretary of the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross.

At the present time, Mrs. Dutting said, the local quota is some 9000 dressings short and the need for them to aid the armed forces is increasing.

Volunteers should report at the second floor of the Town Hall Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. or at 12 Everett avenue on the same days from 9.30 to 4 o'clock. Part time workers will be welcomed, she said. There is also need for volunteers for the evening sessions held at the Town Hall on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 7.15 until 9.15 o'clock. p. m.

RED CROSS HOME NURSING

A morning course in Red Cross Home Nursing will start next Thursday at the Home Nursing Room, Room 11, Second Floor, Locatelli Building, corner Main and Thompson streets.

This free class, taught by Mrs. Angeline R. O'Leary, Winchester District Nursing Supervisor, will meet once each week from 9.30 a. m. to 11.30 a. m. for approximately 12 weeks.

JIM FITZ MET AN OLD FRIEND

Among those pretty sure to be in the Winchester cheering section at high school football games, or any other athletic contests for that matter, is James J. Fitzgerald, Winchester's "Jim Fitz", head of the contracting firm that bears his name and father of two of the town's best-known athletes of recent years, "Big Jim" and "Nick" Fitzgerald. You may not see "Jim," though he's still plenty big enough to see without glasses, but it's dollars to the proverbial doughnuts that he's at the game and we'll bet you'll hear him if you are in his vicinity because Jim is the old school type of rooter who believes in encouraging the gladiators in the arena vocally as well as morally.

Anyhow, James J. was in the stands at the Stoneham game last Saturday and as the officials came on the field he asked a neighbor who they were. When he heard that the linesman was "Jigger" Kingsley of Stoneham, Jim pricked up his ears and wanted to know if by any chance his father happened to be George Kingsley.

Jim's informant wasn't sure about the name but he pointed out the elder Kingsley seated not far off in the stands, and seeing him, James J. let out a gleeful yelp. When opportunity presented at the half Jim looked up Mr. Kingsley, whose name WAS George and who 55 years ago bought a high bicycle from the Winchester contractor when the latter was a cutter in a Stoneham shoe shop.

Jim paid $110 for the bike which was made in Coventry, England, and that, as he put it, was real money "in those days." The elder Kingsley was quite a bike racer at the time, but whether he won any races on the Fitzgerald wheel Jim allowed he didn't know.

The two old friends had quite a time talking over the old days when bikes were made of wood and had a high wheel in front and a "little one behind."

WEEK-END FIRES

The first of several runs the Fire Department had over the past week-end took place at 7:20 Friday evening when Officer Stanley Mullen of the Police Department noticed the brakes of a DeSoto sedan proceeding along Church street were afire. Officer Mullen stopped the car, being driven by Grace H. Archibald of 5 Penn road, at Bacon and Church street and phoned in from Police Box 15 for a piece of fire apparatus. The latter responded quickly and took care of the trouble.

Saturday afternoon at 5.45 the department was called to put out leaves burning in a catch-basin at the corner of the Parkway and Washington street, quite a sheet of flames issuing from the opening.

Sunday afternoon at 5.15 the men were called to take care of an overheated boiler at the home of Mr. E. Abbott Bradlee, 34 Grove street. At 6.29 Satruday evening there was a chimney fire at the Hayes home, 4 Lakeview road. One of the hottest fires of its kind the firemen have encountered in some time was that at the home of Metropolitan Police Sgt. Donald McFarlane, 2 Bonad road, where a gas stove became overheated. Sgt. McFarlane and Fire Lt. James E. Callahan, whose home is on Bonad road and who happened to be at home at the time of the fire, attempted to extinguish the flames with fire extinguishers at the McFarlane home. Unsuccessful in their attempts, Lt. Callahan sent in a call for apparatus and the firemen made short work of things with their big acid extinguishers.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

About 3000 pounds of paper has been collected by students of Winchester High School during the present drive sponsored by the Student Council and headed by Chairmen Joseph Foley. Assisting with routine tasks are Arthur King, Lawrence Norton, David Elledge and Herbert Moore.

Members of the Student Council recently appointed to the Advisory Board are Edward Hicks, Samuel Buzzotta, Charles Dunn, Stephen Greene, and Herbert Moore. Stephen Greene is also in charge of publicity.

Principal Samuel M. Graves is acting as advisor for the Council this year.

Although the October sale of War Stamps and Bonds was heavier than ever before, a mere matter of percentages keeps a United States Treasury flag from fling atop the high school. Over 80 per cent of the pupils bought stamps or bonds at least once during the month. If the additional ten per cent can be counted among the purchasers during November, the Treasury flag will be flying on Dec. 7. Over $300 worth of stamps and bonds were purchased during this week.

FINAL FIGURES FOR WINCHESTER'S THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE

Maurice C. Bird, chairman of Winchester's Third War Loan Drive, has reported that this community exceeded its quota of $1,206,000 by 17.5 per cent and that the cash amount of bond purchases credited to Winchester in the Third War Loan Drive is $1,416,000. Massachusetts, as a whole, exceeded its quota by 11.6 per cent.

The total amount of Winchester subscribers was 2485, or an increase of 39.5 per cent over the number who subscribed in the previous Bond Drive of last April. Winchester has reason to be particularly proud of this fine increase in the number of subscribers.

Of especial interest is the record on E Bond purchases. This time, 2310 individuals bought E Bonds as compared with 1653 individual purchasers last April, an increase of nearly 40 per cent. The cash value of E Bonds bought this time was $208,000.

MISCHIEF?

Boys kept the Police busy last Saturday from early morning to late at night with a series of disturbances which ranged all the way from petty mischief to more serious damage.

Among the latter was the shooting out of eight lights of glass in a garage on Garfield avenue. Four boys, 13 to 15 years old armed with air rifles were found to be responsible and were rounded up by Officer William Cassidy. Their parents agreed to replace the glass.

Two more boys were picked up shooting an air rifle at the rear of the Town Hall. The gun was confiscated. A resident of Westland avenue phoned in during Saturday morning to report that more than two bushels of apples had been stolen from where he had placed them under a canvas in his back yard.

Several complaints of boys and girls riding bicycles in a dangerous manner on private property were received, and during Saturday evening the Police had to go and drive away boys who were creating disturbances at the Country Club, at a home on Cambridge street and at the Winchester Arms.

Elsewhere in town youngsters were complained of as ringing doorbells and running, repeating the performance all along a street.

The Columbus Club on Raymond place reported several panes of glass were broken, it is thought by boys, and in this instance it is probably just as well the culprits were not apprehended by members of the organization.

S. O. S.

The Police are quite accustomed to unusual calls for assistance but even the more experienced officers admitted that the call they received last Saturday afternoon at 4.30 was a bit off the beaten path.

At that hour a lady, more or less upset, telephoned in to report that a large truck, south-bound on Main street, had dropped a sizeable dollop of its load while going through Symmes Corner. The unusual part of the whole business was the load, which happened to be "hog entrails." The lady felt that the aforesaid added little to either the looks or utility of the roadway and all in all was definitely against their being where they were, even semi-permanently.

Officer Edward Bowler, at the desk, felt that the lady had right on her side and passed along her complaint to Officer William E. Cassidy, on duty in the cruiser. The latter, whatever he thought about it, started for Symmes Corner, but those who witnessed his departure felt that his foot had been a lot heavier on the accelerator on many a previous occasion. "Willie," having had little experience with hog entrails, was doubtless wondering just what th' h--- he would do with them or about them.

Imagine his delight, or can you, when he arrived at the scene of action to find that the good old truck driver, a stout fellow in "Willie's" book anytime, had evidently missed the "H. E.'s" from his truck, and wanting them more than anyone else, in the immediate vicinity at least, had returned for them and scooped them up into his machine.

He departed with Officer Cassidy's express blessing which has seldom been more fervently invoked.

CHERRY HILL TRIP IS ENJOYED BY CUB PACK 3

The annual outing of Cub Pack 3 which was held over from last spring was held at Cherry Hill Farm operated by H. P. Hood and Sons.

The boys enjoyed a full day of games consisting of baseball, soccer and other competitive games.

At noon, the boys feasted on hot dogs, roasted over the outdoor fireplace, rolls, doughnuts, apples and plenty of Cherry Hill milk.

After lunch the boys were shown around the farm. They were much interested in the care given the cows in the cow barns, the milking and the bottling plant at the farm.

The calf shed where they saw some new born calves which are slated to become future Cherry Hill milk producers also created a good deal of interest.

As a result of the days outing, the boys learned a great deal beside enjoying themselves immensely. They appreciated the many courtesies shown them by the farm management.

FORUM OPEN HOUSE A HUGE SUCCESS

The Forum open house for high school students held in the social hall of the First Congregational Church have been most successful. The first two were for Forum members only. This Friday, Oct. 29, will be guest night and Forum members may bring a guest if they desire.

Last Friday 125 high schoolers attended the open house at which the main attraction was the basketball game between the boys of Metcalf Union of the Unitarian Church and the Senior Forum team. The Forum won 35 to 26.

This Friday the Open House committee has arranged a basketball game between the boys of the Forum and an All Star team.

In addition to the game there will be shuffle board, ping pong, whiffle, cards, chess, a taffy pull and other games and interests. The evening will close with the usual hour or two of dancing.

The open house committee members are Stephen Greene, chairman; Terrie Howe and Patsy Eberle.

★ As war-time days drag on, we find ourselves thinking more and more of the peace to come. The days when your boy will be coming home to dinner every night—the girl next door can start making wedding plans—and a boy in civilian clothes is not a rarity. And now is the time to start making ready the final blow by buying every War Bond we possibly can. Let's make sure any delay in putting this war to an end is not due to lack of ammunition and guns that we, the Bond Buyers of America, could have supplied. Won't you come in today and let our War Bond Department serve you? Remember the more Bonds we buy to back our boys the sooner our boys will be back to us!

LIONS CLUB

The last meeting of the Lions Club at the Masonic dining rooms was omitted and a number of the Lons attended the meeting of the Boston Club as they were host to the present and immediate past Governors of Dis. 33. There were about 250 present. We had the pleasure of shaking hands with Mayor Tobin, a member and officer in the club. Governor Saltonstall also a member was not present, but Rudolph F. King represented him and gave a wonderful tribute to Lionism. The Attleboro Club furnished the entertainment and some entertainment with their sauerkraut band.

On Thursday evening, the 28th, the club again resumed its regular meeting at the Masonic apartments. There were a number of guests present including Dep. Dis. Gov. Dale of Marblehead, who inducted a new member, George Saltmarsh. Al Fulsom presided at the piano and as always we made the welkin ring with old and new songs but especially the Lions Roar. And by the way we are still upholding our reputation as a service club, we loaned Al to the Rotarians last week in order that they might be able to sing. This is not the first service we have given them, having entertained their club on two occasions, but we do like reciprocity.

Our guest speaker, a navy man, gave a very interesting talk on athletics as given to men in the Navy and suggested that this might be something that service clubs could have as an activity.

M. S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY NOTES

Sale, Nov. 18, 1.30 to 5 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth, 371 Highland avenue.

The Need is Great, to maintain our work, we should have the co-operation of all, as food, heat and light mount up as winter approaches. We beg your assistance in gifts of food, fancy articles, or check, as these will assist us to carry on. A glance at the report of the work at the shelter for several months ending Sept. 30, is as follows: Cats cared for 319; dogs 43 and other smaller animals; 58 complaints investigated; animals taken to Angell Hospital for treatment at the request of owners 31; thus showing that the people of Winchester are becoming better acquainted with the work we are doing.

Caution: Do not allow your cat or your dog to go out before light in the morning, or remain out after dark at night. If you value your pets you will watch them closely these days.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Chilly mornings remind us, wouldn't it be frosty, up where tankers and other supply vessels ply in far north waters, to step out of bed and out on a concrete floor? You remember that British War Relief is trying to supply a rug or a bit of carpet for these bunkside spots. What you count too worn for your floor may still have good warmth in it for a use like this. Faded patterns won't matter.

Speaking still of cold ocean trips, the Winchester Unit would like to have some knitters of gray wool socks switch over and knit needed seaboot stockings. White wool for these and navy wool for gloves, mittens, scarfs etc., may be obtained at Epiphany parish hall on Wednesdays.

Proceeds from the Caledonian market, 47 Newbury street, Boston, buy yarn. Contributions for the market may be brought to the Epiphany work room any Wednesday. Say a bit of jewelry, modern, costume or Victorian or any style. One Winchester giver to such good causes applies this time measure in deciding to keep or to give "If I haven't used this for a year, it's time to give it."

Everlasting Punishment is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, Oct. 31, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. and in all of its branches.
The Golden Text is from Psalms 130:7, Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption. Other Bible selections include: Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon (Isaiah 55:6, 7).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, among which is: The destruction of sin is the divine method of pardon. Divine Life destroys death, Truth destroys error, and Love destroys hate. Being destroyed, sin needs no other form of forgiveness. (p. 339).

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Rev. James H. Doyle, newly appointed head of the Diocesan Charities and spiritual director of the Guild of the Infant Saviour, was the guest speaker at the chapter's opening meeting held in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 26. Fr. Doyle stressed the urgent needs of the Charitable Bureau particularly warm clothing for destitute infants. Our monthly sewing meetings should be well attended and the amount of work should equal if not exceed that which we have done in the past.

Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, president, introduced Father Doyle. After the reading of reports, announcement was made that all social affairs, planned for the month of November, must be postponed. Any organization particularly in, or benefiting from United War Funds, cannot run affairs for charity between Nov. 8 and 24. The Catholic Charitable Bureau, of which we are a part, is a beneficiary in this fund. Our annual bazaar and penny sale both planned for November will have to be held later in the year. These dates will be announced at our next meeting.

Many beautiful layettes on which members were working during the summer months were returned, Chairman of sewing Mrs. George MacDuffee was well pleased with the amount accomplished.

Among the new members inducted into the Guild this season are: Mrs. Praeda O'Donohue, Mrs. Charles Roach, both of Winchester; Mrs. Walter M. Crotty, Mrs. Malcolm Martin, Mrs. Eugene McCabe, Mrs. Catherine M. Sweeney of Medford and Mrs. John Halliday of Woburn. Many of our old members who have been unable to attend for various reasons during the past year, have returned.

We are all very sorry to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. Chester Powers (Betty) and Mrs. Hintlian has asked all who can do so to send her a cheerful card or note.

Also, the sympathy of the members is extended to Mrs. Ralph Sexton on the death of her father. Mrs. Edward Gorrie on the death of her father, and Mrs. M. J. Quinn on the death of her mother.

Hostesses at tea on Oct. 26 were: Mrs. John Lennon, Mrs. Harry Donovan, Mrs. Joseph L. Mullin and Mrs. John Bradley.

Unusually large flocks of wild ducks have been frequenting the lakes about town during the past week.

ART ASSOCIATION PREVIEW

At 7.30 o'clock on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, in the Library gallery, the Winchester Art Association will open its exhibit of water colors by A. Lasalle Ripley, William M. Jewell and Glenn G. MacNutt.

No one who frequents the library needs further introduction to Mr. Ripley than his striking Indian mural, permanent reminder of his skill. His work is to be found in various parts of the country including the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and the Art Institute of Chicago. Born in Wakefield, student of the Museum School, holder of numerous coveted awards, he stands among the foremost water colorists today. He is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists, the New York Water Color Club and the American Water Color Society.

William M. Jewell, also a New Englander by birth, has brought to play in the field of water color that indigenous knowledge which brings the reality of the locale vividly to life. Harvard University graduate, practising architect for years, pupil of Henry Rice at Ogunquit, Mr. Jewell has become outstanding both as an artist and as a member of the faculty at the Vesper George School of Art and at Boston University.

The third prominent member of the showing trio, is Glenn MacNutt. Native of Ontario, Canada, his trips to Digby, N. S., every summer mint pictures of that country's magnificence. His other love by way of contrast, is Boston, Mass. Mr. McNutt studied at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston and the Massachusetts School of Art. He is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists and is currently giving a one man show in Boston.

The gallery talk for members will be given by Richard Wright, Harvard graduate, art student in Paris, and writer, who will discuss "The Development of Water Color Painting from Mosaics to the Present Day."

Hostesses for the evening will be Miss Alice Main and Mrs. Arthur Harris.

The exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. weekdays from Nov. 3 through Nov. 24.

TO MOTHERS OF FIRST GRADE CHILDREN

The mothers of children in the first grade of the Winchester public schools are invited to attend a series of meetings for the study of the ways in which young children learn to read.

These meetings will be held at 1.30 o'clock on Nov. 2 in the assembly hall of the Lincoln School on Westley street.

Young children accompanying their mothers will be cared for in the kindergarten rooms.

EDWARD C. GAMAGE (Lord Milford)

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

The beautiful Everett avenue home of Mrs. Gilbert C. Hood, Jr., was the setting for one of the largest and most interesting Florence Crittenton meetings in recent years. The Rev. Mr. Roger Makepeace of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church opened the meeting with a thoughtful and timely prayer for sons, brothers and friends in the armed forces.

After greeting new and old members, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, the president, explained briefly the twofold purpose of Florence Crittenton work, that of providing shelter for unmarried mothers at the home and hospital and the equally important phase of the effort, which is rehabilitation of young "problem girls" of 'teen age at Welcome House.

The report of the membership chairman, Mrs. E. Ober Pride, was given, in her absence, by Mrs. Harris Richardson.

Mrs. Elisha Pierce, chairman of the bazaar gave a lively and interesting report of bazaar activities, mentioning in particular the attractive candles which Mrs. R. H. B. Smith and her committee are getting ready and the beautiful neck-ties made as usual by Mrs. Walter Rice and in the hands of Mrs. George Wilson.

Two able speakers from Red Cross Headquarters were the principal speakers of the afternoon. Mrs. C. Willard Bigelow, chairman of Canteen gave a most interesting talk on the work of many volunteer women in this branch of the Red Cross. The other speaker, Mrs. Frank G. Allen, who gives her full time services as a volunteer to the Red Cross, and is head of the Nurses' Aide, spoke straight forwardedly about the importance of this work and asked for interest and support in the new Nurses Aide Class now forming in Winchester. It was a rare privilege for the Circle to have these two "first ladies" of Red Cross as guests.

The musical program under the direction of Mrs. G. Lindrov Witham and Mrs. Walter Winship was of a very high order.

Through the efforts of a Circle member, Mrs. Lester Whittaker, Lord Milford, tenor was secured for a group of songs. His program was as follows:

English Rose .... By Edward German
Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes
Arranged by Suilter
Marco's Song from "The Gondoliers"
By Arthur Sullivan
Thank God for a Garden.. DelRiego and for an encore
The Little Irish Girl ..... by Lohr

The audience was enthusiastic in the extreme.

Strictly speaking, "Lord Milford" is not yet Lord Milford, but is the eldest son of Lord Milford, whose home is in Gloucester, England. His own name is Edward Charles Gamage and he makes his home in Winchester, working by day in an Arlington war plant and singing nights. He was born in Swansea, Wales, 32 years ago, was educated at All Saints College in Bristol and has had a varied musical career that has included musical comedy, radio and an engagement with the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, famed Gilbert and Sullivan troupe. He came to Boston in 1938, married a Cambridge girl and they have a four year old daughter, Pamela.

Tea was served by Mrs. Stephen Nichols and Mrs. Raymond Dickman and their committee and the pourers were Mrs. Langley Keyes and Mrs. Elisha Pierce.

NEEDLE-WORK GUILD SOCIAL SERVICE

In these days, when appeals grow more and more urgent for helping suffering humanity, we turn to the organizations which accomplish the greatest good with the least expenditure of time and money, and a minimum of red tape.

The Needle-work Guild fills this need right here in Winchester, and the one meeting each year brings together those who contribute to this form of home defense, and those who distribute with wisdom and discretion the many articles of new, warm clothing and household linens.

Whether you are a member or not, will you not join the group meeting at the First Congregational Church on Wednesday, Nov. 3 at 3 p. m. The exhibition will surprise you, and you will learn at first hand more about this opportunity for service.

A lonely small boy, with no family of his own, when given a token of remembrance said, "I'm glad I had a present from the Needle-work Guild, two new flannel shirts, just like my own mother would have chosen for me." The personal touch is not lost when welfare workers, "follow in the steps of Him who went about doing good."

A New Star is Born

—LAWSON ARMY-NAVY "E" PENNANT NOW BOASTS THE SILVER STAR FOR CONTINUED WAR PRODUCTION ACHIEVEMENT

Today, Lawson men and women are being honored with the addition of a silver star to their original Army-Navy "E" pennant granted by the War Department last April.

This silver star signifies that for another six months we have continued to produce war material of a quality and quantity to meet "E" award standards.

At a time when United Nations war facilities are straining to achieve full fighting momentum, the men and women at Lawson dedicate themselves anew to the task,—continuing to produce each new part so accurately, yet so speedily that Victory may be brought home sooner.

This silver star is a symbol of a job well done, challenging us to reach even greater production efficiency. And it is an invitation to other men and women who might wish to associate themselves with Lawson ideals and objectives.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Salvation Army's drive to raise $3000 in Winchester is coming to a close on Nov. 1. Anyone, who may have missed the solicitor when she called in your neighborhood and who still wishes to contribute to this campaign, may have that opportunity for a few days. There has been fine co-operative spirit displayed here by both the volunteer workers and citizens alike. The response has been generous and definite evidence of the confidence and respect the folks of this community have for the work of the Salvation Army.

Library Notes

Senior Girl Scouts are acting as ushers at the Saturday morning moving picture programs for children. Janet Morrison, Jo Ann Watkins and Barbara Howe were on duty last Saturday morning. They were in uniform and acted in an official capacity.

It is hoped that everyone who intends to enroll for the Spanish and Portuguese language classes at the library will do so before next Monday evening, Nov. 1. Enrollment is closed for the beginner's Spanish but registration is still open for the advanced Spanish and beginner's Portuguese.

Special attention is called to this opportunity to study Portuguese. This is the language of Brazil and a speaking knowledge of it is of importance in better understanding the people of that great country. Lt. Pinto, officer in the Brazilian Navy, will be the instructor.

The second in the series of Pan American Evenings will be held in the library, Tuesday evening, Nov. 9. Dr. Jose Padin will speak on "Problems of the Caribbean Area."

Don't forget to come in and look over our books on suggestions and ways of making gifts for Christmas.

Book Lists Available

Do you have a copy of "Reading is Not Rationed" listing some of the library's newer books? An up-to-date list of books on "Post-War Planning" is now available and also recently published a list of "Books on Music Appreciation and the Operas." Be sure to call the library if you wish any of these book lists mailed to you.

The big doll house which is on display at the Edison Light Office on Mt. The house was orginally made by Dr. Wilfred McKenzie for his daughter and is complete in all its details even to the shingles on the roof. Mrs. Percy Bugbee and Mrs. John Coulson are credited with securing and arranging the clever furnishings. They very much want another automobile for the garage and anyone having a model car they would care to loan should get in touch with Mrs. Bugbee.

ROTARY NOTES

Winchester Rotarians were glad to welcome again their own member, Lt. Comdr. Harry Benson, at Thursday's noon meeting. Come often, Harry, when naval service duties will permit. The club was also glad to have present two more service men who were introduced by Allen Wilde. Winchesterites in any branch of the armed services are always welcome at luncheon meetings and Rotarians hope more men home on furlough will drop in for luncheon and fellowship.

The speaker was Post Office Inspector Clarence S. Wibel of the Post Office Inspection Service. He talked interestingly of the duties of the men in his department who are constantly working as an examining, auditing, and fact-finding staff, responsible direct to the Postmaster General in Washington. We were made to realize that the Post Office Department is the nation's most widespread public utility, with every citizen a patron and a stockholder. It employs more than 300,000 persons in 43,410 different post offices, stations and branches. An inspector's duties in such a large organization are naturally varied and at times humorous.

NOTIFY BOARD OF FATHER'S STATUS!

Local Selective Service Board, No. 161, having exhausted practically all of its eligible list of single men and married men without children, recently began the consideration of married men for induction. Because of the many problems involved, all of which have to be considered for the individual registrant, progress is necessarily slow.

Very careful thought is being given to the possibility of deferment based on occupational grounds. The responsibility for providing the board with [illegible] which [illegible] the determination of his occupational status rests with the registrant and his employer. Lacking such information the board must not really consider that the employer does not feel that the registrant should be deferred. In the majority of such cases the board will probably proceed to process the registrant for induction. About 25 per cent of the fathers group have been notified that consideration of their cases is in the offing and have been requested to so inform their employers. In spite of these preliminary warnings there is a large number of registrants from whose employers the board has heard nothing.

Frankly, the board does not want to induct fathers, but the job has to be done and the board is trying to do its best between the conflicting responsibilities of the demands of the armed forces and the opposing demands of industry and home ties.

JUNIOR HIGH OPEN HOUSE

On Thursday evening, Oct. 28, all roads seemed to lead to the Junior High School building on Main street, where the Winchester Junior High School Associates were holding their annual open house.

The teachers, at their respective desks, and Principal R. J. Dickman were there to meet the parents who came to exchange greetings with them and to see the surroundings in which their boys and girls are spending so many hours.

In each room hosts and hostesses from among the parents introduced parents and teachers and kept the long lines moving through the various rooms.

Refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served from attractively decorated tables in the corridors. The very pleasant and stimulating evening was under the leadership of Mrs. Lyman Smith, president of the Associates; Mrs. Fred Chamberlin of the program committee; and Mrs. R. H. B. Smith of the refreshment committee. The decorations were arranged by Mrs. Theodore Elliott.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Group Meetings

To help the transportation problem and to further informal discussion the Winchester League's next meeting will be held at two places on Friday, Nov. 12 at 2 p. m. The hostesses for the two groups will be Mrs. Robert Cummins, at 1 Yale street and Mrs. Warren Whitman at 30 Prospect street.

Under discussion will be the general topic of Foreign Policy, one of the two fields upon which the League all over the country is placing special emphasis this year. This is a subject receiving our constant attention these days. The discussion hopes to promote a more complete understanding of the problem, a clear realization of the urgent need for continuing international co-operation by the United States, and a plan for each and everyone of us to help further this end.

The group at Mrs. Cummins' home will be under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Keeney and that at Mrs. Whitman's will be led by Mrs. Philip Woodward.

Friends and neighbors are cordially invited to attend.

MYSTIC SCHOOL FATHERS' NIGHT

The Mothers Association of the Mystic School will hold its annual Fathers' night on Friday, Nov. 19 at 8:30 o'clock. Although we can't tell you who the speaker of the evening is to be at this date the committee assures you that he will be worth hearing. The tickets will go on sale at 55c for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Following the lecture refreshments and sociability will be enjoyed in the kindergarten room and the teachers will receive the parents in their respective rooms where they may have the opportunity of seeing some of the work being done by the children.

The following committee headed up by Mrs. Robert Tonan is busily engaged in making this occasion both pleasant and profitable for all: Mrs. Theodore Atkinson, Mrs. Philip Benson, Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, Mrs. Colver Dyer, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. William Kugler.

Watch next week's Star for the announcement of the speaker.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL CHRISTENS DESTROYER

On Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1943 a destroyer was launched at the Seattle Tacoma Shipbuilding Company's yards in Seattle, Washington, and christened the U. S. S. Smalley, by Miss Lina Mayo, of Boston and formerly of Winchester, where she attended the Winchester High School.

The ship was named in honor of the memory of Anthony Smalley, of Harwich and Nantucket, a Naval officer during the Civil War, "whose courageous conduct during the capture of Fort Fisher, in the Civil War, was highly commended."

Anthony Smalley was the uncle of Mrs. W. H. Corliss of Fells road, and of Adna Smalley of Woodside road, also of Miss Mayo. The latter, a sponsor, carried out her assignment successfully, breaking the bottle of champagne on the prow of the ship, in full accordance with launching traditions. She was presented, by the shipbuilding company, with a wrist watch, set with a diamond and three small rubies.

TO JOIN HUSBAND IN GEORGIA

Mrs. Ivar Hakanson of Cambridge street, the former Marjorie Mountain, left yesterday morning by way of New York for Columbus, Ga., to join her husband, who is a 1st lieutenant in the Dental Division of the Army Medical Corps at Fort Benning. She expects to remain in the South indefinitely. Lt. Hakanson, a practising dentist in Winchester prior to his enlistment, entered the service last August.

PIETRANTONIO — MAGLIOCCHETTI

The marriage of Mis Mary Magliocchetti, daughter of Mrs. Lucia Magliocchetti of Arlington street, Woburn, to Pvt. Charles Pietrantonio, U.S.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bianchina Pietrantonio of Harvard street, took place on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24, at the Immaculate Conception Church. The pastor, Rev. Fr. James F. Fitzsimons, performed the ceremony at 4:30 and a reception followed at Knights of Columbus Hall in Woburn.

Mr. Frank Magliocchetti gave his sister in marriage. The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, having a round neckline, long sleeves, a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her long veil of tulle was caught to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and babies' breath.

Miss Stenna Pietrantonio, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a princess style gown of white taffeta with a matching heart-shaped hat and carried babies' breath with talisman roses.

The bridesmaids wore dresses and hats like those of the honor maid, their bouquets combining red roses and babies' breath. They were Miss Viola Magliocchetti, sister of the bride, Miss Susie Marconi of Woburn; Miss Mary Pietrantonio of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Mistrecta of Winchester, Miss Mary Lapery and the Misses Louise, Pauline and Mary Savelo, all of Stoneham.

Raymond Colaciocco of Woburn was best man, and the ushers were John Pietrantonio of Winchester, and Edward Magliocchetti, Anthony Agrillone and Lawrence Meuse, all of Woburn.

Mrs. Mildred Dineen played the bridal music and the soloist was Mrs. Francis Ewing of Stoneham.

After a wedding journey Mr. Pietrantonio and his bride will make their home in Philadelphia.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club held the first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. J. Robie Cove. The beautiful home in its delightful woodland setting made the meeting doubly enjoyable. After the dessert, which was served by the hostess, a talk was given on behalf of the United War Fund Drive, illustrated by slides showing the value and the need for support in this most worthy undertaking, comprising as it does, so many different charities.

After the business meeting which followed, with Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini presiding, the arrangements of flowers and dried material brought by the members of the club were judged informally. The members bringing these arrangements were Miss Mary A. Eagle, Mrs. William H. Gilpatric, Mrs. Willard Hudson, Mrs. Norman Mitchell, Mrs. Frederick Russell and Mrs. Robert Stone. Some of the club members are planning to enter the Chrysanthemum Show, to be held from Nov. 3 to 7 in Horticultural Hall.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The regular monthly meeting of the board took place on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. Michael H. Huntlian, president.

Next meeting for members of the Guild, will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9 in Lyceum Hall at 2:30 o'clock.

Many of the members of our local chapter attended the Guild meeting at Copley Plaza Hotel on last Tuesday, Nov. 2. Hon. Joseph D. Brennan, Irish Consul at Boston was guest speaker. His subject, "Social Service in Ireland Today" was both interesting and enlightening.

The sympathy of all our members is extended to Mrs. Talma Greenwood in the death of her husband.

MISS FENTON AND MISS GREY SHOWERED

A small group of relatives and friends gave a shower for Miss Deloran Fenton, director of physical education for girls at Winchester High School, at 1 Miss Elsie Grey last Friday evening at their home on Highland avenue. The affair was a complete surprise, each of the girls believing the shower to be for the other. Miss Fenton is to marry Lyman MacLeod, USNR, the latter part of next month. Miss Grey's engagement to Richard L. O'Donoghue was recently announced.

DeTESO BOWS OUT

Tony DeTeso, one of the best centers to wear the Red and Black of Winchester High since World War 1, if not of all time, played his final game for Tufts College last Sunday, bowing out in a blaze of glory as the Jumbos beat Coast Guard at Tufts Oval. Among the Winchester folks in the stands were two pretty fair judges of football, Coach Henry Knowlton, director of athletics at Winchester High; and Bob Guild, former Harvard fullback and coach, who has done a lot of school and college officiating in recent years. Both were loud in their praise of DeTeso's all around performance in his college finale.

Dynamite Tony served notice that he was going to be quite a football player back in 1935, when as a freshman at Winchester High he stepped into a big breach caused by the ineligibility of Paul Lentine just before the Woburn game and played four periods against the Tanners in the mud at Woburn, doing a great job for a first-year kid with scarcely enough weight to hold him firmly on the ground in a high wind.

The next year, with the shifting of Lentine to blocking block, Tony took over the first string center's duties and he's been a first string center ever since, starring for three years at Winchester High, captaining the freshman eleven at Tufts and being a regular on the Jumbo varsity for the past three seasons.

Tony was co-captain with "Pete" Galuffo of Winchester's 1940 eleven and he has been co-captain of the current Tufts team, starring in every game, especially on defense.

They weigh Tony at 153, but they must take into account his great spirit, flaming courage and all around "savvy" to reach those figures. Last Sunday against Coast Guard "Tony's" great play was an inspiration to his team mates and a revelation to those in the stands who saw him for the first time in his last game as a collegian. His interception of a Coast Guard pass and return of the ball to the Academy 1 yard line was really the turning point of the game, just as his great defensive play had often pulled previous games out of the fire for the Brown and Blue.

Now Tony has hung up his college togs for keeps, reporting this week for active duty with the Navy at Norfolk. He leaves behind a wealth of inspiration for all little men with big hearts who want to play college football.

BUTTERS RETURNS

Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Chump, returned to the horseshoe wars last week-end, making his long-overdue appearance at the regular meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association after several weeks of absence without leave.

President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele greeted the prodigal with marked reserve which probably would have been even more marked had it not looked a lot as though Arthur would be desperately needed to complete a quorum for the transaction of business.

Mr. Teele and the Secretary were early at the beach, but seeing no one there but a lonely fisherman, repaired to the hospitable McLaughlin home, there to pick up the Pride of Stoke and Champion of all Nabnasset. On the way the President sketched out a terse little speech touching upon the virtues of promptness which he proposed to make for McLaughlin's especial benefit.

The speech was never made for the very good reason that no one at all could be raised from under the McLaughlin rooftree, and it was while the President and Secretary were fretting in the front yard waiting for some one to show up that Mr. Butters loomed along Lake street, headed for the beach and obviously loaded for bear.

Loud hails from the McLaughlin yard stayed his progress and he joined the little seminar there, talking over the possibility of indoor play for the cold weather and generally attempting to ingratiate himself with the courteous but not cordial Mr. Teele.

Finally at Mr. Butters suggestion it was decided to start for the beach, with the idea of playing three-handed until someone showed up. As the cavalcade got underway Howard "Foul Line" Wittet scorched around the corner of Lake street on his bicycle and joined the parade to the beach where a not unpleasant surprise awaited the paraders.

There seated in the sun were "Wild Willie" himself in person and Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, making with the visiting firemen practically a full house. Only Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham, still engaged in over-time, and Henry "Tiffany" Knowlton, busy with the hocks and spavins of his victorious football team, were among the missing.

When Mr. Butters saw Mr. McLaughlin he immediately called for a new election on the grounds of inefficiency in the present incumbents in office, basing his contention upon the fact that he was kept waiting for "Willie" in one place while "Willie" was waiting for everybody at another, thus wasting practically all of the session, or at least half an hour of it.

The Butters proposal was treated with contempt by President Teele who informed Arthur, a bit coldly it seemed, that until he had paid rather an imposing array of fines for absence he was in no position, either to make or vote upon ouster motions.

That ended the discussion as they say in the newspaper mailbags and the warriors settled down to play. In the interest of accuracy and to keep the record straight it has to be reported that Mr. Teele and the Secretary were champs for the session, winning two out of three from Mr. Butters and Mr. Wittet, two straight from Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Gardner and two out of three from the Butters-Wittet team. A single game of a strictly practice nature at the very end of the session was won by "Wild Willie" and "Garrulous" from the Association's officers, 25-23 with Mr. Gardner starring. By presidential decree this game will not appear in the official records for the session.

It should be said that Mr. Wittet, while sitting out a match, repaired to the second court and there threw shoes, lots of them, in the hopes of developing a new delivery.

He returned to play with a new shoe all right, but being paired with Mr. Butters, a man rusty through long absence from competition, his own "floater" availed him but little. As a matter of fact both Mr. Teele and the Secretary preferred it to the "Wittet charm luck", a great piece of horse shoes, front of the stake.

FIFTH STRAIGHT FOR WINCHESTER

Good Reading Team Beaten 14-6

Winchester High won its fifth straight football game last Saturday, beating a good Reading High School team, 14-6 on the Shore road athletic field. The game was easily the best of the locals' current season and one of the best in which Winchester has played in recent years.

Reading outpushed Winchester, 169 to 132 yards, made 13 first downs to 8 for Winchester and completed three of nine passes for 22 yards. The locals made one of two passes good for 64 yards, fumbled three times to once for Reading and lost 40 yards in penalties to five for the visitors.

Reading started a drive at the kickoff that rolled up four first downs and took them from its 25 to the Winchester 23.

The locals held for downs at that point and started a drive of their own. Sam Tibaudo broke through for 11 and then he and Roche made another first down at the Winchester 48. DiMambro made 7 on a reverse and Tibaudo drove for another first down at the Reading 42.

Once again Sammy broke through to fight his way to the 25, but here a fumble, fortunately recovered by Roche, showed the drive and there were four yards needed on fourth down.

To start the second quarter Walsh called for a reverse and the speedy DiMambro streaked out to the left as though the devil was after him. Walsh got him into the clear with a corking block and DiMambro scampered to the Reading eight before he was knocked outside.

On first down Sam Tibaudo hit inside Amico for the touchdown, going over standing up. "Sarto" Walsh split the uprights with a perfect goal from placement.

Just before the half a 15 yard penalty for clipping set Winchester back to its 5, from where Saraco kicked out to his 41. Dunn tried to make a running catch and fumbled, Nihan recovering for Winchester. In turn the locals messed up a lateral, the resulting fumble being recovered by Reading. On third down with six to go Derro broke through to drop Ahearn for a nine yard loss on a pass play and a succeeding pass was grounded as the half-time whistle blew.

Winchester scored again with the resumption of play. Sam Tibaudo ran the kickoff out to the 25 and immediately hit the line for a first down at the 35. Once again Sam hit the line, this time for only a yard, and then faded and shot of a long pass down the middle.

DiMambro streaked for the ball and reached it, bringing it down with a pretty leaping catch that hardly broke his stride. For a moment as he hit the ground a couple of Reading boys gained on him, but once he got going "Rat" simply breezed away from them, covering 25 yards in his final touchdown canter. Once more Walsh kicked a perfect placement goal.

Reading came right back. Dunn ran Walsh's kick-off out to its 45, simply driving for 25 yards through half the Winchester team. Here Winchester lost 15 yards for a questionable piling-on penalty to place the ball at its 40 and from here Ahearn and Lench drove to a pair of first downs ending at the 20.

Winchester piled up two tries at the line for a loss of two yards, but on third down Ahearn passed to Michelini at the 10, the Reading end pulling the ball down from over the head of Winchester's half-point Tony Saraco, who had covered the play but could not prevent the catch.

Ahearn hit the center of the line for five and added three at end. Stopped once cold on third down, "Bushy" managed to crawl over on his fourth try, the officials taking plenty of time in making up their minds. Ahearn's attempted dropkick for the extra point was wide as the quarter ended.

Reading kicked short to Derro at Winchester's 40. Three tries at the line made only nine yards and with a yard to go Winchester gambled on a punt. Tibaudo failed to make it and Reading took the ball, starting just inside middle field, with Ahearn doing most of the carrying, to reach a first down on the Winchester 10.

Here a linebuck was piled up, but Ahearn cracked off tackle to reach the one. Once again "Bushy" true, Amico's tackle but was stopped dead, and on fourth down, fading back to pass, Ahearn was dropped on the 10 by Derro to give Winchester the ball.

There were still plenty of thrills ahead. Teddy O'Rourke, in for the injured DiMambro broke through to the 27 and after a five yard penalty for back in motion, Roche drove around end to the 37. Here a sloppy lateral was fumbled and recovered by Reading at Winchester's 10. The visitors lost five for too many times out and there was time for only a single play.

Minott passed successfully to Ahearn, but "Bushy" was snowed under after only a five yard gain and the game was over. The summary:

BILL" WEST

SPORTS WRITERS BOOST WEST

Winchester's Bill West, captain and star fullback on last season's State Championship football team at Winchester High School, made an auspicious start in big time college competition last Saturday when he was one of the stars of the victorious Dartmouth team in the Yale Bowl.

Bill became eligible to play under the Navy rule at the end of the first semester and he signalized his debut by setting up one of Dartmouth's three touchdowns and making another. Not bad for a freshman playing his first big league game.

Big "Monk" evidently hasn't forgotten to use the straight-arm which his schoolboy opponents held in such profound respect and he is still the same tough boy to knock off his feet once by the line of scrimmage. On his touchdown play he drove four yards off tackle to go over standing up.

Both Jerry Nason, sports editor of the Boston Globe, and "Mel" Webb, the Globe's veteran college football writer, wrote special articles praising West's play at New Haven. Both were pleasant reading for Bill's many admirers here, old timers getting a particular kick out of the Webb article for "Webbie", one of the best liked and highest esteemed of the college writers, goes back a long way to the Halcyon days of Ivy League football when Harvard and Yale played at Springfield and the "Big Three" ruled the pigskin world.

Praise from "Webbie" means a lot, with no slight intended to our friend, Jerry Nason, who has seen a lot of top flight football and great players in recent years.

Still another good judge of football players, Wendell Mansfield, coach at Springfield College and former Winchester mentor, saw West at Yale and writes that he can very well understand after watching him in action how Winchester went through unbeaten and untied last season. He predicts a great future for Bill. Incidentally "Webbie", in his article, paid tribute to the coaching West received from "Hennie" Knowlton at Winchester, which is very much as it should be. We will bet that big "Monk" himself would second that motion.

BUECHLER PROMOTED

While stationed somewhere in the South Pacific Area, Ralph M. Buechler, USAAC, of 22 Lawson road, was promoted Oct. 2 from Captain to Major. He has been serving as weather officer of his advanced base for the past 10 months.

Major Buechler was graduated from Hamilton High School and from Purdue University with a B. S. degree in mechanical engineering. He also completed a course in meteorology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Prior to entering the service, he served for two years as an engineer for Black-Clawson Co., Hamilton, Ohio.

The Major is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buechler of Hamilton, Ohio. His wife, the former Elnora Terhune, 22 Lawson road, is making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Terhune.

WINCHESTER AT WAKEFIELD

Winchester High goes to Wakefield tomorrow afternoon to play Wakefield High at 2 o'clock on Walton Field.

This should prove the locals' toughest game since Swampscott, for Wakefield, despite a rather sorry showing this season has the stuff to bother any team. Holding the un-un Melrose disciples of the hipper-dipper to a brace of touchdowns last Saturday would indicate that the Scarlet is better than anything Winchester has met since its Swampscott defeat.

Wakefield has a huge line, with three boys hitting well over 200, and a couple of backs going 180 or better. Scoring but a single touchdown all year, against Woburn, doesn't speak too well for the Scarlet offense, but by the same token no club has succeeded in rolling up many points against the Beatley coached team.

Winchester may not be at full strength against Wakefield, for Fran Lambiase, 170 pound guard, may still be unable to play because of a "strep" throat. To offset this, "Charlie" Lovejoy, rugged-hard-hitting guard who has been out all year with an arm injury sustained this summer, will be able to play tomorrow. "Charlie" weighs around 170 and is very aggressive. He naturally won't start tomorrow but will be around if needed.

BRITISH VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drake of Lagrange street had as guests over the past week-end two members of the British Royal Navy, Petty Officer Jack Ray and Signalman Frank Hassell. "Bob" and Officer Ray visited the Star Office Saturday morning.

The young Briton said quietly that his home in London had been bombed three times and added with a grin that Civilian Defense plans, carefully plotted in advance, often meant little or nothing when an actual bombing occurs. "I know, too," he said, "because I was a warden for a time."

Ray, who was on the Ark Royal, is now on leave off Gibraltar, is very much familiarizing himself with torpedo-bombers. He and Hassell crossed the Winchester-Reading game Saturday afternoon. They enjoyed the game but still think there's room for better, faster game. Ray, who has seen the numerous Yankee-Red Sox games, is impressed with the angle of our baseball diamonds, according to Ray, the British teams playing without turns and consequently short-handed in the event of injury to a player.

THE END OF THE DIMOUT

To the Editor of the Star:

The following letter may be of interest to your readers:

Oct. 28, 1943

To Local Blackout Officers:

The Dimout will be suspended Nov 1. We are all thankful for that.

Our forces were suddenly asked to take on an additional and unexpected duty. Without exception, the Committees on Public Safety in the cities and towns involved, and their personnel, accepted this responsibility and have met it, trying, unpopular and disagreeable as the work has often been.

We must face the possibility that the situation may change so that a dimout may again become necessary. We hope not—but we will meet that situation if it arises.

May I send, on behalf of all concerned, thanks and appreciation for the work that has been done by our organization and those who have cooperated with us.

Well Done!

J. W. Farley,
Executive Director

On behalf of Chairman Fuller and he Blackout Officers may I extend our thanks and appreciation to all those who participated in any way by their cooperation and efforts in complying with or enforcing dimout regulations in Winchester. This was a real contribution to the war effort.

James W. Blackham,
Chief Blackout Officer

OPA REGULATIONS ON FAIRS AND FOOD SALES

It is no longer possible for churches and other charitable organizations to conduct fairs and food sales in the old-fashioned manner. Any group contemplating such a fair or sale must register as a retailer with the local board, if it plans to sell any rationed food commodity. It may then receive points with which to acquire rationed foods. No commercially processed foods may be the subject of gifts by individuals. Home processed foods may be given by the producer up to 50 quarts for each member of his family unit. Points must be collected from the purchaser as follows:

(1.) For commercially processed foods, the number of points required by OPA point value schedules current at the time the sale is made.

(2.) For home processed fruits and vegetables, 8 points per quart, 1 points per pound.

(3.) For home processed jams, 6 points per pound; for home processed jellies and fruit spreads, 1 points per pound.

Following the sale, points must be surrendered to the local board with a complete report.

NOVEMBER IS "CHRISTMAS MAILING MONTH" THIS YEAR

Delivery of the annual flood of Christmas gifts and cards on time, always a serious problem, "will be more than a problem this year, it will be an impossibility, unless Christmas mailings are made largely in November."

"Transportation facilities are burdened to the limit with war materials and personnel, and the Postal service has sent more than 31,000 experienced employees into the Army and Navy." The only solution to the Christmas problem is "Mail in November. Mark your parcels, Do Not Open Until Christmas."

"It is the only way to avoid the possibility of a Christmas emergency in the transportation and postal services, if the public will co-operate by mailing their Christmas parcels during November.

"There is another reason for shopping and mailing earlier than ever before. Retail stores are short-handed. Purchasers can avoid shopping in crowded stores, long waits for service, and other inconveniences of late shopping if they buy now. They will also doubtless have a better choice of merchandise than will be available later.

SONS OF ITALY LODGE NEWS

At our monthly meeting this week action was taken on the letter from the Greater Boston United War Fund. It was voted to send them a certain sum of money.

Action was also taken on the motion to have a Christmas party this year as in past years. It was voted to have the party on the same pattern as the past few years.

The bowling teams played last week but it was a tough match on the whole, Sam Puma's team winning by 11 pins. Musky was high man bowling one string at 110.

This week it was a different story, although Sam's team won again. Sams team as a whole bowled well with a three string total of 1125 beating Chick Vespucci's Marauders by only 114 pins.

Sam's team took the first string by 71 pins but were held to a tie in the second. In the second Chick's team made a spurt which looked like they were going to make it a close game, but they let up or something. Anyway, in the third string Sam's team won by 15 pins. As the series is four out of seven Chick feels confident his team will win the next four. Sam's team says, oh yeah!

Sgt. Rugged Muraco was married in Arizona on Nov. 1. Congratulations, old man. Write us and let us know more about it.

Jumbo Marrone is in again. He says a basketball team that's a basketball team. They won their first game 1-0. He was full charge of the team on orders of his company commander. He promises us more on this team of his. Okay, Jumbo, and good luck.

We received a letter from Lt. (jg) John A. Volpe and he says, "tell Musky, Mingo and the rest of the boys to keep going on the home front, so that we will be able to return and find everything fine. I also was very pleased to read about the gathering at the club house on Columbus Day and particularly enjoyed the remarks made by Asst. Ven. Frongillo. Give my best to all the brothers."

"Thanks, Johnny, but don't make a long time elapse between letters will you, huh. And that goes for the rest of the boys and girls in the service. We at home need your letters as much as you need ours.

Nick Molea who is in the Marines was home on furlough. I didn't get a chance to see him. I hope he writes soon. Sorry I missed him. I wanted to get his real opinion of the Paratroopers.

Well boys, Willie DeMinico did it. I had heard about it, but I thought it was only a rumor. He did see Lana Turner. In his letter he also said he saw Marlene Dietrich and Bing Crosby, but Lana for him every time. His letter was enjoyed by all the members at the meeting. Keep them coming Willie old boy. How about you and your brother Al getting together and send us the details.

Has anybody seen or heard from J. B.?

WAC RECRUITING DRIVE!

An urgent appeal is being made by the United States Army, through Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, requesting the 48 Governors to conduct an "All-States WAC Recruiting Drive." The objective is to enroll 70,000 women to release that number of men for active duty. Governor Saltonstall is confident that Massachusetts will meet its quota of 3000.

There are 155 important jobs that the WACS are doing; including: radio operation, control tower work, parachute maintenance, photography, secretarial work, weather, communications, personnel and public relations.

Added to opportunities, formerly offered, is the chance to serve in the Air Forces, which has just been open to the recruits.

Very attractive booklets with illustrations, showing WACS at work have been made available for distribution to anyone interested in joining. There have been placed in the Library, the Blood Donor Center on Thompson street, the Knit Shop and Civilian Defense Headquarters.

Any Winchester girls, wishing to become a part of this intensive drive, for new recruits should apply at WAC Recruiting Headquarters, State House Boston.

The two muskrat houses in Wedge Pond have already disappeared in spite of the warning about molesting them. It is said that the skins of these animals bring about $1 each.

MRS. CARRIE E. RAMSDELL

An Appreciation

The sudden passing of Mrs. Carrie E. Ramsdell wife of Clifford C. Ramsdell, brings with it sorrow and a sense of great loss to the people of Winchester where she resided for over 50 years.

Active and enthusiastic in all her endeavors, her sunny disposition and sweet smile endeared her to all. She was beloved by her many friends and neighbors who will miss her sadly.

WATER COLORS AT LIBRARY

The Winchester Art Association is sponsoring an exhibition of water-color paintings by Adan Lasalle Ripley, Glen MacNutt and William Jewell at the Library Art Gallery this month and the show is in every way to expect a good one.

A number of pictures shown are of homely subjects, demonstrating clearly the artistic possibilities in the commonplace, especially at the hands of a finished artist.

Mr. Ripley, especially has chosen to lavish his artistry on such subjects as "Night Shift," "Roadside Market" and "Salvage for Victory," the first showing men in working clothes with dinner-kits leaving cheap frame houses to trudge down a narrow street to and the reeking, brilliantly illuminated factory in the background. One of the houses in the foreground is lighted and a woman stands on the porch in the light of the open door to see her man off.

"Roadside Market" should have an universal appeal with its baskets and boxes of fruit and produce ranged in front of a tall old house shaded by trees. The figures in this study, a woman purchaser, the farmer with his scales, a little girl with a dog, are very lifelike without being too detailed.

"Salvage for Victory" shows two men and a truck picking up junk from a snow-covered dump at the rear of several prosaic suburban dwellings. Bits of ramshackle fence add to the general run-down air which has been skillfully portrayed.

Teeming with action is "Lumber Schooner" by Mr. Ripley with its long-horemen loading long, clean planks into a schooner amidst a tangle of shipping under a typical watery summer skyline. Especially interesting is the same artist's study of Cottage Farm Bridge, painted against an aqua sky with a jumble of pleasure-craft and floats in the foreground and a train backing on its trestle under the arch.

Full of tropic warmth are Mr. Ripley's two southern scenes, one showing negro cabins and the other an open air fare. The light sifting through moss-draped trees and the deep shadows are beautifully done. In sharp contrast is "Skating, Boston Common" with its dee-gray ice and action figures against a dark background.

Mr. McNutt paints more broadly than his confreres. His "Digby, N. S." shows long docks and low red buildings at dead low tide with a steamer in the roadstead and a vague headland looming through cleverly painted fog. Very sharp and clear is "St. Mary's Bay," with its weather-beaten buildings huddling above a little walled inlet.

"The Market Place" is typical of those city scenes Mr. McNutt likes to paint and paints so well. It is full of life and color with its flaunting advertising signs and sidewalk produce stand. Characteristic of such back-country scenes is "The Crossing" with its railroad warning sign and tree-shaded whited welling.

Mr. Jewell's studies suggest skilled draftsmanship and precise drawing with no loss of the artistic approach. His small study, "The Old Dolan Place" is as fine as anything in the show, with its long rambling red-brown buildings nestling in ever-greens with dead-brown rolling land in the foreground and a bit of water in the distance under a beautifully done sky.

"Marginal Way, Ogunquit" is very striking with its twin evergreens sharply outlined from a rough-bronzy-green headland against a silvery sea and sky. "Lobster Cove" is another fine study, with its lobstermen trudging wearily past an evergreen crowned knoll.

Mr. Jewell shows two well-done marines, "Northeast Wind and Blue Sea" and "Stormy Weather" while his "Clouds Over Wayland," with its clean white church rising among trees to outline its cross-crowned steeple sharply against angry deep-gray clouds is another charming study.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

Leave of Absence Granted to Miss Lewis

Miss Gertrude Lewis, Supervisor of Elementary Education in the Winchester schools since 1937, has been granted a leave of absence for the remainder of this school year that she may accept a teaching fellowship at he Yale Graduate School of Education. Miss Lewis, besides being a competent supervisor, has been prominent in educational circles and earlier this year was in charge of the program for the North Atlantic Regional Conference of the Association for Childhood Education held at Wheelock College in Boston.

The School Department are pleased that Miss Lewis, while at Yale will be able to pursue further study for her doctorate while assisting in the Education Department. She departed for New Haven earlier this week.

Miss Esther S. Bussell, for the last three years employed as teacher of Remedial Reading in the Winchester schools, has resigned to accept the position of Elementary School Supervisor at Amherst, Mass. She will assume her new responsibilities immediately after the Thanksgiving recess.

The School Department announces the resignation of Miss Hilda Mayo, effective Nov. 15. Miss Mayo, 6th grade teacher at the Mystic School since 1936, is a past president of the Teachers' Club and has been active in many school affairs during her service here.

Miss Maxfield has accepted a teaching principalship in Lexington.

MORSE COMMISSIONED

John H. I. Morse, son of Major and Mrs. D. P. Morse of Crescent road, was a member of the 43rd class of aviation cadets to graduate from the Army Air Forces Pilot School at George Field, Ill., on Nov. 1. He received the silver wings of a flying officer and was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army Air Forces. He entered pilot training last April and attended flying school at Arcadia, Fla., and Montgomery, Ala., before enrolling at George Field.

"FREEZING" MEN FREEZES BUSINESS

A recent government ruling, says the Wolfville Acadian, "freezes" all men engaged in essential occupations unless they enlist or are called up for war service. This is a serious matter for the industrialist in as much as when a man in a job decides to join up or is called up there is no way to fill his place. Of course winning the war is the all important matter but there are many things that contribute to such an end—and aerial fighting is only one of them. The Liverpool Advance is one of those in such unfortunate position. We may have one man on the staff, the foreman is a key man in the plant, who has been with us some 14 years. This week he received his call for the army and we are not allowed to take anyone else from another plant—all men are frozen on their jobs in publishing houses. The ironic part of the whole thing is that last week we were requested by the department of labor to post a notice in our plant informing all employees that their work in this plant was ESSENTIAL TO WIN THE WAR. Pardon us if we go around in circles for a week or two.—[Liverpool, N. S. Advance.

ATTENTION—All Employers!!

GOOD HUNTING!

Winchester's Coach Henry Knowlton dined in regal style Tuesday evening on partridge and wild duck provided by his trainer Lou Goddu, who returned from a hunting trip at Kezar Pond, Me., the first of the week. Lou was accompanied by his brother, Ward, and the latter's son, Bob. They had terrible weather, but otherwise a good time. It is reported, unofficially of course that Bob was the winner of a duck calling contest in which he and his Uncle Lou were the participants. It is also reported, officially this time, that Lou's famous parka came in very handy indeed when the rain was falling briskly, which was practically all the time!

For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.
The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy will also be included in the Lesson-Sermon: The divine origin of Jesus gave him more than human power to expound the facts of creation, and demonstrate the one Mind which makes and governs man and the universe. RUSHTONS SEND GREETINGS

Rev. and Mrs. R. Mitchell Rushton, formerly of the First Baptist Church, send greetings to their many friends in Winchester.
After a glorious trip across the country, wandering through the Mermanac Caverns in Missouri, climbing into the Pueblo Indian dwellings at Sky City on a mesa in New Mexico, visiting the Petrified Forest and gazing with awe at the Grand Canyon in Arizona, they are now in Southern California.

FOURTH GLOBAL EVENING

The fourth global evening, sponsored by the women's organization of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist, 154 Cambridge street on Sunday evening, Nov. 7 at 5 o'clock.
Dr. Robert Thomas, director of Pittmann Community Center in the heart of the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Thomas is a graduate of Syracuse University and for three years was an educational missionary at Penang, Straits Settlements, before he went to Pittmann Centre, where for 17 years he was medical doctor and surgeon. For the last three years, Dr. Thomas has been director of the Community Centre in addition to his other professional work and it had prospered under his care and guidance.
Dr. Thomas brings to his audience a wealth of human interest, a consecrated service and an understanding of the needs of his mountain folk. He unfolds a story of isolation and deprivation which has held back for many years a people of intelligence and fine background and he presents the necessity for greater educational advantages and a full recreational program to raise the level both materially and spiritually of men and women who grasp so eagerly each opportunity for development.

UNITED WAR FUND

Mrs. E. George Pierce Heads Committee for Clubs

Have you seen the United War Fund 1944 motion picture showing the way in which help is given various social agencies and USO Clubs so that they may aid the needy?

Beginning way back last summer, when Mrs. Wm. Cusack as chairman, and Mrs. George Marks, as co-chairman, called the first meeting of the Women's Educational Committee of the United War Fund in Winchester, Mrs. E. George Pierce was selected as chairman of clubs and began her exhaustive work in getting in touch with all clubs and organizations in Winchester. Arrangements were made for the showing of the picture and providing for a speaker; sometimes one or the other, sometimes both.

Over 10 organizations were contacted, and the public educated in this way so that those who give will do so "Because they Care."

WINCHESTER FORTNIGHTLY

Rabbi Levi A. Olan of Temple Emanuel, Worcester, will speak on, "Steadiness in an Unsteady World" at the meeting of the Fortnightly on Monday, Nov. 8, at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall.

Rabbi Olan is a man of varied talents and interests. He has been a director and a committee member of many organizations for the betterment and uplift of society and the individual. A brilliant speaker, he has a general appeal for all types and religions.

His lecture will bring a pattern for living in a time of upheaval, a philosophy for people with shaking knees, a way of standing straight in a shaky time.

Following the program there will be an exhibition and sale of products made by the Sheltered Workshop for Rehabilitation of arrested cases of tuberculosis, sponsored by the Boston Tuberculosis Association. Proceeds from these sales go directly back to the maker of the article, just as in the sale of the blind.

The Fire Department was called at 7.16 Sunday evening to put out a brush fire on town land at Middlesex street.

WINTON CLUB TO PRESENT NEW SHOW

The Winton Club met last Monday at the home of Mrs. Edward V. French on Ledgewood road, and learned the latest reports of the club's annual money-raising event. The Winton Club show will take place on Dec. 3 and 4 in the high school auditorium, and will be an entirely professional show, with dancing and refreshments afterward in the gym. The stage entertainment will present several popular headliners from current musical shows and Boston night clubs with plenty of music, dancing and comedy, all on a high entertainment level.

The traditional amateur show, highlight of the winter season in Winchester for over 20 years, was abandoned for this war-time year with some regret, but the executive board felt that time spent in Red Cross work, Civilian Defense, Nurses Aides, etc., should not be curtailed by Winton Club members or others who might be called upon to participate. Various shortages, and so many of our local young men and women in the service of our country, combined to make it seem quite impossible to round up large committees and a talented cast as in other years, and which are indispensable to a good amateur show.

Mrs. Fulton Brown, president of the Winton Club, whose artistic contributions to past shows have been invaluable, heads the group who are making necessary arrangements. She is aided by Mrs. Frederick M. Ives, Jr., as sub-chairman; Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Wayne Thompson, Mr. Loring Nichols, Mrs. Richard Parshurst, Mrs. Burton Gove, Mrs. M. Walker Jones and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., all members of the board.

Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, with Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, heads the all-important program committee; Mrs. George A. Marks, tickets; Mrs. Sanford Petts and Mrs. Howard Morrison, boutonniers; Mrs. H. Newell Squire, refreshments; Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, decorations; Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, stage; Mrs. T. Price Wilson, dressing rooms; Mrs. Raymond Dexter, floor; Mrs. E. George Pierce, music; Mrs. Clinton Mason, hospitality; Mrs. Prescott Wild, smokers and Mrs. Irving E. Jennings, publicity.

Ticket sales are mounting daily, and these may be ordered in advance.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The sale of War Bonds and Stamps continued at the high school this week where pupils were informed that 82 per cent of their membership purchased stamps or bonds during the month of October. Ninety per cent is required before the school is eligible to fly the United States Treasury Flag. Adding the Nov. 2 sale figures of $256.10 to the $2,112.85 realized by previous sales this year, the Junior Red Cross shows that $576.05 in bonds and stamps must be sold before Dec. 7 to reach the goal of one Jeep and one ambulance.

James Ware was elected president and Gordon McGovern secretary of the Math Club at its opening meeting.

Teachers' Club bowling got away to a good start on Monday with eight teams rolling and one team waiting for next week. Team 2 Captain William Brantley took individual and team honors for the day, ably supported by Lillian Salvee with high three string total for women. Mary Dugan challenged Brantley's 105 with a score of 104.

Principal Samuel M. Graves has announced that on Monday, Dec. 6, the high school auditorium will be the scene of a Junior Town Meeting. While plans are still in the formative stage as yet, it can be said that Dr. Byron B. Williams, formerly educational adviser for the Town Meeting of the Air, will act as Moderator. Dr. Williams' appearance is assured by word from Dr. W. Linwood Chase, member of the Boston University staff.

HALLOWE'EN GENERALLY QUIET HERE

Police report one of the quietest Hallowe'ens on record this year, the local celebration very generally taking place on Saturday evening. Store windows were as usual liberally marked up with soap or candle-ends and the same treatment was accorded automobiles wherever untrivial owners had the temerity to leave them on the street.

There was one false alarm of fire, Box 144 coming in at 10.55 to take the firemen on their longest run, to the Dunster lane section at the Arlington line. There was one other run on Saturday evening, an alarm from Box 27 coming in at 8.15 for a slight fire at the home of Mrs. C. O. Mason, 25 Ridgefield road.

Heading the list of malicious mischief was that reported by a resident of Orient street who told the Police that late in the evening she answered her front door bell and when she opened the door was drenched by a stream of water from her own hose, played upon her and into the house by several large boys. The Police responded and picked up several boys on Maple road, taking them back to Orient street. The drenched woman was unable to identify any of them and they all denied having been on Orient street at all.

In the North End of town the ropes were cut and the awning knocked down at the Royal Spa on Main street and Water street, the telephone and radio wires being cut there also. A big thermometer was also found ripped from the wall of the store.

Catch-basin covers were taken off at Wildwood street and New Meadows road and a wooden garden chair stolen from a piazza on Prospect street. A topcoat and pair of gloves were stolen from a car parked on Englewood road and a Church street doctor's sign was removed and placed upon a dwelling a short way off.

On upper Main street two bed-ends were taken from the second-hand furniture establishment of M. J. Foley and suspended from a telephone pole and a bed-spring was dragged out and left across the sidewalk. The Police took care of both cases. A fence was torn down between the Goodnough residence at 788 Main street and Hambly's Garage.

Another more serious bit of mischief was the removal of "Sickness" signs from in front of a home on Main street and placing them in front of another house on Mystic avenue. A chair was smashed at a home on Richardson street, but the names of two boys said to be responsible were given the Police and restitution was arranged for.

On Vine street a woman who went to answer her door-bell was siezed by a man as she opened the door, but the latter took to his heels when she screamed and fought him off. Her husband gave chase but lost the man in the darkness and the Police were unable to locate anyone answering the description given them of the assailant.

The appearance of the Auxiliary Police on the streets very probably had much to do with keeping the more serious mischief down. These officers on duty for the most part in their own neighborhoods, knew many of the youngsters on the street and the kiddies maturally hesitated to do anything very bad, feeling that their identity might be known.

B. & M. MAKES RECORD

A new record for freight-train performance over the 186 miles between Boston and Mechanicville, N. Y. has been established by the Boston and Maine Railroad, it was announced this week.

One of the Boston and Maine's new 5400-horsepower Diesel-Electric locomotives, hauling 125 freight cars more than a mile of train), totaling 8809 actual tons, has made a non-stop run over this route, the first time in the more than 100 years' history of the road that such a feat has been possible.

The locomotive involved was the 4200-4201, one of 12 such new piece of motive power ordered by the Boston and Maine, two of which are now in service. Another of the new engines is to be delivered this year.

The new record was made on a regularly-scheduled freight train run "B-M 5". The Diesel-electric engine handled the train over the 186-mile route in six hours and 25 minutes, as compared with the usual average run with steam locomotives requiring stops for water enroute or approximately 10 hours. The average load of this train, with steam locomotives is 3000 actual tons and requires the services of "pusher" locomotives over the two steep grades on the route.

The new record by the Diesel-electric was made without any assistance by other engines, or any stops enroute.

HENS KILLED AT SYMMES CORNER

Mr. Chandler Symmes of 230 Main street reported to the Police last Friday evening that sometime during the day 11 Rhode Island red hens, four capons and seven pullets and been killed by some one or something at the henyard at his home.

Officers John Boyle and John Hanlon went to investigate and learned from several nearby householders that a dog had been seen at the Symmes place and that about that time there was quite a ruckus at the henyard.

This particular dog was alleged to have killed one of the Symmes hens on a previous occasion and the Police contacted its owner last Friday evening. According to the Police he was willing to pay for the damage done, but later was reported to have denied that his dog was responsible.

OBSERVATION POST NOTES

At the stated meeting of Winchester Post 97, American Legion on Friday night, Oct. 22, Chief Observer Stafford Rogers gave a summary of the Observation Post operation from Dec. 9, 1941 to Oct. 4, 1943.

The first point emphasized was that the work of the Post has not been discontinued. We are now operating on a part time basis but are subject to a return to full time operation on receipt of telegraphic orders. The organization is being kept on a strictly "alert" basis.

Planes recorded: 54,976.
Flights recorded: 32,948
Telephone calls put through: 21,577
Total Observers enrolled: 692
Inactive observers Oct. 4, 1943: 542
Active observers Oct. 4, 1943: 150
Hours served by individual observers; under 50 hours: 500 observers.
50 to 99 hours: 69; 100 to 199 hours; 50; 200 to 299 hours: 39; 300 to 399 hours: 10; 400 to 499 hours: 0; 500 to 599 hours: 3; over 600 hours: 2; total between 100 hours and 400 hours: 99.

While Winchester Post has had no tragedies to report the work of the observers has been interesting and of real value to our own fliers both in training and operation. Few Posts have the opportunity to realize what the Aircraft Warning Service means from their local experience, but the aggregate of the information supplied by all the Posts co-operating is the foundation of operational procedure.

That the work of Winchester Post has not been a "clique" affair is shown by the large proportion of observers who have served between 100 and 400 hours each. The loyal support given has come from all segments of the community and all for children at a Winchester home walks of life. This is but another and had refused to ride to their own indication that the present generation of America will do even the terrible, unpleasant things necessary to convicted. The police took them to perpetuate national and personal the Medford line, where the Medford freedom even as our forefathers did to establish and protect them.

Early Sunday morning Officers James Farrell and John Hanlon picked up four Somerville girls in the center who said they had been caring for children at a Winchester home and had refused to ride to their own homes with the man of the house when he returned because he was indecent things necessary to convicted. The police took them to Medford line, where the Medford Police took charge of them. One girl was 14 and the others, 15.

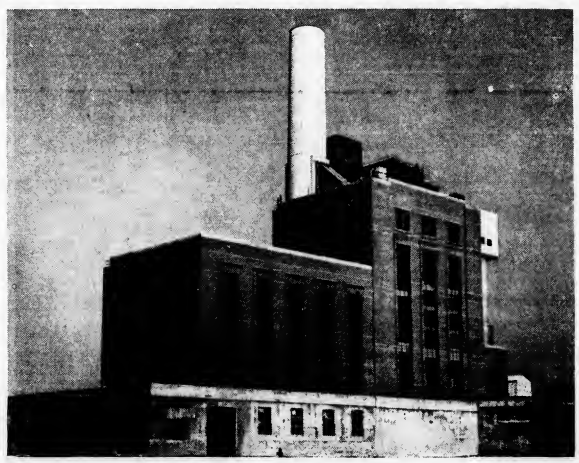
POWER FOR VICTORY

... and Thereafter



Boston Edison's new generating station at Everett. Ground broken, August 1941. Station in service, November 1943. Jackson & Moreland, Supervising Engineers. Thomas O'Connor & Co., Inc., General Contractors.

BOSTON EDISON COMPANY'S new generating station, located on the Mystic River in Everett, is now in service.

Its completion increases the generating capacity of Boston Edison Company by 50,000 Kilowatts. But it does more than that. It strengthens all New England for the job that still lies ahead — the fashioning of more weapons of war for the victory our armed forces are now winning. Greater Boston is the immediate beneficiary of this new resource, but through interconnected power lines these 50,000 Kilowatts become a regional asset as well. For electric power is vital, and all our activities on the home-front depend upon a continuous and adequate supply.

Original plans for this station were for two units aggregating 100,000 Kilowatts. Priorities for the second unit were revoked in 1942, because another part of the country needed the capacity more than New England, and these priorities have not yet been reissued. Foundations for the building and the second unit have been completed, and if clearance is received for resumption of work on the second unit, the Company will be in an even better position to meet future increases in power requirements.

Power stations cannot be built overnight. They must be planned years ahead and the planners must anticipate all kinds of conditions. The completion of the first unit at Everett is a continuation of a Boston Edison expansion policy which began in 1937 and has made available for the war-time electrical needs of this region nearly 150,000 Kilowatts of additional generating capacity. This Company's ability to meet all demands has been never too little, never too late.

COLLECTIONS STILL TO BE TABULATED

There are still some collections to be tabulated in this community for the Salvation Army Annual Appeal, before the final returns can be given.

From the last report at the final meeting of the campaign held last Tuesday at the Parker House, Boston, Winchester had a balance remaining on its quota of $2000, but there is complete confidence that when all collections are in, this town can report a victory.

Praise is well earned by the women workers, headed by Mrs. Harold Farnsworth. These women have done the team-work throughout the campaign, but some of the work has of necessity been slowed up due to the fact that many urgent home obligations had to be met and coped with along with the work for the Army.

There's still time to make this a complete victory for Winchester if all will put a final "push" of enthusiasm back the campaign and make it go over the top within the short time allotted to finishing up the drive.

If you have missed the collector when she called in your neighborhood you can still mail your donation to the campaign treasurer, Donald J. Lewis, at the Winchester Trust Co.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

"The war has made a great farmer out of me." So wrote a Britisher at sea to Mrs. William C Sache, who had tucked in a good wish and her name in the toe of the sock she had knitted. He thanked her specially for the bit of extra yarn she had put with the sock for future darning if the man who wore the hole in it could be handy a "a needle, cheery, friendly return messages like this keep in the Winchester workroom on Wednesdays the happy sense that the workers are knitting and sewing for flesh and blood folks.

How many women in your family have time to be knitting or sewing for the baby that is coming in February? Count them. Then compare with the fingers that a February baby in Britain can count on to sew or knit for him. Getting ready for "the titanic struggle facing us in 1944", in Britain two out of three persons between 14 and 64 are in the armed services or in direct work for the war.

The chances are 9 to 1 that all his aunts who might have knitted for him are in defense work. And even his grandmothers may be among the million people over 65 who are in the war effort. That's the reason Mrs. William Weeks keeps cutting out baby clothes for Britain. See them and her or Wednesdays at the Epiphany parish hall.

AMERICA HOLDS KEY TO WATER COLOR FUTURE

The November Water Color exhibit of the Winchester Art Association opened Tuesday evening, last, with Mr. Wayne Davis presiding in the absence of President Lyle Bush.

Members of the Association were carried back to the days of Grecian antiquity, up through the Renaissance into the 18th and 19th Century fruition of Water Color painting by the vivid word pictures of Mr. Richard Wright. Years of lecturing and traveling throughout Europe enabled him to discuss the great treasures of art and their locales with a personal touch that added greatly to the pleasure of his audience. He predicted that America holds the key to the future of Water Color, her contemporary artists realizing as no other nation yet has, the possibilities of this medium for creative expression.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Arthur Herrick of Arlington, and Miss Alice Mann. Assisting were Mrs. Robert Cummins, Mrs. Rowland V. Patrick, and Mrs. Llwellyn Parsons of Arlington. Mrs. Louis K. Snyder and Mrs. Charles Mann poured. The latter being responsible for the exquisite arrangement of flowering eunonymus in the turquoise pottery bowl, resting on a Russian embroidered cloth.

The exhibit will remain open to the public weekdays from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., Nov. 7 through Dec 3, in the library gallery.

INSPIRATIONAL STANZAS

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Too us poor creatures of shifting time
Hope is the greatest of spiritual forces;
Though the future is completely veiled
In our darkest hour it is Hope that sustains.

Life is one round of crushing cares
Brought on by our lack of vision
As we make effort to hasten the dawn
Or thrust profane hands across God's pattern.

Amid earth's violence, hatred, and enmity
Why not pause on the future's point of entrance
And on reverence thank our God in Heaven
For His stirring ministry of the past?

This world is overfilled with unbrotherliness
And men's hearts shamelessly untuned to goodness;
As we are so often adrift on turbulent high seas
God will help us to acquire hearts unto wisdom.

O Thou who art a good God
Help Winchester's public servants
That they be clothed with unswerving loyalty
To conscious duty to the Almighty and State.

Amos 'n Andy and Their Guest Star Jose Iturbi, Noted Pianist, Contribute Special Number for This Broadcast

WCOP Donates Time for Unusual Hour and Fifteen Minute Radio Show

A last minute change and addition to Winchester's first radio broadcast was announced yesterday by the local United War Fund Committee. Miss Bette Davis and Mr. Bowen (Sonny) Tufts, 3rd, have already contributed their time and talent to make special numbers for this broadcast.

Now, the number of famous Hollywood stars has increased by three and WCOP has provided an additional 15 minutes of time so that a special number by Amos 'n Andy and their guest star, Jose Iturbi, the noted pianist, may be included.

This Amos 'n Andy number is one of the funniest skits ever produced by this star team of performers, and Mr. Freeman F. Gosden (Amos) and Mr. Charles J. Correll (Andy) have been very generous of their time and talent in contributing this special number to the Winchester Community Fund Broadcast.

Special Greeting to Winchester

The Amos 'n Andy number, as well as those contributed by Bette Davis and "Sonny" Tufts, will be heard through the medium of special high fidelity orthacoustic recordings, made in Hollywood just for this broadcast. Amos 'n Andy have recorded a special greeting to Winchester on behalf of its 1944 United War Fund drive, which opened last Tuesday and which will come to a close with the Town Hall Broadcast.

Other entertainment on this broadcast beginning at 6:45 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 14, over WCOP, will include the Winchester High's mixed chorus of 200 voices, girl's choral ensemble, solo by Claudia Cheehan, Winchester Bell Ringers, St. Mary's Band, "Dark Town Hep Cats", George McFadden and his Vacuum Cleaner Calliope; also, last minute news flashes of the progress of our Winchester United War Fund Drive will be given during the program.

Help Winchester Win — "Give Because You Care" and remember to listen to WCOP, 1150 on your dial, 6:45 to 8 p. m. next Sunday, Nov. 14.

While he does not say much about his experiences, the four campaign stars on his service bar suggest that his year in the Southwest Pacific and two years in the Aleutian Area have not been without incident. He however, has more to say about the salmon fishing in Alaskan streams than of Jap hunting around Kiska, and beyond. He does intimate that the hunting was good.

WINCHESTER DEBUTANTES PRESENTED

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chandler Dexter of Yale street and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bours Richmond of Swan road presented their daughters, Miss Janice Dexter and Miss Priscilla Richmond, at the first debutante dance of the season last Saturday evening at the Women's Republican Club on Beacon street in Boston. The dance took place in the paneled ballroom, the debutantes and their mothers receiving in the French room where masses of yellow and white chrysanthemums and tall white tapers, flanking the white marble fireplace with its huge gilt-edged framed mirror, made a most attractive setting.

Miss Dexter and Miss Richmond wore identical frocks of traditional debutante white with bouffant tulle skirts and snug bodices trimmed with gold sequins to match the sequin clusters in their hair. Long, white gloves completed their costumes and they carried sprays of yellow butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Dexter wore a gown of soft teal blue, trimmed with silver sequins, and a corsage of rose camillias. Mrs. Richmond wore jade green crepe with an orchid corsage.

The ushers' dinner was given at the Richmond's home, "Rychemont," and was preceded by cocktails at the Dexters, where a number of their daughter's classmates as Vassar were house-guests for the week-end. VESPUCCI DOING ARMY PHYS ED WORK

Barney Vespucci, former Winchester High and Northeastern University end, is home on 15 days leave from the Army Air Base School of Applied Tactics at Orlando, Fla., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Vespucci of Florence street.

Barney has been at Orlando for four months, instructing air cadets in calesthenics and organizing soft ball and touch football games. He originally enlisted in the Air Forces but like so many more his eyes caused him to "wash out" of this branch of the service.

Barney was quite a swimmer and diver back in his high school days, serving as a lifeguard at Leonard Field Beach one season and being one of the best competitors on local swimming teams in his time.

This skill stood him in good stead, for it, plus his football and other experience in athletics at Northeastern gave him an opportunity to enroll in the Air Corps Physical Education program, and he was sent to N. C. O. School at Miami Beach, where he trained under a former Olympic swim star, along with Rocco Canale, B. C. football star; Ray Smith, all America from St. Mary's on the Coast; and such big league baseball stars as Taft Wright of the Chicago White Sox and Burgess Whitehead of the New York Giants.

From Miami Barney was sent to Orlando where he is applying what he learned at school. He likes his new field immensely and is considering continuing in Physical Education when the war is over.

WINCHESTER OFFICER RECEIVED CITATION

Lt. Arthur H. Hall, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Arthur Hall of Madison avenue west, was on Monday awarded a Presidential unit citation at the Miami sub-chaser training station where he is studying for an anti-submarine command.

Comdr. C. B. Beasley presented the service ribbon to Lt. Hall for the part he played in the saving of the U. S. S. Alchiba which was blasted by an unseen boat in the Pacific last year and successfully beached, repaired and her cargo salvaged by the unceasing efforts of her officers and men.

Berthed ashore for nine days the men fought fire and risked their lives to save the Alchiba's cargo, only to have the ship struck again by a torpedo, just as their job seemed finished. Nothing daunted the tired officers and men went to work and once more repaired the damage so that the ship was able to limp across the broad Pacific to a west coast port, there to be put in first class fighting trim again. Lt. Hall was the Alchiba's gunnery officer.

LEGION OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

Accommodations were hard to find for the big crowd of veterans who attended the annual Pre-Armistice Day banquet of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, Wednesday evening at the Post Headquarters. One of the largest attendances in years was noted and a fine banquet enjoyed.

Comdr. John J. Keefe presided at the brief exercises which opened the dinner, the veterans standing in reverent silence for a brief period in memory of their departed comrades. The Post Chaplain, Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the Unitarian Church, asked the blessing.

No formal program was attempted after the dinner, the Legionnaires and their guests enjoying a social hour with cards, billiards or pool or just talking over the old days and fighting their battles once more.

Armistice Day forenoon a detachment of Legionnaires in uniform, under Comdr. John J. Keefe, marched with their colors and color guard from their Post Headquarters to the War Memorial on the high school lot, there at the traditional hour of 11 to place a wreath at the foot of the statue in memory of their deceased comrades.

Just before the clocks chimed the hour, Comdr. Keefe received the wreath on its standard from Past Comdr. John H. McCarthy, and placed it in position beside the wreath of Aberjona Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars placed at the statue earlier in the forenoon.

As the hour struck, the Legionnaires came to salute, the Colors were dipped and Scout Bugler Francis Powers blew "taps" from the trees at the rear of the statue. This done, the Legionnaires filed left, away from the Memorial, marching back to their Headquarters along the Parkway.

WINCHESTER OFFICERS SHARED IN DESTRUCTION OF NAZI ARCTIC BASE

Winchester Coast Guard officers participated in the destruction of a secret Nazi radio and weather observation base off Greenland sometime during the late summer or early fall, it became known Wednesday afternoon, when announcement was made at the First Naval District Headquarters in Boston by Rear Admiral E. H. Smith, USCG, commander of the Greenland Naval Patrol. Secretary of the Navy Knox first announced the achievement earlier in the day.

Admiral Smith makes his home in Winchester at 5 Wildwood street. He is a 53 year old veteran of Arctic icepatrols, who in the summer of 1941, organized the United States Army Sledge Patrol, a force of Danish hunters who constantly patrol the uninhabited coast of Greenland. He is known to high-ranking Navy and Coast Guard officers as "Iceberg Smith," a nickname acquired through his years of experience in battling Arctic snow and ice.

It was members of the Admiral's Sledge Patrol who discovered the base where a small force of Germans were to observe and report on weather conditions which could control air attacks on the Western Hemisphere as well as under-water attacks on shipping. Planes of the Army Air Forces and two Coast Guard cutters, the Northland and North Star, coperated in the capture of the base. The latter consisted of radio station, power house, emergency generator and radio transmitter, separately located defensive machine gun emplacements and food caches. A small supply ship anchored in the harbor had telephone communication with all principal shore points.

Army Air Forces bombed the base in May under Col. Bernt Balchen, and the accuracy of their attacks was proven when the Coast Guard cutters arrived some time later to complete its destruction, capture any Germans still there and prevent the escape of the supply ship.

Capt. Carl G. von Paulsen, famous Coast Guard flyer, commanded the expedition carried out by the North Star and Northland. The former became hopelessly jammed in the ice for more than a month, but the North Star found favorable leads and soon got within striking range of the base. On her was Lt. Norman von Rosenvinge, now living in Hamilton, but a former well known Winchester boy and son of Mrs. Ada von Rosenvinge of Wedgemere avenue.

Lt. von Rosenvinge graduated from Winchester High School and Bowdoin College and before entering the Coast Guard was vice-consul of both Denmark and Iceland in Boston. His wife is the former Deborah Gilbert, a Winchester girl, and they have twin sons, Tycho and Christien.

UNITED WAR FUND

Mrs. Lyman Smith and Mrs. Geo. Brayley Head Schools and Churches Committees

During this past week attractive folders, vividly depicting the United War Fund's story, have been given out to the school children of Winchester. On the extra page of these folders the children are writing a story to their parents and in this way information and interest in the work and needs of the United War Fund Drive are being spread to the homes.

Mrs. Lyman Smith, as chairman of schools, has been responsible for this part of the work of the Womens' Educational Committee of the United War Fund in Winchester.

Working along in the same vein is Mrs. George Brayley who has contacted all Winchester churches and has arranged for the circulation last Sunday among its membership of the church folder issued by the United War Fund Committee. This is an inspirational bit with a prayer for guidance and strength to both those making gifts and giving aid to the needy as well as the recipients themselves.

WINCHESTER FORTNIGHTLY

Mrs. Henry A. Povelette, music chairman, announces that the subject for the third opera recital lecture by Dr. Karl Geirmger will be "Le Nozze di Figaro" by Mozart instead of the Magic Flute. This lecture will be given in the art gallery of the public library on Friday, Nov. 19, at 10:30 a. m.

At the regular Fortnightly meeting on last Monday, it was voted to contribute $50 to the United War Fund.

It was also voted that the flower collection on that day plus a sufficient amount from the philanthropy fund to total $30 be used to adopt, for the third successive year, little Jimmy Mico of England.

Twenty dollars was also appropriated for the adoption of a Chinese child for a year.

Twenty five dollars was voted to the War Relief Committee for the purchase of yarn. There is, at this time, a great call for mittens, socks, etc., for the coast guard and shore patrol. Many people who are not able to purchase the wool are very willing to do the knitting. If you would like to contribute your services in this way, Mrs. William E. Priest, committee chairman (Win. 1403) will be glad to supply the necessary yarn.

"RING AROUND ELIZABETH"

"Ring Around Elizabeth," a comedy in three acts by Charl Armstrong, directed by Alan Hay, presented last Friday and Saturday evenings by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, with the following cast:

(in order of appearance)

Laurette Carpenter Styles ..... Nell Goodwin
Mercedes ..... Virginia Oliver
Hubert Cherry ..... F. Milne Blanchard
Viola ..... Ruth M. Smith
Jennifer ..... Joanne Worthen
Elizabeth Cherry ..... Gene Knudson
Irene Oliver ..... Janet Dalrymple
Harriet Colgin ..... Edith M. Chamberlin
Ralph Cherry ..... Alan Hay
Andy Blayne ..... Raymond C. Hosbol
Policeman ..... W. Irving Platt
Dr. Hollister ..... Harold F. French

The Players chose a good show to open their 18th season and their production was such as to win the complete approval of large audiences on both nights.

"Ring Around Elizabeth" tells the story of Elizabeth Cherry, an attractive mother of a strenuous family who becomes so hemmed in by her matronly cares that her subconscious mind takes advantage of a psychosis to escape from a situation which she can no longer face.

This would be the possibility of her daughter, Jennifer, becoming seriously involved with a divorced man who wants to borrow $2000 to finance a boat trip to the Tropics. Failing heir to $1500, she makes a deal with the man to give him the $1500 on condition that he start for the Tropics, at once, without her daughter.

To complicate things Elizabeth's husband also wants the money to buy a boat and with things at an impasse the harassed wife and mother develops amnesia, forgetting all her married life and falling in turn for the divorced gentleman herself. She proposes to accompany him on his cruise until her family informs her they will not stand in her way, and then, recovering her memory, she decides she doesn't want to go, everything ending the way it should for general happiness.

The Players were fortunate to have Miss Knudson and Mr. Hay as Elizabeth and Ralph Cherry. Ordinary handling of these roles along low-comedy lines would have lowered the tone of the entire production, but theirs was no ordinary handling. Rather was their performance of strictly professional calibre, finished, vital yet never over-done.

In Miss Knudson's capable hands the unfortunate wife and mother was a very real person, even in her unreal state. So convincing was her portrayal that you continually glimpsed the conflict that underlay her cynicisms and humorous wisecracking while she was without her memory. Her performance was so sincere that she was never merely funny. You could always pity her even while laughing at her witty verbal whacking of her formerly pampered family.

Mr. Hay's skilled handling of the perplexed, outraged, terribly concerned yet withal loyal husband, meant much to the show and complimented Miss Knudson's Elizabeth perfectly. He, too, never lost his sense of proportion.

That the other actors on the stage did not suffer too much by comparison with the leads is another way of saying the show was well cast. Indeed each member made his or her contribution to the audience's pleasure. None needed any apology.

Mrs. Dalrymple's playing of Irene Oliver, the career woman, was of a very high order, deft and done with a clear understanding of the character's place in the show. Dr. Blanchard was very amusing as the obstinate fire-loving Hubert Cherry, and Mrs. Goodwin as the dosing grandmother, Mrs. Smith as the allergic-to-eggs cook and Mrs. Chamberlin as the busybody social leader added their bit to the humor of the show. Mr. Hosbrol was an engaging and thoroughly consistent Andy Blayne, the personable villain of the show.

Miss Worthen's Jennifer Cherry was especially well done. Not only was her stage presence striking, but she spoke her lines effectively with a pleasing voice which she inflected skillfully. Her performance was well-rounded and her handling of her final scene with her mother, very sincere. She was especially funny as she struggled with the family grocery order.

Miss Olivier was also effective as the psychologically-versed, career-bound younger sister, Mercedes, portraying well her varying moods and being especially good in her finale with Irene. Mr. French was a thoroughly professional Dr. Hollister, while Mr. Platt evinced his growing histrionic versatility by playing this time a rightfully embarassed-appearing policeman instead of a butler, or chauffeur.

The single set for the show was very attractive and the details of production handled with the usual Little Theatre efficiency. It is too bad that people being seated marred the opening of each scene and caused many to lose the opening lines.

NEEDLE-WORK GUILD

War-time conditions necessitated giving up the National Convention in Philadelphia this year and the Greater Boston annual meeting at the Copley Plaza Hotel with luncheon, speakers and exhibit was also omitted.

Local branches, for this reason, are concentrating to make their own fall meetings especially successful. Winchester's Guild is no exception, as was shown on Wednesday, Nov. 3, when about 40 members and friends met at the Congregational Church for their business meeting, exhibit and distribution of articles.

The resignation of Mrs. J. Albert Hersey was accepted with sincere regret, and with deep appreciation of her many years of devoted service as secretary. Miss Helen A. Hall was chosen to fill this vacancy, other executives remaining in office. Five hundred and sixty articles had been contributed, varying from tiny baby things, through school age children, to their elders, beside sheets, towels and warm blankets and comforters.

All these will go with a message of cheer to those who need them most. The wise distribution is entrusted to our nurses and welfare workers.

A new agency of help was added to our list this year, and the Red Cross, Home Service Department, gratefully accepted a share of good things to be held for emergency.

A brighter, happier Thanksgiving will come to many homes because of the continuing co-operation and generosity of N. W. G. members.

GAS IS VITAL WAR MATERIAL USE IT WISELY

WAR PRODUCTION PLANTS need gas — lots of it to help turn steel into guns, planes, bullets, bombs and other war materials. Uncle Sam's call for gas is doubling and tripling.

Under normal conditions, we could obtain steel and other material to enlarge our gas supply and meet all demands. Today, this cannot be done. That's why we are asking you to help us keep gas flowing to war plants by using gas wisely and avoiding waste.

Here's How You Can Help!

1 Adjust burners so flame is blue (not yellow). Cook vegetables in small amounts of water to save vitamins and gas. Roast at low temperatures.

2 Heat no more water than necessary. Repair leaky faucets. Insulate hot water tanks and pipes.

3 Avoid heating your kitchen with your gas range oven or top burners. This is especially important on cold days.

4 Keep room temperatures at about 65°. Close off unused rooms. Install storm windows and weather stripping.

When you conserve fuel vital to war plants, you hasten Victory.

WINCHESTER 13—WAKEFIELD 6

Long Runs by DiMambro and Tibaudo Beat Burly Foe

Winchester got by Wakefield last Saturday afternoon, winning 13-6 at Walton Field, Wakefield, for its sixth straight victory. The game was hard-fought and Winchester's victory richly deserved for Coach Knowlton's boys were playing one of the biggest teams a local club has faced since the Maynard behomoths of 1938.

Winchester returned victorious, but its numerous supporters had many an anxious moment right up to the final minute of play when Jim Tibaudo intercepted a Wakefield pass at his 33 to make the local victory really sure. Wakefield's lumbering Juggernaut was always dangerous from sheer man-power and the locals failure to make their extra point good after their second touchdown made it possible for Wakefield to eke out a tie.

The game was officiated very poorly and and as usual Winchester suffered the most from the officials failure to call rule infractions easily apparent from the sidelines. On Wakefield's touchdown march there was one occasion when the big Blue and Red was clearly offside on a play that made seven yards and set up a critical first down on the locals 29. Later in the game when Winchester was threatening the whole left side of Wakefield's line was offside on a play that stopped Tibaudo dead, yet no penalty was called, nor was Wakefield set back on another play that meant a first down, despite the fact that at least two men were in motion right in front of the official's eyes.

The going was pretty rugged in spots, the big Wakefield boys giving the smaller local players quite a grieving over, but aside from Charlie Lovejoy getting his wind knocked out, no Winchester player was injured. Better officiating however could have kept play on a much higher level.

Wakefield made 14 first downs to Winchester's 8, but the locals had the rushing edge, 276 to 194. Wakefield completed three of 8 passes for 30 yards and a touchdown while Winchester made one of six aerials good for only three yards. Wakefield fumbled twice and Winchester, once, the home team losing 10 yards in penalties and the locals, none.

George Roberto ran the Winchester kick-off back to his 32 and Wakefield on sheer power bulled its way to the Winchester 25 where the locals held for downs.

Following his interference nicely, Roche made a first down at the 43. Then on a reverse, Winchester shook "Rat" DiMambro loose out to the left and the little speed-merchant, aided by a nice Walsh block, reached the sideline and scampered 57 yards to score standing up, outlegging the Wakefield safety man with ease. Walsh's try for the extra point was barely good, but it was good and for a long time it looked like that point might mean the ball game.

George Roberto again ran the kick-off back to his 32 and this time Wakefield went all the way. Pelletier picked up 4 and Barsanti made first down at the 44. On a double reverse, A. Roberto went to another first down on the Winchester 40, Barsanti added two and A. Roberto, seven, this last being the play on which there was a very apparent Wakefield offside. The officials missed it and George Roberto got through for a first down at the 29 as the quarter ended.

Here Winchester braced and there were 8 yards to go on fourth down when Bartnick passed to Sparks who dragged Roche far enough to make a first down at the 14. This was the payoff, for after G. Roberto was stopped for a yard loss, and Barsanti picked up five, Bartnick ran out to his left and threw a low fast pass to George Roberto in the flat, the latter making a nice completion and scampering over. Getting a bad pass from center, A. Roberto was snowed under attempting to rush for the extra point when it was impossible to kick.

Midway through the quarter little Tony Saraco brought the crowd to its feet when he legged it after receiving a lateral from Sam Tibaudo from his own 25 to the Wakefield 26. The locals were stopped short of a first down and again just before the half Sam Tibaudo just failed to reach Di-Mambro with a pass as the latter waited behind the Wakefield safety man on the 8 yard line. The half ended with Winchester in possession on the Wakefield 9.

Neither team got anywhere in the hard-fought third quarter and the last period was half gone when Winchester took the ball on downs at its 34. Sam Tibaudo hit the line for three and then broke through inside his own left tackle to cut back sharply and fight his way past two Wakefield secondaries.

Once in the clear Saunny lengthened out and sprinted the 53 long yards for that all-important touchdown, DiMambro showing the Wakefield safety by cleverly zig-zagging in front of him instead of risking a block.

Tibaudo got a bad pass back from center on the conversion and the ball was not held straight, Walsh missing the kick.

George Roberto brought cold shivers to the Winchester stands as he raced out with the kickoff to his 45, nearly getting away completely. George Roberto and Pelletier made it first down at Winchester's 40, but here Jim Tibaudo made a nice leaping intereception of a pass at his 33 to give Winchester the ball with less than two minutes left.

Sam Tibaudo in three tries made first down at the 46 and Saraco made another at the Wakefield 43. It was a perfect setup for a reverse and Di-Mambro could very likely have scored on the play as the Wakefield boys were very tired, but a lateral was called and stopped dead as the final whistle blew. TEELE AND McLAUGHLIN

Royal "Paper Trade" Teele, doughty president of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, was delirious with joy during nearly all of last week-end's regular meeting as he and "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nahnasset, handed out "the works" to all and sundry while winning six games and dropping only two.

Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, and the luckless Secretary, succeeded in taking a game each in the two series they dropped to the champs, and might have won both matches had it not been for Mr. McLaughlin's sterling pitching. The Pride of Stowe had another of his good days and seldom it was that at least one of his shoes wasn't on the pin each time he tossed. Anytime that the Scrivener and Mr. Butters succeeded in successfully collaborating to boost their score above the mediocre, Mr. McLaughlin would throw a double-header, blasting their bid almost before it was made.

All this made Mr. Teele very happy indeed, but in his own right he had little about which to enthuse. As Mr. Butters so aptly put it he rode right on "Willie's" back all the time.

Perhaps this statement was just a bit hard on the perennial champion of the Boston Paper Trade, for there were several times when Royal threw doubles in his own right, and those times were always most damnably inopportune for the opposition. Mr. Teele did his best as he always does, but even his best friends and staunchest backers would have to admit that his best was for the most part rather elementary.

Mr. Butters was bothered considerably by his inability to clutch the new Teele shoes in just the right place to make them open properly, and the Secretary was handicapped by a cut thumb, which is mentioned merely for local color and not as an excuse. He needs no excuse for mediocre pitching. When he needs a reason is when he happens to be doing all right.

The Champs other victims were Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner and Johnny Cullen, remaining member of the Cullen Bros. team. Johnny, rusty from a long layoff, threw a double in his second box, but thereafter was unexceptional. Mr. Gardner's submarine shoe was less cussed than sometimes so that the Champs really had little about which to worry in this match.

Howard "Foul Line" Wattet failed to show up for the meeting, being busy perhaps with a new consignment of blueberry bushes. The members had looked forward to watching his success with his new "floater" shoe and generally regretted his failure to attend. Roland "Thin Finger" Pitkin was still vocationally engaged and Henry "Tiffany" Knowlton was prevented from attending by the necessity for ministering to the contusions and abrasions sustained by his football charges in their victorious invasion of Wakefield the day previous.

In our opening sentence we said that Mr. Teele's joy spread over nearly all of the session. This statement was made advisedly for there was a fly in the Teele ointment, sweet-scented though that salve for the most part was in fact.

At the conclusion of the second match which he and Mr. McLaughlin took from Mr. Butters and the Secretary, partners were changed and the Association's officers took on the Champions of Nahnasset and Maine with disasterous results. What hurt the most was the fact that the Champs were on the ropes when the unhappy Secretary failed to cover a Butterfinger, thereby dropping the single-game match, 25-24!

LEGION NOTES

The next regular meeting of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, will be held at Post Headquarters on Washington street Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock. A sports night program has been arranged, featuring a couch of national reputation, and a good time is assured. The attendance at the last Post meeting was the best in a long time but Comdr. John J. Keefe was not entirely satisfied and believes that more Legionnaires will want to attend meetings regularly once they realize that no effort is being spared to make them worth while.

The Post's drive for new members is progressing satisfactorily with 13 new Legionnaires already in the fold. A $25 Defense Bond is being given to the member who brings in the greatest number of new membrs over five. Already James Francis Noonan, Harold A. Batten, James M. Burke, Shepard Pond, Paul B. Briggs, Conrad W. Grad, Frederick J. Donahue and H. Christian Yerger have been elected to membership.

John J. Keefe, John H. McCarthy, and Charles B. Watson have been elected as delegates, and P. T. Foley, Kenneth S. Hall and Carleton D. Smith, alternate delegates to the Middlesex County Council and State Conventions.

The Auxiliary's harvest bridge and whist, held on Oct. 25 was reported to be a success in every way, reflecting credit upon Mrs. Eleanor Donaghey and her committee members. The new card tables, recently secured by Martin Foley, were used at the party and favorably commented upon. Mrs. Marion B. Arreil is the new "Auxie" president.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

The Christmas party committee held its first meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 9 at 8:30 p. m. The party will be held on the same pattern as other years, which consists of movies, games, candy and ice cream. The committee is as follows: Vincent Puopolo, chairman; Joseph DiIoro, treasurer; Anthony Ficociello, secretary; A. P. Tofuri, F. Dattilo, F. Reego, A. Derro, A. Giliberti, Sr., C. Frongillo, V. Ficociello, V. Gigliotte, F. Muraco and S. Casalinuova.

Ralph DelGrasso, better known as "Nigger" who saw action in the South Pacific area with many other boys from Winchester has been home for a short period of time. He is at present hospitalized at the Chelsea Naval Hospital. He has had a tough time of it and we take this opportunity to extend to him best wishes from us and all you boys in the service.

Jumbo Marrone sent us a letter and a card. His basketball team is in high and he says it can take on any team in the country. He also is waiting to hear from Deadhorse. How about it Chesty?

Al Subrizio, alias Dead-Eye Dick is home on furlough. He says its some war and he is playing nursemaid to three soft drink machines machines and a couple of pool tables. He is aching to get a head on a bunch of Japs or Nazis. His unique method of keeping order in the "rec" hall is to threaten the boys with singing Pagliacci. Naturally the boys behave and who wouldn't.

Sam Puma is afraid that Chicks Marauders will win the next four bowling matches, so he has taken a night job. That will give him an out if his team loses, say Chick Vespucci. We shall see.

During the course of the above-mentioned Christmas party meeting, the usual serenity and business like atmosphere of the meeting was interrupted by the arrival of Lt. (jg) John A. Volpe. After greeting his many friends present, he managed to get in a few words. We were glad to learn that Capt. A. L. Maietta has been transferred to Camp Pickett about 110 miles from Camp Peary, in Virginia where John is. Being stationed close together, they naturally arranged a meeting during the course of which just about all of us brothers were mentioned. They chewed the fat well into the night as they hadn't seen each other since Dec had been transferred to the Pacific Coast. Due to the necessity of being back in Camp Peary at a definitely specified time, Johnny says he thinks he may have broken some regulations which the State of Virginia has in regards to the speed at which a motor driven vehicle should travel. Johnny and Dec were pleased that the Lodge celebrated Columbus Day and were pleased with the speech made by C. Frongillo.

That's all for this week boys, so send some letters.

MAN AND WOMAN STRUCK ON UPPER MAIN STREET

Robert G. Hoff, 50, of 54 Water street and Rose Johnson, 36, of 32 Hemingway street, were struck and painfully injured shortly before 12:30 last Saturday morning as they were crossing Main street in front of the old Hutchinson factory building near Sheridan circle north.

Sgt. James P. Donaghey and Officer James Flaherty went to investigate the accident and found the injured persons had been taken to the Choate Hospital in Woburn.

At the hospital Sgt. Donaghey found Walter R. Olsen of 19 Clark street who said he was driving the automobile that struck Mr. Hoff and Miss Johnson and had taken them to the hospital where they were treated by a Woburn physician. Hoff sustained lacerations to his left leg and a cut forehead. Miss Johnson sustained injuries to both legs and was badly cut about the face.

Mr. Olsen said he was driving south at the time of the accident, that it was raining hard and that the visibility was bad.

BELMONT HERE TOMORROW

Winchester and Belmont High Schools play their annual football game tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Shore road athletic field. The time has been set back from the usual November 2 o'clock to give many war-workers a chance to attend.

The Belmont game is always one of Winchester's best, and this year should be no exception. Belmont hasn't been too successful, it is true, but it always has a big team and it can be depended upon to force Winchester to the limit. No one who saw last year's Winchester-Belmont killer-diller will want to miss the repeat performance.

Coach Knowlton expects to have Fran Lambiase, big guard, back for Belmont and with the rugged and aggressive Charlie Lovejoy now available, the center of the local line should be much harder to dent. It is also possible that Jim Milliacci, experienced tailbacks and Frank Faietta, sturdy end, will be "up" for Belmont, adding to Winchester's strength.

It is not likely that any of these boys will start tomorrow, for Coach Knowlton has been getting good results from his regulars who have borne the brunt of the season's campaigning. Having them available, however will be a big help, both tomorrow and looking ahead, on Thanksgiving.

Pvt. Jacob L. Chitel, son of Philip Chitel, local tailor, is located at Kessler Field, Miss. Air Corps, Class 225.

EASTERN MIDDLESEX HARVARD CLUB

Harvard under today's wartime conditions was the subject of the opening meeting of the Harvard Club of Eastern Middlesex, which took place on Nov. 4. The meeting was held at the Winchester Country Club, and was preceded by dinner and an informal get-together.

Speaker of the evening was Col. John K. Howard, Harvard, '15, and now commandant of the Army groups at Harvard. Col. Howard gave an interesting discussion not only of his present duties at Harvard but also of his previous Government assignments in working out ways of safeguarding our internal economy from enemy action.

About 50 Harvard alumni and former students were present to hear Col. Howard and to see the motion picture on "Harvard at War", which rounded out the evening's program. Plans are now being made for a second meeting, in December, at which it is hoped that Prof. Salvemini of Harvard, world-famous authority on Italian history and present-day Italian affairs, may be the speaker.

Winchester is well represented in this year's list of club officers, with Arthur S. Harris of 4 Hillside avenue, secretary-treasurer; A. Russell Ellis of 9 Madison avenue, vice president; Frederic E. Abbe of 189 Mystic Valley Parkway, representative-at-large; and Carlisle W. Burton of 9 Fellsdale close, ex-officiis as ex-president.

Pfc. John M. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. William Harris of Stevenstreet, has completed training and has been graduated from the school of the Army Air Forces Training Command at Chanute Field, Ill., where he received instruction in the propeller specialist's course and in various technical operations vital to the maintenance of the countrys fighting planes.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Laymen's Sunday will be observed at the Unitarian Church in Winchester on Sunday with the entire morning service to be conducted under the auspices of the Men's Club of the church. The public is cordially invited.

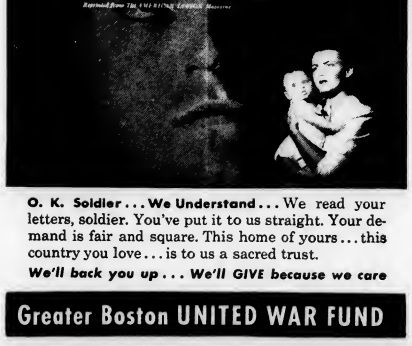
Mr. Theodore C. Brown of Calumet road, attorney, prominent in all the activities of the Unitarian Church where he is a member of the standing committee as well as a leader in the Men's Club, is to preach on the sermon. He has chosen, "The Challenge to the Liberal Church" as the title for his discourse and all who know Mr. Brown's breadth of view and his intellectual concept of the problems of today's liberal Christianity anticipate that he will have something to say both stimulating and constructive.

The Men's Club is fortunate to have been able to solace Mr. Brown to accept the sermon assignment and it is believed that he will speak to a capacity audience as Laymens' Sunday is always a popular occasion.

Other's who will participate in conducting the usual services of worship are the officers of the Club.

Don R. Kroell, president of the Men's Club, will lead the devotional services and the responsive reading; Edward G. Stacy, secretary, the call to prayer and the prayer; Arnold E. Nichols, vice president, the scripture lesson for the day; Raymond C. Terhune, treasurer, the offertory prayer and the benediction. The services will commence as usual at 11 a. m.

Last Sunday afternoon Police Headquarters received word that several boys were trying to ride the pigs at the old Russell farm on lower Main street. Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy took a trip to the farm and found six Medford boys on the second floor of one of the farm buildings. He lectured them about the wrongs of trespassing and sent them back to Medford.



O. K. Soldier... We Understand... We read your letters, soldier. You've put it to us straight. Your demand is fair and square. This home of yours... this country you love... is to us a sacred trust.

We'll back you up... We'll GIVE because we care

Attention is called to the Winchester High School Athletic Association's advertisement of the Winchester-Belmont football game appearing on the theatre page of this week's Star. It is hoped that many who have not been attending the school's games regularly will be prompted by the advertisement to go. The Star sincerely hopes so, not alone because the High School A. A. needs much more adult support than it has been getting lately, but because we believe that many who have not been attending football games regularly, will be surprised and pleased at the brand of football the Winchester boys are playing. Winchester High School football players are soundly and skillfully coached, sanely handled with a view to their physical well being and intelligently directed, both on and off the field. Of the 37 football games Winchester has played since Henry Knowlton became coach in 1940, his team has won 29, tied two more and lost only six. Last year Winchester was one of the few unbeaten, untied teams left at the end of the season, winning the Eastern Massachusetts Class C Championship. This year, after dropping its first two games to strong teams, Winchester has won six straight with a team woefully lacking in experience and weight. In view of such a record don't you think you owe it to the boys and their coach to see at least the last two games of this season; tomorrow's game with Belmont and the Thanksgiving Day classic with Woburn. Next to Woburn, Belmont has been about as keen a rival as Winchester has had. During the days of the Middlesex League, Winchester and Belmont habitually fought it out for the circuit championship and since the league's demise each team has liked especially to win from the other. Both play the same type of good, clean football and have teams that are a credit to their schools. So tomorrow, why not give the radio a pass for a change and take in the Winchester-Belmont game, right at home, on the Shore road field. Perhaps you've never seen the Shore road field. If you haven't, you ought to. Be that as it may, come on to the game, tomorrow and Thanksgiving. You'll be glad you did.

THE COMMUNITY FUND

To the Editor of the Star:

An increasing number of the thoughtful participants in the current United War Fund campaign, both from the Boston and Winchester organizations, are beginning to envision such an institution as the Community Fund not as a hastily erected edifice constructed to meet a transient emergency, but as a permanent and integral part of the purposed democratic society which we continue to strive to perfect. Such a fund, the work which we give to it, and the contribution which the fund renders to the public welfare has come to be widely recognized as an essential bulwark between fundamental social security and national catastrophy. Without it, the long arm of social unrest may be expected to reach into the home and write unpleasantries upon the intimate dairy.

In view of these unescapable realities, it is very gratifying to find that both the Boston and Winchester organizations have adopted a policy which invites the solicitor first, to make friends for the fund; second, to accept nothing with a smile, but to make sure that the prospect knows more about the fund before the door is closed.

The dire necessity for generous contribution from all has become this year something which lends itself with consummate ease to the graphic delineation of what every single dollar can mean in terms of human life, physical well-being, and the restoration of faith in the humanistic concern of man for man. No corporation, school, church, or individual can hold the head high without hearty and generous indorsement of the United War Fund providing such principles comprise the premise upon which it stands. Neither can such organizations, nor the fund itself, afford to sanction the gift without the spirit. To do so is to impinge upon the stuff of which democracy can be made. The money will alleviate the pain of the present, but the spirit is what will save America.

Sincerely yours,
Lyle K. Bush

MYSTIC MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION FATHERS' NIGHT

The Mystic Mothers' Association is most happy to announce that their guest speaker for next Friday night, Nov. 19, will be Prof. Albert Adam Schaefer, whose subject is, "Mystic Mothers and M. M. Day."

Professor Schaefer is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School and after many years of practicing law in Boston, is now Professor of Government Law at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

We are indeed fortunate in having so distinguished a guest, and those who know him say that he will give us a very interesting and entertaining evening.

A large committee, under the able direction of Mrs. Maurice Freeman and Mrs. Theodore Chilcott, will serve sandwiches and coffee in the kindergarten after the address and the teachers will be glad to greet the parents in their respective rooms.

BOY SCOUTS AND THE UNITED WAR FUND

There apparently has been some doubt in the minds of many people as to whether the Boy Scouts are among the organizations which will receive financial support from the United War Fund.

The Boy Scouts have received such support in the past and will receive it again during the coming year. Because of this participation, the Boy Scouts are not permitted, as an organization, to carry on any separate drive of their own for the solicitation of funds. It is hoped that this may be one of the reasons why you will want to contribute as generously as you can to the United War Fund.

The Boy Scouts, because of their youth, have not been asked to serve as solicitors for the War Fund but practically all Scouters (adult leaders or advisers) are active as solicitors or are serving in other capacities in the War Fund Drive.

You will be interested in viewing the Boy Scout display in the window of the Economy Grocery, which has been designed and installed under the supervision of Mr. Fred Cole.

CUB PACK 6

The monthly Pack meeting of Cub Pack 6 held Friday night at the Unitarian Church was featured by the entrance of seven new cubs into the pack.

The following boys, namely, Robert Trout, Richard Hussey, Norman Mackenzie, Richard Drohan, Edward Drohan, Thomas Drohan, and Richard Phippen were welcomed by Cubmaster Chapman and members of the Cub committee.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Pvt. Lane McGovern, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McGovern of Everett avenue, has been transferred by the Army from Fort Knox, Ky. to Camp Polk, Shreveport, La. where he is attached to Company B of the 742 Tank Battalion, APO, 403-A, c-o Postmaster, Shreveport, La. He is the former high school tennis and basketball player.

A 19 year old Winchester boy was taken into custody by Officer Henry Dempsey on the holiday afternoon, charged with assault and battery on William A. Holmes of 18 Winn street, Woburn, proprietor of the bowling alleys in the Locatelli Building. According to the Police the youth was forbidden by Holmes to play pool because he was under age. He was sent out of the alleys by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy, but later returned and got into an altercation with Holmes, who had two teeth knocked out and was otherwise marked up. The youth will appear in court this morning.

TROOP 9 BIRTHDAY

Recently Troop 9, under the leadership of Mrs. Donald W. True and Mrs. Harvey Macaulay had a Hallowe'en party to celebrate the birthday of Juliet Low, founder of Girl Scouts. It was also the troop's seventh birthday. The tenderfoot scouts cooked a delicious dinner consisting of scalloped macaroni and frankfurts and a green salad. For dessert we had a yummy angel cake with chocolate frosting. Every girl who paid her registration dues could place a lighted candle on the cake. Every girl put a candle on the cake. There was also a birthday cake for the troop's birthday. The second class scouts made very pretty Hallowe'en favors. It was a delightful Hallowe'en and birthday party.

H. S. GRADS ELIGIBLE FOR NAVY AIR CADET TRAINING

Capt. C. H. J. Keppler, USN, director of Officer Procurement and Aviation Cadet Selection for the 1st Naval District, announced today that 17-year old graduates of high school, as well as high school seniors who graduates on or before March 1, 1944 are eligible for the present enlarged Naval Aviation Cadet training program.

"We wish to correct the erroneous impression that high school graduates cannot enlist in our program for 17 year-olds. In recent months many young graduates have successfully passed the Navy's aviation aptitude tests at 150 Causeway street and have been selected to study and train for flying officer commissions as Ensigns in the Navy or 2nd lieutenants in the Marine Corps," said Capt. Keppler.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Knitters will find a new head in charge of yarn at the Wednesday workroom, Mrs. Francis T. Maloze. Her telephone at home, Win. 0551-J.

Yarn reminds of the Caledonian market, which makes the dollars that buy the yarn. It's goods to sell are given by friends of war relief.

At the other extreme from trinkets is this other thing for which you are asked to hunt, sheets, pillow cases or blankets that are beyond mending. The soft old cotton Mrs. Lindstrom converts into hospital squares. The useable parts of blankets or of worn-out bath robes will interline the little crib blankets, for which Mrs. Fletcher conjures the outside from tiny scraps of wool or outing flannel and which Mrs. Weeks puts together.

WINCHESTER STATE GUARD NEWS

Congratulations to Lt. Col. Harold V. Farnsworth of Winchester on his promotion from Major and being given command of Region 5, North-Massachusetts State Guard.

We thought for a moment that several members of the Winchester State Guard Company had all become fathers for the first time, but on checking we find that far away look in their eyes is the result of receiving preliminary notice from their Draft Board.

The Winchester State Guard Company extends to any man, about to be inducted, an invitation to attend its weekly drills held every Wednesday evening in the Town Hall and receive basic instructions before reporting to camp. The company is still looking for a dozen men between 18 and 50 years of age who are interested in serving in this fine State Guard unit.

This company also has room for three 17 year old men.

Being a resident of Winchester this reporter naturally felt quite proud while watching the Armistice Day parade in Boston to see the Winchester Company so well represented in column with the other State Guard units. Dressed in their well fitted forest-green uniforms, sturdy looking shot guns, and with regulation Army packs on their backs these men looked just what they are, well trained civilian soldiers.

If you are over 17 years of age and under 50 years of age, are not a member of any military organization you will receive a cordial welcome if you drop in on this State Guard Company any Wednesday evening.

PATRIOTIC WINDOW AT HEVEY'S

The Legion Servicemen's Committee has an interesting and attractive window on display at Hevey's Pharmacy, commemorating the 25th anniversary of Armistice Day, first observed Nov. 11, 1918, at 11 a. m.

Former Comdr. Reveley H. B. Smith, chairman of the committee, arranged the window which shows one, two, three, four and five star service flags, each with a long ribbon leading to a card on which appears the number of such flags in Winchester. It is of interest that the Legion has given out 647 one star flags, 170 two star flags, 36 with three stars, 10 with four stars and five with five stars. Each star indicates a member of a family serving in the Armed Forces.

On a white placque in letters of gold appear the names of those for whom Gold Star Flags have been given. They are Edmund L. Dunn, Jr., Herbert W. Callanan, Jacob Waldo Bond, John T. Halligan, William E. Martin and William C. Morrill. Sample copies of the certificates presented parents and the little booklet, "Fall In" presented each serviceman as he leaves town also are shown.

Besides these the floor of the window is nearly covered with letters representative of the 206 or mor received by the Post from boys in service asking that service flags be presented to their parents.

Miss Virginia T. McPartland has returned from a two weeks trip to New York. While there she was guest of Mrs. Henry Hull of New York City.

NO MORE PERSONALITY THAN A ROBOT!

You can't expect a mere card in an out-of-town office file to have much of a personality. The facts are stated—"John Smith—wife and three children—7 room house—etc." but if John's check is held up by mail or if he absent-mindedly carries it around in his coat for a couple of days, the card states John Smith is too slow in payment. The account reputation will be lowered because the out-of-town office does not know John Smith personally

Why not enjoy the advantages of financial dealings with local folks who have a friendly interest in you? Come in and let's talk this home loan business over. We can re-finance that out-of-town or hard to handle mortgage in terms to fit your budget

Mortals and Immortals is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, Nov. 14, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. and in all of its branches.

The Golden Text is from Romans 8:13, If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. Other citations from the Bible will include The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage (Psalms 16:5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, The conceptions of mortal, erring thought must give way to the ideal of all that is perfect and eternal. Through many generations human beliefs will be attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being (p. 260).

6-YEAR OLD WARREN BRYANT, JR., ENJOYS HIS STAY IN THE CHILDREN'S WARD OF THE WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

When Bob Keller, the United War Fund photographer, went through the Winchester Hospital recently he took the above picture of 6-year old Warren Bryant, Jr. Warren had his appendix removed during his stay in the hospital, but he found the whole episode very interesting and pleasant. In fact, his mother, said that her son had no fear of the hospital at all and thought it a very wonderful place. Certainly, he was happily enjoying the big children's scrap book when this picture was taken.

Each year our Winchester Hospital has established new records of service to citizens of this and surrounding communities. For the year ending, April 1, 1943, 2746 patients were admitted, of these, 852 were surgical, 684 obstetrical, 527 medical and 98 were fracture cases. Throughout the year the average number of patients per day was 74 and each patient spent an average of almost 10 days in the hospital.

In the past year, 1645 operations were performed at the Winchester Hospital. The X-ray Department served 1972 patients and the Laboratory Department completed 15,457 laboratory examinations and 780 pathological tests.

Red Feather Drive Aids Hospital

While statistics give us some idea of the scope of our hospital's operation, they can never express the great service that this institution is doing for human needs in the community. Warren Bryant's case is one example, and this young patient is now back on his feet and very happy about his whole experience.

The Winchester Hospital is a member agency of the United War Fund. Its Red Feather Drive is now in progress and the funds which our hospital obtains from this source enable it to furnish free service to patients who are unable to provide for themselves. Also, the United War Fund contributions help reduce the cost of hospital service to all its patients.

The directors of the Winchester Hospital for the 1943-44 fiscal year are as follows: President, Edward H. Kenerson; Vice President, Harry C. Sanborn; Secretary, William J. Speers, Jr., Treasurer, Charles E. Greene; Finance Committee, Francis A. Barrett, chairman; Leon F. Sargent, Norman L. Cushman; Nursing Committee, Chairman, Miss V. Pauline Hayden, Mrs. Paul B. Elliott, Mrs. Harlow Russell; House and Grounds Committee, Chairman, Mrs. William L. Davis; Mrs. Lafayette R. Chamberlin, Miss Constance Lane; Directors at Large, Mrs. Gilbert H. Tapley, Henry E. Worcester; Honorary member of the board, Mrs. James W. Russell; Trustees: Chairman Lafayette R. Chamberlin, Hazen H. Ayer, Robert W. MacArthur; Nominating Committee for 1943-44: Chairman Theodore von Rosenvinge, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Mrs. Richard Purkhurst, Frederick B. Craven and Clarence P. Wherf.

Our Winchester Hospital is one of the seven Winchester member agencies of the Winchester War Fund. The other six are:
Society St. Vincent de Paul
District Nursing Association
Home for Aged People
Boy Scouts
Girl Scouts
Social Service Council of Winchester

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

On the far side of a knoll exposed to enemy guns in the Solomons, one of Pfc. Rondell Lyons' comrades was wounded. Marine Private Lyons brought him in. Another man was hit. Lyons brought him, too, to safety. The injured men were thirsty. But all canteens were empty, and the Japs had the only water hole covered. Lyons went out in the face of continuous Jap fire and brought back water for his comrades. For this he wears the Silver Star. He risked his life for his fellows. The least we can do is buy more War Bonds for them.

RED CROSS AND COMMUNITY WAR FUND SEPARATE DRIVES

In answer to various inquiries with respect to the opening of the National War Fund Campaign, the following statement was made by Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the American Red Cross: "The American Red Cross and the National and Community War Funds carry on separate drives and independent activities, but they supplement each other and are united in the will to serve. In accordance with the decision of the President's War Relief Control Board, the Red Cross will conduct its 1944 War Fund next March, while the National War Fund Campaign is being held this month. The Red Cross wishes the National War Fund leaders every success in their appeal."

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY WINS AIR MEDAL

Staff Sgt. Edwin F. Carr, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Carr of 3 Bay State road, Worcester, formerly of Winchester, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for activity in the South Pacific battle area, having had 50 separate missions.

Charles "Chuck" Carr, a 1939 graduate of Winchester High School and former athlete at Winchester High School and Holy Cross, is a Marine pilot now in the Pacific area.

MORE DRESSINGS NEEDED

Despite the fact that the Winchester Red Cross Chapter made 55,436 surgical dressings during the month of October, this total must be substantially increased to meet the anticipated demand during the coming winter months. All who can aid in this vital work should volunteer at once.

One of the meanest bits of malicious mischief the Star has heard about of late was that of the unknown party who slashed the rear tire and tube of a boy's bicycle last Friday afternoon while the owner was attending a dancing class at the town hall. Both the tire and tube were destroyed.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army" which successfully stormed city after city in its original stage version, comes to the screen of the University for one week starting Sunday.

The picture will be a happy invasion of the hearts of America by its stalwart and talented sons in the service. The screen version for Army Emergency Relief uses all 350 of the original cast plus heavyweight champion Sgt. Joe Louis. Hollywood is richly represented by, among others, George Murphy, Joan Leslie, Lt. Ronald Reagan, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Charles Butterworth and Una Merkel. Radio's great star, Kate Smith, sings the beloved hymn, "God Bless America" which she introduced to the nation over the air waves. Frances Langford puts over the new Berlin number "What Does He Look Like" while Gertrude Niesen sings some of the composer's World War I tunes. A screen story was built around the show, linking together the generations of the two world wars and giving the production a plot interest which the stage version lacked.

The latest March of Time, "Europe's Crossroads," "Scenic Oregon," a Fitzpatrick travel, and other short subjects complete the program.

NEW THEATRE TRAIN

A 10-minute earlier schedule of the week-day "theater train" to Boston is one of the many changes shown in the winter schedules of the Boston and Maine Railroad has been made public. The new schedules become effective next Sunday, Nov. 14, and time tables will be available for public distribution at ticket offices on Friday.

The schedules of many of the local trains have been changed from one to 15 minutes, the new time tables show, to make them conform to the necessities of war-time operation. The railroad's announcement urged that "all railroad patrons secure a new time table and check the times of the trains which they usually use with the new schedules in order that they may not miss their trains or miss connections when the new times go into effect next Sunday."

Under its new schedule, the "theater train" will arrive at the North Station on week days at 7.50 p. m., 10 minutes earlier than at present. The changes are being made, according to the railroad's announcement "in response to requests for an earlier arrival to give time to reach uptown theaters."

Under its new schedule it will leave Winchester at 7.32 p. m. and Wedgemere at 7.34 p. m.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Lecture on Glassmaking

The regular fall meeting of the Winchester Historical Society was held in the Winchester Public Library Thursday, Nov. 4, with about 40 members present.

Miss Clara Russell, the president, presided and after hearing reports from the secretary, treasurer and gifts committee, spoke on the restoration of the Saugus Iron Works House which dates back to 1646 and produced the first saw mills, fire engines, etc. About two years ago Henry Ford tried to buy the property with the idea of moving it to Dearborn, Mich., but the people of the town, and the State, and other societies, of which this is one, have been able to raise sufficient money so that it is hoped the property can be financed and kept here.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. Charles H. Watkins was then introduced by Miss Russell who gave a most enjoyable lecture on Glassmaking, with lantern slides showing pictures of exteriors and interiors of the early glass plants in East Cambridge and Sandwich and of many glass vases lamps and tableware which proved to be very interesting.

Mrs. Watkins described in detail the methods used by the craftsmen who came over here from England and Germany to operate these plants and showed how they endeavored to make very fine tableware and that practically all glass blowing up to 1800 was done by foreign born craftsmen.

The first glass house was in Salem another followed in Jamestown in 1620 and in 1750 men organized a plant in Quincy. In 1793 a successful plant was organized in Essex street, Boston, which ran for 25 years. This was followed by a plant on First street, South Boston.

In 1818 the New England Glass Co. was incorporated, Mrs. Watkins said, and ran till 1888. The superintendent of this plant endeavored to make the finest glass but at about this time he saw the possibilities of making money with quantity production instead of quality and started the use of mechanical methods. This created such a turmoil that his life was threatened.

The Cambridge plant devoted their work to quality production whereas the Sandwich plant strived for quantity production. At about this time Mr. Libby and sons came from Scotland to the New England Glass Co. but after a few years were bothered by strikes so much that he went to Ohio and started what is now the Libby Owens Co., famous glass works.

Mrs. Watkins had many pieces of her collection on exhibition at the lecture and all present were much interested in her description of how the different colored and engraved glass was made and the amount of actual gold used in those days for coloring the glass.

The general comment of those present indicated the lecture was very much enjoyed by everyone.

WOBURN HERE THANKSGIVING

Winchester and Woburn High Schools face each other Thanksgiving morning at the Shore road athletic field in what promises to be another of those close, hard-fought battles that have usually come up when these two old rivals meet. The game will start at 10:15 a. m., but even with the extra seats that will be available you won't sit if you aren't on hand well in advance of that time.

Neither team carries a clean slate into this year's game. Woburn has won only two of its nine games, tieing another. Winchester has lost two and tied one in nine starts, a better record but made against weaker teams on the average than the Tanners have faced.

Followers of both teams won't worry about the other games if this Turkey Day classic is chalked up in the victory column. A win over Winchester will make Woburn's dismal season a glorious success while local critics will also forget and forgive if Winchester takes the Tanners next Thursday.

On the basis of comparative scores Winchester should be the favorite, if you have to have one. The locals beat Stoneham, 27-7, and Reading, 14-6, while Woburn could do no better than tie Reading, 14-14 and just got by Stoneham, 7-6. Against Wakefield, the other school both teams faced, Winchester won, 13-6, and Woburn 13-7.

The Star has seen pre-game dope upset so many times that any Winchester-Woburn game is strictly an even-money proposition with us. That goes for this year. Woburn has played some strong teams. Only Swampscott in Winchester's list is comparable to teams like Saugus, Nashua, Winthrop, Melrose and Watertown on Woburn's scehdule. What the local boys' record would be against such teams Saturday after Saturday is of course only conjectural.

If the Woburn weights are right, Winchester has an eight pound advantage in the starting lineups, averaging 145 to 137 for the Tanners. Winchester is not a big team and if Woburn is really eight pounds on the average smaller, it will be one of the smallest clubs the locals have met this year. Hmm!

Before you sell any Defense Bonds to wager on either team just remember that since 1925 Winchester has won seven games, Woburn 6, and five have been ties. Winchester has scored 128 points in that time to Woburn's 76, but most of that extra is in the 1937 game which Winchester won 46-0. Go back to 1920 or 1921 and a 41-0 Woburn victory would pretty much square the count. Of course if you can get any of those big odds Woburn is reported to be offering, that's a horse of another color. We personally can't see how the Woburn supporters can figure their team an odds-on favorite.

Your reporter's guess is another close, hard game with the breaks and the condition of the field having plenty to say about the ultimate victor.

Following are the season's records of the teams:

Woburn's Season's Record

Saugus 20	Woburn 0
Nashua, N. H. 38	Woburn 7
Winthrop 29	Woburn 0
Wakefield 7	Woburn 13
Reading 14	Woburn 14
Melrose 25	Woburn 0
Stoneham 6	Woburn 7
Watertown 7	Woburn 6
Fitchburg 20	Woburn 0

Winchester's Season's Record

Winchester 6	Framingham 12
Winchester 6	Swampscott 26
Winchester 26	Lexington 6
Winchester 30	Danvers 0
Winchester 26	Punchard 0

Winchester 14	Reading 6
Winchester 13	Wakefield 6
Winchester 7	Belmont 7

LT. SMITH KILLED IN ACTION

Flier Husband of Eleanor Greene

Mrs. W. Winslow Smith (Eleanor Greene), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene of 329 Highland avenue, was notified last Saturday that her husband, a first lieutenant, in the United States Army Air Forces, had been killed in action on Oct. 10, during the Allied raid of Munster in Germany.

Lt. Smith was a veteran of 18 missions and the holder of the Air Medal. He was the first pilot of a Flying Fortress based in England, having gone overseas from Salina, Kansas, about the 12th of last July. He married Miss Greene Dec. 19, 1942, in the chapel of the United States Army Air Base at Smyrna, Tenn., the chaplain, Lt. George Hartman officiating. For a time after their marriage Lt. and Mrs. Smith made their home in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Lt. Smith was the son of Herbert W., and May (Chapman) Smith, now residents of Chicago. He was born 25 years ago in Orange, N. J., prepared for college at Fieldston School in New York City and entered Harvard with the class of 1942. He entered the Army in January of 1942 as a senior, but continued with his college studies and received his degree from Harvard in February, 1943.

Lt. Smith trained at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.; Hawthorne Field, Orangeburg, S. C.; Shaw Field, Sumpter, S. C.; and at Turner Field, Albany, Ga., where he was commissioned Dec. 13 1942, shortly before his marriage. He was stationed at Smyrna, Tenn.; Ephrata Air Base, Washington State; Geiger Field, Spokane; and at the Air Base at Great Falls, Montana, before going overseas from Salina, Kansas.

Besides his wife and parents, Lt. Smith leaves two sisters, Mrs. William Brister of Washington, D. C., and Miss Abbie Smith, an occupational therapist at present located in Maryland; also a brother, Pfc. Harden Smith, in Army Specialized Training at St. Louis, Mo.

NICHOLS WINS REDUCTION IN COLLECTORS' BONDS

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols has been notified by the Towner Rating Bureau of New York, the agency fixing the rate for Collectors' bonds for the entire United States, that as a result of his efforts the Bureau is authorizing a reduction in the rate for such bonds from $10 to $7.50. This reduction will result in a saving to $125.00 per year to both Winchester and Woburn and a saving of $25,000 to the State of Massachusetts.

Mr. Nichols has been at work on the proposed reduction for some time, having long believed that the rates for Collectors' bonds was too high. He is by no means satisfied with the reduction allowed and will continue to work for a further reduction at least equal to the one just obtained.

Tax Commissioner Henry Long expressed himself as delighted with the reduction and is notifying Collectors and Treasurers of it throughout the state. Mr. Nichols also received yesterday a letter of personal congratulations from Governor Saltonstall in which the State's chief executive also expressed his gratification over the saving afforded.

MISS GRISWOLD, LT. RIVINIUS ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Myron G. Griswold of Brooklyn, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie Estelle, to Lt George A. Rivinius, jr., USNR, son of Mrs. George A. Rivinius of Main street and the late Mr. Rivinius.

Miss Griswold is a member of the class of 1944 at Mt. Holyoke College.

Lt. Rivinius attended Cornell University where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity and following his graduation from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1939, he was employed by the Loring Coes Co. manufacturers, of Worcester. He received his commission as Ensign in the United States Naval Reserve, at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., in May, 1941.

Mr. Addison G. Brooks of Gloucester, District Governor of the 196th District, Rotary International, was the guest and speaker at the regular meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club yesterday noon. He gave the members a most interesting talk, inspiring alike to both Rotarians and guests.

The Club enjoyed a full meeting and the satisfactory information of its important rise in attendance percentage in the district. There were several guests in attendance.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Tonight the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church is to have approximately 115 boys as its guests for a chicken pie supper. The club has planned this as part of a Fathers and Sons Night program designed to bring men belonging to the Unitarian Church, or interested in the club's work, into contact with boys by way of contributing to a greater understanding of their needs. It is safe to predict that tonight's entertainment will long be remembered by hosts and guests alike, especially as it is to be topped tomorrow by an event that will ice the cake for all the boys, old and young impartially, for tomorrow they will all attend the big Harvard-Boston College football game at the Harvard Stadium.

This two day program has been worked up by a committee of the Men's Club headed by Raymond C. Terhune and Arnold E. Nichols. All the boys at tonight's supper and tomorrow's football game will be either sons of club members or boys belonging to one of the three Scout organizations that utilize the Unitarian Church as headquarters. These are the Sea Scouts of Ship 6, of which Louis E. Goddu is the Skipper; and the Scout Cubs of Troop 6 and Pack 6, of both of which Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman is the scoutmaster.

Tonight's entertainment will be in Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church and will include group singing for which Kenneth Kimball of Melrose has been engaged as a musical special. There is to be a clever magician and movies of Winchester High School football games; also talks by Coach Henry Knowlton and Capt. Ken Harvey of the high school team. However, the headline feature of the evening is likely to prove to be the presence as the club's guest speaker of Lt. Jerry McArdle now of the United States Navy, but formerly known to football fans for his work as assistant to Frank Leahy, coach of the Boston College football squad. Lt. McArdle was once a player at Notre Dame and afterwards was assistant coach there before coming to Boston College. He is a good speaker and will doubtless have plenty with which to thrill the kids in preparation for their expert scrutiny of tomorrow's great game.

The members of the Men's Club and their youthful guests are to gather at the Unitarian Church at 1 p. m. tomorrow in order to go to the Stadium as one big party where they will occupy a special block of reserved seats. It is expected that nearly 250 will make up the party. The Men's Club has also been able to make arrangements to have the entire Winchester High School football squad, and almost 100 high school boys admitted free to the game to act as Stadium ushers under the supervision of Coach Knowlton.

He was piloting a plane which was lost in the battle of Santa Cruz.

"In accordance with Section 5 of Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, your son's death is presumed to have occurred on 27 October 1943, which is the day following the expiration of an absence of 12 months.

"I extend to you my sincere sympathy in your great loss and hope you may find comfort in the knowledge that your son gave his life for his country upholding the highest traditions of the Navy. The Navy shares in your sense of bereavement and feels the loss of his services."

Sincerely yours,
(signed) Frank Knox
Secretary of the Navy

Rufus Campion (Bim) Clark was born in Winchester on April 25, 1921, the son of Esther Cutting Clark and the late Rufus C. Clark, who lost his life in an accident in 1928. He attended the Winchester schools, graduating from the high school in 1938. At Bowdoin College, he was a member of the class of 1942, and of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity. In April, 1941, he left college to enlist in the Naval Air Corps, receiving his training at Squantum, and at Jacksonville and Miami, Fla., where he was awarded his wings and his commission as an Ensign in March 1942. Subsequently he was in Winchester on furlough for three weeks. The following May he was at Pearl Harbor and soon became a member of Torpedo Squadron Six based on the USS Hornet. As a member of this squadron he took part in many attacks against the enemy, and in October became a lieutenant (jg).

For his work during the battle of Santa Cruz, the Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, sent to Mrs Clark, in her son's behalf, the Silver Star Medal, "for conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity under fire."

Besides his mother, Lt. Clark is survived by his sister Lee, (Mrs. Harris H. Gilman, jr.,) his brother Neal, now at Sanford, Fla., in training to become a Naval Aviator, by his young step-brother, and step-sister, Robert Jr. and Johanna, and his grandmother, Mrs. Rufus L. GEORGE E. HAGGERTY

George E. Haggerty of 15 Engleside road, a Boston security trader, died Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13, at the Winchester Hospital. He had been ill since the previous Monday.

Mr. Haggerty was the son of the late John and Mary (Daley) Haggerty. He was born Aug. 24, 1907, in Andover and spent his early life there attending the Andover schools and graduating from Pinehard High School in that town, later attending Northeastern University.

At the age of 19 Mr. Haggerty entered the employ of Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis in Boston, with which firm he remained until his death. He was a member of the Boston Security Traders Association, and was an air raid warden in Winchester's Civilian Defense organization.

On June 30, 1930, Mr. Haggerty married Mary Sullivan of Canton, and in January of 1936 they came to make their home in Winchester. Mrs. Haggerty survives with four children, John 12, George, Jr., 9, Betty Ann 6, and Paul 3. A sister, Mrs. M. A. Hamilton of Boston, and a brother, Timothy S. Haggerty of Andover, also survive.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with high mass of requiem at St. Mary's church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The annual Union Thanksgiving service of the Churches of Winchester will be held this year on Sunday evening, Nov. 26, at the Church of the Epiphany, commencing at 7.45.

Pastors of the various churches will participate in the service and the preacher will be Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The public is cordially invited to attend.

REQUIEM MASS FOR SGT. HAGGERTY

A requiem high mass was celebrated Wednesday morning at the Immaculate Conception Church by the pastor, Rev. Fr. James F. Fitzsimons, for Staff Sgt. Charles F. Haggerty, Jr., of 1034 Main street, who was killed in action in the Asiatic theatre of war on Sept. 25. He was first reported as missing, but last week his death was officially confirmed by the War Department. He was a member of the United States Army Air Forces.

Sgt. Haggerty was the son of Charles F. and Mary E. (Flaherty) Haggerty. He was born in Winchester April 1, 1920, and educated in the local schools, graduating from Winchester High School with the class of 1939.

Sgt. Haggerty had been in the service for three years with a record of 14 months in combat areas, including participation in many raids as a gunner and bombardier. Not long before his death he was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravery while serving as tail gunner in an invading airplane during the Tunisian campaign.

Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Arthur, serving with the Marines, and a sister, Evelyn.

SUNDAY EVENING SONG SERVICE

The second in a series of Sunday Evening Song Services was held at the First Baptist Church last Sunday evening with an attendance of 104. This was an increase of 22 per cent over the first service and distinctly shows that there is a need for this type of service in the Town of Winchester. It consisted of a 20 minute song fest, two excellent letters read by Mr. H. O. Sunborn from his son "Bob" who is stationed at Camp Campbell, Ky., and a short message by Lt. W. D. Turkington, Chaplain, U. S. Army.

This service is being attended by friends of all denominations and is a community project sponsored by the Everyman's Class of the First Baptist Church.

Anyone in town who has an interesting letter from a service man is cordially invited to bring it to be read at the meeting. Next Sunday night, Nov. 21, the service will be in charge of the "Fetter Family" a group of college students who will be guests of the church for the week-end. The men of this class are conducting a song service at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street, Sunday at 7:30 p.m. for the benefit of the family who are confined to the home.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

At a recent meeting of the Winchester School Committee authority to organize hockey and indoor track squads was granted. The indoor track team will use the facilities of the Boston Y. M. C. A. board track.

Organization of an ice hockey team presents the problem of providing regular practice, which, it is hoped, may be solved by an outdoor playing surface, possibly supplemented by sessions on an indoor rink. Enthusiastic youngsters have been holding a series of conferences with Principal Samuel Graves and Physical Education Director Knowlton in an attempt to pave the way for a successful season. John D. Stevens of the W. H. S. faculty, has been appointed coach of ice hockey. Prior to joining the local faculty he had coached the Bellows Falls, Vt., pucksters.

The School Department congratulates the pupils and teachers of the Mystic School for being the first entitled to fly the Minute Man Flag during November. Over 90 per cent of the Mystic School pupils bought at least one tencent War Savings Stamp during the month of October.

Eighty per cent of all pupils in the schools of Winchester purchased at least one stamp during the month of October to swell the total receipts since September to $5,538.00.

The Red and Black, high school publication, announces the completion of the drive there three weeks ahead of schedule. Since September pupils and teachers there have purchased $2918.70 in bonds and stamps, the equivalent of one jeep and one ambulance. Their jeep toured Winchester last Saturday, driven by WAC Cpl. Mai Smith.

Although this drive has ended, sale will continue weekly so that a Minute Man Flag may fly over the high school in December.

The Red and Black announces the approaching Junior Town Meeting as follows: Monday, Dec. 6, at 1:15, the junior and senior classes of Winchester High School will report to the assembly hall where a Junior Town Meeting, the first of its kind in the school' history, will be conducted.

"Mr. Byron Williams, former educational director of the American Town Meeting of the Air, will act as moderator.

"The program will consist of five student speakers who will speak for 5 minutes each on topics to be announced soon.

"Arrangements for the program will be handled through the cooperation of the English and Social Studies Departments.

"At the conclusion of the speeches members of the audience will be invited to join in the discussion during the question and answer period."

ANNUAL WINTON CLUB SHOW

Winchester Hospital to Benefit

The Winton Club, whose monthly sewing meetings are held at the members' homes, has had but one purpose since its founding in 1911; to provide all the linen used at the Winchester Hospital. This is successfully accomplished by the energetic women of the club, who plan many months ahead with the hospital authorities for their linen requirements. The money for this is raised annually by the production of a show, this year to be given on Dec. 3 and 4 in the high school auditorium, with refreshments and dancing in the gym after the show.

It is always a social event to be anticipated with pleasure, for many dinner parties precede the performance which is amusing and gay. This year the amateur entertainment was given up, due to many shortages and in its place will be a snappy professional revue.

Mrs. Fulton Brown, president of the Winton Club, who, with Mrs. Frederick M. Ives, Jr. and members of the executive board, are taking charge, promises a good show, which includes a pair of peppy tap dancers whose performances have thrilled audiences in New York and Boston night clubs; a roller skating team that is tops; several comedy numbers and some excellent soloists, plus a beautiful dancing chorus. All in all, a fine variety of fun and entertainment that should please the adult audiences as well as the many young people who will crowd the balconies each night.

As always there will be a fine program, which has been in the making for several months under the capable leadership of Mrs. E. Craig Greiner. Others on her committee who have been hard at work collecting ads include Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, sub-chairman, Mrs. Robert G. Abbott, Mrs. Paul Avery, Mrs. Christopher Billman, Mrs. Walter Birnie, Mrs. Horace Butler, Mrs. James Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Carl Eaton, Mrs. Charles Emerson, Mrs. Charles Farnsworth, Mrs. Loring Gleason, Mrs. Warren Goddu, Mrs. Merton Grush, Mrs. Robert Holmes, Mrs. Herbert Kelley, Mrs. Alexander S. MacDonald, Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, Mrs. Howard Morrison, Mrs. Stephen B. Neiley, Mrs. Ellsworth Nichols, Mrs. Frederick Ritchie, Mrs. Ben Schneider, Mrs. Ellsworth Snow, Mrs. Chandler Symmes and Mrs. Harry N. Squires, Jr.

Handling the ticket sale is Mrs. George A. Marks. Assisting her are Mrs. Robert G. Abbott, Mrs. Richard J. Clark, Mrs. James F. Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Charles N. Eaton, Mrs. Harold Farnsworth, Mrs. Edward V. French, Mrs. Tozer W Harmer, Mrs. John H. Joy, Mrs. James McCormick, Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, Jr., Mrs. William Mitchell, Mrs. Geoffrey Neiley, Mrs. Kenneth Moffatt, Mrs. E. George Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Clifford Roberts, Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney and Mrs. W. Campbell Ross.

TO HELP BUILD 'EM FASTER AND BETTER USE GAS WISELY!

The same gas that cooks your breakfast bacon is vital war material needed to help turn steel into precision parts for guns, tanks, planes, ships, shells — in fact, nearly every weapon we need to win this war. As production skyrockets, the use of gas in war plants is doubling and tripling.

Normally, we get tobacco and other materials to enlarge our gas supply and meet all requirements. Today, this is impossible. We must supply the increasing amounts of gas needed for homes and war plants with our present facilities. Will you help by using gas wisely and avoiding waste?

Our booklet, "Keep 'Em Working and Conserve Gas" will help you avoid waste of gas and make your appliances last longer.

WINCHESTER 7—BELMONT 7

Spirited Visitors Twice Stall Locals in Second Half

Winchester and Belmont High Schools battled to a 7-7 stalemate last Saturday afternoon at the Shore road athletic field, the local boys having all the better of the game, but being unable to score again after their first touchdown which came soon after the opening whistle.

Winchester had all the better of the statistics, making 13 first downs and rushing for 225 yards while Belmont made seven first downs and 169 yards on the ground. The locals completed 5 of 10 passes for 60 more yards while Belmont failed to complete either pass try. Winchester fumbled twice, recovering once, and was not penalized. Belmont fumbled once and lost one five yarder for offside. Except for the time it scored, Belmont wasn't inside midfield the entire first half, and got no further than the Winchester 39 in the second. Winchester lost the ball on downs on the Belmont 1, on the 20 and finally on the 10.

Shea ran Walsh's kickoff back to his 25, and Belmont made a first down at the 37 before kicking to Winchester's 18. On first down Sam Tibaudo broke through and lateraled out to the left to Saraco. Tony played it nicely, sucking in the wingback before lateraling to DiMambro, "Rat" hotfooting it along the sidelines to the Belmont 30 where the Belmont safety man got him as he tried to cut away from the touchline on the slippery turf.

Tibaudo broke through inside tackle for 9, but Saraco slipped and fell for a four yard loss on an off-tackle try. Tibaudo lateraled out to Saraco for a first down at the 6. Sammy hucked to the 3 in two tries, but a reverse was thrown for a yard loss and on fourth down a lateral to DiMambro just missed a touchdown in the left coffin corner, Belmont taking over on its 1.

Elliott kicked out to Saraco who got back to the Belmont 21. A lateral was piled up for no gain, but Tibaudo hit the line for three and then passed to Walsh for a first down at the Belmont 2. In two smashes inside tackle Tibaudo drove over and Walsh kicked the goal at placement.

Soon after the start of the second quarter Belmont fumbled and Lovejoy recovered for Winchester at the Belmont 39. Milliacci was dropped for a yard loss and a long pass down the center from Tibaudo to DiMambro just failed to connect for what would have been a touchdown.

On third down Winchester tried a lateral. Sam Tibaudo was hit hard as he attempted to throw the ball and the resulting fumble was recovered by Belmont at its 45.

From that point the visitors drove to first downs at the Winchester 33 and 22. Elliott bulled through for seven and then Kelley hit Winchester's right tackle. He found no hole, so rolling around his own left end all alone he legged it for the corner of the field. Jim Tibaudo had committed himself too quickly on the play and was blocked inside while DiMambro, after starting toward the play, couldn't change direction quickly enough to head off the runner who went over standing up. Kelley also kicked the goal at placement.

The rest of the game was all Winchester. Jim Tibaudo ran the kickoff to his 31 and two pretty passes from Sam to Jim Tibaudo made first downs at the Belmont 19 and 25. With half time almost there Sam Tibaudo tossed off a pretty pass which brother Jim pulled down but failed to boll on the Belmont 10 with better than even chance for a touchdown. Again Sammy faded and again shot off a pretty pass which DiMambro muffed cleanly on the 2 yard line behind the Belmont wingback.

On third down Tibaudo started off tackle behind nice interference but with a huge hole to go through Sammy's feet slipped out from under him and he fell flat at the line of scrimmage. On fourth down a pass from Tibaudo to Walsh was complete but good for only five yards and it was Belmont's ball at the 20.

After half time Winchester started at its 46 and drove to the Belmont 14, putting together three first downs. A shovel pass failed to gain, Tibaudo got two at tackle and then passed to Walsh who had three men in front of him and only one Belmont man to stop the play. Not a single Winchester blocker even brushed the man and "Sarto" was spilled for a two yard loss on a potential touchdown play. Another pass fell incomplete in the end zone and it was Belmont's ball again.

Winchester's last chance came with about three minutes to play when Belmont kicked Winchester back to its 20. Roche broke off right tackle and cut back into the clear, only to fall with no one near him and a clean path to the Belmont goal.

He did make a first down on the play at Winchester's 32 and Tibaudo broke through for another at the Belmont 33. Roche hit off tackle again for a third at the Belmont 21 and Tibaudo in two bucks made a fourth at the 11 yard stripe.

Here Roche lost a yard on a sweep, and Sammy after losing his footing was snowed under for a five yard deficit. On a reverse DiMambro, instead of cutting inside the one man who had a chance to stop him ran straight out and was tackled for a two yard loss, and on fourth down Tibaudo, trying to run on what looked like an intended pass play got back to the 10 yard line where Belmont took over.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

The usual quiet of the Corbi house hold was shattered Monday morning by a ring of the phone bell. Imagine their surprise when the voice on the other end said, "Hello this is Frankie. I'm in California." You fellows out there who can't imagine the thrill of hearing those words can certainly imag ine what it means to be able to say them. Let's hope you are able to experience it at an early date. Frankie is in the States after 22 months in the Pacific theatre of war.

The Russo brothers, Charlie and Jimmy were both home. Jimmy has received a medical discharge and his brother was home on furlough from Illinois.

The bicycle riding soldier was not home this week. It's just as well because if he had been we would have been forced to mention his name and that wouldn't be right because Johnny doesn't want any publicity. Therefore due to a special request from Cpl. Benenato we will refrain from mentioning him. However, we shall continue to note the weeks he isn't home.

Jumbo Marrano writes as follows:

Well we won No. 2 Wednesday. A very hard game and well played 19-14 was the final score. Boy its getting tough playing good teams but mine are always better. I'll be knowing a lot about running any kind of a team when I get back home. Therefore the club better get hot because Jumbo means business in having a club team. How about putting in my bid now as manager. Hope Winchester beats Woburn to make us all happy.

Thanks Jumbo, and I am quite sure the job is as good as yours.

A letter from Gay is the usual request for news and more news. Anybody writing to Gay can be assured of a quick response.

Rugged sure does things up brown. The latest report is that he has taken his bride of a few weeks to Mexico on a honeymoon. He also received quite a shock in seeing himself described in print as a married man. If present plans go through he expects to bring his bride to Winchester over the Christmas holidays.

Pfc. Podgoro Iannacci sends regards to all the boys, from his post in England. His brother Pfc. Carol Iannacci is in the Italian theatre of war. He hopes to be able to renew acquaintances made during his visit to Italy as a boy.

There are some of you fellows to whom the Xmas party for the children is of particular interest. To you I want to report that plans are going forward to have the party following the same pattern as other years. Thats just another way of proving to you fellows that we are trying to carry on, so that upon your return you will find that the way of life you are fighting to preserve will not be changed. This party, in spite of the alleged hardships of the times, is still close to our hearts. It shall be its usual huge success.

BLACKS 21—WHITES 19

In a hard fought battle that turned out to be a pretty good football game the Black team defeated he Whites, 21-19 Monday afternoon on Manchester Field to win the intramural championship of Winchester High School. The victory gave the Blacks the series five games to four, they taking the last four games in a row.

The Blacks scored first when Jimmy Haggerty was dropped behind his own goal line for a safety after recovering a bad pass on a fake kick play. Haggerty put the Whites out in front when he scored on an 11 yard off tackle slant and cutback.

Haggerty scored again before half time on a pretty 30 yard run and the Blacks came back with a touchdown when Herlihy blocked a Haggerty punt, Riga recovering in the White's end zone.

Facing a deficit of 12-8, the Blacks scored twice in the second half, once on a pretty 30 yard pass from "Mizzy" Milliacci to "Spider" Latham and again on a six yard end run by Milliacci. Milliacci passed to Nolan for the extra point.

Haggerty passed to Joe Errico for the final White touchdown, the aerial covering 30 yards. Haggerty also plunged for the extra point. "Red" Hannon capitalized the Blacks in the playoff game and Parker Flagg, the Whites. The summary:

SCORED WINNING TOUCHDOWN

"Rem" Clark, Jr., son of Mrs. Marion Reynolds Clark of Everett avenue made the winning touchdown for Governor Dummer Academy in its final game with Tabor Academy last Saturday, Dummer won, 13-6. "Rem" has played regular right halfback for Dummer this season and has scored in several previous games.

We suppose that it won't be long now. At least the first ice of the season was reported on Wedge early Monday morning.

TOWN HALL THRONGED FOR POLICEMAN'S BALL

The town hall was taxed to its fullest capacity Tuesday evening for the concert and ball of the Winchester Police Relief Association, familiarly known as the "Policeman's Ball."

Well before the starting hour there were few seats available, special places being reserved at the front of the hall for the Board of Selectmen and other dignitaries. Members of "the finest" in tuxedos with white carnation boutonnaires served as ushers.

Seven excellent acts of vaudeville were presented during the concert program by White Entertainments, Inc., of Boston with K. M. White in personal charge. The show was one of the best presented at the town hall in years and was thoroughly enjoyed by the most appreciative audience who recalled the willing troupers again and again.

Arthur Fields was a personable master of ceremonies whose brief but witty introductions were much appreciated. The Charlotte Knowlton Trio, featuring a talented young Xylophonist of some 10 or 12 years, got the show away to a good start. Accompanied a guitar and string bass, this young lady really did things with her instrument, playing both classical and popular selections in a finished manner.

Lee and Burt Bryan, brothers with four sons in the service, kept the audience laughing with comic songs and cross talk, while shapely Shirley Lavalle, recently signed for a long run at Radio City, New York, was breathtaking in an unusually clever balancing act which closed with Shirley bending backward from 18 inch pedestal above a built up platform to grasp while blindfolded a glass of water placed mid-way between the pedestals, drinking the water as she returned to normal standing position.

Charles and Barbara, a half pint boy and girlie offered rapid-fire dancing and chatter with clowning and impersonations of movie stars.

Gamage and Wiedermann appeared in vocal selections well above the usual level for such shows, singing "Song of Love" from Blossom Time, "Love Me" from the Vagabond King and the ever popular "Sweethearts" from Maytime. Mr Gamage, a resident of Winchester and recent soloist at the Florence Crittenon Circle here, displayed a well trained tenor voice of wide range and pleasing quality. Besides singing with Miss Wiedermann he sang "Machushla" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," the latter being enthusiastically received.

Miss Wiedermann has a beautiful soprano voice which she uses artistically. She was chosen by Dr. Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and a distinguished committee from among 500 candidates to sing at the Berkshire Music Festival. Her solo number was the lilting "Italian Street Song" from Naughty Marietta.

Queenie and Grace brought the bill to a close and also brought down the house with their singing and Queenie's very funny clowning and dancing. Grace, a statuesque girl, played both the accordian and bag-pipes as well as contributing a well done tap number.

The entire company appeared for the finale, singing "Till We Meet Again" and The Star Spangled Banner," the audience joining in the National Anthem.

After the concert the hall was cleared and dancing enjoyed until 1 o'clock, music being furnished by Michael Green and his orchestra, who also played for the show.

Lt. Edward W. O'Connell was president of the ball committee with Sgt. Joseph J. Devers as treasurer. Chief William H. Rogers, Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey and Patrolman James E. Flaherty were in charge of tickets. Patrolmen Archie T. O'Connell, Clarence E. Dunbury, William J. Callahan and Edward F. Bowler had charge of entertainment and music.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

That the cessation of hostilities in this global war shall lead to an everlasting peace rather than to a return to arms in 1965 following a temporary peace is the hope expressed by junior and senior history students participating in a special Armistice Day assembly on Wednesday of last week.

Gordon McGovern, acting as chairman, outlined progress along the road to war in 1914 and again in 1939. Anne Thompson told of the attitude of the people as war approached. Ruth Tapley showed the inadequacy of the League of Nations. George Gould emphasized the magnitude of global war. Alan Bugbee spoke on the topic, "What Are We Fighting For?" and James Ware used as his subject, "The Challenge that Faces Us."

This assembly, an outgrowth of Mrs. Ella Stacey's history classes, was planned by the students in conference with their teacher. All talks given were prepared by the students after a thorough investigation.

On the insistence of Mr. Graves, a condensed version of this composite report will be preserved in school files.

RECIPROCITY

The following letter from Cpl. Ray Mauger, Jr., USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Mauger of Westland avenue, is published as being of general Winchester interest. Cpl. Mauger is now overseas with the Financial Detachment of the 8th Bomber Group.

Nov. 4, 1943

Dear . . .

Well here we are again. Your letter arrived with a couple from home yesterday so I had a big day. So did the Boche. They caught the biggest "mail" yesterday they have ever seen from our boys and the RAF. I watched our lads come home yesterday afternoon and it was the most beautiful sight I have seen in a long time. They came in quite low, some only 200 feet off the ground, and in very good formation. Our ships came in at less than 200 feet in V's of threes one right after the other. It was just like a big parade, a victory parade. If they can keep it up like yesterday you will see them on Fifth avenue before long.

About three weeks ago I had an opportunity to visit Winchester and had a wonderful time. I made arrangements through the Red Cross and found that my host was the Lord Mayor of the town. His son had visited our Winchester and apparently knows . . . and . . . He wasn't there but I read the clippings of his visit from the family scrap book and believe it or not they were from the Star. Their name by the way is Griffiths and they are really swell people. I had a great time seeing the town and especially the Cathedral.

I landed in Winchester on a Sunday morning about 11 o'clock and spent the rest of the morning around the older parts of the town and arrived at the Cathdral just in time to hear the all boys choir sing the last part of the service. About 1 I went to the Griffiths where we had a marvelous meal. I say marvelous because a meal with all the fixings is rare on this side. After dinner we sat around for the better part of an hour and talked about our respective towns and the general topics of the day. Then Mrs. Griffiths took me down to the College (prep school in our language) where I met one of the masters and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Crompton. Mrs. C. is something or other in the English Speaking Union and she had a guest book of all the people who had visited Winchester. I found among the names . . . that of Connie Bond. So you see it is a small world. By the way I hear Charlie Reeves is over here and his APO is the same as mine. That means he is nearly somewhere. Will you get his address for me and send it. I would like to see him and and I imagine he would like to see a home town face too, even if it is mine. Oh yes, I was in Winchester. Well I spent the remainder of the afternoon looking over the school and its old buildings. One thing that interested me, and you can easily see why was the brewery. It seems that in the days when the school was founded all institutions of this type were entirely self contained. They had, in addition to the regular class rooms and dorms, a mill and a brewery. Well . . . this looks like all for now. Glad to hear that you are back on your feet. Take care, and write soon.

Ray Mauger

PRIDHAM BACK

Last week-end's meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association was chiefly distinguished by the return to competition of Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham who has been long A. W. L. due to the pressure of business. President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele greeted the returning warrior cordially and assured him that no punitive action for his long defection was contemplated.

Mr. Pridham did pretty well first along and, paired with the Secretary, handed out "the works" to Howard "Foul Line" Witter and Johnnie Cullen on the second court, once getting five ringers with four shoes, the extra being one of Cullen's which he put on.

Getting back to the championship court, "Thin Finger" and the Scrivener didn't fare so well, losing two out of three to the Champs of the morning, "Wild Willie" McLaughlin and Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, who took on all and sundry without tasting defeat.

Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, and Mr. Teele strove in vain with Willie and Herbie and after "Thin Finger" and the Secretary bit the dust, Mr. Teele and Mr. Cullen entered the lists.

It really is painful to write about what happened in the first of this two game series which the Champs annexed. Honesty however, demands that a score of 25-0 against Mr. Teele's side be written into the records.

Mr. Butters had a fish fry on and left a bit early, so the President and the Secretary took on the Champs for a single-game match, losing after holding what looked like a commanding lead.

Although Mr. McLaughlin was good, as always, it was old "Garrulous" who really signed the death warrants of the President and the Secretary. "Herbie" threw so many ringers he forgot himself at one point and gave voice to a complete sentence, so un-nerving Mr. Teele that he threw consecutive "no score" boxes, which with a muffled ringer by the Secretary, proved just too bad!

ROCHE LEAVES SCHOOL

"Chucker" Roche, three letter athlete at Winchester High School and regular left halfback on the varsity football team, left with his mother and younger brother Monday by automobile for Key West, Fla., where they will join Lt. Charles D. Roche, USNR, who is on Naval duty there.

Roche played his last game for Winchester against Belmont last Saturday and will be missed against Woburn Thanksgiving as he was a good defensive player and the best punter on the team. He was a member of both the basketball and baseball teams, developing into quite a promising pitcher toward the end of last year.

EXTRA SEATS FOR WOBURN GAME

Through the efforts of Robert F. Lybeck, chairman of the School Committee and Supt. Thomas F. McGowan of the Park Department, Winchester will have the bleacher seats of both Wakefield and Stoneham for the Woburn game Thanksgiving morning at the Shore road athletic field. The Stoneham seats have about the seating capacity as Winchester's and Wakefield's are much greater.

This should be great news for fans who like to see their football seated, but given a good day, even the extra seats won't be enough, so get down early!

REUNION DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Harris of Stevens street were delighted Wednesday evening to have their three sons with them for dinner for the first time in nearly a year. All three are in the Army Air Forces.

Pfc. Robert Harris arrived home Sunday on a ten day furlough from Kearns, Utah, where he is a member of Headquarters Company. Pfc. John Harris came home Monday from Chanute Field, Ill., where he has just completed his machinist's training as a propeller specialist. Aviation Cadet David Harris, who is at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, came home just for the family dinner. Robert has been away for 11 months and John for nine. David has been in the service for eight months.

WHATSOEVER A MAN SOWETH

(Written for the Winchester Star)

There are things which careless men do
That can never be recalled,
The sharp keen-edged word,
The unimproved opportunity, the selfish deed
Mark our thought upon the lives of others;
"Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."
How great the need for real courage
That we may make our responsibilities pedestals
On which to take our stand and thus avoid
The failure of being untrue to life's best.

"Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? These words from I Corinthians 6:19 comprise the Golden Text to be used in the Mother Church The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all of its branches.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be Soul and Body, and included in the Scriptural selections will be: Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are (I Cor. 3:16, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, and the following passage: Rightly understood, instead of possessing a sentiment material form, man has a sensationless body, and God, the Soul of Man and of all existence, being perpetual in His own individuality, harmony, and immortality, imparts and perpetuates these qualities in man, through Mind, not matter. (p. 280).

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club, presided over by Mrs. James A. Newman, president, was held on Nov. 17 at 2 p. m. in the art room of the Winchester Public Library.

The meeting was well attended and a large number of girl scouts and their leaders were present.

The principal speaker was Mrs. Frank C. Smith of Worcester who gave a very interesting talk with beautifully illustrated color slides showing the National Council Award Nature Trail. The subject was timely and the speakers advice most helpful because the club is sponsoring a Nature Trail through the Fells. A committee is to be appointed to further the project.

The president made a special appeal urging all club members to be present at the Dec. 15 meeting which will be held at Odd Fellows Hall. It will be an all day meeting and Christmas wreaths will be made for the Old People's Home, the Public Library, and for personal use. Greens will be available at a nominal price.

Bill West, former high school football star, continued his good work on the Dartmouth varsity in the Indians' game with Cornell at Fenway Park last Saturday. The many from Winchester who were in the stands saw Big "Chalk" do some corking blocking, snare a pass or two and especially distinguish himself by booting a pretty quick kick from a spinner play that went better than 60 yards. Not bad for a freshman playing his second game in the big time!

Pfc. Allan P. Breed, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Breed of 756 Main street, is now an aerial engineer attached to the Army Air Forces at Maxwell Field, Ala.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Troop Tales

Mrs. Francis Barrett's troop met at her home on Yale street for their weekly meeting and election of officers. Barbara Michelsen was chosen secretary; Dorothy Brandt, treasurer and Diantha Lamb, scribe. During this meeting a wing ceremony was held and the following girls awarded their wings: Frances Barrett, Sally Burnie, Francelne Cullen, Cora Hawkins, Diantha Lamb, Barbara Michelsen, Frances Moore, Carole Shanklin and Marjorie Zinn. A period was devoted to service and the girls worked on their afghan which is nearly completed.

Betty Ann Parker, Scribe for Troop 9 reports a super cook out held at the cabin. The girls who are working on the outdoor cook badge proceeded to serve a meal as delicious and attractive as any prepared indoors. Building the fire and taking care of it was only part of the delightful afternoon. Hiking and working outdoors gave the girls their training and enjoyed the results with them.

FETTER FAMILY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The events at the Baptist Church this week-end promise to be very interesting. The Fetter Family, a group of 10-12 students from Greater Boston schools and colleges, will be guests of the church and will participate in the regular and special features of Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday evening the church is holding an All-Church Family supper when old and young will meet the student guests informally around the tables. After the supper the members of the Fetter Family will conduct an all-church party. A large number is expected to be present to enjoy regular games and folk games.

Sunday morning the church school will hold its annual Thanksgiving assembly. Members of the Fetter Family will be in charge and will later be guest teachers in the children's and young people's departments of the church school.

At the morning worship various members will participate in the order of service and the message will be given on "Thanks for What?" by Dr. Clarke Case of Palmer Memorial Hospital (and of Burma). Joan Koch of Andover-Newton Theological School and John Kinney of Harvard Medical School.

In the afternoon all young people are invited to join this group on a hike returning to the church for an informal discussion led by the students.

The evening service of the church at 7 o'clock will include brief talks by three members of the Fetter Family on "What It Means to Me to be a Christian."

Students of aHrvard, M. I. T., Boston University, the Lesley School, Harvard Medical School and Andover-Newton will be participating. They will be entertained on Saturday night and Sunday in homes of the parish. It is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear and know these fine young people.

UNITED WAR FUND

Splendid Work Done by Women's Educational Committee

With the War Fund drive practically over for Winchester, the Women's Educational Committee takes no little credit for its splendid bit of work previous to the past preceding "drive week" in building up and educating the public through Winchester's clubs, schools, agency visits, window displays and publicity.

Not only have these women worked in Winchester but four of them, Mrs. Wm. Cusack, Mrs. Geo. Marks, Mrs. Geo. Brayley, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols and Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl have attended United War Fund meetings in Boston, from which a fund of information has inspired their further work.

The Winchester Women's Educational Committee for 1944, under Mrs. Edmund Leonard of Medford, Chairman of the Mystic area of the Women's Educational Division of the United War Fund are:

Mrs. Wm. Cusack, Chairman
Mrs. Geo. Marks, Vice-Chairman
Mrs. Geo. Brayley, Chairman of Churches
Mrs. E. Geo. Pierce, Chairman, Clubs
Mrs. Lyman Smith, Chairman, Schools
Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Chairman, Agency Visits
Mrs. Roland Carter, Chairman, Window Displays
Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl, Chairman Publicity

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

As you are brewing the breakfast coffee early on Nov. 25, and getting your Thanksgiving turkey, or its respected substitute, ready for the oven, maybe that you of yours across the Atlantic is on his way to a Thanksgiving service, and in a Boston too. For again this year Boston in Lincolnshire is celebrating our American day with American officers and men present as special guests.

Among those who gather in the English Boston will undoubtedly be some little girls or their mothers who remember thankfully gifts from the American Boston, pretty dresses that came after a bombing, and that cost none of the precious ration points for clothing. Even youngsters there know England is too busy making war supplies to make the clothing its people needs. They know that "patches are the fashion." But till the end of time a little girl, however patriotic, will love a pretty dress without patches. Good, warm dresses that Winchester Jane and Joan have outgrown will start promptly for overseas service if brought to the Epiphany workroom on any Wednesday after Thanksgiving.

Women who sew may have a part in the new dresses which the workroom is making Wednesdays under the skillful leadership of Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase.

The workroom will not be open the Wednesday before Thanksgiving, Nov. 24.

CHILDREN'S MUSIC GROUP

The next regular meeting of the Children's Music Group will be held next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 21, in the Episcopal parish house. Mrs. Charles Livingstone will tell the history of the string family and explain the part each member plays in an orchestra and the varying characteristics of the violin, the viola, the cello, and the double bass. Miss Mildred Ridley, of Malden, long a member of the Durell String Quartet, will be the special guest of the afternoon. She, with Mrs. Livingstone and two graduate members of the Music Group Dorothy Carr and Herbert Clement, will form a string quartet to illustrate Mrs. Livingstone's talk. The rest of the program will consist of carol singing, short piano selections by Emily Hood, Barbara Bruce, Roger Bruce, and Judy Flanders and two selections by the boys' orchestra. There will also be a review and completion of the story and music of the opera Hansel and Gretel.

The group is being busy on Monday afternoons as well. The girls are meeting with Mrs. John Carr to practise carols for the Christmas festival. At the same time a group of boys meet with Mrs. John Sargent and Mrs. Robert Drake to practise as an orchestra and to sing for the festival which will be held at the Country Club Dec. 12.

This will be, as near as is possible, a duplication of the traditional festival that takes place at Christmas time in the peasant villages of Southern France. In this way the children are capturing early in the season a bit of the elusive and spiritual wonder of the Christmas story that is expressed in the lovely old French carols.

RED CROSS SEWING ROOM OPEN MONDAY

The Red Cross sewing room will open again Monday after being closed for alterations and rearrangements. Workers are needed as a new hospital quota is only begun. Come any day in the week except Saturday, and help with the work, but especially do we need help on Tuesdays and Thursdays. If you prefer to work on garments for civilians we have not completed the relief quota. If you want to work for the armed forces, we can supply you; if you don't care what you do, just so long as you work, we know what our most urgent need is. But come.

Bring your sandwiches. Coffee is served.

Keep on Backing the Attack with your purchases of WAR BONDS. Give War Bonds for Christmas.

WOMEN'S ALLIANCE

The Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church met on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 9 with the president, Mrs. Theodore C. Browne presiding.

Mrs. Percy S. Drayton of Medford, our district director led the devotional service. Major Frank B. Crandall of the Chaplain Corps, U.S.A. gave a most illuminating and interesting talk about the duties and privileges of a Chaplain. He served in both World Wars and told many personal experiences with the soldiers. On November 16 a most successful Dutch supper was held in Metcalf Hall.

The first loan granted by the Winchester Co-operative Bank built these three homes on Nelson Street, pictured as they stand today.

PRESENT STATUS of CIVILIAN DEFENSE

The organizing of Civilian Defense in Winchester began April 1, 1941. The personnel of the many units was quickly, but carefully selected and the first public meeting relating to defense activities was held September 16, 1941 in the Town Hall. It was an overflow meeting and by far the largest held in town in recent years.

From then on enthusiasm continued to run high and on April 1st of this year there were 2721 active members enrolled in the 60 different units of the organization—a 100% volunteer group—ready to act in any war or peacetime emergency.

What has been done here is typical of what has been accomplished in all other communities. It is one of the finest examples of co-operative effectiveness that can be found in the history of the nation.

Is it needed now?

IT IS AS NECESSARY RIGHT NOW AS AT ANY TIME SINCE ITS INCEPTION. The war is far from over. We are right at the beginning of the worst of it and anything may happen quickly. Only the German High Command knows whether we will be bombed, but from President Roosevelt comes this very recent appeal.

"I ask continued service and vigilance on the part of air raid wardens and other protective volunteers."

Governor Saltonstall in a letter dated November 2 says, "It is my responsibility as Chief Executive of the Commonwealth and that of the Executives of the Committee on Public Safety to see that our Civilian Defense organization and our warning system be maintained and remain ready for immediate action until those charged with the conduct of the war and best informed about the situation which results from it, notify us that this is no longer necessary, THAT TIME HAS NOT COME. Accordingly I wish at this time to request all in our Civilian Defense forces to maintain their organization and remain alert and in particular to see to it that our Warning Centers which are the very core of the system of communications necessary to alert promptly our citizens in case of danger, should be constantly manned. Preparedness is the best way to minimize disaster. Unreadiness is an invitation to our enemies."

The Commander of the Eastern Defense Area, Lt. Gen. George Grunert, who is in charge of all Army forces in the Atlantic States says in a letter dated October 21, "It seems to me to be wishful thinking and to show a lack of knowledge and appreciation of our enemy's capabilities for any person to believe that danger is past. I feel that the danger is not past and that the need for the Civilian protection organization is as great as ever before. Accordingly I wish to join in urging all members of the civilian protection services continue their activities unceasingly so that, should an emergency arise, they may respond and, having responded will know that they have served their country well."

Consequently, having in mind the President's appeal, the Governor's request, and the General's statement together with our knowledge of the local situation, we, the members of the Public Safety Committee of the Town of Winchester and administrative heads of the Winchester Civilian Defense Corps, request that all units of the organization be maintained at full strength, and urge that all members of these units remain on active alert duty, taking part in whatever practice exercises may be necessary and continuing to carry on the magnificent work in which they have so long participated.

Even the last drop of milk in the bottle contains those vitamins, proteins, and minerals so essential in your diet, yet so difficult to obtain now that many other vital foods are either rationed or not on the market. For instance, one quart of Hood's Milk contains more than the daily supply of calcium for either an adult or a child.

Today, milk is not only protecting the health of those of us at home but also helping to keep our Armed Forces in fighting trim. To avoid the necessity of point-rationing milk, use every drop wisely . . . conserve your share!

Pan American Evening

Dr. Jose Padin, former Commissioner of Education in Porto Rico was the guest speaker at the second in the series of Pan American Evenings held in the library art gallery Tuesday evening of last week. His subject was "Problems of the Caribbean Area."

In opening his lecture Dr. Padin said that the subject was so vast that he could give a broad picture of the area, the people and the problems. His paper was informative and the problems raised were challenging. Many questions were asked by the audience and Dr. Padin was generous in discussing Pan American affairs with the audience following the formal program.

Dr. Padin is a native son of Puerto Rico and besides serving as Commissioner of Education for six years was acting oGvernor of Puerto Rico on four occasions. He holds an honorary degree from Dartmouth College.

Mr. Francis E. Smith, secretary of the Library Board of Trustees presided. In welcoming the people of Winchester to these Pan American Evenings at the Library, Mr. Smith gave a brief resumo of events leading up to the present Good Neighbor Policy.

The next in the Pan American Evenings sponsored by the trustees of the library in conjunction with the Pan American Society of Massachusetts, will be a Christmas program of Latin American Christmas customs. This program will be held in the library Tuesday evening, Dec. 14 at 8 o'clock.

WOBURN 7—WINCHESTER 6

Abreau's Point-After Winning Edge in Holiday Classic

Co-Capt. "Butter" Abreau's successful conversion shot from placement gave Woburn High a 7-6 victory over Winchester in the annual Turkey Day classic between these traditional rivals on the Shore road athletic field yesterday morning. For Woburn the victory was a glorious ending for an otherwise poor enough season. For Winchester the defeat was particularly bitter because the locals were not beaten by a better ball team. They very easily could have won. They should have won, you might say truthfully, for they outplayed Woburn in every department save kicking and aside from the touchdowns each scored, had far the more scoring chances. Woburn didn't get across midfield during the entire second half and a couple of breaks before half time didn't do the Orange cause a bit of harm.

On the statistics side, Winchester made 13 first downs to 10 for Woburn, rushing for 229 yards to 141 for the Tanners. The locals threw nine passes, completing 4 for 45 yards and having one intercepted, they were penalized 10 yards, once when it hurt like blazes, and fumbled once, another costly miscue. Woburn completed one of its four passes for 23 yards and a vital first down on the way to its touchdown, had two passes intercepted and lost 30 yards to the officials, one 15 yarder for roughing and the other for holding. The Orange didn't fumble officially and had the kicking edge, Abreau's boots averaging 33 yards to Saraco's 27.

Unfortunately they don't pay off on statistics and no one will deny that the Tanners had the old "drive" and spirit. They were up for the game, scrapped for everything and cashed in on one of the two scoring chances they had, Abreau coming through with the big extra point that finally decided the game.

Woburn can thank that same "Butter" Abreau for its victory. Without him the Tanners wouldn't have been in the ball game at all. He was immense both offensively and defensively all morning, and on the Woburn touchdown drive which covered 78 long yards "Butter" carried on 12 of the 13 running plays, throwing the 23 yard pass that gave Woburn a first down at the Winchester 25. From there Abreau drove over in seven plays, most of them cut backs over the center of the local line. There surely wasn't much doubt about the game's outstanding player. Abreau was it.

Fans will tell you Woburn had a great defense, especially toward the end of the game when every one was wondering how soon Winchester would score and not whether. The Tanners everlastingly fought as they always do but the local boys did plenty to lick themselves and the slippery turf had a lot to say on two occasions when local touchdowns seemed definitely on the way.

Walsh kicked off for Winchester and Woburn couldn't go, Abreau kicking from his 39 to the Winchester 20. Winchester ground out a first down and then Saraco got off a corking 51 yard punt to the Woburn 15. Had the kick been allowed, Woburn would have been in the hole right off, but the locals were offside on the play and after the penalty, Saraco's boot traveled only to the Tanners' 12 and Abreau banged out a couple of first downs to reach the Winchester 35 before Sam Tibaudo intercepted a pass at the locals' 31.

Saraco and Sam Tibaudo made it first down at the 46 and then DiMambro on a reverse scooted 14 yards to the Woburn 40. Tibaudo picked up two and then passed to Walsh for 7. "Sarto" making a pretty connection.

Tibaudo drove to a first down at the Woburn 29 and Saraco hit off

CONSERVATION OF CRITICAL RESOURCES

The demands of global war have reached a stage where conservation of critical resources on the home front is vital. It is so urgent that Governor Saltonstall and the War Production Board have requested the appointment of community committees "to assist in advising the citizens how they may best aid in this war effort and thus keep faith with the men who are fighting and dying to preserve our way of life."

Although the savings in a single household, commercial establishment, or individual plant may seem small, the possible aggregate savings are tremendous. Voluntary co-operation by everyone is necessary.

The personnel of the Winchester Committee is as follows: Ben R. Schneider, Chairman; Joseph W. Worthen, Vice Chairman, William J. Speers of the Board of Selectmen; Edmund C. Sanderson (Water); Albert E. Baxter, (Gas); Frank E. Randall (Electricity); Walter M. Crotty (Telephone); Ralph H. Bonnell (Transportation); Gerald Y. Hills (Coal); John A. Maddocks (Oil); James A. Cullen (Wood).

PROTECTION OF TANK FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

Those who have government owned tank extinguishers should be sure that they are kept filled with water, but at the same time should place them where they will not freeze. This is very important.

OLD CLOTHING DRIVE

The old clothing collection drive which was given national publicity last week will not be started in Massachusetts until after Dec. 1. Plans are now being formulated and will be announced later.

OLD WINCHESTER BOY DEAD

Word was received this week of the death on Nov. 1 in Seattle, Wash., of George Riley, at one time a well known Winchester boy. He resided with his family here for many years, living in what was later known as the Pattee house standing on the site of the present Methodist Church. The Rileys left Winchester in 1888. Mr. Riley was a member of the once famous Dog Town Guards, a group of boys residing in the vicinity of Wedge Pond. He leaves one brother, Mr. Lester S. Riley of Reading.

DIOCESAN SPEAKER AT EPIPHANY LEAGUE

Tuesday, Nov. 30 at 1 o'clock Mrs. Parker Ellis of West Newton will speak to the women of Epiphany parish. Mrs. Ellis was one of five women delegates from the Diocese of Massachusetts to the recent Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church, held in Cleveland, Ohio. She will bring first hand news of this general meeting of the church.

Because of crowded transportation, scarce housing in a war busy industrial city, the number of women in attendance was smaller than usual.

But the Women's United Thank Offering, was larger than ever before, and larger plans than ever were made for the next three years.

It is easier now for women to look beyond the bounds of their parish. Where will the lad in uniform who went to church with his mother in Winchester last Sunday next hear the familiar words of Morning Prayer? From a chaplain on a transport in a mission compound in China; in Alaska; in a little church in England planted on a Pacific island. A woman realizes now that the church must be world-wide in order to provide for her own family. Mrs. Ellis will tell of plans for intensive work in this country and throughout the world.

Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker will preside at the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Dodge and Mrs. J. Royal Browne will be in charge of the luncheon at 12:30.

MASSACHUSETTS CONFERENCE OF SOCIAL WORK

In the belief that now is the time to plan for the post-war world, social workers from all parts of the state will meet at the Massachusetts Conference of Social Work, Nov. 29 to Dec. 2, at Hotel Statler, Boston.

Winchester will be represented on the program by Malcolm S. Nichols, general secretary of the Family Society of Boston, who will preside at the Wednesday session, "Family and Child Care" and by William L. Parsons, chairman of the Winchester Planning Board, speaking Thursday morning on "Community Action in Public Works."

MRS. BLANCHARD SPEAKER AT BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB

On Sunday evening Mrs. Harold H. Blanchard of this town appeared before the Boston College Club, 10 Commonwealth avenue in a lecture recital, "music through the Ages". Mrs. Blanchard has long been a student of the history of music as well as a pianist having received her training as a pupil of the celebrated Louis Adolph Coerne, teacher and composer and the first man to ever receive the doctor's degree in music from Harvard University.

She traced in her lecture the development of music from its simplest beginnings down to the intricacies of modern compositions, illustrating her discussion by playing several selections from Scarlotti, Debussy and others, including a brief composition by Roy Harris, one of the most widely known of the American moderns.

Preceding the lecture which took place in the ball room of the College Club, Mrs. Blanchard was the guest of honor at a buffet supper given by the board of managers.

OUR GIFT TO TOMORROW

(Written for the Winchester Star)

Without divine guidance the still small voice fades
The vision passes and men wander
In the stark wilderness of uncertainty.
As we stand in the Valley of Decision
Let us not fail our fellows
Receiving today yesterday's inheritance
Which let us transmit unsullied and unwasted
To tomorrow, knowing that with God's help
Human Justice shall roll down like the waters
And the exaltation of righteousness as a mighty stream.

MORNING MUSICALE

No event on the fall calendar of the Fortnightly this year, has evinced more interest than the opera lectures given by Prof. Karl Geiringer at the Winchester Public Library, in the Art Gallery, Friday mornings. The popularity of this study hour in music appreciation of opera is attributed to the ability of Dr. Geiringer as a commentator and his keenly analytical comments supplemented by the use of certain historically famous disks that may be considered milestones in the story of vocal recording.

An outstanding feature of this series in music, is the morning musicale at the home of Mrs. Albert O. Wilson 23 Yale street to be given Friday morning, Dec. 3. Mid-morning coffee will be served at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Henry A. Poveleite, chairman of the music committee will present at this musicale, Estelle Reemie, contralto; Edna Tuckerman, cellist and J. Albert Wilson, accompanist.

Estelle Reemie has the distinction of appearing as guest soloists with prominent glee clubs and orchestras, in all the Eastern seaboard states, from Maine to Florida. The quality and charm of her voice won the coveted prize of the General Electric audition over a nationwide broadcast, last year. One has only to hear her sing, to know what the anticipation to hear her voice, has not exceeded the realization, for her pure tone and deep emotional expression impresses you at once, with the simple standards of excellence and culture.

Miss Tuckerman is one of the foremost women cellists and is a pupil of Gene Burdette, solo cellist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The highest function of technique is in the production of a beautiful tone and Miss Tuckerman brings out that quality on her cello in a pure, mellow and sonorous interpretation of the cello numbers of the morning program. Mr. J. Albert Wilson, pianist, organist and composer is well known for his superb work as an accompanist.

The program will be as follows:

HOME HOSPITALITY FOR SERVICE MEN

Home Hospitality for service men and women in Winchester is now a part of Civilian Defense, with Mrs. William L. Davis and Mrs. Lyman B. Smith as co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Sexton, Mrs. Erskine White and Mrs. George A. Wilson.

Representatives of the various organizations in town met at the home of Mrs. Davis, 3 Central green, last Friday morning and plans were made for the future. Each organization is going to be responsible, a month at the time, for finding homes where the boys and girls can be entertained for a Sunday dinner, a week-day evening meal or for a week-end. The committee will work with the Anzac Club Union Jack Club and Buddies Club in Boston.

If you have not already entertained a service boy or girl, you have missed a most worth while experience. Don't worry about the planning of meals for these boys and girls, really want your hospitality and a chance to spend a few hours in a home. Ration points will be furnished for weekend guests. Won't you please call Civilian Defense Headquarters and tell them that you will be willing to entertain and thus become a part of this worthwhile work. You will be repaid for your time and efforts.

Holds Guest Day at Winchester Theatre

The Winchester Garden Club was most fortunate in having such a beautiful location as the Winchester Theatre for its Guest Day on Thursday, Nov. 18, to which members of the neighboring garden clubs and local organizations had been invited.

Mrs. Virgil Chirardini, president, greeted the members and guests graciously and introduced Mrs. Harold Plimpton, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs, who spoke briefly on the valuable work being done by the garden clubs at the hospitals for service men. This statewide project includes the gift of flowers for the wards and facilities for outdoor and indoor gardening, which has become a most effective form of occupational therapy.

Mrs. Herbert West, program chairman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Arthur P. Teele, the well-known authority on flower arranging and the author of a widely-used primer on the subject. Mrs. Teele's knowledge and skill were clearly shown in the arrangements which she made during her talk, at the same time answering the qestions submitted by an intensely-interested audience of 200. The arrangement winning the most admiration was a Christmasy fan-shaped arrangement of silver leaves, alder berries and bright red carnations in a flat silver container.

Acting as aides for Mrs. Teele were Mrs. Norman Mitchell and Mrs. Frederic Russell. The hostesses were Mrs. J. Robie Cove, Mrs. Michael Hintlian, Mrs. John Maddocks and Mrs. Herbert West.

The ushers, headed by Mrs. Arthur Pitman, were Mrs. Burt Gage, Mrs. William Gilpatric, Mrs. Torr Harmer, Mrs Willard Hudson, Mrs. Waldo Lyon and Mrs. John Wills. Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvinge, Sr. and Mrs. Roger Hadley were in charge of registration.

The club is grateful to Mrs. Lucius Smith, manager of the theatre, for her co-operation in helping to make the Guest Day a success.

WINCHESTER FORTNIGHTLY

Members of the Fortnightly will sell defense stamps at the Winchester and Wedgemere Stations during December on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Mrs. Stanley D. Howe is in charge of the sales at Wedgemere and Mrs. Harrie Y. Nutter at Winchester.

HOME FOR AGED NEWS

Friends of Mrs. Isabelle Tufts will be glad to hear she is home from the hospital and doing very well.

Miss Jessie F. Adams, had the misfortune of breaking her wrist recently but is recovering rapidly.

A delightful entertainment was given by a group of children from the Congregational Church last Sunday. They brought Thanksgiving gifts which were greatly enjoyed by the "family."

On Sunday afternoon a group from the Men's Club of the Baptist Church headed by Mr. Frank McLean gave a song service which was received with much enthusiasm and appreciation.

Dec. 12 is another day the "family" are looking forward to. The Music Garden are coming to give a program of songs.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

Although the receipt of letters is not bad it still could stand a lot of improvement. Many of you boys are not keeping us posted. How's about it fellows, let's hear from you because if we don't get the mail we'll have nothing to fill this column with.

Old faithful Jumbo is in again sending his best wishes to all for Thanksgiving. He says he received a nice letter from "Deadhorse". How about us getting one of those nice letters Tony, we sure could stand one. Jumbo's postscript is as follows "I always write to the club, how about some of the other members."

See I'm not the only one gripping about mail, people are beginning to talk about you guys. Yes you.

Paul "Clarky" Lentine sends a note and boy did he have fun. He's down in Biloxi, Miss. and met some boys stationed about 70 miles away. These boys were none other than our own Pete Provinzano, Tommy Gizliotti, and "Nini" Luongo. He says they had quite a reunion. As to what they did, just let your imagination run wild and you'll still won't be far from the truth. He also met "Chuggy" Tofuri down there.

Nick Molea writes that he has been transferred to New River, N. C. Boys you should see the fancy stationery, it has raised lettering in gold leaf. Nick says he's convinced Gerry agrees with him on the subject of paratroopers. We hope not because we'd like to see this argument continue. Nick is now in an artillery outfit and is a radio operator in a jeep. We would like to know from you Nick. Does the Army furnish mantle pieces to eat your meal on after a good bumpy ride in a jeep?

We forget to mention earlier that Jumbo had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Derro. Al is also stationed at Camp Gordon.

John Vespucci is now at Seymour Johnson Field, N. C., having been transferred from Miami Beach, Fla. John says he's getting quite a kick out of brother Chick Vespucci's team taking a shellacking. Reading to Chick your joy may be short lived as he's laying the law down to the team tomorrow.

While we're on the subject of the bowling team Chick's outfit took it on the chin again this week. However, he says it will be different next week. He has had the team out for practice three nights and has instructed them in "Judo" and commando tactics. Pina could not be reached for a statement but it's rumored that he has the utmost confidence that they will be able to eat chicken dinners at the expense of the Vespucci Marauders. The pinfall in three strings was 1341 for the Marauders and 1361 for the "Fearless Five." Mingy broke the ice and got his first spare in five matches.

Brother Tony Fiocciello had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Carbone from Tacoma, Wash. Mr. Carbone is Grand Venerable of the Washington Grand Lodge. Mr. Carbone was very much impressed by the work of the degree team. He took home with him a number of copys of our song. These will be distributed among the lodges under his jurisdiction which includes Oregon and Utah.

OLD WINCHESTER BOY VISITS TOWN

The Star received a visit this week from Lawrence C. (Chick) Barnard of Glendale, Cal., a former well known Winchester boy who attended our high school, class of 1922. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnard of Glendale. His mother was the former Edith Carter, daughter of a former Town Clerk and well known to many Winchester ladies. Mr. Barnard, who arrived here Sunday with his wife, has been the guest of Mrs. William N. Beggs, and in company with her son, attorney William N. Beggs, has been calling on old friends. He leaves for Chicago on his return to California this Saturday.

GREATER BOSTON UNITED WAR FUND

BELL RINGERS AND GIRLS' ENSEMBLE AT CITY CLUB MEETING

Receive Enthusiastic Applause

Because of their outstandingly beautiful playing and singing on Winchester's United War Fund radio broadcast over WCOP, Nov. 14, Mr. Joseph T. Walker, Jr., general chairman of the 1944 Greater Boston campaign made a special request that the Winchester Bell Ringers and the Girls' Ensemble from Winchester High School provide entertainment at last Monday's report luncheon of the War Fund Drive at the City Club.

About 600 Greater Boston United War Fund workers attended the luncheon and they were evidently quite delighted with both of these Winchester groups because of the tremendous applause each received.

The Winchester Bell Ringers are under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Poveleite of 10 Warren street. The five girls were beautifully dressed in red satin coats with white ruffled collars, red peaked caps, black knee breeches and gray and black stockings. They played a carefully matched set of 12 tuned bells which were cast in the famous White Chapel Foundry in London. At the City Club the Bell Ringers played "The Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "The Blue Bells of Scotland." The girls in this group are the Misses Marion Horwood, Virginia Lovejoy, Barbara Johnson, Betty Engle and Marjorie Johnston.

The Girls' Ensemble, or octet from Winchester High School also made a great hit at the United War Fund luncheon meeting. They sang the "Madrigal" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and in the absence of their director, Miss Claudia Renehan, who is recovering from an automobile accident, they were directed by one of their group, Miss Anne Richardson. Other girls in the ensemble are the Misses Barbara A. Smith, Annette Coughlawell, Susan Hedge, Marglyn Drake, Marty Jackson, Anne Thompson and Edith Dover.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR FIESTA"

Mrs. Arthur C. Fay and Mrs. Frank Marshall are co-chairmen of the "Good Neighbor Fiesta" at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Friday, Dec. 3 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. A colorful background of 21 flags of the countries of the western hemisphere will give just the right atmosphere for a gay bazaar, while posters of the tropics add a festive note.

Mrs. Ralph Hatch has chosen to represent our good neighbor to the north in her "Canada Sweets" shop. Mrs. Leigh Roberts will be her assistant and together they will bring to the fore the land of the Maple Leaf. Mrs. Frank Marshall and Mrs. Norman Hitchcock will offer "Cuban Sugarcane Sweets." The California Sunkist Orange Bar with Mrs. Milton Galucia, keeps our own United States in its own special place, while South of the Border, the "Mexican Porky Pig" with Mrs. Paul White and Mrs. Stuart McNeilly in charge, surrounded by articles ransacked from attic to cellar, vie with the Argentina Andean Goat Table with Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas and Mrs. Chester B. Kountz who salvage everything. "Brazilian Beauties" is the name of the cosmetics table with Mrs. Harold E. Moses acting as beautician.

The "Chili Utility" table carries household articles with Miss Fanny Young and Mrs. Stephen Burgoyne in charge. Mrs. Clarence Hamilton, Miss Mollie Hodge and Panama Hattie keep the "Panama Notions" before the public. Mrs. Norman Osborne shows Christmas wrappings under the banner of Costa Rica. Mrs. Maiel Grey's plants under the name of "Venezuela" and her Christmas candles bring a hint of the jungle. The Household and Gift Table is sponsored by Mrs. Howard Bowie and Mrs. Roger Burgoyne and with Peru as its guide, the beauty and assortment of gifts is asured. Senora Herring will forecast the future to those who wish and already a closer union between the Americas is predicted. Senorita Marion Bancroft will distribute literature of the South American republics and will converse in Spanish with all customers.

A cafeteria supper from 6 to 7 o'clock keeps to the usual high standard for which the Women's Organization is known and "Ration with Fashion" is the watchword.

The evening program is given by the California Fruit Growers Exchange and consists of a sound film with comedy, newsreel and a special film entitled, "Citrus in Nutrition."

LT. CLYDE CURTIN AT THE WINCHESTER THEATRE NOV. 29

Clyde Zinn, Army Air Corps, who has returned recently from the European theatre of war and who has many bombing missions to his credit. Lt. Zinn will speak on the importance and great need for plasma at the fighting fronts.

As a background for this program on military tableaux will be presented with a Red Cross nurse, a sailor, a marine, a soldier, and the coast guard participating. Sgt. John F. Cotter will be the commentator.

The movie for the evening will be "So Proudly We Hail" starring Sonny Tufts formerly of this town.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEE

A B-25 was taking off somewhere in North Africa. It crashed and burst into flames. Private Eugene A. Ganter rushed forward with three other soldiers to aid the crew. The heat was overwhelming but Ganter and his companions, drenched from the hoses of rescue apparatus, rescued three crew members from the blazing ship. Then Ganter returned to remove loaded 50 caliber machine guns. He won the Soldier's Medal. Such are the men your War Bonds fight beside.

HAVEN OF ART

Few small communities in New England except those with traditional art colonies like Gloucester, Rockport and Provincetown, have the inspiration of well-organized groups of art lovers to continue the worship of beauty in a time of war. Winchester is a notable exception. In that model town, war has increased the activity of the Winchester Art Association.

Organized in the lean times of the early '30's to promote the interest of all citizens in art, whether the painter or the amateur, this association now has more than 300 members. It prides itself upon staging an exhibition for every month in the year. A gallery in the Winchester Public Library, provided by the trustees, has given a tremendous impetus to appreciation of fine arts.

In the words of the association president, Prof. Lyle Bush of Simmons College, the 1943-44 program "enriches the citizen's life if that life possesses the capacity for enrichment, and it plays its part in attaching to the Town of Winchester those attributes that make it an admirable place in which to reside." Other communities, eager to increase their cultivation of the humanities in the days to come might well follow Winchester's example. [Boston Herald

PLUTOCRATS — CAPITALISTS — BLOATED BONDHOLDERS?

It has been proven, according to the press (Sylvia Porter), that women own 70 per cent of all the financial wealth in America!

Women absolutely control 85 per cent of all the buying power in America; 65 per cent of all savings deposits in America; and 58 per cent of all stock in American companies such as American Telephone and Telegraph Company, for an example.

Over 40 per cent of all homes in America are owned by women and 80 per cent of all life insurance beneficiaries are women.

Women could absolutely call a buying strike that would stop all union strikes and New Deal political "baloney". Women could, in fact, control every political effort and the economic future of America.

Let us then laugh at New Deal politicians and Labor rabble-rousers, who try to keep their fat jobs with soap-barrel foamings of Entrenched Greed, Economic Royalists, and Money Lender cries. It's an insult to the women of America.

Women should vote as "a bloc." They are the backbone of America. Vote to protect their right of independence, to keep "Free Enterprise", to keep private capital or women will be controlled, in old age, by New Deal, centralized government, just a pittance from the State.

Socrates

THE LAST, NEW DEAL, UNION SHOVELFUL — BEFORE 1944!

A short time ago, Organized Labor said they would picket all funerals, where "non-Union caskets" were used! Either a "Closed Casket" or no American can die as he came, unbossed, un-New-Dealed, and uncasketed! Either a Union-bossed funeral with a Closed-Shop-Casket or an unmarked ditch! (Massachusetts State Convention, A. F. of L.)

Now, this New Deal-Union-controlled threat has been actually carried out! Striking Union Grave Diggers (carrying out the "plan" like the New Deal, to dig the grave of our Bill-of-Rights) did, at St. Adalbert's Cemetery, in Chicago, Nov. 1, 1943, disrupt 15 funerals by a picket line, stopping priests, ministers, undertakers, and immediate members of families from the decent burial of their own loved ones.

But, there were patriotic, strike-breakers, men with American courage enough to protect their own dead, the priests, the ministers, the pall-bearers, the family mourners, and the picketed-undertakers, who carried the 15 coffins by hand into the cemeteries; but, here, the New Deal Unions won their "ghoulish Battle" for the graves had not been dug (the Union even resorting to the "Closed Earth")! Even the last rites, sacred Death, could not escape the Wagner Act, the Labor Board's Directive that it is unfair to Organized Labor not to deal with the elected representatives of Labor!

Think of it, in America, for our own dead!

America, fighting and losing its sons on foreign soil, in battles to save Democracy all over the world, must kneel in submission on the "Domestic Front" to similar monopolistic theories that have forced their sons to leave their homes and families and die on foreign shores!

These New Deal "Abundant Lifers" linked up with monopolistic Labor, have planned and promised such "closed" monopoly that citizens have not even the right of Abundant Death, Peace in death from New Deal and bossed labor, Bureaucratic Directives and Union-New-Deal Laws! "Oh, Death, where is thy sting?"

The Union-controlled New Deal is thus telling common American citizens that they, even in death, must have the "Closed Casket" and now the "Closed Earth!"

Post-War, Internationalism, Abundant job holding Lifers, Dues Collectors, wait until November, 1944! (If we can wait that long?)

We are Americans, not Closed Shop monopolistic New Dealers, not submerged minorities like those in Europe and Asia. We believe in America, the right to Free Enterprise, and then Free Death!

American citizens, by factual actions of labor unions (protected and encouraged by the New Deal High Command), cannot decide what kind of coffins they can buy for their loved ones; nor can they even dig the very graves in which they must bury their families! What are we fighting for all over the world?

We are at war. We will and must win the foreign war; but, even as important, we must win the war on the Home Front. We must maintain Free Enterprise, Freedom from Monopoly, (whether New Deal, Labor Unions, or Management); and also we must maintain Freedom of Religious Worship. This whole New Deal must be curbed. They have gone too far, the Closed Casket, and now the Closed Earth! There could be only serfdom left in America if they continue.

These are not isolated incidents. They are indicative of how far monopolists will go through the promises of New Deal politicians, simply to stay in power for their own incomes. If you do not believe it, pick a New Dealer.

You have not seen the last shovelful yet, or whose grave.

tackle for four. The locals were really driving, but on the next play as Tibaudo broke through for three the ball was knocked from his arms directly into the arms of a Woburn player at the Orange 22.

From there Woburn scored in 14 plays with Abreau carrying 12 times and passing once. Soon after the first quarter ended he made a first down at his 25 and then another at his 46. Held to six yards in two rushes, "Butter" faded and passed to Geannaris who made the catch in the midst of a flock of black jersies at the Winchester 25.

That catch was vital, for had the pass been no good Woburn would have had to kick and the game thereafter would have been something else again.

As it was from the Winchester 25 the irrepressible Mr. Abreau made 1 yards, then 4 again, and then a first down at the 14. Smashing through once more for 5, "Butter" was stopped dead once, but once only. On third down he drove to the Winchester 1 for first down and then immediately slanted off right tackle for the touchdown, adding the extra point with a perfect shot from placement. Not even a "Bobby" Roche could have done better for Woburn.

Right after the kickoff Woburn had another chance when after Haggerty had run the ball back 18 yards to his 33, Abreau inteeepted a Tibaudo pass and fought his way to the Winchester 39. Abreau and Giffane made it first down at the 15, but here Sam Tibaudo intercepted his second pass to give Winchester the ball.

The Tanners were holding on the play and this put the ball out on the 25. Haggerty hit off tackle for nine and DiMambro made first down at the 36. Then occurred the play that could easily have meant the ball game on a dry field.

Sam Tibaudo faded and shot off a pretty pass to Charlie Walsh who got some nice blocking up ahead and galloped out into the clear headed for pay dirt. Only one Woburn boy had even an outside chance to head off the runner and on a dry field he never would have come close. As Walsh, however, cut slightly away from the defense player his feet kicked up a cloud about the size of a mushrat and he fell flat on the Woburn 35 with the glory road still ahead. The half ended soon after this with Woburn holding for downs at its 30.

Winchester received to start the new half, but had to punt and Woburn in turn had to kick, Abreau's boot traveling to the Winchester 39.

Here "Rat" DiMambro showed the lacked stands a lot of speed and fancy stepping when he started off to the left, found the way barred and cut back over the middle. Whirling away from two tacklers, DiMambro headed for the sidelines and streaked to the Woburn 1 where he was knocked outside by Geannaris.

Sam Tibaudo on a fake buck, circled his own right end to go over without a hand being laid upon him. Charlie Walsh tried for the equalizing point at placement, but his well kicked boot was wide.

That as things turned out ended the scoring, but Winchester gave the Woburn stands many a cold chill before the final whistle.

Shortly after the kickoff Lovejoy dumped Abreau for a 10 yard loss and "Butter" kicked to the Winchester 39. An exchange of kicks gave Winchester the ball again at the 35. DiMambro and Saraco made it first down at the Woburn 42, and then added another at the Orange 22. Here the Tanners lost 15 yards for roughing, putting the ball on the 17. Tibaudo drove through for five, but DiMambro lost this yardage on a reverse, after failing to gain on second down.

On fourth down Tibaudo flipped a little lateral out to Saraco and with nice interference Tony looked like he was going all the way. Once again, however, the slippery going had the final word and Saraco fell flat on the Woburn 11 with at least a first down in the making.

As it was Woburn took over and kicked to Winchester's 48. Here Tibaudo lateraled to DiMambro and "Rat" was pushed outside at the Woburn 30, keeping on to cross the goal line and give both sides heart failure.

The ball was first brought back to the 30, which would have given Winchester a nice break, but then it was discovered both teams had been offside on the play and the ball went back to Winchester's 48.

The locals kept driving. A short Tibaudo-to-Walsh pass and a Tibaudo buck made it first down at Woburn's 40 and after DiMambro lost 5 Sammy crashed through for 15 and a first down at the 30.

Saraco picked up three and then in the perfect spot for it Winchester pulled the quick starting Chamber of Commerce play. Woburn was caught flat-footed and Sam Tibaudo swept off the left behind ten interferers. Why the Winchester fullback cut back into the press instead of keeping outside where no Woburn man had a chance at him, only he knows. As it was he tripped over a Woburn man on the ground at the Tanners 17.

Still the locals had a chance. Saraco picked up two. Tibaudo failed to gain and then broke through for 6 to reach the Woburn 9. With two to go for first down the stage was set for the same play on which Winchester scored. The tight packed Woburn line and secondaries couldn't have done a thing about an outside play, but Tibaudo hit inside and although he drilled through for almost enough, the ball was still six inches short of the first down on the 7 when the measurement was made.

The whistle blew soon after and the game was over, a great one for Woburn to win, a heart-breaker for Winchester to lose. The summary:

Notes

Conservative estimates set the crowd at 5000. All the seats were crammed and there was a solid line of standees three deep around the field.

Among those on the Winchester bench were Ted Bartlett, former assistant coach under Mansfield, Lauer and Knowlton; and one of Winchester's great all time centers, Andy Lentine, formerly assistant under Mansfield, at Springfield. "Bart" is now a captain in the Air Corps, home on what he believes is his last leave before going over seas. Andy is a C. P. O. in the Navy, at present assigned to the Physical Education program at Tufts. Both were cheered lustily by the stands. Mrs. Bart also rating a cheer as a bride. "Bart" did NOT lead any cheering this time!

To show how completely Winchester dominated play the second half, Woburn made but one first down and 24 yards after intermission while Winchester made 7 first downs and 167 yards. Gee, if statistics only counted.

The day was clement and Lou Goddu didn't need his bearskin coat or even his famous duck-hunting parka, or his corduroy britches, or moceasin rubbers, or anythin'. He was very natty in the teal blue and not too happy as things turned out.

Some of the Woburn boys started monkeying with the ladder that led to the movie platform and when George Gould came down to remonstrate, ganged up on him. "Jack" Stevens, one of Winchester's faculty coaches, got there in time, fortunately and the aggressores fled when they saw him. They evidently wanted no part of that old "Wells River fight."

"Butter" Abreau got the McCormack trophy as the outstanding player and surely no one could quarrel with the choice. No one on either team was even close.

Supt. Tom McGowan enlarged the benches for the players and Coach Knowlton saw to it that his boys did not lie on the ground during the game. The politicians and visiting firemen were given benches further down the sidelines, only the press and Dr. Phillip McManus remaining with the team. The latter died a thousand deaths during the morning.

Now the experts, we are told, are going to decide whether the Shore road field is a good one for football. Here's hoping they have a word with the players before making up their minds. We personally decided quite a while ago.

You just have to hand it to that Abreau feller. What a job he did, both actually and inspirationally. With a boy of his type in its lineup Winchester would have won by as good a margin as even "Mack" predicted.

And speaking of Mack, we don't envy him the reception he got at Hennessey's this morning.

Busiest man at the field? That would be Ray "V for Victory" Hayward. No one else was even close.

Quite a little battle the boys waged for the goal posts after the game. The best Woburn got was a part of one set. The Winchesters put up a really stiff fight. Sgt. Tom Cassidy took one Woburn youth into custody, but he got away and no one cared much. The boys were really swinging around the posts at the railroad end. Regrettable, of course. And wasn't it at one of the real ivy colleges that this merry prank originated.

There were two casualties during the game. Domenick Luongo, a well known Winchester boy, was reported to have broken his collar bone during an informal football scrimmage between the halves, and Robert Brazeau of 151 Swanton street, 11 years old, fell on a bottle and got a badly cut hand. He was taken to the hospital by Officer James Farrell.

Judges for the "outstanding player" contest (and what a bunch they had) were Jim Haggerty, Woburn Times sports editor, Mack McKenzie, Times Winchester representative and Mike Connolly of the tSar.

None Too Small

In the Girl Scouts, none is too small to do her bit in the war effort. This little Brownie Scout (Brownies are seven to ten years old) pastes a war stamp in her book. Girl Scouts, now more than 700,000 strong, will observe their annual Girl Scout Week this year from October 31 through November 6.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

In Troop H Joan Morgan reports that Elinor Tattenger, Mary Rooney and Jean Roberts have finished their required number of hours and will now receive their service pins. Mary Rooney and Elinor Tattenger have finished their home nursing requirements and now have that badge and Mary Rooney gets the clothing badge for her work in that field.

The High School girls in Senior Troop 5 have been busy helping to sort and mend the clothes collected for Russian Relief by the Wadleigh and High School pupils. These older girls also spent a day this week putting the day camp to bed for the winter and did all the handy-man chores to insure the camp and its surroundings against any untoward blasts from Jack Frost. Jacqueline Keefe also tells us that this senior troop does its bit at the surgical dressings classes.

For any thrifty-minded readers in need of a uniform there are several at girl scout headquarters at greatly reduced prices. Orchids to Winchester Girl Scouts! We are 100 per cent registered. This time last year we sagged badly at 46 per cent. Took some effort, but isn't it a glorious feeling?

You won't need the voice of a thrush to sing Christmas carols with all the other girl scouts at the Community tree ceremony, just come and practice at the Lyceum Building after school on Dec. 3, get into the spirit early. Everyone welcome. These troops are chalking up great gains in Community Service. Troop 7 folded 1000 seals for the anti-tuberculosis association, and the Brownies are in there helping too, Brownie Troop 21 folded 400 seals; Troop 23, 300 and Troop 27, 400.

Troop H has had an intensive button drive. Collecting for the garments for Russian Relief. These girls while helping to sort the clothing noticed the lack of buttons and presto! went to work immediately to remedy the situation.

Troop H is just finishing up on some super scrap books for the hospital. The loving attention and patience put into these books will certainly bring forth some happy twinkles in the children's ward from now on.

At the troop 3 meeting which was mostly devoted to work on their afghan new patrol leaders were chosen: Carole Shanklin, Francis Barrett and Marjorie Zinn. Two new girls were welcomed as troop members and we hope Evelyn Delorey and Dorothy Sullivan will enjoy being with us. Diantha Lamb tells us that a musical program is scheduled for their December 9 meeting, and plans to make this a very delightful affair are underway by this group of 5th graders.

Mrs. Everard Elledge's Troop 12 entertained their mothers and friends at their last meeting to celebrate their 7th birthday and annual registration. Thirty nine girls participated in a skit written for them by Mrs. Elledge. Norma Bergquist made a very charming mistress of ceremonies and Nancy Grant, June Tracey and Janet Foley were aides. A majority of busy mothers took the time to attend this party and it was a tribute to Mrs. Elledge in appreciation for all the effort she has put forth in making this troop so successful that each mother volunteered to help in some way. Scouting among junior high school girls has tripled in the last year! Refreshments were served by the group of girls who are earning their hostess badge from a table depicting a bountiful harvest. Ann Albree was chairman of the decoration committee. Winchester has gathered girls in from the four corners and in Troop 12, alone, girl scouts from other towns now living here, were welcomed and registered. These were Joan DeCamp, from Seeconk, Conn., Cynthia Babcock from Lexington, Connie Barker from Bangor, Me., Janet Cary from Wakefield, Mary Lou Finn from Queens Village, L. I., Anna Maria McFadden from Annapolis, Md., and Cynthia Hickey from South Stratford, Vt. These girls have a great deal to contribute to our troop and we hope they will be happy with us.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of Contagious Diseases was reported to the Board of Health for week ending, Wednesday, Nov. 10:

SUNDAY EVENING SONG SERVICE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

At 7 p. m., Sunday night, Nov. 28, Lt. Hall, Chaplain U. S. Army will be the speaker. He will show motion pictures of his work with the boys. He has recently arrived here from Fort Houston, Texas, and has a very interesting subject which should be heard by all people of the town who have members of their families in the armed services.

Excerpts from letters received from Paul Butterworth by his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Butterworth will be read. Paul has recently been awarded the silver star for bravery and it will certainly be a privilege to hear some of the interesting facts he has to write home about.

Don't miss this trent and if any other friends have letters from their boys or girls in the service which might be of interest to others, we shall be very happy to receive and read them.

Next Sunday night, Dec. 5, Lt. W. D. Turkington will again bring his cornet and a helpful message and we hope you will plan to attend that night also. In thes times of gasoline and tire shortage why not spend an hour every Sunday night at the Sunday Evening Song Service at the Baptist Church?

THE EXALTATION OF FAITH

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Somewhere in the world is a Reality
That answers to the noblest hopes
Which ever flash their bright beams
In the darkness, From the misty flats
Of dull and sluggish moods which so often
Becloud the radiant faith by which men live—
May human spirits be lifted high
As we base our daily life on righteousness
And fraternal love thus assuring exaltation of faith.

CAUSE OF MILK SHORTAGE

Some confusion has arisen in the minds of many consumers as to the cause of the present milk shortage.

This is due in part to the discrepancy between the published statements of the amount of milk available and the amount actually available for sale by milk dealers. In establishing dealers quotas the War Food Administration has allowed them to sell 94 per cent of the amount sold during the week of Oct. 30. This would indicate only a shortage of 6 per cent, whereas the amount available for the general public is actually short approximately 15 to 20 per cent.

The discrepancy arises from the fact that there are certain types of users which must be supplied with 100 per cent of their needs. These include the Armed Forces stationed in this area, hospitals, schools and families with small children.

Leaders in the industry state that this condition is temporary and will probably exist in the months of November and December when milk production is at a normal low for the year.

The responsibility for allocating available supplies among users has been placed upon the dealers and they have stated they will make every effort to see that every customer is treated fairly and equitably. They pointed out, however, that families with small children will have first consideration, which means that the needs of other users may be curtailed more sharply.

Industry members stated that this condition came with such suddenness that in the early stages of limitation there were bound to be a few cases of drastic shortages, but under the voluntary allocation plan such shortages will be corrected in the near future.

To make the plan work requires the understanding and co-operation of every milk user and through such co-operation it is hoped that no individual will suffer any great hardship.

Make it a thrifty CHRISTMAS — give WAR BONDS. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

FUEL OIL SHORTAGE

Now that the 1943-44 heating season is here to stay through the cold winter months, it's time for all residents of Massachusetts to give more serious thought to the fuel oil situation. It will be well for them to become acquainted with the true facts and take all precautions they can to conserve the available supplies.

There has been too much optimism and too little concern on the part of oil-burning householders to date. While the State OPA has no intention of blowing cold air on hopes for improved conditions this winter, the fact remains that there has been no justification for the complacency manifested in this area in recent weeks.

If sufficient oil supplies were now available or in sight to meet the anticipated demands the next few months, the OPA would gladly let Bay State residents enjoy their prewar heating habits. But the supplies aren't here. And furthermore the prospects of increased supplies are not what they should be.

A survey taken this week showed that thousands of Massachusetts oil consumers have been keeping their thermostats at 70 degrees or higher this fall. Little did they realize that they were burning fuel oil much faster than their ration allowances permit. For this reason, the OPA feels that many over-optimistic consumers should know the facts before they find themselves short of coupons.

State rationing officers advise all users of fuel oil to take the following precautions: Keep thermostats at 65 degrees or below; reduce night temperatures to 55 degrees or less; and draw window shades to keep out the air.

Lack of supplies in western refineries and terrific demands from the military are responsible for low inventories. Bay Staters should keep these facts in mind instead of relaxing their conservation methods this heating season.

Hundreds of requests have been received by the State OPA for information in regards to gifts and transfers of rationed processed foods during the holidays. Up to 50 quarts of home-processed foods can be given away point free. A list of uniform rulings were published by the State OPA this week.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

She always put something extra in with what she made for a British man in service, did Mrs. Fanny Thompson. And an echo from her cheery kindness came back last week to the Epiphany work room, a letter. Her will had specified that all her things that could help Britain should be used to help. So carpet from her stairs went to make warm bedside spots on tankers or merchant vessels or coast-guard boats that will be busy in arctic waters this winter. Young veterans in hospital will be training mended legs to walk again, helped by walking sticks that used to help her brave icy Winchester streets. Somewhere an ot in long cold watches are making tea over her electric grill. Somewhere perhaps under the sea, her small victrola is helping out in a sailors' sing song. So carrying out her wish that all which could help to victory should be used for victory, her executor sent over to the Winchester Unit a recent letter from a soldier correspondent, who had not heard of Mrs. Thompson's death. The writer had waited to answer until he could get "a snap of the boys" to slip into the letter. He was a bit apologetic about the picture, 'taken by a native photographer who used a rather primitive looking instrument." But the snapshot showed a good-looking bunch of British lads who were manifestly keeping their abnormally light spirits.

Those light spirits were getting tested hut in that Persian and Iraq region. They had already experienced a temperature of 120 degrees in the shade and their spot was supposed to have still hotter days. A real test for these soldiers from a sea-cooled island.

The Winchester Unit was eager not to lose the contact Mrs. Thompson had established with this young ally, and so Mrs. John Haines, Jr., took over this legacy from Mrs. Thompson's store of outgoing kindness and will answer the letter.

SONG SERVICE AT HOME FOR THE AGED

Last Sunday afternoon at 3.30, 14 men from Everyman's Class of First Baptist Church conducted a Song Service at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street. Dr. Pride led the singing and Mr. H. C. Sanborn was the pianist. The devotional service was led by Dr. Brownell, Interim Pastor. There were 17 members of the Family present and one of them Mr. Simonds thanked the men for their service and extended an invitation for another service next month.

HOBBIES AND CRAFTS MEETING AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

Due to the able sleuthing of Mrs. Herbert Ross, the Mystic Mothers' Association has uncovered much rare talent among the mothers of the Mystic School.

Those who are interested in hooked rugs, quilts, pottery making and antique tray decorating may learn all about these fascinating hobbies from those who do them at the next meeting of the Association, on Tuesday, Nov. 30 in the auditorium of the Mystic School at 3 p. m.

There will be mirrors, chests, trays, boxes and chairs decorated by Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Parkhurst, Mrs. Chandler Symmes and Mrs. Kennison; clay exhibit and modeling by Mrs. Hollis Nickerson and Mrs. R. N. Halliwell; Mrs. Walter Keyes and Mrs. Chandler Symmes will exhibit hooked rugs, as will also Mrs. Clare W. Swongers; braided rugs will be shown by Mrs. Robert A. Johnston; the quilt department will be ably taken care of by Mrs. Coon, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Moses, Mrs. Carl Eaton, Mrs. Warren Eldridge and Mrs. Russell Symmes.

The public is cordially invited.

Fellsdale Junior Commandos, consisting of eight or nine boys collected and sold papers and magazines and used the money to buy a needy family a Thanksgiving dinner.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

A Thanksgiving Day service was held by First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice on Thanksgiving Day morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Prescott Baston, the First Reader, read the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by the Governor of the Commonwealth, Leverett Saltonstall.

This was followed by the Scriptural selection after which the congregation united in silent prayer which was followed by the Lord's Prayer with its spiritual interpretation from the Christian Science textbook. Then followed the Lesson-Sermon especially prepared for Thanksgiving Day. The subject of this Lesson-Sermon was, "Thanksgiving." Mrs. Abbie Wilcox, the Second Reader, read the citations from the Bible while Mr. Prescott Baston, the First Reader, read correlative passages from Science and Health.

A solo was sung by Mrs. Caroline Ciotti after the Lesson-Sermon had been concluded.

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester

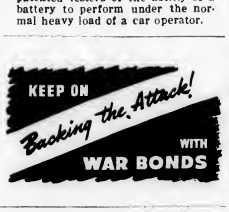
Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Colonial Esso Marketers

A RECENT study by an automobile association reveals that the majority of current breakdowns on the road are being caused by ignition troubles

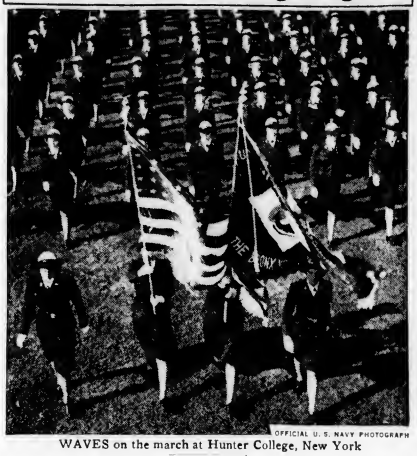
This is easily understood by the motorist who realizes that the storage battery and the generator that charges it are the heart of the automobile ignition system. The electrical power produced starts the car, furnishes ignition (the power of firing fuel) and operates the many electrical accessories—lights, horns, radios, signalling devices—that are now so important to everyday motoring.

If, therefore, the motorist will give both battery and generator regular care the bulk of his ignition troubles will be eliminated. Generally speaking, batteries need more care than generators. Battery failure is the result of two basic causes: the battery may become discharged through failure to turn off a switch, for example, by leaving the radio on. In this case, it must be recharged.

Or the battery wears out gradually. This wear is sometimes difficult to gauge accurately. Every householder is familiar with the electric bulb which seems to burn brightly for a long time and then suddenly gives out. Batteries are somewhat alike. Battery wear is slow during the first months of use then suddenly speeds up and the battery wears out quickly. The extent to which a battery wears out cannot be determined by a hydrometer test, but rather must be gauged by any one of a number of patented testers of the ability of a battery to perform under the normal heavy load of a car operator.



2 Leading Mid-West Educators Praise Waves' Training Program

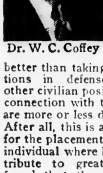


OFFICIAL U. S. NAVY PHOTOGRAPH

WAVES on the march at Hunter College, New York

The Navy's WAVES are not only doing vital win-the-war work but the experience they gain is an important complement to their education, assert two of the Mid-West's leading educators—Dr. W. C. Coffey, president of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. John C. West, president of the University of North Dakota.

"If I had a daughter of my own and if she were properly qualified, I would be gratified if she should decide to join the WAVES," says Dr. Coffey. "It seems to me wise to take women into the armed forces for required services that they can handle quite as well or even better than can men.



Dr. W. C. Coffey

"Such a procedure is far better than taking men out of positions in defense industries and other civilian positions important in connection with the war and which are more or less difficult for women. After all, this is a total war, calling for the placement of each and every individual where he or she can contribute to greatest advantage. I found that the war training programs that have been established for women offer a real opportunity not only for service to the country but also for their own personal development."

'A Vital Service'

Commenting on the WAVE recruiting program, Dr. West declares: "We are proud that so many women graduates of the University of North Dakota are serving their country in the uniform of the WAVES. We recognize that the training they receive is an important complement to their formal education, and that the work which they do is a vital service to their country in a time when such service is urgently needed. I heartily endorse this branch of service in the Navy, and I would be happy to lend my support to any program to recruit new members to carry on its great work."

The Navy Department has just issued a new booklet on the WAVES, free copies of which are available to young women at Navy Recruiting Stations or offices of Naval Officer Procurement.

Guarding Fuel for Flyers

These police dogs are on duty at one of the large Shell Oil ocean terminals on the Atlantic seacoast guarding one of the huge tanks of high octane aviation gasoline from any possibility of sabotage before its shipment to the various battlefronts. Harry and Beaner are their names, each one every inch a fighter. They are three years old and weigh 61 and 52 pounds respectively. Carefully chosen for their work, they have done such a good job in keeping everybody out of the tank yards having no business there that their reputation as "terrors" has spread throughout the entire neighborhood. Their training for this special work consisted of a course conducted by a Princeton dog trainer. Dog patrols have proved so successful that they have been installed at many of the Shell terminals handling war products.

In the event of inclement weather, this will take place Jan. 2 or on the next date available and so designated by the Army and Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety.

It has been explained that during this test planes will fly over various cities in the Commonwealth and drop simulated or mock bombs made of wads of paper approximately 2"x3½" to which crepe paper streamers will be attached. These streamers will be of various colors denoting incendiary bombs, unexploded bombs, etc.

During the period when a city is being bombed, traffic will be stopped and persons, other than Civilian Defense personnel, should seek shelter.

Similar bombings have been held in widely scattered parts of the country and have been most valuable in the training of Civilian Defense forces as well as excellent education for the public.

1ST LT. SHERMAN M. DODGE

MISSING AVIATOR REPORTED KILLED IN ACTION

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Dodge of Vine street were notified on Monday by Major General J. A. Ulio, Adjutant General of the War Department in Washington, that their son, 1st. Lt. Sherman M. Dodge, USAAF, who was reported "missing" after the Allied raid over Germany on Oct. 14, had been killed in action on that date.

Lt. Dodge was pilot of a Flying Fortress and had been overseas since early in September, being based somewhere in England. He participated in the raid over Emden, Germany, on Oct. 10, and on Oct. 14 took part in the big raid that did such heavy damage to the German ball-bearing works at Schweinfurt.

Sixty Allied planes failed to return from this raid and Lt. Dodge's was one of them. His bomber was forced down deep in Germany and when last seen was under control, but with one of its engines disabled and eight members of its crew already "bailed out."

Lt. Dodge was reported "missing" after the Schweinfurt raid and his death during that severe action was subsequently established in the minds of the Army authorities.

Lt. Dodge was born in Malden Aug. 17, 1918, the son of Fred A., and Mildred (Sherman) Dodge. His father is an old Winchester boy and not long after his son's birth the family returned to town. Lt. Dodge growing up in Winchester and receiving his education in the Winchester schools, graduating from Winchester High School in the class of 1936.

Before entering the service Lt. Dodge was a printer at the Melrose Free Press and later in the pressroom of the Winchester Star. It was from the Star that he entered the Army Air Forces on May 10, 1942.

His road to a pilot's commission was not an easy one, for he had been away from his schoolbooks for several years. Real ambition to become a flier, backed by long hours of hard study after his day's work enabled him to surmount the technical difficulties encountered and enter the Air Corps, after which his progress was steady.

Lt. Dodge trained at Greenville, Miss. and was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant at Blytheville, Ark., Feb. 16, 1943. After further training on the west coast he went overseas early in September, having but a short time to wait before receiving his baptism of fire Oct. 10. He was promoted to 1st. lieutenant sometime after his arrival overseas.

On May 11, 1943, he married Jeannette Buehler, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Carl W Buehler of Columbus, Ohio, who survives him, with his parents.

DR. CHIDLEY TO SPEAK ON "THE FINE ART OF GIVING"

At the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning, Dr. Chidley will discuss the question of giving.

What are the giving-habits of the vast majority of American people? Who does the giving in Community Campaigns? Do Protestants give to their churches as freely as Catholics or Jews? Are we really a nation of givers, as we are credited with being? What are the motives that lead people to give?

Dr. Chidley will reveal some startling figures on these questions.

The service will be at 10:45 a. m. The public is invited.

It is reported that Winchester has some 1600 persons in the armed forces to date. Of further interest is the fact that 35 residents have been discharged from the armed forces to date.

GURNEY PROMOTED AND DECORATED

It was recently announced "somewhere in England" by Brig. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, Commanding General of the Eighth Air Force Bomber Command, that Kenneth W. Gurney, of this town, has been promoted from the rank of first lieutenant to Captain in the Army Air Forces.

Gurney is the first pilot of a giant Flying Fortress and has made 16 raids over Naxi-held Europe since arriving in the European Theatre of Operations over 15 months ago. Last winter he served his country in Africa for a short time but soon returned to the "Big League," as this theatre is known to airmen because of the intense fighter and flak opposition which is thrown against our planes on every raid.

For meritorious achievement over enemy-held territory Gurney has been awarded the Air Medal and two Oak Leaf Clusters.

The Captain is one of the real veteran pilots still flying in this theatre. His wife, the former Miss Katherine Sullivan, lives at 107 Arlington street, Winchester, with their nine-month-old daughter, Judith, whom the Captain has never had the pleasure of seeing.

After graduating from Springfield College with the class of 1941, where he won letters in football and gymnastics, Gurney enlisted in the Air Corps as a Flying Cadet. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Gurney, of 78 Hemingway street, Winchester. The Captain's greatest desire is to get the war over and return to his wife and family.

CPL. MANZIE MISSING

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo B. Manzie of Bridge street were notified last Saturday by the War Department that their son, Cpl. Edward V. Manzie, USAAF, was missing "somewhere over Italy." The action from which he failed to return took place on Nov. 1.

Cpl. Manzie, a radio operator and aerial gunner on a Boston A-20 has been overseas since last Feb. 22, having been through the Tunisian and Sicily campaigns and having the African campaign medal and the air medal. He entered the service in May, 1942, training in the South and Middle West and going overseas from Memphis, Tenn. A native of Winchester, he graduated from Winchester High School in 1937 and will be remembered by local baseball fans as center-fielder on the Winchester Cubs for several seasons

THEODORE WILLIAM MONROE

Theodore William Monroe of 37 Cabot street, former Selectman and widely known resident of Winchester, died Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 30, at St. Mary's Hospital, where is a part of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. He had not been in good health for some time previous to going to Rochester and had consulted several leading physicians in Boston before entering the Mayo Clinic four weeks ago. Two weeks ago he underwent an operation there.

Mr. Monroe was born Oct. 26, 1901 in Milo, Me., son of William H., and Lillian (Sargent) Monroe. He was graduated from Milo High School in 1920 and from the University of Maine with the degree of B. A. in 1921. At Maine he was catcher on the varsity nine and a center on the football team, a leader in student affairs, member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and a high ranking scholar.

From Maine Mr. Monroe entered Harvard Law School where he continued to make high grades, graduating in 1927. He then became associated with the Boston law firm of Ropes, Gray, Boyden and Perkins, now Ropes, Gray, Best, Coolidge and Rugg with offices at 50 Federal street.

While engaged in the practice of law Mr. Monroe became expert in corporate and bankruptcy law, acting as counsel for several large companies, including the Arnold Print Works in North Adams. In March, 1942, he gave up his legal connections to accept the presidencies of the Hartford Electric Steel Company of Hartford, Conn., and the Roxbury Steel Castings Company of Roxbury, subsidiaries of the Hartford Electric Light Company; divising his time between the two companies, which are engaged in important war production, and continuing as their president until his death.

Mr. Monroe came to Winchester in 1932 and during his residence took an active part in community affairs. He served for three years on the Finance Committee, being chairman in 1941-42, and was Selectman for a year in 1942-43, resigning from the Board before the expiration of his term because of the press of business and the necessity for being regularly absent from town. He was actively identified with the First Congregational Church, having been chairman of the Prudential Committee in 1941-42, was a member of the Winchester Country Club and had been president of the Boston Association of University of Maine Alumni.

On Sept. 19, 1928, he married Helen [illegible]chAbart of Salt Lake City, Utah, who survives him, with two sons, Arthur and William; and two brothers, Allan Monroe of Milo, Me., and Brooks Monroe, now on active duty with the United States Army.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock on this Friday afternoon at the First Congregational Church with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating.

PARROT HAS BROKEN FEMUR

The Star's first account of the injuries sustained by Pfc. Scott Parrot, USMC, about three weeks ago on California proved upon later information to have been incorrect. He sustained a broken left femur, or upper leg bone, and a broken jaw with the loss of several teeth. There was no broken hip, which is good news.

Scott, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Parrot, Jr., of Bacon Street, writes that receiving the Star is doubly enjoyable now that he is confined to the hospital. He is serving with the United States Marine Fleet force and was expecting to see an engagement with a Jap anytime when his accident hospitalized him and postponed the date.

He extends his best wishes through the Star to all his buddies at home and in the service.

WINCHESTER ROTARY

The Rotary Club of Winchester held an open meeting and luncheon yesterday in Masonic Hall, close to a full attendance being recorded. Announcement was made by President Ernie that the club has now reached an attendance of 87.5 per cent in its district.

Among the various matters under discussion was that of the whereabouts of the town's swans, who disappeared previous to Thanksgiving. Explanation was made that they were on a tour down the river on the holiday and that they are now in the custody of Tom McGowan - not hanging, but on their feet.

Ralph Bonnell outlined the history of the bomber "Winchester" to date, and further news of the ship is expected.

WINCHESTER OFFICER ON LISCOME BAY

News that the new U. S. carrier escort, Liscome Bay, had been sunk by the Japanese during the recent battle of Gilbert Islands, was of vital Winchester interest because of the fact that Lt. Comdr. Richard W. MacAdams of Kenilworth road, former Selectman and Commander of Winchester Post, A. L., is chief engineer and third senior officer of the ship.

Lt. Comdr. MacAdams, a veteran of World War I, has seen plenty of action in the present global war, having been attached to one of the Navy's largest oil tankers used to refuel the fleet during the North African campaign.

He was assigned as chief engineer to the Liscome Bay last June and went on to the West Coast to be with the ship during the final stages of construction. He went out with her on her maiden voyage.

At his home this morning Mrs. MacAdams told the Star she had heard nothing beyond the news reports and broadcasts. She had contacted Navy wives in New York and Naval authorities at the Navy Yard but could get no definite information concerning her husband.

MRS. FRANCES DWINELL POND

Mrs. Frances Dwinell Pond, widow of Preston Pond, died early this morning, Dec. 3, at her home, 8 Prospect street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Pond was a member of one of Winchester's prominent families. She was the daughter of James F., and Martha C. (Mason) Dwinell. Born in Charlestown Nov. 4, 1857, she came with her parents to Winchester when she was 10 years old and grew up in the homestead at 346 Main street now occupied by Mrs. George Ruminus. She was educated in the Winchester schools and married at her parents' home Oct. 4, 1881, going as a bride to the home on Prospect street built for her as a wedding present by her husband.

Mrs. Pond was one of the older members of the First Congregational Church and a charter member of the Mission Union, in which she took a keen interest. She was one of the founders of the Visiting Nurse Association in Winchester, maintaining her active interest throughout her lifetime as she did in the Winchester Hospital and the Home for Aged People, the latter having also been one of the chief concerns of her late husband.

She leaves two sons, Gardiner D. Pond and Kenneth P. Pond.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER SOLDIER COMMENDED

Among the commendations made recently by Brig. Gen. William R. Woodward at United States Army Headquarters in the South Pacific was the following in praise of Pfc. John H. Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Elliott of 35 Water street:

"Pfc. John H. Elliott ASN 31018324, Infantry, United States Army, for meritorious performance of duty, on 8 January, 1943, on Guadalcanal, S. I. While Pfc. Elliot was on patrol, with other members of his company, traveling over hilly terrain and through dense jungle, with poor observation due to the density of the jungle, the patrol was attacked by enemy machine gun fire and, due to the suddenness of the attack, two members of the patrol were trapped in a nearby gully. Pfc. Elliot with complete disregard for his own safety, voluntarily advanced toward the enemy and laid a heavy concentration of fire on the enemy's position with his Browning Automatic Rifle. He was immediately subjected to enemy machine gun fire, but held his position and, by his bold, steady fire on the enemy position until the two trapped men were able to withdraw toward him and finally to safety and until the entire patrol had withdrawn from the danger zone. This service on the part of Pfc. Elliot is an excellent example of the kind of fighting that enabled our forces to win the Battle of Guadalcanal."

WALTER JAMES MORSE

Walter James Morse, known to many in Winchester as custodian of both the Savings Bank and Co-operative Bank Buildings, died shortly after noon time on Monday, Nov. 29, at his home, 376 Main street.

Mr. Morse was the son of Luther P., and Sarah (McCork) Morse. He was born Nov. 24, 1886, in Pawtucket, R. I., later lived in Vermont and was before coming to Winchester employed as a printer by the Nashua Gimi and Coated Paper Company in Nashua, N. H. While in that city he married Katherine Marie Guerin on Nov. 27, 1912, and they observed their 31st anniversary on the Saturday before Mr. Morse's death.

Mr. Morse had been a resident of Winchester for the past 27 years, and besides the bank buildings he had formerly been custodian of the Unitarian Church and of other properties about the square. He is survived by his wife and by a son, Staff Sgt. Arnold F. Morse who is with the United States Army on active duty in Africa.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

ELMWOOD AVENUE HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

The double house at 38-40 Elmwood avenue was badly damaged by fire early Wednesday morning, the occupants of one side being forced to seek shelter elsewhere after the fire had been put out.

The Central Fire Station was notified of the fire by telephone at 1.55 and shortly thereafter Box 114 was pulled from the street. The firemen found a brisk fire in progress when they arrived. It was 5:05 when the "all out" sounded.

The trouble started in No. 38 Elmwood avenue, occupied by Mr. James Wilson and family. It originated from some unknown cause at the rear of dwelling and badly gutted the second and third floors of the house, the firemen having to break through the roof to get at the blaze.

Both the Wilsons and the family of Mr. Kenneth M. Colgate, occupants of No. 40, were driven from the house but the fire was largely confined to the Wilson's side, eating through the partitions into the Colgate's home in the kitchen, bathroom and an upstairs closet. The Colgates were able to return to their home after the fire was extinguished. How the fire started, isn't known.

FIRE AT INTERNATIONAL COOPERAGE

Sunday morning shortly before 1 o'clock Mr. Charles Haggerty of Swanton street phoned the Central Fire Station reporting a fire in progress at the International Cooperage plant on Swanton street. Box 251 was put on at the station.

The men found, upon arrival, that the fire was on the side of the one-story cooperage plant facing the old Chapin School building. It had a good start and the flames were already eating their way into the roof.

The fire apparently started around a coke-burning furnace and burned out an area some 20 feet in diameter. The prompt arrival of the firemen and the efficiency of their work limited the blaze to that one area, and except for smoke and water there was little damage elsewhere in the shop. The cause of the fire is unknown. It was 2:32 a. m. before the "all out" sounded.

Besides this fire the men had three runs Sunday, the first at 1:05 for a fire at the town dump, and the second at 6:03 for a brush fire beyond the home of Mr. Thomas M. Vinson on High street. At 6:58 there was a grass fire near the home of Mr. H. C. Davis at 69 Mystic Valley Parkway.

PICTURES OF COLONIAL WILLIAMSBURG

At First Congregational Church Tuesday at 8 P. M.

Dr. Charles H. Tozier, of this town has been requested by the president and board of trustees of Colonial Williamsburg to photograph in natural color the buildings and furnishings that have been brought together in this, the finest example of Colonial life in the world. Under the direction of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., many millions of dollars have been expended to make this town, the first capital of Virginia, a replica of the times of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry and a host other men who were the founders of our country.

These photographs are the only ones in the country, taken in natural color, of the interior furnishing of the numerous buildings. You will also see moving pictures in color of the life of the people of early Virginia.

These pictures will be shown upon the screen at the First Congregational Church, Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at 8 o'clock. All adults of Winchester are invited to see this display at this time. No tickets are necessary, but a collection will be taken to carry on the work of the Women's Guild of the church.

EDSON LARAWAY HAS FINE THANKSGIVING

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Laraway of Groton, Conn., will be glad to hear that Mrs. Laraway is well on the road to recovery following a major operation performed recently at the Uncas-on-Thames Hospital in Norwich, Conn.

Ed expected to have one of those lonesome, restaurant Thanksgiving dinners but he was invited to join Battery C 540th AAA, AW-BN, U. S. Army for dinner. Upon entering the mess hall he found that the seat at the head of the table had been reserved for him and was informed that to earn his dinner he had been elected to carve the turkeys. The first few servings were a pleasure but after that it ceased to be fun. Mr. Laraway says that after this memorable experience he is contemplating entering the catering business.

Battery C 540th is stationed on the end of the Elect "Bear Mountain" at Groton where Mr. Laraway is associate promotion inspector, U. S. A.

Little, secretary of the University.

Because of the unusual interest of the program, the committee has announced that the meeting will be open not only to all Harvard alumni but also to any other men in the community who would like to hear Professor Salvemini.

Winchester Harvard men and their friends who wish to attend are urged to make reservations early by calling Arthur S. Harris, secretary-treasurer of the club, Win. 2193-W.

ESTHER M. STEPHENSON

WINCHESTER ANESTHETIST HONORED

The following article from the November issue of the magazine, "Southern Hospitals", is of interest because Mrs. Stephenson and her husband, Mr. W. H. Stephenson, have been living in Winchester at 7 Wolcott road since the first of last October.

"A unique tribute to the work of Esther Myers Stephenson in anesthesia and gas therapy was paid her by the staff of Mt. Casmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit on Sept. 15. The ceremony came as a surprise to Mrs. Stephenson and took place just after she had shown the new film, "Anesthesia Serves Mankind," made at the hospital and directed by her.

"Dr. Charles Husband, chief of staff, first spoke, saying that work of the higher calibre done by Mrs. Stephenson in founding and bringing to its present high standard the School of Anesthesia at Mt. Carmel, should be recognized and commemorated. He then called on Dr. William A. Cassidy, chief surgeon, who presented Mrs. Stephenson a framed testimonial, signed by members of the hospital staff.

"After referring to her work at Queens Hospital in Honolulu and Charity Hospital at New Orleans, Dr. Cassidy praised highly the accomplishments of the Mt. Carmel School in turning out anesthetists so well prepared and critically needed at this time. He showed the value of the motion picture in medical teaching and predicted that Mrs. Stephenson's film would become an important factor in the education of nurses, prospective nurses and the public in general to better understand and appreciate the real significance of anesthesia."

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Group meetings for Winchester League members and friends will be held for the second time this winter on Friday, Dec. 10 at 2 p. m. One of the meetings will be at the home of Mrs. Earl G. Carrier, 326 Highland avenue and its leader will be Mrs. Warren Whitman. The other will be at the home of Mrs. Marshall R. Pihl, 30 Mystic Valley Parkway under the leadership of Mrs. Robert S. Bayliss.

The subject for discussion is one which at first glance appears to hold no appeal to the heart and to present plenty of difficulties to the mind but there is no doubt at all that it is one very close to the pocketbook. In one word you could call the subject "Inflation" or a better title might be "The Fight Against Inflation," but these are words which through much use have become vague and meaningless. More concretely we are going to talk about the cost to each of you of bread and prunes and coats and shoes, and the dangers of a rise on these costs.

Also we will consider the cost to the government (and this means to you) of ships and planes and guns and chickens, and what the vicious upward spiral of coats would mean there and what a threat it would be the post war economics. More important still we want to discuss what you can and should be taken to ward off these dangers to your pocketbook now and later. Come and hear the news from this great home front battle and find out something of what must be done to assure victory on this field.

SIXTH GLOBAL EVENING

Miss Mary Hodge of Edgehill road will open her home on Sunday evening, Dec. 5, at 8 o'clock for the sixth and final of the Global Evenings, sponsored by the Women's Organization of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Frederic B. Withington who has lived for 15 years in the Hawaiian Islands and who will give an interesting story of the events and activities which led up to the catastrophe at Pearl Harbor. She will also show colored slides of many beauty spots on the islands as well as pictures of various racial groups in their different costumes.

These Global Evenings have brought much new information to the sponsoring organization and have introduced new interest in the peoples of other nations at the same time placing squarely in the foreground a vision of the part that the United States must play in the immediate future before unity and peace can be restored to the world.

NOTED AUTHORS TO BE MRS. BOND'S GUESTS

Holyoke Alumnae Association.

DURAN—THERIAULT

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at Our Lady of Pity Church in Cambridge on Thursday morning, Nov. 25, when Miss M. Lucie I. Theriault, daughter of Mrs. Anastasie Theriault of Cypress street, Cambridge, became the bride of Edward M. Duran of Mt. Vernon street, son of Mr. Patrick Duran. Rev. L. Michaud, S. M., performed the ceremony at 9 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Miss Theriault was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Joseph Arsenault. Miss Jeanne Theriault of Cambridge was her sister's honor maid and only attendant. William Ryan of Charlestown was Mr. Duran's best man.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white satin, the skirt extending to form a train. Her matching three-tiered veil was caught to a pearl coronet and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses centered with a bride's orchid.

The honor maid wore a dress having a deep rose velvet bodice and lighter rose taffeta skirt. Her head-dress matched her gown and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother. At its conclusion Mr. Duran and his bride left upon a honeymoon trip to New York. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of the Lady of Pity High School in Cambridge. Mr. Duran, a graduate of Woburn High School, is in the employ of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

WINCHESTER HIGH ONCE HOCKEY POWER

The recent announcement that Winchester High School will sponsor hockey and indoor track this winter recalls to the old timers the days when Winchester had teams on the ice that were highly regarded by such opponents as Medford, Arlington and Melrose among the more potent septets met regularly by the locals.

Hockey in the early 1900's was seven man hockey with wing and a center making up the forward line, backed by a "rover" who was always the best skater on the club and the most likely to score. The defense consisted of a "cover-point", who usually played a bit in front of the "point" and a goaler. The prevalence of rink hockey has done away with the rover and the defense is now labeled merely right and left.

Winchester had a few teams on the ice after 1915, but hockey was more or less sporadic after that time and not too successful. There was an informal team at school a few years back in the days of Gaffney, Hanlon, "Skitch" Farrar, Collins and the MacDonnell boys. This team grew into the Winchester Hockey Club playing independently for a year or so, and since then hockey has been more or less a dead issue in Winchester.

That there will be plenty pulling for its revival goes without saying and that there will be plenty of headaches connected with resurrecting the game is also pretty likely. If the locals are going to depend upon natural ice on ponds for practice and games, they are going to have very tough sledding That in the old days was the difficulty that caused the game to be abandoned here.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL HOCKEY TEAM OF 1906-07

W. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM, 1911

Winchester High's first hockey team was that of 1904-05, captained by Dick Hunt, and including his brother, "Lamunie"; Fred Grant, Charlie Richardson, Clarence Mobbs, Dave Witmer, Wilder Gatterson, Paul Badger and Paul Dotten. Of these, the Hunts, Grant, Richardson and Mobbs are now dead.

Prior to 1915 at least Winchester sponsored hockey regularly and put some strong teams on the ice. The team of 1909-10 was perhaps one of the best, numbering in its lineup such stars as Irving Small, one of the best of the club players of his time on such teams as the Irish-Americans, Crescents and B. A. A.; Leon Tuck, who afterwards captained Dartmouth and played on one of the United States Olympic teams in Europe; and Warren Goddu, who many good judges of hockey believe would have been as good or better than either Tuck or Small had he cared to continue the game after leaving school.

Others who played on this fine team, which was generally considered as good as any in Greater Boston, were Theodore "Doc" Hurd, Lowell Smith, George LeDuc, Louis Goddu, Harry Donovan and Norman Small, the latter tending goal for the club, though still a student in the grammar school. "Norm", brother of Irving, later minded the nets for Rindge Tech and was one of the good goalers in club hockey around Boston.

Further back the team of 1906-07 shown with the teams of 1911 and 1913 was another good outfit and is reproduced with the latter groups to let the present young idea get a peak at what the "old timers" looked like. None of the 1906-07 group lives now in Winchester and four of that team, Win Foster, Lammie Hunt, Charlie Richardson and Dana Wingate have been for some years deceased.

MEMBER OF AIRCREW TRAINING DETACHMENT

Walter P. Gleason, 26 Lawson road, aviation student, Army Air Forces, is now a member of the 58th College Training Detachment (aircrew) at Massachusetts State College. Aviation Student Gleason, in common with hundreds of other potential aircrew men at the college, is taking courses in geography, physics, mathematics, medical aid, English, history, civil air regulations and physical training as a preliminary to later assignment to a school of the Flying Training Command for intensive training as a pilot, navigator, or bombardier. Ten hours of elementary flight training is given as a nearby flying field.

Aviation Student Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Gleason graduated from Holderness School in 1938 and was a student until the time of his induction into the Army in April.

GARDNER CHAMP

Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, babbling chucker of the little-liked submarine shoe, emerged as champ of the round robin session of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association last week-end, but late last night President Teele hadn't decided whether to permit these particular results to be written into the Association's permanent records.

Perhaps the fact that the doughty president finished last among the quartet of members who responded to his call for action may be influencing his profession in the matter of having the results of play duly recorded. Certainly last was where he finished and the first letter can be emphatically capitalized. Only one game was annexed by the pride of the Boston Paper Trade during the entire session, and as that one game was won with McLaughlin as partner little credit accrues to the Teele banner therefrom. Most anyone can win with McLaughlin as a usual thing.

Unfortunately it is necessary to somewhat qualify the bald statement that to draw McLaughlin as a partner is a sure way to be returned a winner. For last week-end the "Pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nahmassett" had one of his rare off days. In fact so bad was "Wild Willie" that only Mr. Teele finished further down in the standing. Since Royal's showing was at best only elementary it becomes apparent that Mr. McLaughlin's was next door to this deplorable condition, a sad state for one whose fame is a by-word in both Nahmassett and Stowe.

Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ, finished in second place behind the front-running Mr. Gardner, and Arthur, for a golfer, was pretty average good. He and Mr. Gardner both wore red and black plaid lumberman's shirts, this fact doubtless contributing to the camaraderie they displayed while polishing off Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Teele, two out of three. Mr. Teele had on practically all the sportswear the family gas-pipe necks afford, which he divested layer by layer, as his temperature rose in proportion to the descent of his playing level. Mr. McLaughlin was bundled against the sharp wind and blamed his excessive veneering for his unexceptional showing.

Mr. Gardner really had to be seen to be believed, so many ringers and double-headers did he hang upon the stake. His contribution to the repartee of the session was the exclamation, "Not bad, eh," made it is true, without enthusiasm, but still, three words from "Garrulous" are the equivalent of an entire saga from, say Mr. Teele.

The session was on the whole shorthanded, only those warriors recorded above responding to the President's clarion call. The Secretary was quite hors de combat with an unease of the inner man requiring almost constant attention. Notifying the President in advance, he got himself an excused absence. Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham was engaged in overtime work of an essential nature. Of the other members nothing is known as the Star goes to press and President Teele has tentative red marks against their names upon the Association's books, pending whatever explanation of their defection can be made.

REUNION IN CALIFORNIA

Capt. Joseph J. Tansey, USA., who is a small arms instructor at Santa Ana, Cal., spent the past week-end visiting another Winchester boy and former Norwich University football star, Lt. Col. Clarence P. (Lead) O'Donnell, now in the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton in California. Another football celebrity at the Marines at Pendleton is Lt. Col. Pat Hanley, former coach at Boston University.

Lt. Col. O'Donnell is a professional soldier, having enlisted in the Marines as a lieutenant upon graduating from Norwich where he was one of three Winchester boys to captain the Cadets on the gridiron within the space of a few years, the others being Tansey and Roger "Ty" Sherman. He has served in China with the Leathernecks and before going to Pendleton was in charge of Anti-aircraft installations in Washington. He and Capt. Tansey were team-mates on the Winchester High School eleven of 1921 and doubtless talked a bit of football over the week-end.

DOLLY GREENE PRESIDENT

Newly elected president of the Middlebury College Student Action Assembly is Miss Dolly E. Greene, a junior at Middlebury. The Assembly was formed last year to aid in the war effort by stimulating and formulating thought along the post-war problems. Miss Greene took part in a radio broadcast last week which was sponsored by the S. A. A. Miss Greene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene of 329 Highland Avenue.

WINCHESTER BOWLADROME

The Winchester Bowladrome, formerly the Winchester Recreation Alleys, located in the Locatelli Building is now open under new management. John F. Toomey and Garrett D. Foley of Cambridge have taken over the operation of these alleys. Both have had extensive experience, Mr. Toomey in particular having been assistant manager of the Watertown Bowladrome for the past two years. It is the hope of the new management to interest clubs, and church groups, organizations, business men's leagues and particularly family groups in bowling is a form of exercise and as an aid to health.

The new management is making every effort to provide a clean and pleasant recreational center in keeping with the high standards of the Town of Winchester.

SONS OF ITALY NEWS

We received three letters and two cards from the brothers in the service. It's good to get the letters from the boys, believe me.

Jumbo Marrone didn't write even a card this week. Reason? he is home on a furlough. As I haven't had time to talk to him personally I can't say much, but when he does talk you can bet your bottom dollar that sports will be his favorite subject. We shall see.

We received a card from Tony Gilberti, better known as Kelley. He is stationed in Texas. He says he trains and eats like a horse and has put on 15 pounds.

We also received a card from Sgt. Beebe Russo who is stationed in Florida. He would like to hear from Gay Vespucci as he hasn't heard from him for some time. I will send him the address as soon as I can. If anyone would like to get some one's address, just drop a line to the clubhouse and we will forward it to them.

We received a Christmas card from Louis Giacalone, who is a technical sergeant and is stationed in the South Pacific. You know Louie, we appreciate your card but how about a letter?

We received a letter from Al DeMinico who is stationed in California. He writes: Today (Thanksgiving) we had turkey with all the trimmings and I mean all the trimmings. Next week I expect to get a three day pass so I can go down to Oceanside, Cal., to see my brother Willie. I will write more about it when I come back from the trip. I also expect to see some of Hollywood.

We also received a nice letter from Buttsy Mistretta who is in Italy (according to the censor). He is an ambulance driver and the way he puts it in the letter he must be having a swell time. He is chumming around with two boys from Massachusetts, one from Lynn and one from Quincy, who also enjoy reading the Star. His letter is very optimistic and that is the way we like to have it.

Thanks to all you boys who write. We are all enjoying your letters and cards so keep them coming. We would like to hear from everyone who chances to read this paper.

Now a few words about some of the local boys. Nick Armato was home on a furlough and now has returned to Oklahoma where he is in training with the Engineers. Joe Molinaro has been training for several weeks at the University of Notre Dame. He has seen many of the Irish football games. What a lucky guy. Jerry Ciccolello is home on furlough from North Caro where he is stationed.

We at home wish to extend to all of you who are in the service our sincerest holiday greetings.

The bowling matches will be reported on in detail in next week's Star.

WINCHESTER BOYS AT MOFFETT FIELD

Two Winchester boys, now heading lieutenant's commissions in the Naval Air Corps, are located at Moffett Field, California, in the Navy's lighter-than-air service.

Lt. (jg) Francis R. Mullin, Jr. and Lt. Dean Carleton are together at Moffett Field, after traveling over a good many miles from Lakehurst, N. J. Lt. Mullin, a Holy Cross man, is the son of Mrs. Francis Regis Mullin of Cambridge, formerly of 336 Main street, and the late Mr. Mullin. Lt. Carleton is the son of Mrs. Willard T. Carleton of Church street and the late Mr. Carleton. He is a Dartmouth man, and has with him at Moffett Field his wife, the former "Marty" Herrick of this town.

Lt. Mullin is undergoing flight training at Moffett, after which he is to return to Lakehurst. He graduated fourth in his class of 54 officers and cadets.

TEACHING AT BALTIMORE SCHOOL

Mrs. Andrew Chaplin, the former Peg Shimnick, was in Winchester last week to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shimnick of Washington street.

Mrs. Chaplin is now swimming instructor at the exclusive Notre Dame private school for girls in Baltimore, having accepted a position on the school faculty last fall.

"Peg" is still another who has found the swimming experience secured at the Winchester beaches of real value to her. A graduate of Winchester High School and of Boston University Sargent School in the class of 1943, she was one of the first girl lifeguards hereabouts, having been appointed head lifeguard at Palmer Beach during the summer of 1942. She previously served as playground instructor at Leonard Field and this past summer became Winchester's first girl Playground Supervisor, taking over the job left vacant when Joe Tansey entered the Armed Forces.

"Peg's" husband is a lieutenant in the Chemical Warfare Division of the United States Army. During the past summer he served as instructor in Chemical Warfare at the Edgewood Arsenal in Edgewood, N. J.

ASSIGNED TO COLBY COLLEGE

Roland A. Pridham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Pridham of 58 Lake street has been assigned to Colby College, Waterville, Me., as an Aviation student assigned to the 21st college training detachment (aircrew) of the United States Army Air Forces.

While at Colby he will take college subjects taught by members of the Colby faculty which will enable him to go on to the more advanced training as a pilot, bombardier or navigator, upon the successful completion of which he will be awarded the silver wings of the Army Air Forces and commissioned a second lieutenant or be made a flight officer.

LEGION OPENS INDOOR SPORT

Winchester Post, 97, opened its winter season in real earnest last evening with a social night at the Post Headquarters on Washington street. Tournaments were begun in cards, billiards, pool and ping pong.

These tournaments always arouse a lot of interest among the Legionnaires and result in plenty of fun as well as some worth-while competition. They afford one of the best means possible to become acquainted with the Post "Buddies" and new members are especially urged to enter one or more of them.

Seeking a change from chicken, the Little Woman tried her hand at fish. "Well" reported the girl clerk, "we only have cod's tongues." "How are they?" asked the LW. "Kinda slimy, if you ask me," was the response.

We read that Harry Hopkins and his wife are to continue to stay a while at the White House. Why not? But aside from the new electric stove Harry, tip us off on the new electric refrigerator. We are looking for a GE.

"Basic English is already in use." Item on a suburban police blotter says a civilian reported finding a pair of 'tottershell' spectacles." Boston Globe Editorial Points. Well—it couldn't have been Winchester. We wear . . . simple things—like glasses.

The New Deal is very consistant. We read that Southern railroads are warned they must not show any race discrimination in their employment. Which leads us to note that many business firms are required to hire no one who is not a member of the Union—and not the United States Union either. All men are born free and equal. To the New Deal we here in America are just too dam dumb to understand. That's what Hitler and his Italian friend thought.

Greater Boston manufacturers have been warned that there is a 48-hour week threat in this area. Threat is the word. Every business man knows that he must pay time and a half for any work over 40 hours and still hold his selling prices as they are. A patriotic war effort is the only thing which is keeping some of these firms in operation. We do not think the war is ending soon, but if it does there will have to be more than New Deal planning to keep things going.

According to the news, our New Deal officials report that taxes are raised for three reasons, the third of which is "the sobering effect it would have on the public understanding of the true cost of the war." Well, that's typically New Deal. Who was the great exponent of the philosophy, Henry A. Wallace? who said the people were too dam dumb to understand. We've had the sobering effect of the New Deal for nearly twelve years—which probably is the reason our taxes have steadily risen since it started. We all know about that. We know too, how the New Deal has consistently told us about its efforts to better the condition of the underprivileged two-thirds of the nations. The under-privileged two-thirds are the only ones who are getting rich out of this war, and now the New Deal is attempting to put them back where they were to sober them up!

One of the three stars in our office Service Flag turned from blue to gold this week with the announcement by the Army that Lt. Sherman M. Dodge, USAAF, had been killed in action over Germany on Oct. 14. It has been the Star's lot to report already the deaths of a number of Winchester boys in this war. With some we have been acquainted, some we knew quite well. As in all we have written with real regret and sympathy for those they have left behind. It remained, however, for "Sherm's" death to give to us that complete realization of war's grimness which only the taking of a loved one or close associate can bring. We had worked with "Sherm", played with him, laughed with him, griped with him, though not often, for his was an unusually sunny disposition, and liked him a lot, as we believe, he liked us, his workaday associates. His untimely passing leaves us saddened, but with our regret somewhat diminished by the thought that he gladly assumed the risk that accompanied the job he especially wished to do. He leaves to us of the Star a heritage of cheerfulness, loyalty and friendliness which will long keep his memory green. We won't forget "Sherman."

SUBSIDIES

Seems like long to me, to be simply "giving" things on to the young men now struggling on the battle fronts of the world future taxes that will help pay for the living of those staying in comfort and safety at home.

As well as a "fox-hole", the boys may have a "wolf-hole" at their doors future taxes, to pay for subsidies now during war.

Well, the Treasury guessed wrong on the war costs; but they played safe. O. K., but now let's get down to earth and pay as much as possible for this war as we go along. It's the least those at home can do; but we must stop all New Deal wasteful spending at home, and there is plenty.

THANKS TO WINCHESTER

To the Editor of the Star:

With the 1944 campaign of the Greater Boston United War Fund over the top so successfully, at $7,626,994 or 101.7 per cent of the $7,500,000 goal, according to the last official audit on Thanksgiving Eve, the Winchester Star may well feel that it has had a real part in the campaign's success. Many thanks for your consistent coverage and display.

All that you have done, and all that the people of your community have done in giving so generously of themselves and their resources, bring its own reward, and are in being a part of this greatest humanitarian enterprise of its kind in all the world.

Very sincerely,
Merritt A. Howett, Chairman

To the Editor of the Star:

Monday morning my toy Boston Terrier followed three of my five children to the George Washington School, a thing we as a rule do not allow. About one-half hour later two Winchester police officers brought her home after having been struck on Highland avenue by a car which evidently went away leaving the animal to die in the gutter. My wife and a neighbor took the dog to Fairlawn Animal Hospital and immediately a transfusion was given. After 12 hours the dog is still alive with but a slight chance for recovery. Everything possible is being done to save her but it seems almost hopeless.

My five children are grief stricken, let alone the way my wife and myself feel about it. I would like to have an insertion in your paper stating that if anyone saw the car that hit our dog, could identify the car, or took the number, they would get in touch with me as I think a trick like that is of very poor spirit.

I would thank you kindly for anything you might be able to do to help me.

Yours gratefully,
J. Stanley Fudge,
19 Fairmount street
Winchester

P. S.—My dog is now dead.

WOMEN'S WAR BOND COMMITTEE

The Women's War Bond Committee has announced that the Woolworth booth will be manned with workers every day from Dec. 6 until Christmas, and that a special booth will be opened in the Post Office beginning Dec. 13. The purpose of the booths is to encourage the sale of War Bonds and Stamps for Christmas presents.

Since the Post Office is already rushed with Christmas mailing, Winchester people are urged to use the special booths for their purchases. Every Saturday, as in the past, the Woolworth booth will be run by high school or junior high volunteers or by one of the Girl Scout troops. During the week of the sixth the following Mothers' Associations have signed up: Monday, the Wyman School Mothers; Tuesday, the Mystic Mothers; Wednesday, the Junior High Mothers; Thursday, the Noonan Mothers; and Friday, the Washington Mothers Association.

On Jan. 18, the next War Loan Drive will start. Begin buying War Stamps now so that you may trade them in for a bond during the drive. And remember, that by buying stamps now you put your money to work immediately for Uncle Sam. If every person gave a stamp instead of sending Christmas cards, millions of dollars could go to help the War Effort.

THANKSGIVING PARTY

Miss Jeanne Phelps, head of the Physical Education Department at Buffalo Seminary, spent the Thanksgiving vacation in Winchester with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Phelps and her grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Bateman Corthell, of Grassmere avenue.

On Thanksgiving Day Miss Phelps had for dinner 21 graduates of Buffalo Seminary who are now attending college around Boston. Seven colleges were represented and there were few dull moments during the time the girls were together.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Jonas of Mecklenburg, N. Y., and New York City. She attended New York University where she majored in English, and the Academy of Allied Arts where she studied the violin and the theory of music.

The groom, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Chaplin of Westford, and Centerville, Cape Cod, entered the Navy upon his graduation from Westford Academy in 1942. Mullin of Main street, a survivor of the Cocoanut Grove disaster whose dauntless spirit saw her through six months of hospital action, was sworn into the WAC Wednesday and will leave for basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, next week.

Miss Mullin hopes to replace her fiancee, an Army officer, who was among the 492 to perish in the disaster. After basic training she expects to qualify for officers' candidate school.

A graduate of Wheelock School and Boston Academy of Notre Dame, Miss Mullin has been teaching kindergarten in Winchester. She has been granted a leave of absence from her kindergarten post in "the Terrace" [illegible] Edgar R. Mullin, a former officer in the Navy, [illegible] Moffat Field, California.

Other Bible citations will include, "Thus saith the Lord, Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded" (Isaiah 45:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation. As the apostle expressed it in words which he quoted with approbation from a classic poet: 'For we are also His offspring'" (p. 332).

NAVY OFFICER TO ADDRESS MEN'S CLUB

Friday evening, Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock men of Epiphany parish and their friends will have an opportunity to hear a naval officer who has played a news-making part in the Atlantic war. Capt. Paul Heineman will talk on, "Operations in the Atlantic." This is a privilege which the head of the Men's Club, Mr. Maxwell McCreery, has been trying all fall to secure for a Winchester audience, and finally this December date has been arranged. No doubt the hearers will agree that this first-hand story from one who has been a part of the great and sobering battle of the Atlantic was worth waiting for. The peril of the safety of these seaways across the Atlantic is of terrible importance to every family with a son in uniform, whether it is food for his tin plate in Italy or Persia, or gas for the plane he flies, on the safety of the convoy, safety which the navy provides our boys safety depends. His listeners will have definite Winchester names and faces in their minds as Capt. Heineman talks of convoys.

BINDING UP THE BROKEN-HEARTED

The Almighty has the power to make life a psalm
And fill it with a triumphant song
Redressing human wrongs and cleansing
The temple of the sinning souls of men.
Awaken in us, O God, the high privilege
Of sharing the heartaches of our fellows
With a courageous devotion that can endure,—
Overflowing with dignity and without iota of fear.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The School Committee, co-operating with the local Board of Health, announces the beginning of a new dental program for the schools of Winchester. Their objective is to reduce the dental defects among pupils of the schools.

A special authorized form will be sent home for completion by the parents and their private dentist. The purposes of this form are to ascertain accurate data on the condition of the children's teeth and to discover whether additional funds may be needed to provide care for those unable to afford the service of a private dentist.

Children will be encouraged to have regular dental attention and those unable to pay for the services of a private dentist will be given serious consideration by the Board of Health for free dental service up to the limit of the Board's fund. Information obtained from the forms to be filled out by the parents and dentists will aid in determining whether additional funds will be needed to expedite the work of the Board of Health. Facts discovered will be made available to the town at a later time.

Interest in the dental program has grown with the announcement that of the two million registrants for military service prior to Pearl Harbor, 50 per cent, or one million, were rejected, as unqualified for military service, and that of this number 188,000 or 19 per cent were disqualified because of tooth or mouth defects.

Add to the list of schools eligible to fly the Minute Man Flag the Winchester Junior High School.

Teachers' Club Bowling League results show the quartet captained by Ray Hickman leading by the slender margin of one point. Bills Brantley and Rodgers are hotly contesting the leaders, each with 12 points. Three points behind them are the Graveses and the Smiths who picked up three points each last Monday to tie for the position of giant killer. Individual honors go to Hickman with Phil's Roberts and William Brantley, the former with a high string of 108 and a high three string total of 285, and the latter with a high string of 127 and a high total of 300. Neither the high string total of the Coopers or the high team total of the Rodgerses, established some time ago, was successfully challenged.

At the high school, pupils are eagerly awaiting the Junior Town Meeting, which will be convened at 1:15 next Monday afternoon. Mr. Byron Williams will be the Moderator and the session leaders will be Alan Bigbee, Gordon McGovern, Janice Ware and Anne Richardson. Joseph Foley, the senior class president, will be chairman. The entire school will sit in on the meeting and members of the junior and senior classes are expected to promote discussion on the subject, "Should Germany Be Permitted to Provide Her Own Educational Policy and Program After the War?"

By participating in this program Winchester High School joins a long list of schools in this area laying the ground-work for a Junior Town Meeting of the Air, working with the co-operation of Dr. Linwood Chase of Boston University.

A particularly well done one-act play "Thanksgiving Family Style", was presented to the assembled high school students last Wednesday. CHINESE ART SHOW DECEMBER FEATURE

From the land of our valiant ally China, comes the Arthur G. Robinson collection of ancient and modern painting, which the Winchester Art Association will open Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the library gallery.

Of great interest to all who would welcome the opportunity to do something definite to aid our Chinese friends, is the announcement by Mr. Forrest Orr, chairman of the Exhibition Committee, that these paintings will be for sale for the benefit of United China Relief.

Silken hung, vertical scrolls, known to the Japanese as kakemonos, in delicate delineation of bird, flower and foliage will be on exhibit; as well as small paintings and a group of ancestor portraits. The collector of these diversified items, Mr. Arthur Robinson was formerly attached to the Y. M. C. A. mission in Tientsin. Many of the pictures he obtained when artists brought their wares into Peking at the New Year's time.

In conjunction with the Robinson collection there will be shown a group of Chinese Art objects which are not for sale, but are loaned, including vases, ancient bronzes, and small porcelains. In charge of the loan exhibit is Miss Edith Caverly, assisted by Mrs. Genevra Underwood. Owners of the objects loaned are: Mrs. Alger T. Bunten, Mrs. E. Adele Emery, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, Mrs. Alfred W. Lawson.

Mrs. Helen Van Gorder of Newton will give the gallery talk for members her subject will be, "Understanding China Through Art."

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Goforth, who went as pioneer missionaries to China in 1888, Mrs. Van Gorder spent about 25 years of her life in China. She has known famine, and floods, and had her first taste of war during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900. She has made a study of Chinese painting, color and philosophy and does water colors in the oriental tradition, herself. She is the wife of a Newton surgeon, and lives in a home filled with Chinese antiques having among her other hobbies that of a Chinese garden. She was a staff poet of "Only Gracious Ladies" in the Boston Herald.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Gerald D. Curtis and Mrs. Alfred W. Lawson. Mrs. Blanche S. Barcard and Miss Mary Alice Fitch will pour.

The exhibition will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. weekdays from Dec. 8 through Dec. 29.

"HOW STRONG IS JAPAN?"

"How Strong Is Japan?" will be discussed by Miss Eunice Harriet Avery in her lecture next Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 8, at 2:30 at the Wyman School Hall, Winchester. This is the third in the Winchester Smith College Club's series on current affairs, which benefits the club's scholarship fund.

Mrs. Harold Farnsworth and Mrs. Merton E. Grush will usher at this event, and Mrs. Raymond S. Wilkins and Mrs. Warren A. Maynard will be at the ticket table.

AUXILIARY POLICE NOTES

The fifth regular meeting of the season was held at the Town Hall last Friday evening. At the conclusion of the business session, a most interesting talk was given by Mr. E. A. Darling, clerk of the State Prison at Charlestown, on life and customs at that institution. None of those present made future reservations.

Have you noticed pairs of men patrolling the darkened streets of the town? If so you may have recognized them as Auxiliary Police, who have been doing this work since Nov. 8, to augment the depleted force of the regulars. The Auxiliary Police have been regrouped into six platoons, based on the geographical sections where they reside. These are: Highland, Fells, Symmes, Wildwood, Mystic, and Indian Hill Sections. Each is headed by two capable officers, and better coverage for the Town is insured.

Under the supervision of Deputy Chief Warren Goddu, our new headquarters at the pistol range is rapidly nearing completion. Flooring is being laid, and it is hoped that it will be completed for our next meeting, scheduled for Dec. 10.

The Winchester Committee on Public Safety recently issued a bulletin entitled, "The Present Status of Civilian Defense", endorsing Governor Saltonstall's request that all Civilian Defense groups continue in full strength and readiness for call, despite the seeming complacency of general opinion that there is no more danger. We pride ourselves that our group is well aware of the importance of this bulletin, and that we are ready when and if the occasion arises.

We have added several fine new members to our ranks and still have room for a few more. If you are interested in becoming one of us, drop in at our next meeting, and you may be sure of a real welcome.

Our next speaker will be Mr. George C. Wiswell of the Governor's Safety Council, who will talk on rumor campaigns, and methods of tracking down rumors. It promises to be most interesting as well as instructive. Maybe it will help you track down some rumor that is aiding our enemies. It certainly merits your every effort to attend. In the meantime, drop into the range next Thursday and see if your aim is as good as ever. Then keep on doing it.

CUB PACK 3 WISHES TO START A PACK BAND!

At the Pack meeting of Cub Pack 3 on Tuesday, Nov. 23, in an impressive ceremony, the new cubs were received into the fellowship of the pack. Following this, awards were given to deserving cubs, Denner's stripes to David Deuterman, Elliott Hersey, Michael Patterson and Edgar Trott. Bobcat awards to Sandy Aitken and Jack Moore. Bear award to Charles Burnham and Bear gold arrow to Peter Browne and Michael Patterson.

The possibility of a Pack Band was suggested, the reality of which of course dependent upon the enthusiasm and response of parents. Will all parents interested in having their sons learn to play such instruments with the advantage and inspiration of such a group please express their desire to their respective Den Mothers. It will not pay an expert band leader and teacher to come unless there is enough interest shown. If enough cubs join this group right after Christmas we are assured of a band concert by spring. Come on, boys and parents, let's go!

Many residents have wondered why more water does not come down the river with all the rain we have had this fall. One of the reasons is that industrial plants north of here take large amounts of water out of the river every day for their own use. Some times it runs into the hundreds of thousands of gallons a day. They have a perfectly legal right to do so as long as they do not take the entire flow of the stream.

"The Season's Greetings"

Our Second War Year

The importance of automobiles, and our own automobiles, to the war effort and essential industry has been doubly impressed upon us during this second year of global war. We have kept our service station going at its maximum, but with curtailed man-power and the difficulty of getting parts, it has been hectic. Bear with us. We want to give you the best service we can.

Used cars have been very short, especially in the South and West. Dealers from those sections have crowded the eastern market, but we have not sold them a single unit, believing that our used cars should go to those who have supported us during our eighteen years business in Winchester.

Press reports have stressed the steadily decreased new car quota set by the OPA because of diminishing stocks. It has been our pleasure to furnish twenty-seven new units to the armed forces during the year past. We still have a few new cars for our customers who need, and can buy cars in the coming year.

We hope next year brings back our boys in the Armed Services. (We have twelve located from England to the Fijis and we will be telling you about our new models. We will bet Ford will be out in front, as usual, with quick production, and another fine car.

REVIVAL OF MORNING MUSICALES

Music has been a sort of Cinderella of the arts; casually observed, incidentally admired, but generally treated as of no serious importance in the presence of her favored sisters, literature and painting. However, no one presumed to pronounce such an opinion at the Friday morning musicale sponsored by the Fortnightly at the home of Mrs. Albert O. Wilson, 23 Yale street, Dec. 3.

The program was one of charm and distinction as presented by Estelle Reemie, concert contralto; Edna Tuckerman, symphonic cellist; and J. Albert Wilson, accompanist. There may be some difference of opinion as to the correct interpretation of song, but Miss Reemie left no doubt in the minds of her appreciative audience that she is a vocal artist of high standard and her success in transferring the mood, thought and emotions of the composer was a thing of beauty. Especially beautiful was the deep emotional expression of the Bach-Gounod Ave Marie, with the cello obligato.

Miss Tuckerman clearly brought to the attention of her listeners the thought often expressed that the cello is the nearest to the human voice of the orchestral choirs. Her exquisite bowing produced a quality of tone that was rich, smooth and sweet. The Hungarian Rhapsody by Popper was the highlight of her program numbers.

Mr. Wilson was in complete sympathy with the emotional character of the music of this hour of charm and added greatly to the enjoyment of the musicale.

Encores were requested and graciously given by both artists.

Mrs. Henry A. Poveleite, chairman of the music committee was assisted by Mrs. Anita Wilson, hostess of the day, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, president of the Fortnightly; Mrs. Doris Magruder, vice chairman of the music committee and Mrs. Mabel Winship and Mrs. Ruth Gillette, former presidents of the Fortnightly of Winchester.

The program was as follows:

WINCHESTER FORTNIGHTLY

An unusually lovely program has been planned for the Christmas meeting Monday, Dec. 13, at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall.

Cornelia Van Guens, a native of Frisland, a northern province of Holland, will present a unique program of Yuletide songs and legends of Holland. Wearing the authentic and attractive costume and headdress of her ancestral Frisians she is a charming picture. Her pleasing speaking voice, her winning, cultured manner and her excellent gift of impersonation are a delight to all her audiences.

The Winchester Bell Ensemble, trained and directed by Mrs. Harry A. Povelete, music chairman, will also be heard in Christmas jingles of Holland, and in familiar Christmas carols.

Mrs. Earl Weidner, chairman of the division of music of the State Federation, will be guest of honor.

A Christmas tea, with Mrs. Francis C. Bowes, Mrs. Forrest F. Bursley, and Mrs. William Martens as hostesses, will follow the program.

A Christmas box will be provided for any gifts members may care to bring for the Little Wanderers Home.

In response to a great popular request, Dr. Karl Geiringer will discuss "Tristan and Isolde" instead of "Aida" at the next opera recital lecture to be held at the Public Library on Friday morning, Dec. 17, at 10:30 o'clock.

MOTOR CRASH ON BACON STREET

Shortly before 1 o'clock Saturday morning Police Headquarters was notified of an automobile accident on Bacon street near Lakeview road.

Officers John Hanlon and George Lallas went n Patrol 51 to investigate and found that a Chevrolet coupe had struck a tree and continued along to stop against the curb in front of the home of Mrs. Rufus Clark, 58 Bacon street. The machine was badly damaged and the operator nowhere in sight.

Later it was found that the driver, William O. Thompson of 25 Swan road, had been taken to Headquarters by two high school football players, Charlie Lovejoy of 40 Foxcroft road and Bill Bird of 43 Glen road. He told the Police he was driving north on Bacon street when his machine blew a tire, causing him to lose control. He was uninjured, but his car was disabled and had to be towed away. It was registered to E. J. Dupont De Nemours Co., Everett.

SERVICE MEN'S HOSPITALITY

The Home Hospitality Committee, sponsored by Civilian Defense, is glad to be able to report that 36 new boys were entertained in Winchester homes for Thanksgiving. It was a privilege as well as a pleasure to share our traditional Thanksgiving with those boys, both British and American.

The following letter, received by one of the hostesses from an English sailor, speaks for itself:

"Writing to you some little word of thanks and appreciation seems to be the most natural thing to do, now that I am back to earth. Your wonderful hospitality must be unique. Last week was truly delightful for me and I am indeed thankful for everything you did to make it so. It was refreshing, it was fun, and I think that you are all very, very sweet. Maybe there will be a chance for me to come to Winchester again some week-end, but if not, then I must come along some evening for a few hours. I have no qualms about this, as you have given me ample assurance of a welcome. So, again, thank you for everything."

Thus many new friendships are being formed and a closer tie is being made to help cement the links of a lasting peace.

Won't you share in this hospitality and invite a boy to your home for dinner, one night or a week-end? Just call Civilian Defense and let us add your name to our rapidly growing list of hostesses.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB LUNCHEON

The Winchester Garden Club will be entertained at luncheon on Thursday, Dec. 16, at 1, at the home of the president, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, 12 Foxcroft road. Mrs. Harold Given, in costume, will speak on, "Christmas in Norway."

THE WINCHESTER STAR.

VOL. LXIII NO. 17 THE WINCHESTER, MASS., STAR, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1934 PRICE SEVEN CENTS

MRS. HARRY COLLIS

FORMER WINCHESTER MAYORESS DEAD

Word was received here this week of the death at Salisbury, England, on Oct. 21 of Mrs. Sarah Rogers Collis, widow of Alderman Harry Collis who was Mayor of Winchester, England, in 1930 and who with Mrs. Collis visited our own Winchester during the occasion of the Town's Tercentenary Celebration in October of that year.

Mrs. Collis was 75 and had been twice married, the late Mayor Collis, whom she married in 1920, having been her second husband. Besides visiting Winchester in America with her husband she went with him to France to visit the four devastated villages in the Ancre area adopted by Winchester, England, after World War 1. She took a prominent part in civic and social affairs in the old world Winchester both during her husband's term of office and afterward.

Following her husband's death in 1934 Mrs. Collis again visited Winchester, coming over with Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth, whom she met while the latter was in London. She also visited this town on one later occasion.

Mrs. Collis' funeral took place on Sparsholt in England, on Oct. 25, the interment being made in that parish, where Mrs. Collis lived before her second marriage.

PRISONER OF JAPS

Mrs. E. H. Kelley of Forest street received word last Friday that her sister, Miss Evelyn Whitlow, is being held as prisoner of war by the Japanese in the Philippines.

Miss Whitlow has been in the Philippines since two weeks before Pearl Harbor, having been there during the epic defense of the Bataan Peninsular by United States troops. Prior to Nov. 22 she had been reported as "missing," but on that date the War Department declared her a prisoner of war, word being sent to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Whitlow of Leesburg, N. C. They in turn notified Mrs. Kelley here.

WINTON CLUB PRESENTS ANNUAL SHOW

Crowded Houses Greeted Innovation Program at High School

The 23rd annual show was presented last Friday and Saturday nights in the High School auditorium before crowded houses as usual. Winchester people and their friends turning out solidly to lend their enthusiastic support to the club and its invaluable work for the Winchester Hospital.

For the first time in the history of its shows, this well known charitable organization presented a varied program by a professional cast. It proved most entertaining and of the highest quality, and was enjoyed by the capacity audiences.

The program and artists was as follows:

1. Fun in Taps
   Charles and Barbara
2. Old Man River Himself
   James Skelton
3. Turns and Twists, Miriam Johnson
4. Indian Salt Artist
   Chief Art Churchill
5. A Study in Strings .. Humanettes
   Presented by Carl and Faith Simpson
6. Special Number
7. The Skating Comets.. The Elstons
8. Drawing of Boutoniere Lucky Number. Prize, U. S. Defense Bond
9. Drawing of Lucky Number

Charles, of the clever tap-dancing comedy team of Charles and Barbara, acted as master of ceremonies. James Skelton, negro singer, who rendered several selections was excellent and well received. Miriam Johnson, clever contortionist, held much interest to Winchester friends and neighbors. She is Mrs. Doug. Graham in private life and narrowly escaped death last year at the Coconut Grove fire. Her act was the high-light of the program. Art Churchill introduced a novelty which was skillfully artistic. He painted pictures in colored salt, both his action and his pictures being fascinating to watch. The Martingales, lithe acrobats, were excellent, as were Williams and Alice, the former an imitation artist of much ability who brought down the house. The Simpsons, with their unusual and beautiful marionettes, were another high spot of the show. The Elstons were a graceful roller skating team. Their act included a bit of audience participation, and among the volunteers who went on the stage to help keep the ball rolling and enjoy (?) a whirlwind ride with Mr. Elston, were several youths, one courageous girl and of course "Jimmie" Cullen, who is seldom very far removed from the center of things, and never is loath to take a dare.

WINCHESTER PENNY HUNT SATURDAY, DEC. 11

Goal, 25,000 Pennies in One Day — An Exchange, "Silver for Copper"

The Senior Forum for high school students at the First Congregational Church is having a Penny Hunt on Saturday afternoon between 1:30 and 3:30.

There is an extreme shortage of pennies in our country. In some communities there have not been enough to use for the pay-rolls of defense factories. In other communities schools and stores have been unable to sell articles that called for pennies. The shortage of copper has forced U. S. to use steel to mint new coins. This has been unsatisfactory, for new pennies are taken for dimes and because steel is needed for essential war purposes.

Most people have some pennies around the house, in desk drawers, in penny banks, and in bureau drawers. These pennies are lazy pennies. The Forum is out to find all the lazy pennies and to put them to work so that there will no longer be any shortage. If other towns do as Winchester is doing, there will be no emergency in copper.

How will the penny hunt work out? On Saturday afternoon, Forum members will call at your home, and ask if you have any pennies. If you have they will give you silver or bills for the amount of your pennies. "Silver for copper" is their motto. If you have pennies and no Forum member calls on you, will you telephone the Penny Center on Saturday afternoon? Win. 1056 or 1786 will bring someone to call for your pennies and make the exchange so that the lazy pennies may be put to work for victory.

NOW REPORTED BY NAVY MISSING IN ACTION

Mrs. Gussie MacAdams of Kenilworth road was notified by the Navy Department Monday morning that her husband, Lt. Comdr. Richard W. MacAdams, USNR, is missing, receiving the following telegram:

"The Navy Department deeply regrets to inform you that your husband, Lt. Comdr. Richard Wallace MacAdams, USNR, is missing following action in the performance of his duty and in the service of his country. The Department appreciates your anxiety but details are not now available and delay in receipt thereof must necessarily be expected."

(Signed)
Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs,
Chief of Naval Personnel

Lt. Comdr. MacAdams, former Selectman and Commander of Winchester Post, American Legion, is reported missing after the action that took place on the day before Thanksgiving during the invasion of the Gilbert Islands when his ship, the new escort carrier, Liscome Bay, was sunk by the Japanese. He was the ship's Chief Engineer and third senior officer.

Previous to his return to active duty Jan. 2, 1940, Lt. Comdr. MacAdams had been in the Naval Reserve for 20 years. Upon his return to duty he served for two years at an East Boston base where he was in charge of naval repair and salvage operations. He was then ordered to sea duty on the Navy Tanker, Housatonic, with which he served during the African invasion.

While the Liscome Bay was being built on the West Coast, Lt. Comdr. MacAdams was assigned to the ship and sent out to remain with her until she was commissioned. He put to sea with her on her maiden cruise early in the fall.

Lt. Comdr. MacAdams is a veteran of World War 1, serving as a machinist's mate in the Navy and coming out as a chief petty officer. Following the war he spent seven years in the Merchant Marine, working up to Chief Engineer.

Meanwhile he was also enrolled in the Naval Reserve, advancing to the rank of Lt. Comdr. before returning to active duty.

STAFF SGT. DeGIACOMO HOME FROM ENGLAND

Invalided Gunner Awarded Purple Heart

Thanksgiving Day was a memorable occasion in the lives of Mrs. Joseph DeGiacomo and her infant daughter, Susan Ann, who are Winchester living for the duration with Mrs. DeGiacomo's sister, Mrs. Angelo Maietta of Main street. For it was on that day that Staff Sgt. DeGiacomo arrived in town to spend a ten day furlough with his wife and the daughter he had never seen.

Sgt. DeGiacomo came to Winchester from Hayden Hall of the England General Hospital in Atlantic City, N. J., to which he had been sent from England, having been invalided home with flak wounds in both legs, sustained in action over Europe as a waist gunner in the famous plane, "Hesitating Lizzy." The "Hussy" is now no more, having cracked up on the cliffs of Dover homeward bound after a raid on the Continent.

Sgt. DeGiacomo was awarded the Purple Heart Medal and a citation for his part in the raid during which he was wounded. He has participated in seven missions including the Hamburg and Schweinfurt raids, having been based in England for nearly six months.

He arrived at the hospital in Atlantic City the week before Thanksgiving and after his ten day furlough in Winchester returned there for further treatment. He is a Dorchester boy and his wife, the former Melba DeSimone, comes from Somerville. Little Susan Ann didn't hesitate a bit when Sgt. DeGiacomo picked her up but went for her hero daddy in a great big way.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN

Office Hours: 2-5 P. M. Week Days, except Saturdays.

TEST AIR RAID DEC. 12

On Sunday, Dec. 12 sometime between 1 p. m. and 4 p. m., (weather permitting) there will be an Army ordered test raid in Massachusetts. The regular audible signals will be sounded. Planes will "bomb" the cities and towns with paper bombs attached to various colored streamers representing different types of real bombs. All Defense units will be mobilized. The public is requested to co-operate by not touching these token bombs during the exercises and by obeying all air raid rules.

DISCARDED CLOTHING AND RAGS

On Saturday, Dec. 15, Winchester will conduct a one day drive for discarded clothing and rags. These should be taken to the Town Hall, on that day open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. See article elsewhere in this paper.

BOOKS FOR SERVICE MEN

Share the books which you have enjoyed recently, with the boys in the service. They need relaxation too. The demand is great, but the supply is small. One book from each family will make a worthwhile collection from Winchester. Take them now to the Public Library or the Edison Store.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR SERVICE MEN

Persons wishing to give small Christmas gifts to Service Men in New England, away from home for Christmas, may bring them to Civilian Defense Headquarters, 572 Main street from 2 to 5 p. m. week-days except Saturdays. The Service Men's Hospitality Committee will take them to the Hotel Buckminster on Dec. 18.

Discarded Clothing and Rags Needed

The President's Relief Control Board and Lehman's United Nations Relief Group have joined in an appeal for discarded clothing to protect the peoples of our Allies and those of liberated countries from cold and exposure. All clothing will be acceptable even if ragged and it need not be cleaned. Headwear, footwear, and articles containing rubber should be omitted. The need is urgent.

At the same time there is an acute shortage of all kinds of rags for cleaning weapons, guns, engines, and other equipment of the Army and Navy. Their needs are tremendous.

Therefore the Salvage Division of the War Production Board has requested all communities to conduct immediately a combined drive for discarded clothing and rags.

Winchester will do this in one day.

Bring your rags and everything that you can spare which can be worn by men, women, and children to the Town Hall on Saturday, Dec. 15, open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

If you have no transportation, ask your neighbor to help you. This is a neighborly act for our allies and our own Services.

For further information all Civilian Defense Win. 0207 from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. week-days except Saturdays.

CAPT. RICHARD MacDONALD

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Kelley and Hawes Chapel for Capt. Richard MacDonald, retired master of fishing vessels and father of Joseph R. MacDonald of 450 Highland avenue. Rev. R. P. Broeg of the First Methodist Church in Arlington was the officiating clergyman and the interment was in Wyoming Cemetery, Melrose.

Capt. MacDonald, who was in his 82nd year, was a native of Canso, N. S. He came to this country as a boy of 11, sailing on later skippering fishing vessels out of Boston and Gloucester for half a century. He enjoyed quite a reputation as a racing skipper and participated in many of the old time fisherman's races.

Capt. MacDonald had many thrilling adventures during his years at sea. Nearly 50 years ago he rescued the crew and saved their vessel which was wrecked on the "Norman's Woe" Breakwater outside Gloucester Harbor, made famous by the poem, "The Wreck of the Hesperus." He was once adrift off the Grand Banks in a dory for eight days without food or water.

At the time of his death Capt. MacDonald was living at 69 Washington street, Stoneham. Previously he had been for 25 years a resident of Arlington.

He leaves, besides his son in Winchester, his wife, Mrs. Louise (Reed) MacDonald of Stoneham; five sons, John M. of Swampscott; Harry E. and William P. MacDonald, both of New York; Horace L., of Los Angeles, Cal. and Winfred A. MacDonald of Stoneham; also a daughter, Mrs. Lilliam M. MacDonald of Dorchester.

MRS. ELLEN COLLINS ROGERS

Mrs. Ellen Collins Rogers, widow of Peter Rogers and one of Winchester's oldest residents, died Saturday morning, Dec. 4, at her home, 10 Bridge street, after an illness of only a few hours. She was in her 90th year.

Mrs. Rogers was the daughter of John and Ellen (Collins) Collins. She was born in County Cork, Ireland, and was educated and grew up there, coming to this country as a young woman more than 60 years ago.

At that time she settled in Winchester and she resided during all her life in town in the house in which she died. She was one of the oldest members of St. Mary's Parish and a charter member of St. Mary's Sodality.

On Dec. 27, 1887, she married Mr. Rogers, who died in 1927. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Waldo Manzie; and two sons, William H., and James J. Rogers, also of this town; nine grandchildren, one of whom is Cpl. Edward V. Manzie, U. S. Army, aerial gunner and radio man, missing in action over Italy since Nov. 1; and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Francis J. Sullivan.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

DOMENICK DI CENZO

The funeral of Domenick DiCenzo, proprietor of the Swanton street service station, was held on Wednesday morning, Dec. 1, from his late residence, 71 Irving street, with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. George F. Wiseman. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. DiCenzo had run the Swanton street service station for the past 10 years, coming to make his home in Winchester after his marriage to the former Catherine Marchesi on Oct. 19, 1941. He was 31 years old and a native of East Millinocket, Me.

He leaves his wife, his mother, Mrs. Concetta DiCenzo of Pittsfield; a brother, Charles DiCenzo, in the United States Navy stationed at Norfolk, Va.; and two sisters, Mrs. Michael Sasso and Mrs. John Lacarra, both of Nutley, N. J.

Air mail stationery in pads and single sheets; also boxed paper. Winchester Star, 3 Church street.

Capt. William V. Shimkus, executive officer of the Massachusetts State Police, announced this week the promotion of Cpl. Arthur T. O'Leary of 161 Church street, this town, to the grade of Adjutant in the Executive Office of Commonwealth avenue, Boston. For the past four years Cpl. O'Leary has been commanding officer of the substation at Wrentham and previous to his command there was commanding officer of Troop A substations at Topsfield, Andover and Concord. His transfer and assignment became effective as of Dec. 8 and he has now taken over his new duties at the Executive Office of the State Police at 1010 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

Cpl. O'Leary is the son of Mrs. A thur O'Leary of Church street and has been a member of the State Police for the past ten years.

CAPT. HEINEMAN TO SPEAK

The Men's Club of the Church of the Epiphany is looking forward to an unusually interesting meeting this evening when its members will be addressed by a fellow parishioner, Capt. Paul Heineman, USN, at their meeting in the parish house.

Capt. Heineman, decorated for outstanding service, will speak upon the subject, "Operations in the Atlantic," a topic sure to absorb his audience from beginning to end. All men of the parish are urged to attend and to bring their friends.

TUESDAY LUNCHEON GROUP TEA

The announcement made in the Epiphany parish leaflet mixed the hostesses for the December and the January teas of the Tuesday Luncheon Group. Mrs. Frank d'Eseaux will be the hostess on Dec. 14 at 3 o'clock at her home, 9 Lawrence street.

Assisting Mrs. d'Eseaux will be Mrs. Richard Frazier, Mrs. Paul Roberts, Mrs. Torr Harmer, Mrs. Paul Forrester, Mrs. Albert Crockett, and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I am pleased to announce that Henry J. Moynihan of Winchester is manager of a new, complete repair and service garage at 632 Main street, Winchester. Henry Moynihan has been with us at Woburn for the past three years, where he filled various positions.

He has had broad automotive experience with General Motors cars. I am sure that his many Winchester friends will be glad to know that he is personally in charge of one of the most up-to-date and coming garages around these parts.

The service department is in charge of another Winchester man, James J. McMullen. "Jimmie" has been with us, and with John H. Bates, before me, for a good many years. His reputation and skill is so well known to people here in town that I don't see any reason to say more.

We are most fortunate in getting John Murray, who formerly ran the Murray Body Co. of Woburn, to run the body and fender repair part of our business. His shop is equipped to handle anything from a dented fender to a well banged-up wreck, and handle it well.

A cordial invitation is extended to our many motoring friends to call on Henry and Jim at their new location. Another way they will appreciate a call is over the phone. Win. 7100, when they can be of service to you.

Charlie Unzerman

Mr. Stephen Hill of Elm street has been transferred from the local Brigham's store to be manager of the company's big store on Tremont street near Avery street in Boston, a district promotion. Miss Kathryn Perry, who has been with Brigham's in Winchester for several years, has been promoted to the management of the local store.

SCHOOL NEWS

An attentive audience assembled in the high school auditorium last Monday afternoon participated in Winchester's first Junior Town Meeting. Principal Samuel Graves turned the meeting over to Joseph Foley, president of the Senior Class, who introduced the subject of discussion and presented Dr. Byron Williams, moderator.

Following Dr. William's explanation of the procedure of a junior town meeting, Anne Richardson, Gordon McGovern, James Ware, and Alan Pughee offered their opinions on the subject, "Should Germany Supervise Its Own Educational System?" Having heard the affirmative and negative sides of the question, the student body directed their queries to the speakers, each masterfully providing satisfactory responses to about a half dozen questioners.

Dr. W. Linwood Chase of Boston University then summarized the proceedings, tying in the question and answer period with the main talks, and suggesting that each person in the audience follow the discussion of this timely topic in the press and over the air. He also announced that on Saturday, Jan. 8, from 2 to 3:30 in the afternoon, the New England Junior Town Meeting of the Air will be broadcast over Station WBZ. He gave the assurance that Winchester boys and girls will appear on future programs from that station.

As a result of recent school publicity, the high school paper drive reached its peak on Pearl Harbor Day. Literally swamping the weighers, pupils carried huge piles of paper to the collection center between 8 and 8:15. When final figures were posted on Wednesday morning, it was found that three tons of waste paper came in on Tuesday. Room 13 alone provided 1905 pounds.

Senior boys had an opportunity to learn more about the enticing subject of naval aviation from Lt. McAlister, USN, at a special meeting held last Tuesday morning.

The Dickmans retained the lead in Teachers' Bowling League matches rolled this week by taking four close points from the Branleys to send them into a third place tie with the silent Stowells. The Rodgers squad took three from the Graves Giant-Killers to creep closer to the top position. Capt. Rodgers distinguished himself by hanging up a string of 126 pins to replace Branley as the leader in that department. The Butters Comers were moved up a notch by virtue of an overwhelming four points taken from the luckless Coopers, who fought back determinedly in the last chucker to tie up the score for that string, but were forced to settle back more comfortably in the cellar, because they had to give away 34 points as a handicap.

Through an oversight, Miss Miles's high total of 272 escaped the statistician last week, and that mark still stands.

INJURED IN FALL AT MILL

A call for the Police ambulance was received at Headquarters last Friday afternoon from the Bacon Felt Mill at Grove place.

Upon their arrival there Officers John Murray and Edward Bowler found that Lawrence C. Robinson of 13-rear Monument street, Charlestown had been badly injured in a fall.

Robinson, an employee of the Hub Elevator Company of Atlantic avenue, Boston, was at work installing a freight dumb-waiter at the mill, and while in the waiter fell with it four stories.

Dr. Philip J. McManus was summoned and ordered Robinson removed to the Winchester Hospital. He was found to have sustained probable fractures of both ankles, injuries to his back and possible internal injuries.

BETSY DRAKE RECEIVES CUP

Betsy S. Drake, who won the tennis tournament at the Women's College of Middlebury last fall, was presented with a miniature loving cup by the president of the Women's Athletic Association of Middlebury College during a recent chapel service. SONS OF ITALY NEWS

Our monthly meeting was held on Tuesday, Dec. 7. Progress reports were read by the Christmas party and Victory party fund committees. Four new applications were accepted. They will be initiated at our next meeting.

A card was received from Al Subrizio who is stationed in South Dakota. He sends his regards to all the boys who are in the service. He said he had a swell time at home on his furlough. He went at a fast pace, getting two gallons to the mile, I mean 20 miles to the gallon. (Sorry, typographical error).

Another member of our lodge has entered the Army. He is Louis Luongo. He is stationed at Fort Eustis, Virginia for his basic training. He says he is training very hard and he loves it. He is looking forward to seeing some of the brothers who are already in the service.

In a letter that Nick Molea wrote he says, "In regards to which is better the Marines or the Paratroops, all I can say is this, I understand the Paratroops are just toy soldiers that are given ratings with every clothing issue. It is also rumored that when and if a Paratrooper gets through with his basic training he is made a general." Wow!

Now about the big bowling match between Sam Puma's team and Chick Vespucci's. The prize is a chicken dinner to be paid for by the losers. Chick says he can taste that Southern fried right now. What Sam says is that the feathers are going to fly in the last and deciding match.

The score was 3-1 in favor of Sam's team. The fifth one was taken by Chick's team by a score of 1394 to 1365. In that match Musky got 58 pins in the last three boxes to make things threatening but it wasn't quite enough. Sam also did some bowling with a 106 115-193. In spite of such good bowling Chick's team was clicking. Well that made it 3-2.

Last week Chick's team really went to town beating Sam's team by only 110 pins. Yup, I said 110 pins. Chick and Stutz were in the 300 class. Sam's team is called Sam's Terrors, but Chick says the team should be called Sam's Errors. What Sam's team said cannot be printed until the Winchester Star publishes their paper on asbestos cloth.

Now the score is 3-3 and on Wednesday, Dec. 8, the final game will be played. Chick says the chicken looks good. Sam says they are going to beat Chick's team so bad they won't want to bowl again.

We shall see, we shall see.

REPORT CENTER PERSONNEL HELD MEETING

The personnel of the Winchester Report Center, a part of the local Civilian Defense organization, met Monday evening at the Public Library to discuss the last alert and make plans for the next alert to take place Sunday afternoon.

Frederick B. "Fritz" Craven presided with Chief Air Raid Warden Franklin J. Lane. Those who man the desks and telephones at the Report Center were encouraged to make suggestions to improve the efficiency of operations there, several members being heard.

Mr. Craven explained that in Winchester, unlike in most communities, the Report Center, is the nerve center of Civilian Defense operations, through which disasters are transmitted to the heads of the various Civilian Defense departments who actually take care of the trouble.

In most places the actual heads of departments man the Report Center desks instead of being free to personally supervise the work of the various defense services.

Give him a Crisp WAR BOND for a CHRISTMAS present to be remembered. Keep on BACKING THE ATTACK.

R. H. B. SMITH

NEW CHAIRMAN OF LOCAL RED CROSS WAR FUND

Reydey H. B. Smith of 37 Ida street, sales manager of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company of Riverton, has been named chairman of the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross War Fund, it is announced by James S. Allen, head of the Winchester Chapter.

Smith, a past Commander of Winchester Post, No. 97, of the American Legion, and at present chairman of its Service Flag Committee, will shortly hold an organizational meeting of the committee which he will direct when the Red Cross War Fund Drive is held on March 1. A member of the Engineers Club of Boston, Rotary Club and many other organizations, Mr. Smith has been extremely active in Civilian Defense affairs.

In accepting the chairmanship of the Winchester Red Cross 1944 War Fund, Mr. Smith said:

"These War Fund drives, whether they be U. S. O., Community Chest, Salvation Army or Red Cross have a similarity with us of the home front to the tremendous drives which are being made by our Armies on the war front. When one drive is victoriously completed our troops do not let down and rest on their laurels. There is a complete reassembling of men and materials and again the big push is on.

"So we must take our individual parts in one drive after another until victory is won. Let us each one be in there taking our places when called upon to get into it. It is as vital as the supply of ammunition and food for our men and women on the war front to know that the home front is not letting them down."

WIN COVETED RED CROSS PINS

Thirteen more Winchester women are now eligible to wear the coveted Red Cross Home Nursing pin, it was announced this week by Mrs. Ralph J. Jope, chairman of the Home Nursing Section of Winchester Chapter.

The latest class to complete the course under the instruction of Mrs. Dorette O. Smith, R. N., were awarded their certificates at an informal ceremony held in the conference room of the Winchester Public Library.

At the awarding exercises Miss Gertrude Landmesser, Red Cross Nursing Consultant for eastern Massachusetts told the group that no community prepared to combat illness on the home front unless at least one person in ten has received instruction comparable to that given in the Red Cross Home Nursing Course.

The latest group to qualify for the Red Cross Home Nursing certificates and pins are:

Mrs. Bertha Blanchard
Miss Margaret Costello
Mrs. Louise G. Doherty
Mrs. Margaret Howe
Mrs. Virginia Lewis
Miss Joan Luongo
Mrs. Marion Manoli
Mrs. Katherine L. Meyers
Mrs. Emeline Munroe
Mrs. Mary R. Murray
Miss Mary Pabst

MISS SWYMER SHOWERED

Miss Helen Swymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. an Swymer of Richardson street, was given a surprise linen shower last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar R. Colliander, 18 Forest street, parents of Lt. Ralph Colliander, USAAF whom she is to marry tomorrow morning at St. Mary's Church.

Miss Swymer went unsuspectingly to the Colliander home upon receiving a message that a telephone call from Lt. Colliander was expected there. While chatting with Mr. and Mrs. Colliander she was surprised to see the lights go out in the living room and find a large group assembled to shower her with gifts and best wishes. After the packages were opened an impromptu entertainment program was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The highlight of the shower was the receipt of a telegram from Lt. Colliander, regretting his inability to be present and thanking the guests for their courtesy to his bride-to-be.

Lt. Colliander is on active duty in Texas. Both he and Miss Swymer are graduates of Winchester High School, class of 1940.

CHURCH ALLEGIANCE SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman will answer the questions "Why Should We Give Allegiance to the Church?" in his sermon at 11 a. m. at the Unitarian Church on Dec. 12. Is there a changed attitude toward the Church? Is there a change going on within the Church? What will be the position of the Church in the post-war world? WINCHESTER HAD FAIR FOOTBALL SEASON

Now that the regret caused by the loss of the Woburn game has lessened enough to permit a dispassionate view it becomes apparent that the current Winchester High School football team didn't do too badly, everything considered. There were a number of factors to be taken into account before finally docketing this year's club which won six, lost three and tied one.

Coach Leary of Waltham's Class A State Champions recently told the press his team had plenty of luck in hanging up its undefeated, untied championship record, and every team needs a roll or two or three from Lady Luck to go all the way without a defeat or tie. Last year's Winchester team had its luck against Stoneham, when the local boys played badly, and also against Swampscott when they played exceptionally well. This year's club just didn't have any luck, except bad luck, and that started even before the opening game when Jim Migliacci, veteran tailback and Frank Faieta, first string left end, were declared scholastically ineligible on Wednesday before Saturday's starting whistle. Had Migliacci particularly been able to play against Framingham Winchester might have tied, or even won that one, and both "Miggy" and Faieta would have helped plenty against Swampscott.

This game was Winchester's worst shellacking of the season, a 26-6 defeat, but a better break in the luck would have let the locals tie the score at 13 in the third quarter when they were playing the favored Sculpins on better than even terms. After that the game would have been far different and while Swampscott was the better team that day a lucky Winchester team could have given it merry blazes.

Winchester wasn't as good a team as many of the sidewalk quarterbacks seemed to think it was this year. It had too many fundamental weaknesses, one of which was right through the middle of the line. Tofuri, Hicks, Muehlig and Derro were neither big enough nor experienced enough to hold their own with good big linemen, and no club is a lot better than the middle of its line. A year ago Winchester's championship club had Gaspie Lentine, a demon center, and Harry Baodakian, a dependable guard who had enough weight to hold his own with the big boys.

Here too that fickle luck we were talking about dealt the locals another body blow. Coach Knowlton was counting on Charlie Lovejoy, a rugged aggressive 165 pounder for one of his guard slots. During the summer Charlie had a lump of ice fall on his arm and bone trouble developed that kept him out of competition until the Wakefield game, when of course he was away behind the team in general development. His showing against Woburn indicated what he would have been had he been able to play all season.

Again, in an effort to bolster center weakness, Coach Knowlton shifted Fran Lambiase, 170 pound blocking back, to a guard and "Lanby" promised to be just what he was looking for, a big boy strong enough to stop power plays. Just before the Reading game Lambiase developed a strep throat and was out of two games, being away below par against both Belmont and Woburn.

This year's team had only two players who had played regularly through an entire season, Capt. Ken Harvey, a dependable left tackle, and Jim Tibaudo, steady right end. Paul Amico, huge tackle, had played a lot of football but except for a short time at the end of the 1942 season as a guard he was not in the lineup regularly because of a bad knee which plagued him over two seasons and kept him on the bench almost more than he was in the lineup. Behind the line this year Winchester didn't have a single experienced back and this fact definitely lost the Framingham game and could have made a lot of difference against Swampscott.

Perhaps the thing that prevented Winchester from rising to real heights this fall was the lack of a driver or sparkplug, who had the fire or exceptional ability or both, to to inspire his team-mates when the chips were down. A Bill West or even a Batter Aswan, or Buck Ahearn, fighting, driving boys, at their best when the going was toughest, would have turned every game on this year's schedule into a victory with the possible exception of the Swampscott game, which also could have been won.

This year's club had quite an offense, a more versatile one than last year's championship team, which really had only West, all it needed perhaps you will say. Teams that faced the 1943 eleven had to worry about Sam Tibaudo, a better fullback as a sophomore than West was; "Rat" DiMambro, Winchester's fastest running back in years, if not of all time; and Tony Saraco, a real running, driving fool for all the fact that he generally weighed less than 120 pounds. This year's team got good kicking from Charlie Roche, but "Chucker" had to leave school to go south with his mother before the Woburn game.

Few teams in recent years at least have been more fun to watch than this year's club which could and did score any time it had the ball from anywhere on the field. The Woburn touchdown was set up with a 60 yd. run, the Wakefield touchdowns came on 57 and 63 yard jaunts, one Reading touchdown run covered 64 yards, the Stoneham scores, 72 and 29 yards; one Punchard touchdown canter was 73 yards and two others, 28 and 10 yards, while at Danvers four of the five touchdowns came on runs of 59, 32, 16 and 57 yards. Jimmy Haggerty, reserve back, made the 73 yard run, but the season's biggest thrill was when Rat DiMambro matched his own 59 yard nullified touchdown run at Danvers with another on the next play.

Winchester beat Lexington 26-6, Danvers 30-0, Punchard 26-0, Stoneham 27-7, Reading 14-6, Wakefield 13-6, and tied Belmont 7-7, losing to Framingham 6-12, Swampscott 6-26, and Woburn 6-7. The locals rolled up 161 points to 77 for the opposition and if you'll throw out the Woburn game, when they did everything but win, didn't do too badly. On a decent field they would have beaten Woburn at least three touchdowns in our book.

Statistically Winchester made 98 first downs and 2189 yards on the ground, or an average of about 219 a game. This should indicate the potentialities of the outfit. In the air the locals completed 72 of 81 passes for 660 yards. Winchester's opponents made 71 first downs and 1214 yards by rushing, completing 23 of 98 passes for 229 yards. Admitting this year's club was not as strong defensively as it might have been, only Framingham and Swampscott, two mighty good clubs, could score on the locals more than once.

Henry Knowlton, Winchester's popular coach, did an excellent job with just so-so material this season and deserved a lot better break than he got in games won and lost. This team of his was mighty well equipped to go places, lacking only a sparkplug or the necessary experience to get by without a pepper-upper.

Playing regularly this year were Jim Tibaudo, Dick Nihan, Don Armstrong and Phil O'Rourke, ends; Capt. Ken Harvey, Paul Amico, John Stevenson and Guy Washburn, tackle; Tom Derro, Fred Hicks, Ralph Muehlig and Fran Lambiase, guards; Carmine Tofuri and Sammy Bazzotta, centers; and Charlie Walsh, Steve Greene, Charlie Roche, Tony Saraco, Jim Haggerty, Frank DiMambro, Ted O'Rourke, and Sam Tibaudo, backs. Behind these boys was a squad of nearly 100, many of whom got into enough games to pick up valuable experience for next season.

Coach Knowlton was assisted by Amly Webster and John Stevens of the high school faculty and by big Bob Jackson, star end on last year's championship club. Dr. Philip J. McManus was team physician and Lou Goddu, trainer.

JUNE MAD

Spurred by the promise of a real laugh provider, juniors and seniors are eagerly awaiting this year's class play, "June Mad." Featured in home room notices this week are the parts of Effie and Elmer portrayed by Gin- ny Lou Olivier and Boardman O'Connor. Production date, Saturday, Dec. 18, several weeks earlier than usual, will allow the large cast, including last year's favorite (Herbert Clement and company) a welcome holiday respite from footlights and grease paint.

WITH true American courage and optimism we are all trying to make this Christmas as merry as possible. Yet in every home there's a knowledge of something lacking. A war-torn world can never know the true spirit of Christmas.

The closest we can come to the happiness of a peacetime Christmas is to look forward and try to make it possible for our boys to be home for the next holiday season.

Boy, oh boy! Merry Christmas. What a job the Great Raw Deal is doing on us little fellows! Inspections and taxes. Do this and do that. Social Security. Taxes. "If this form is not returned in minutes you will be subject". Unemployment security. Inspection. What to do on this form. How to make out that report. Conference with accountant. Conference with lawyer. If we only had enough money we would install a new accounting department. Freeze the wages. Raises for everybody but us. Don't you know there's a war on, etc., etc. The guy who invented that last tax riddle can't even make out his own return and the biggest department "little business now has is its (government) accounting branch. Well if you like it, vote for it. We won't.

THE AUSTRALIAN BALLOT?

According to the press, there was a tie vote in Hunter, New York, for the office of Town Supervisor—population 2000. The whole town is waiting for the absentee ballot of Master Sgt. Ira Gordon. His vote will decide the results.

Of course, our service men must not be denied the right to vote; but what about Master Sgt. Ira Gordon? Congress must see to it that no vote can be counted unless it arrives before counting begins, otherwise, What?

The present tactics in existence in the South are most interesting, in the Democratic New Deal Southern stronghold. In Georgia a citizen must, at election, state out loud which ballot, Democrat or Republican, even in elections, not simply primaries, as in the rest of the country! Therefore there is no real Australian ballot in Georgia.

This "absentee voter" question better be very tight, or else!

HERBERT BALDWIN DOES NOT AGREE WITH WALLACE

Vitriolic attacks upon American railroads by Vice President Henry Wallace, who charges that public transport "is again being brought under monopoly control" and that "competition has already been effectively eliminated in the making of transportion rates" and by others who would have the carriers handed over to governmental management, do not hold much water when examined in the light of the facts, Herbert L. Baldwin, Publicity Manager of the Boston and Maine Railroad and the Maine Central Railroad said Tuesday.

On the contrary, said Mr. Baldwin, addressing a dinner under the auspices of the Millinocket Chamber of Commerce at the Great Northern Hotel, "the job which our American railroads have done and are continuing to do in performing a major part in winning this war is so good that only recently both the Army and the Navy complimented all railroad men and women 'for the splendid job they are doing.'

"It is significant," said Baldwin, "that the Vice President has to dig some railroad skeletons from a past century and try to wield them into a brush to smear the managements of today. He talks at random of 'monopolies,' 'plots,' 'conspiracies,' and a lot of other things which he says happened many years ago. He charges, among other things, that 'excessive transportation rates burden agriculture, industry and trade.'"

The railroad executive, whose subject was "Railroads in War Time—An Absolute Essential" urged that his listeners, "take a look at the picture today—not in the days of railroad men long since passed on and about which the Vice President weeps.

"The Army commendation, signed by Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War; and the Navy commendation, signed by Under Secretary James Forrestal are but two of hundreds of compliments which have come to railroads all over the country from shippers, farmers, manufacturers, travelers and men and women in the armed services.

OLIVE GENTRY AS HERMAS

In a special vesper service, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12, at 5 o'clock in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church Miss Olive Gentry, a dramatic artist, will present her dramatization of Henry Van Dyke's story, "The Last Word." The service sponsored the Methodist Youth Fellowship is open to anyone in the community.

Miss Gentry, a native of California, presents the story in costume. The scene of the story is ancient Antioch, centuries ago. The theme is comparable to Goethe's "Faust" where a young man gives up the word God, for material riches and fame, only to discover how great is his mistake. The characters presented are Hermas, the young man; Athenais, his wife; Demetrius, his father; John of Antioch, his preacher; and Marcion, a priest of Apollo.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Miss Annette Robinson, Bert Moore, Miss Barbara Galucia and the minister, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Tribute to Theodore W. Monroe

It was VOTED: That by this resolution the present members of the Board of Selectmen record their recognition of the great loss to the Town of Winchester occasioned by the untimely death of Theodore William Monroe, who served Winchester faithfully and with distinction as a member of and subsequently as chairman of its Finance Committee, and from March 1942 to March 1943 as a member of the Board of Selectmen; and of their irreparable personal loss to those who have served on this Board with him or who have otherwise been privileged to know him well.

The town hall has been granted to the Civilian Defense on Dec. 18, 19 and 20 for the President's Relief Control Committee's salvage of clothing for allied countries. Clothing is to be received on Saturday and sorted on Sunday, for shipment Monday.

Notice has been received of Civil Service Examinations for patrolmen to be held Jan. 29, 1944.

All town departments have been notified that the Warrant for the 1944 town meeting will be closed on Jan. 17 at 8 p. m.

The Board met with the sub-committee of the finance committee on wages and salaries, and after discussion the Board was unanimous in the opinion that the 1943 bonus plan should be continued in 1944.

PENNIMAN NOW AVIATION CADET

John G. Penniman, Jr., 20, son of Mr. John G. Penniman of 36 Everett avenue was recently appointed a naval aviation cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Fla., for intermediate flight training. Prior to entering the naval service, he attended Princeton University for two years where he was quite prominent in various sports.

Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the Unitarian Church, was invited Wednesday evening to attend a meeting in Stoneham, called to hear plans discussed for a Boys and Girls Club in that town. Mr. Chapman is intensely interested in combatting the tendency toward a juvenile delinquency with a positive and constructive program of activities. His known interest prompted the Stoneham group to invite him to their meeting that he might give them the benefit of his own ideas and experience.

THE STILL NIGHT
(St. Luke 2:7-14)

The still night,
The Shepherds watched their sheep,
Peace, in mantle of love, dwelt there,
Above, the stars shone bright,
There in the East was a star more luminous than them all.
It moved! It journeyed on, until it rested where Jesus the Christ Child lay.
A glorious light filled all the sky that night.
Where Shepherds gazed in awe.
And lo! an angel came and told the wondrous story of the Christ Child's birth,
And, "Suddenly with the Angel came a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,
Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace, good will toward men."
God's wondrous gift to us is ours to claim,
Let all the world the blessed news proclaim,
And rise and sing hosannas to our King, Jesus Christ our Saviour,
He is our Redeemer, He is the gift of love from God above.
He is our Peace, He is our Victory,
He alone brings to this old waring world
The peace that works by love.
The peace that endures,
The balm that cures all strife,
And gives to all the world fullness of life,
Holy joy, a love that has no alloy,
An Eternal peace.
Rise ye Nations, rise and sing glad hosannas to Jesus Christ, our King, our blessed holy Lord.
Kneel thou in adoration.
Sing forth His praise,
And serve thou Him throughout Eternal days.
Hosanna, hosanna, hosanna.

The following citation from II Thessalonians 3:3, The Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil, comprises the Golden Text to be used in the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, Dec. 12, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all of its branches.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be God the Preserver of Man and included in the Scriptural selections is: Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength (Isaiah 40:28, 29).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, The Scriptures say, They that wait upon the Lord . . . shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint. The meaning of that passage is not perverted by applying it literally to moments of fatigue, for the moral and physical are as one in their results (p. 218).

LINCOLN SCHOOL NOTES

For the past week, the boys and girls of the Lincoln School have been making an extensive drive collecting newspapers, magazines and cardboard for the war effort.

That they have been most untiring is borne out by the fact that in this short period of time 6500 lbs. have been collected.

Not only have they aided the salvage drive, but they themselves have derived benefits, becoming familiar with the use of scales, weighing the different loads, adding results, and keeping records.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

A man who knew added his approval of one somewhat unusual kind of salvaging which friends of British War Relief keep in mind, the bits of rug or carpet. That commander had felt the temperature of floors on a steel ship plying in waters of the north and he assured a Winchester giver that he would have been very thankful for a warm bit of wool on such a floor on some of his voyages. A lot of winter is still ahead, and salvaged pieces of worn carpet or rugs will be received and started on their way any Wednesday.

Salvaging the forgotten things of yesterday and converting them into present use is a weekly achievement of those pastmasters of the art, Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Weeks. When the wool filling of a puff retired to a Winchester attic some years ago and went on the shelf with pieces of flowered cotton, neither expected to return to active life and go overseas to a hospital or an orphan children's hostel. But last week they went as a pretty wool-filled puff. And this week saw another finished, dainty on the outside, warm with interlining of salvaged worn blankets, washable and practical. "I don't know whether you can make any use of this," often say apologetic givers. The answer from the skillful re-makers is usually, "Yes."

This week's four consignments for the packing room in Boston included a dozen new flannel dresses for girls, made with the Winchester touch of prettiness and five dainty jackets for babies from home knitters went winter-wear, socks, seaboot stockings and gloves. Gloves, mittens and sweaters for the navy are urgently needed, and knitters are reminded to supply themselves with yarn before the workroom closes for a fortnight, Dec. 15.

ELKS SLIPPER CAMPAIGN

McCormack's Pharmacy in its Church street window has an interesting display showing how waste cloth of various kinds is being used to make slippers for disabled veterans. Winchester Lodge of Elks is actively interested in the campaign, sponsored by the Grand Lodge, to provide the slippers for veterans and any who can donate old clothing and rags suitable to manufacture into slippers is urged to contact any of the lodge officers. The Lodge also wants packs of playing cards for servicemen and these may be left at McCormack's.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The annual bazaar held on last Tuesday, Dec. 7, in Lyceum Hall was a grand success. The tables flanking either side of the hall were beautiful and simply loaded down with attractive and useful articles. Everything was sold out before night and the ladies were truly rewarded for the many hours of labor entailed.

Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian as general chairman of the bazaar is very grateful to our kind members and friends who made it successful. The stage was converted into an old fashioned living room. An old table with a colorful cloth, a Boston rocker, a couch with an afghan, some old fashioned chairs, and best of all some lovely paintings on the walls, contrived to convey the impression of a cozy room. Afterwards the paintings were sold as well as the many potted plants which was served as decorations.

Luncheon was served by a corps of busy workers who saw that every guest had plenty of good home-cooked food, served piping hot. Two very special guests for luncheon were our new spiritual director, Rev. Fr. James H. Doyle and his assistant, Father Kennedy.

Father Doyle was presented with the annual Christmas gift from the Guild, a large bundle of beautiful handmade layettes for the needy infants of the Charitable Bureau. These little babies will be warmly and comfortably clothed for the coming winter, and we feel well repaid for the hours spent in making these dainty garments.

Due to the busy pre-holiday season, there will be no meeting until after Christmas. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Dec. 28 in Lyceum Hall. This will be a dessert bridge in aid of the Medford table. Mrs. Frank Gavaghan will be in charge of arrangements.

Merry Christmas, everybody?

THIS YEAR, when you wish everybody Merry Christmas, think of the millions of American boys who aren't having such a merry time.

Think of the wounded soldiers in Italy, the half-frozen sailors on the Atlantic, the marines in Jap-infested jungles, the American captives behind Nazi barbed wire—

You'll find it a little easier to think about them if you're doing everything you can do to help the cause they're fighting for.

How can you help?
By buying extra War Bonds.

Buy extra Bonds for Christmas gifts.
Buy extra Bonds for the boys overseas.
Buy extra Bonds for yourself and your family.

And remember this:

Every time you buy an extra Bond, you not only help pay for the guns and ships and planes that these boys must have—you also help bring nearer the day when they, like you, can gather around the Christmas tree with their wives and children and mothers and sweethearts and friends and say, "Merry Christmas, everybody!"

CHILDREN'S MUSIC GROUP

The 50 children of the Children's Music Group are eagerly looking forward to Sunday, Dec. 12, when at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the Country Club, they will be whisked away in time and space and become simple peasants in an old village of Southern France. They will be dressed in colorful peasant costumes and will reenact the Christmas story as it has been done in old Provence for hundreds of years. In order to make the transition as real as possible members of their families, who are invited to be their guests that afternoon, are asked also to come in costume.

If Christmas is to be saved from desecration and kept sacred its sentiments must be revived year by year in the joyful celebration of old rites which express the charm and sweetness of simple faith. This the Music Group is trying to do.

Consequently during the first part of the festival, St. Nicholas will come, not as the Northern Santa Claus, but as the kindly Bishop of Myra, whom tradition says was a man of great virtue and piety who loved children and who comes each year on the eleven of December, St. Nicholas Day, to reward the good children and punish and naughty. The children, led by Ann Alberee, will then bring in the Wassail Bowl, and all will be merry.

The second part of the festival will be the celebration that is traditionally held on Christmas Eve. This begins with the ceremony of bringing in the Yule Log. Before the [illegible] a procession of the symbols of the [illegible] customs, and ending in the [illegible] Nativity [illegible] Royal Children will [illegible] Herod, the [illegible] Nativity [illegible] the procession [illegible] Caroling, led by the children [illegible] ing the Christ Child and followed by the children of the village. At the Creche, as the midnight bells ring, the cast is laid in the manger and the candles around the Creche are lighted. Ruth Miller will represent Mary, Barbara Hamilton, Joseph; and Patsy Wilding, an Angel. Various groups now bring gifts to the Christ Child, singing, as they come, the quaintly beautiful noels that have grown up about these customs. The old rites conclude as the whole village sings around the Creche.

Mrs. John Carr is directing the festival and is being assisted by Mrs. Leon Sargent, Mrs. Robert Drake, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Bradford Hersey, Mrs. Carlo Zimmerman, Mrs. Lester Spofford and other mothers of children in the group.

John Hobkworth will play the clarinet and a group of high school girls, former members of the Music Group, Barbara A. Smith, Ann Thompson, Marylyn Drake, Edith Hoover, Suzanne Hight and Dorothy Carr will assist in the singing.

SUNDAY EVENING SONG SERVICE AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The speaker Sunday night, Dec. 12 will be Capt. Everett Gardiner, Chaplain U. S. Army. He has been working with service men in and around Boston Harbor for about three years. He is now stationed at Fort Devens and has a real live message to present.

Capt. Gardiner is a very popular speaker throughout New England and recently was guest speaker at New Hampshire Baptist State Convention and also at Andover-Newton. Come and hear him.

Next Sunday night, Dec. 19 the guest speaker will be Rev. Henry E. Hodge of Melrose, former pastor of the Baptist Church. Special feature will be an "Old Home Night" program and old friends of the church are especially invited.

CHRISTMAS IN SOUTH AMERICA

Christmas in South America will be the program for the Pan American evening at the Winchester Public Library next week Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be native South American speakers to tell about their Christmas customs and one of the features will be Spanish Christmas carols sung by a group of Radcliffe College girls.

The program will be under the direction of Senor Jose Godoy, president of the Spanish Club in Boston, and teacher of the advanced Spanish class that is being held weekly at the public library in Winchester.

The carols will be presented by Miss Susan Godoy who received her master's degree in music at Radcliffe last June.

This music program is made possible by the generosity of Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, president of the Winchester Fortnightly, who has loaned her piano to the library.

The Pan American Evenings at the library are sponsored by the trustees of the library in conjunction with the Pan American Society of Massachusetts.

DEHYDRATION — as a modern weapon of war — saves valuable cargo space by concentrating the essential values of foodstuffs, eliminating the unessential. Untold tons of milk, eggs, vegetables and fruits are sent to our Armed Forces overseas in dehydrated form.

Like ship bottoms, long distance lines between centers of war activity are now at a premium. All possible time on these circuits must be conserved for war calls

SALVATION ARMY EXTENDS GRATITUDE

The Salvation Army wishes to extend its gratitude to all those friends in Winchester who so generously contributed their time, effort and financial support to the annual appeal in this community.

Special recognition and a deep appreciation go out to the chairman of the Local Sponsoring Committee, William N. Beggs, and to Donald J. Lewis, campaign treasurer along with an extra measure for the chairman of the Women's Division, Mrs. Harold Farnsworth. These men and women of the sponsoring committee, by lending their names and support to the Army's campaign, are greatly responsible for the confidence and enthusiasm maintained throughout the drive. The volunteer workers performed a difficult task in their collection work for the drive, but one which will repay them in the deep, inner satisfaction of a job well done.

Last year, the returns from the annual appeal totaled $2658.63; this year that sum was topped with a final return of $2838.96.

Throughout the coming year, the Salvation Army asks its friends in Winchester to try and become better acquainted with the activities of the Army. Try to visit its up-to-the-minute Stanford Street Day Nursery or the South End Boys' Club, which is one answer to the prevention of juvenile delinquency. Maybe you will find time to drop in at one of the Red Shield Clubs, in short, get to know the Salvation Army in action, meet it face to face.

"IF there's anything really funny about being in Egypt and missing Christmas in New Hampshire," writes one of our Boston and Maine men in the Army, "perhaps it's the thought I had on Thanksgiving Day. Sitting toasting my — er, — shins on the sand here, it occurred to me that I won't have to use a snow shovel this winter.

"But, oh boy! I'd give anything right now to be able to hear the section foreman yell: 'Get those snow shovels out, boys. They're hiring an extra gang to help us. Blizzard due tonight.'"

With winter hard upon us — and snow shovels already in use along the northern rim of our Boston and Maine lines in New Hampshire and Maine — our dual job of supplying continuous transportation to the home front and towards the war fronts is becoming increasingly tough. For come blizzard or blitzkrieg, nothing must delay the steady flow of war goods, food, and fighting men to the fighting fronts.

We think you'll agree that in normal times, with extra help ours for the hiring, we've been able to cope with snow and sub-zero temperatures pretty satisfactorily. We hope we'll have as good a record this winter.

But with over 2,900 of our men now in uniform, and new employees harder to get than butter, the problem of the snow shovel is going to be a real one whenever snow falls this year. Despite all our railroad's modern snow fighting machinery and the efficiency of our regular forces in blizzard emergencies, there are places, especially in yards and at switches, where the old-fashioned shovel with a man or woman behind it is still a necessity of keeping the wheels turning in wintertime.

So, if some morning this winter you find that your station platform isn't shoveled properly, your train runs late, the cars are cold, or you are delayed enroute, please remember that every one of us on the railroad is doing his very best.

We can tell you, frankly, that troop trains and freight trains moving necessary war materials are the "coddled babies" today. Move them first is the order.

We're pretty sure you'll take any discomforts you may encounter with a sort of "well, wading in snow isn't as bad as wading through a jungle, and after all snowflakes are better than bombs".

You may all be sure we shall not ask you to take any discomforts if we possibly can avoid doing so.

FIRST CHINESE SHOW HAD PRE-VIEW

On Tuesday evening, president Lyle Bush of the Winchester Art Association opened the preview of the first Chinese Art Exhibition ever held in Winchester. In introducing Mrs. Helen Van Gorder of Newton, speaker for the evening, he suggested the difference between Western and Eastern Art in the desires of two characteristic artists, Giotto wishing to paint a fly so realistically that the observer might wish to touch it; the oriental master wishing that before his brush strokes dried his dragon would leap into life.

Mrs. Van Gorder, whose tranquil charm bespoke her many years in the Orient, carried this theme of the spiritual force and cultural background of all great Chinese Art, be it painting, lacquering, or embroidery, down through the ages. She reminded her audience that China has a past extending into the 25th century B. C.; that when the peoples of western world had not yet emerged from savagery, China's civilization had reached its golden age; that cotton and silk were being woven in 2000 B. C. in China; that in the 18th century more pages written and printed existed in Chinese than in all other languages put together.

The high spot of the evening was reached, when Mrs. Van Gorder, to illustrate Chinese symbols, asked Mesdames Coles and Whitney of Newton, and Miss Josephine Durrell of Melrose garbed in richly embroidered silk gowns, formerly worn by royalty and families of high Chinese officials, to circulate through the gallery that all might observe closely the exquisite refinement of the handiwork. The speaker's talk provided a key to understanding the Chinese and their cultural contributions to the world. In the spring, Mrs. Van Gorder, will once again open to groups for the benefit of United China relief, her "moongate" home, built especially around her Chinese garden to house her priceless Chinese treasures.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Gerald Curtis and Mrs. Alfred Lawson, the latter being responsible for the festive table, with its stylized wooden Christmas tree, painted in pastels, holding 21 lighted candles. Mrs. Edith Caverly and Mrs. Blanche S. Bernard poured punch from silver pitchers on Sheffield trays, adding an especially decorative note to the occasion by their lovely antique Chinese gowns; as did Mrs. Lawrence McPeake in serving.

All numbered wall pieces of the Robinson collection are for sale for the benefit of United China Relief, and the exhibit will remain open daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. through Dec. 20.

LECTURE BY DR. TOZIER

A capacity audience greeted Dr. Charles H. Tozier at the First Congregational Church Tuesday evening, when he showed slides and motion pictures of restored Williamsburg, Va.

This was the first public showing of these pictures, which Dr. Tozier took at the request of John D. Rockefeller, who financed the restoration of the ancient capital of Virginia. The pictures were in color, some of them taken under most difficult conditions, and by special permission of Mr. Rockefeller. Pictures of people dressed in the gorgeous costumes of Colonial days were thrown on the screen, and interiors of old buildings, including the church, the Governor's mansion, the jail, the inn, the Capitol and other buildings fascinated the large audience.

As a bonus, Dr. Tozier also showed motion pictures of flowers in the act of blooming, many of them from Mrs. Wadsworth's greenhouse, here in Winchester. By compressing four days in the life of an unfolding flower into four seconds, Dr. Tozier achieved some remarkable effects, which left the audience gasping with surprise.

If the opportunity is ever presented again in Winchester for people to see these pictures, no one should miss this remarkable display.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP TALES

We hear that Troop 1 celebrated its first birthday with a registration ceremony and party. Mrs. Foster Spofford, Mrs. Edward Zinn and Mrs. A. H. Warner are leaders for this troop and they had invited the troop committee to take part in their celebration. They were in luck to have all his committee there and Mrs. Adin Bailey, Mrs. Robert Keeney, Mrs. Edwin Rice and Mrs. Francis McCall helped to make the affair a happy success. The girls had arranged their own hospitality and refreshments were served by Dorothy Burracher, Joan Scott, Marjory Bughee, Priscilla Turner, Ann Barrett, Beverly Gay and Martha Knowlton.

This troop is made up of seventh grade girls and they just aren't party girls, they have their serious side to such as donating a week's dues to the United War Fund drive and selling defense stamps on Saturday at Woolworths.

Ruth Halm reports for Troop 6 that the girls taking the arts and crafts badge have finished it with their consultant Mrs. Votaw, and Mrs. Morse has announced that all the girls taking the first aid course under her instruction passed with flying colors.

Troop 6 is divided into three patrols and have chosen the following names and leaders: Minute Man, Leader, Ruth Halm, assistant, Cynthia Morse. Crusaders, Leader, Louis Freeman, assistant, Betsey Chilcott. Bluebells, Leader, Linda Bartlett, assistant, Jakie Fritch. The girls who were new to this troop this year enjoyed a pleasant afternoon with Miss Mead at the Public Library who showed them through so that they will be familiar with where the books are located and will take advantage of this precious opportunity.

At 2:18 there was a grass fire on town land at the rear of the Bryer farm on Washington street and at 4:58 there was a woods fire at Ridge street and Hutchinson road. The worst fire was that set by boys at 5:30 at the rear of the Eastern Felt Mill on Canal street the flames extending well into Wildwood Cemetery. Box 48 was put on at 5:30 and the firemen twice had to call for additional help before the blaze was finally extinguished. Water Supt. Harry Dotten picked up two boys at the fire and took them to Headquarters where they were questioned. Since there was more or less doubt as to whether they were spreading the fire or helping, as they contended, to put it out they were permitted to go.

He had been a resident of Arlington for the past 15 years, making his home with his mother, Mrs. Ellen (O'Connell) Mathews, who is a native of this town. His father, the late Joseph Mathews was a brother of the late Bernard Mathews, for many years a barber in Winchester and a member of the Board of Registrars of Voters.

The deceased was born in Charlestown, but lived in Winchester as a boy and attended the Winchester schools. He was employed as a clerk in the Bowdoin Square offices of the New Telephone and Telegraph Company. His mother is his only survivor.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the funeral home of Moffett and McMullen at 9 o'clock with high mass of requiem at St. Jerome's Church on Lake street in Arlington at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

DUBE—PARSONS

In an attractive setting of green and white, at Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 11, Miss Priscilla Anne Parsons, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Snow Parsons of Bacon street, became the bride of Lt. Bertram Hubert Dube, USA, son of Mr. Alphonse A. Dube of Fall River and the late Mrs. Dube. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the church, read the candle-light service at 4 o'clock, and the bridal music was played by the church organist and choirmaster, J. Albert Wilson.

Miss Parsons was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory slipper satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a bouffant skirt that extended to form a full train. A Florentine veil, loaned to the bride by her cousin, fell from a Mary Stuart cap, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Malcolm D. Bennett (Sally Parsons) of Winchester was her sister's honor attendant and a small niece of the bride, Miss Lee Whitney Parsons of West Roxbury, was flower girl. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn K. Slocum of Pelham Manor, N. Y., a classmate of the bride at Arlington Hall; and Mrs. Roger W. Hickox of Drexel Hill, Pa.

Mrs. Bennett wore a dress of gold satin brocade with a hat of gold ostrich feathers. Her flowers were American Beauty roses and gardenias, cascading from a muff of material matching her dress.

The bridesmaids wore dresses and hats like those of the matron of honor, but carried only American Beauty roses with their matching muffs. The flower girl wore a frock of the same material and style as the bridesmaids, but her head-dress was a halo of gold ostrich feathers and she carried a nosegay muff.

Raymond A. Dube of Salem was best man for his brother and the usher corps included Granville P. Ryan, Jr., of Boston, Charles H. Learoyd, Jr., of Marblehead, Lt. Richard A. Maher, USNR, of Arlington; and Malcolm D. Bennett of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with American Beauty and white roses and ferns. Mrs. Parsons, the bride's mother, wore a green crepe dinner dress with a fuchsia hat and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's step mother, Mrs. Dube, wore a gown combining a blue chiffon blouse with a black silk jersey skirt and matching hat. She also wore an orchid.

Lt. Dube and his bride left on Dec. 14 for California where the bridegroom is on active duty in the Army Aircraft service.

The bride attended Arlington Hall Junior College in Washington, D. C. and Lt. Dube, Bardett College of Boston University. Before entering in the Army he was associated with Babson Reports, in Wellesley.

Dancing followed the presentations and everyone had such a good time that they promised to again attend upon the occasion of the Leos' golden wedding anniversary.

Irving Reardon on Wednesday got a line on three Winchester boys, all of whom were arraigned by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy at Police Headquarters on Thursday morning.

According to the Police one of the three boys could not be connected with the marking, but the authorities were satisfied that the other two were implicated and they will be summoned into court.

RILEY WON DECORATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Riley of Church street have been notified by the War Department that their son, 1st Lt. Richard F. Riley, USAAF, now a prisoner of war in Germany, has been awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster for exceptionally meritorious achievement. The Cluster has been sent to Lt. Riley's parents, and as a foot-note to the accompanying citation was the information that the young aviator had previously been awarded the Air Medal. He was attached to the "8th" Bombardment Group.

Lt. Riley was forced down last Oct. 17 during the Allied raid over Regensburg. He was at first reported as missing but on Sept. 22 was reported by the Red Cross as a prisoner of war.

A graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1931, Lt. Riley also recently graduated from Oberlin College and from the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance. He was a member of the varsity tennis teams both school and college and is one of Winchester's best players, having held town championships in men's and mixed doubles. He enlisted in the Air Forces in April 1941 and arrived in England last May. He was forced down on Aug. 15 while serving as squadron navigating officer on the shuttle raid from England to Africa. The citation which accompanied his Oak Leaf Cluster follows:

"For exceptionally meritorious achievement, while participating in five separate bomber combat missions over enemy occupied Continental Europe. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this officer upon these occasions reflects great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

TOWN BEHIND IN QUOTA

Although Winchester has gone over its quota on a good many of its bond sales and community fund drives, it has not as yet filled hour on hour by only 40 per cent. The fact is being called to the town's attention by the Rotary Club, Winchester people who desire to remedy this defect should read the ads elsewhere in this issue. Grocers especially are needed, as only 6% are attending the blood bank.

CHINESE ART SHOW INTERESTING

In keeping with its policy of bringing the more unusual, as well as the familiar art forms to Winchester, the Winchester Art Association is sponsoring an exhibition of Chinese Art in the Public Library gallery during December.

For a traveling show this exhibition is unusually good, and augmented as it is by Chinese art objects loaned by residents of Winchester, it becomes doubly interesting. Lovers of oriental craftsmanship will need no urging to see it. Those less familiar should take this easy opportunity of acquainting themselves with art that is the result of a culture old before this "brave new world" was known.

Chinese paintings are not easy to describe, and at first glance seem very much alike insofar as colors and design are concerned. Careful inspection discloses however that each has its differentiating characteristics, all carefully worked out with the pains taking attention to detail and delicacy of line and color which is the hall-mark of the oriental artist.

Included in the local show are interesting long scrolls of Chinese red with black characters and gold tracery, landscapes and marines, some bearing the red critic scrolls; filial groups, remarkable for the delination of the features; framed pictures from Chinese albums beautifully done flowers and several large ancestor portraits.

These last, the most striking of the paintings, except for those very colorful symbollic figures which somehow remind one of the outside of firecracker packages, are most interesting.

Each portrait is an actual likeness of a member of a Chinese family of some social position. Those acquainted with Chinese life say it is the custom to have artists paint portraits of men and women as they grow old, leaving the faces unfinished until after death, because the Chinese believe soothing of the soul is lost if the face is reproduced. After death these portraits are brought out to worship at New Year's.

On the chest of each person is a Mandarin square indicating the rank. If the square bears a bird, he is in the civic service, if an animal, in the military. The strings of beads around the necks also indicate rank, and the hands and feet are covered because that was required when the official made obeisance to the Emperor. Along the bottom of each robe is a design with the waves of the sea.

The Chinese art objects shown are most interesting. There are lion gods that guard temples and hideous demons that are placed on the roofs of houses to ward off evil spirits. Most unusual are beetle bowls with covers in which are housed Chinese fighting beetles. There are antique bronze goddesses, Kuan-yin, goddess of compassion, and the goddess of children; incense burners of several types, a jade Foodog and several beautiful pieces of silkstone and jade.

Among the pieces of cloisonne is a strikingly unusual plate with a fish design. There is also a porcelain tile on a stand and the official seal of John Fowler, who was born in Winchester and served as Consul General to China for 27 years. As intriguing as anything in the show is a paint-brush jar, exquisitely carved from a single section of bone, depicting the story of the Seven Philosophers in the Bamboo Grove.

Most of the pictures in the local show are for sale with the funds going to aid United China Relief. The exhibition will continue at the library until Dec. 29.

$5,000 PENNIES COLLECTED BY FORUM MEMBERS

Record low temperature and a 50 mile gale didn't dampen the spirits of the Forum members when they decided to help the government collecting the lazy pennies from Winchester and get them back into circulation. One hundred Forum members participated in the hunt. The largest number was brought in by David Sargent. The largest number brought in by a team of two was collected by Patsy Eberle and Pat Patterson.

The Penny Hunt was headed by Ted Atkinson, the president and assisted by Charlie Lovejoy, the treasurer. Committee members included: Steve Greene, Don Armstrong, and Gordon McGovern.

The Forum collected the pennies in co-operation with the Winchester National Bank. Mr. Leslie Scott, treasurer of the bank arranged with the Shawmut National Bank of Boston to send an armored car to Winchester on Saturday at 5 o'clock to take the pennies to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

P. T. FOLEY, Assessor

ELECTED TO COUNTY EXECUTIVE BOARD

Mr. P. T. Foley, member of Winchester's Board of Assessors and local real estate and insurance broker, was elected to the executive board of the County Assessors at their meeting in Wakefield on Dec. 9.

The entire Winchester Board attended the meeting which opened at 10 in the morning and continued after luncheon until 4:15. Post war problems were discussed at some length with especial attention being given to the matter of abatements for veterans of World War 2, new legislation dealing with this matter having recently been passed by the State Legislature.

The new act enables Assessors to abate taxes of men in service up to $300 if in the opinion of the Assessors the war has worked a hardship on the service men.

The Winchester Board of Assessors will gladly explain service men's tax rights to any who wish this information.

ELKS SLIPPER CAMPAIGN

Windows in Hevey's and McCormack's drug stores are showing interesting displays in connection with the Elks Slipper Campaign. Materials used in the manufacture of these slippers are shown as well as the finished product. The materials are being collected by Elks Lodges all over the state, cleaned and shipped for the manufacturing of the slippers.

The Elks of Massachusetts are working to have 60,000 pairs of these slippers manufactured and furnished to disabled servicemen in hospitals in Massachusetts.

In visiting the hospitals throughout the state where servicemen are being hospitalized, Harry McGrath, P. E. R., of Winchester Lodge, and chairman of the Massachusetts Elks Association Hospital Committee, is pleased to report that our government is doing remarkable work in the medical care of these men who are being returned as a result of the present war.

Every effort should be made to make their convalescence as comfortable as possible, and all can help in this vital and practical service to the war effort by contributing such types of material as used rugs, carpets, seat covers, ticking, draperies, dress goods and other similar materials.

These may be left at either McCormack's or Hevey's or they will be called for by telephoning Mr. Joseph Peel at Win. 1066, or Mr. Harry McGrath, at Win. 1898.

There is also an urgent need for playing cards for the use of these men in hospitals.

Many homes have packs of cards either discarded or lying idle. Contributions of these cards may be made at either store.

These veterans who have helped us will greatly appreciate our helping them.

The reading of "The Patriot" by Mrs. Mary M. Russell of Arlington, was a treat long to be remembered.

The Star learned quite by accident yesterday that Miss Palmer, retired member of mathematics at Winchester High School, whom we have missed on her accustomed walks about the town, is now located at the home of Mrs. Margaret J. Nauffts, 12 Wedge Pond road. We know her many friends and former pupils will want to extend Her Christmas greetings and join the Star in congratulations upon the occasion of her birthday which falls on Dec. 31. She will be 75 on that day, but it can be said of her only superficially that she has grown old gracefully, for she has actually grown old at all, at least in spirit, which is what really counts.

Winchester has been plagued of late by some one, or several who seem to think it is fun to mark up buildings, either with names or quotations, some of which are in questionable taste. The latest example is the defacing of a newly painted business block in the square, though at a recent show in the town hall examples of a misplaced decorative urge were found. The big high school football schedule at the side of McCormack's Pharmacy has been literally plastered with scrawls, many done by students and even members of the football squad. This inscribing names on other people's property is no new idea. The author of the old time verse, "Fools' names, like their faces, are always seen in public places" probably penned that little gem after reading his newly painted building, wall or fence marked up with initials or bon mots of one sort or another. The defacing of public property has nothing at all to commend it, and as we said before there has been a rather noticeable amount of it in Winchester lately. Chief Rogers promises no sympathy at all for anyone caught marking up buildings in Winchester who chances to fall into his hands.

It was reassuring to hear Chairman Lybeck of the School Committee say at the All Sports Banquet at the high school last Saturday evening that steps are being taken to definitely determine whether it is possible to make the Shore road athletic field a fit place to play football. It was also nice to realize that the School Committee has a field house in mind and hopes to see one in use within a reasonable length of time. Unfortunately all those who will have a voice in the final decision about the Shore road field are not as interested in football as Mr. Lybeck, nor have they, as he has, gone around with the high school team to other communities where Winchester regularly plays. If they had done so, there could not be any, as we on-lookers there are, who still think that the Shore road field has a good playing surface. The plain truth of the matter is that it is the worst field on which Winchester plays anywhere. By comparison, poor old Wedgemere Field, with practically all its surface long since gone, is a Harvard Stadium. We are blaming no one for what has happened. The Park Commissioners, in constructing the Shore road field, have surely greatly improved the appearance of what was once an eye-sore on the approach to the center. Perhaps the field can still, at reasonable expense, be made fit for football and the erection of decent seating facilities and a field-house. That is what this survey which is being conducted is going to determine. When the decision is in the next step will of course be up to the town. It surely has quite a large investment in the Shore road field. Perhaps it does more as a park for a certain type of use. It surely is far from a credit to the town as it now stands—there are times when we should welcome it as the town's athletic place to play football.

BEST WISHES FROM MAJOR CLARK

To the Editor of the Star:

Will you be good enough to extend my best wishes for the Christmas season to friends and patrons back home. You may be sure I think frequently of Winchester and what a grand place it is by comparison with every other place I see. I was in North Africa for a while and have now been in Italy since close to the start of things here. We have been extremely busy. Believe me, the boys over here are a wonderful lot and are going through plenty. The term "Sunny Italy" we have concluded is a gross misnomer.

The Star catches up even though six to eight weeks old and is always a source of interest.

Here's to an eventful New Year.

Pupil of Eye Not Black

The round opening in the center of the eye (called the pupil) is really not black at all, as it appears, but is absolutely without color, asserts a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. The reason it looks black is that you look through it into the dark chamber of the eye. It is just like looking into a dark room through an open door—the doorway is not black; neither is the pupil of the eye. The eye is like a camera, and the pupil like the shutter that opens into the camera. A round muscle, the iris, surrounds the pupil and opens and closes it to regulate the amount of light entering the eye.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

A full meeting of members and guests attended the regular weekly luncheon of the Winchester Rotary Club yesterday noon. President Ernest presided and important plans were discussed during the following meeting. The club was active in its welcome of fellow member Jim Quinn, who was honored by a delegation upon his arrival and escorted to the head table in style.

The club voted to hold a January evening meeting at the Winchester Country Club. R. H. B. Smith, chairman of the committee in charge of the coming Red Cross drive, outlined the plans now being made and solicited the aid of the club in this important community feature.

The speaker was Mr. William J. Fortune, assistant vice-president of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

For many years Mr. Fortune has been active in civic affairs. He was vice chairman of the first Community Drive campaign and has been identified with the fund in various capacities since that time. He was also acting chairman of the Industrial Division of the Red Cross in 1935 and chairman in 1939.

He is bullish on New England and has followed economic trends very closely, particularly in relation to New England business. For several years, he has been advisor to the Bureau of New England Affairs of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and at the present time is on the Aeronautical Committee of the Chamber. He has been actively interested in the New England Council from its inception and has served as acting chairman of the Finance Committee.

He is a forceful speaker and is much in demand throughout New England at Chambers of Commerce and Civic Clubs.

Early Skyscrapers

In Edinburgh, Scotland, are still some of the first "skyscrapers." These are houses built very high because the space within the city walls was so restricted.

Eisenach Is Historic

The tiny city of Eisenach, Germany, famed for historic Wartburg castle, is also the place where Martin Luther retired under the pseudonym of "Junker George" to translate the Bible into German.

Colors of Plan

Red in the flag is for courage, zeal, bravery; white is for purity, cleanness of life and rectitude of conduct; blue is for loyalty, devotion, friendship, justice and truth. The star is an ancient symbol which signifies dominion and sovereignty. Washington in his letter to the Senate of the flag: "We take the stars from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes. This showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

Can't Compel Thrift

While an employer may compel those who work under him to save a certain portion of their earnings, actual experience along these lines has shown that this practice arouses resentment and prejudice and that infinitely more harm than good is done. Thrift Magazine.

"Gates of Sorrow"

Babel Mandeb a body of water with a name meaning "gates of sorrow" is a strait connecting the Indian ocean and the Red sea. It separates the southeastern part of Arabia from the continent of Africa. Near the African coast are the volcanic islets, Eight Brothers. The strait offers so many dangers to small vessels that the name meaning gates of sorrow was given to it.

'Ride on a Rail' Punishment

One form of disciplinary punishment for soldiers in the early days consisted of sentencing them to ride what the men called the wooden horse. The sentence came from the commander and the men carried it out. They made the offender straddle a bent sapling and then tossed and jolted him until he was quite willing to say "uncle" to each man in the company—or say whatever it was they said in those days.

Learn to Love Their Rugs

In Persia, Turkey and other Asiatic countries, whole families sometimes spend many years in weaving a fine rug and come to regard it with such affection, says a writer in Collier's Weekly, that they often sew a note on the rug, asking future owners to be kind to it.

GAS IS ESSENTIAL TO OUR NATION'S WAR EFFORT

Gas is vital to war production . . . so are the coal, oil, transportation and manpower utilized in its manufacture. To conserve these essential resources our government has asked all gas companies to urge their customers to save gas wherever possible.

The War Production Board asks that you observe these rules:

• Don't use your gas range oven for kitchen heating • Low blue flame is best for surface cooking — turn heat down when liquids boil • Use hot water sparingly • Repair leaky faucets • Close refrigerator door promptly — defrost often — don't overcrowd shelves — don't put hot foods in refrigerator • If your home is gas heated, set thermostat at not over 65 degrees.

HARRY J. McCALL

Harry J. McCaul of 12 Park road a resident of Winchester for the past 20 years, died at a Boston hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 14, after a short illness.

Mr. McCaul was the son of James and Margaret (Johnson) McCall. He was born in Ireland 53 years ago, but had been for many years in this country, for the past 20 years being associated with the Parker and Lane Company in t is town as a weigher of coal. He was a member of Winchester Counc l 210, Knights of Columbus; and of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Parish.

Mr. McCaul leaves his wife, Mrs. Helen E. McCaul; two daughters, Miss Mary E. McCaul and Mrs. Clifton Woodward, both of Winchester; a son, Harry J. McCaul, Jr., of this town; three sisters, Mrs. John Donovan, Mrs. Walter Lux, both of Woburn, and Mrs. Mary Hinds of Buffalo, N. SPOKE AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Last Sunday evening, Capt. Everett Gardiner, Chaplain with the U. S. Army, located at the Boston Forts, spoke at the Baptist Church at their 7 to 8 p. m. meeting, especially for those who have dear ones in the service. The men conduct these meetings and in addition to a rousing song feast, letters from the boys are read. You gain much by attending.

The chaplain was inspiring as well as interesting. He told of the problems the boys face. Among which were letters from wives of hasty marriages asking for a divorce. He said the boys have troubles enough without hearing of the hard luck at home, they only worry. Keep the boys cheerful and filled with courage. He said the churches can do a lot of good by sending calenders of the church and keep them posted of what happens. They need the home pictures to remember and cherish. Also be prepared to help them on their return. So keep them interested in the church.

WOMEN'S WAR BOND COMMITTEE

Mrs. W. E. Underwood, Chairman

The Winchester Bond Committee announces the appointment of Mrs. W. E. Underwood of 9 Ravensroft road as Women's War Bond Chairman. Mrs. Underwood succeeds Mrs. Frederick Hatch, who has recently resigned for reasons necessitated by her health. Mrs. Hatch will, however, continue as vice chairman in charge of sales of stamps and bonds at Woolworth's.

Mrs. Underwood will meet with members of the new organization council, comprising representatives of all women's organizations in Winchester, early in January to discuss plans for the Fourth War Bond campaign. The campaign begins on Jan. 17 and plans for Winchester's participation are soon to be announced. It is expected that the women's organizations will play a large part in achieving Winchester's quota.

During the Third War Bond campaign the women's organizations in Winchester were directly responsible for the sale of nearly $150,000 worth of bonds to their members. They were especially active in the sale of E bonds, and emphasis is being placed on a greater sale of E bonds for the next campaign. Mrs. Underwood expects to lay before the council several new plans for the promotion of the sale of this series. Any organizations that have not registered with the council are urged to do so before Jan. 1. Registration blanks are available at the library or information on the council may be obtained from Mrs. Malcolm Nichols (Win. 1428).

Bright Idea Evolved by Puzzled Boston Cop

At last the absent-minded professor has been topped and by a smart man from New Jersey, or at least, that was the designation on the license plates of the car he stopped alongside of a harassed Boston traffic cop.

"I know it sounds silly," admitted the New Jerseyite, "but I'm stopping at a hotel here in Boston and I've forgotten what the name of it is, and how to get there."

The officer puzzled for a moment and then began to rattle off the names of what hotels he could remember, until finally he mentioned the Copley Plaza.

"That's the one!" exclaimed the Jersey man, "and now will you please tell me how to get there?"

Calmly the officer tried to explain the maze of crooked streets the man must pass through to reach the desired destination, but finally, realizing from the blank look on the man's face that his task was hopeless, said:

"The post office is in the next block. I guess your best bet is to go there, cover yourself with postage stamps and let them deliver you."

Lightning Through Openings

There is no scientific knowledge to support the general belief that lightning which strikes buildings usually comes in through open doors and windows. Simpson's Nuggets of Knowledge says that lightning might have a tendency to follow a draft only when the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, thus creating a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding atmosphere. Electricity generated in the clouds follows the line of least resistance to the earth and would not turn from its normal course to run horizontally merely because a door or window was open.

Ears on the Butterfly

Certain types of butterfly and moth possess what might be called ear. The position of the organs in these cases is on either side of the body and at the junction of the thorax and abdomen. Experiments have shown that the butterfly and moth are capable of perceiving sound of but very short wave length.

COLLIANDER—SWYMER

Miss Helen F. Swymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Swymer of Richardson street, and Lt. Ralph T. Colliander, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Colliander of Forest street, were married on Saturday morning, Dec. 11, at St. Mary's Church in an attractive setting of mixed chrysanthemums and candles. St. Mary's pastor, Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, performed the ceremony at 10 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. Music for the entrance of the bridal party was played by Mrs. D. Irving Reardon, organist at St. Mary's, and the soloist during the mass was John Casey of Medford.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Swymer wore a gown of white slipper satin in lace designed with a full train and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip-length veil was caught to a cap of lace matching that of her gown and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Rita McNally of Melrose, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink mousseline de soie with a pink satin bodice and pink appliques on the full skirt. Her head-dress was a large pink maline bow with chin-strap and streamers and she carried chrysanthemums to match her gown.

The bridesmaids wore yellow frocks and head-dresses like those of the honor maid and carried matching chrysanthemums. They were Miss Helen Colliander, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Barbara Haley, both of Winchester; Miss Helen Power of Cambridge and Miss Eleanor Swymer of Woburn, cousin of the bride.

Lt. Robert Cutting, USAAF, of Medford was Lt. Colliander's best man and the ushers were George Swymer of Arlington, uncle of the bride; Robert Swymer, the bride's brother, and Leo Brenner, both of Winchester; and Thomas Burke, Jr., of Woburn, cousin of the bride.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, before Lt. Colliander and his bride left for Fresno, Cal., where they are to make their home.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Winchester High School and Lt. Colliander, who was recently commissioned as a pilot in the Army Air Forces, is also a graduate of the Beverley School of Accounting and Finance.

DAVIS—KELLY

At an informal wedding which took place Saturday, Dec. 11 at St. Mary's Chapel, Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C., Miss Jean Patricia Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kelly of Chevy Chase, Maryland, became the bride of Capt Henry Russell Davis, Jr., USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell Davis, of this town.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the groom's father acted as best man.

The bride attended Princess Helena College, London, England, studied at the University of Heidelberg and was graduated from Wellesley College. The groom is a graduate of Dartmouth College and the Harvard School of Business Administration.

After a short wedding trip Capt. and Mrs. Davis will make their home at 4801 Connecticut avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

FIREMEN BUSY SATURDAY

The Fire Department had a busy day of it last Saturday, their activity commencing at 7:42 when there was a grass fire off Canterbury road.

At 11:35 the men were called to what could have been a bad fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Linwood K. Brown, 23 Chisholm road. The trouble was started, according to the firemen by a spark from the chimney which set fire to some leaves around the house. The burning leaves were in turn blown against the shingled side of the dwelling and the shingles on that side were either burned or badly scorched as well as some windows being broken. Firemen said that had the leaves been fired on the windy side of the house, it is quite likely that the entire dwelling would have been razed.

At 11:40 the firemen were called to the home of Dr. F. Milne Blanchard on Dix street where a frozen radiator in a car caused a lot of steam. At 12:15 there was a grass fire off Wildwood street near Oxford street, at 1 at 1:21 there was another at the rear of the Ayer home on Sylvester avenue. A 2:05 there was a chimney fire at the Kelley and Hawes funeral home on Elmwood avenue.

Sunday's first run was for a brush fire off Hutchinson road at 11:05, and there was not another call until 6:15 p. m. when there was a grass and brush fire near the garage of Mr. P. T. Foley at 778 Main street, a fence being burned. While out on this alarm the men also put out a grass and fence fire at the home of Mr. M. J. Foley at 780 Main street.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mrs. Walter M. Ennis, Jr. (Barbara Braglon) entertained a number of guests with a Christmas party at her home, 34 Englewood road, where she is living with her husband's parents while Lt. Ennis is in the Pacific area.

The guests included Miss Polly Hempel, Miss Shirley Thompson, Miss Wilda Murray, Miss Virgin Barns, Miss Villette Powers, Miss Lucile Charon and Miss Madeline Tobin.

The table had a large snowman as centerpiece and at each place there was a red sleigh drawn by a white reindeer. The house was gaily decorated for the holiday season.

COLLIANDER COMMISSIONED

Ralph T. Colliander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar R. Colliander of 18 Forest street, received his wings on Dec. 3 when he graduated as a second lieutenant from the Marfa, Texas, AAF Pilot School.

Lt. Colliander was commissioned upon completion of his course in training in twin-engine planes. He was assigned here from Minter Field California.

Lt. Colliander graduated in 1940 from Winchester High School.

HELP THE ARMY AT CHRISTMAS

Year after year the Salvation Army comes "smilin' thru" at Christmas time.

The silvery "tintinnabulations of its bells bells, bells," along the city streets are looked forward to as the opening of the Yuletide season.

Santa and the Salvation Army work hand in hand at Christmas time, the one fills the kettles so that the other can fill the sacks. And, it just wouldn't be Christmas, anymore, without either one.

In the midst of the hustle and bustle of our holiday shopping with all the tempting this-and-that, beckoning from every shop window and counter, and our thoughts keyed to a glittering, material world spread out before us, the Salvation Army bells reach out through the crowds, ringing the real Christmas message.

No matter whether you're rushing by on your way to an exciting luncheon appointment at a gay restaurant, or intent on the final purchase of a new coat, or maybe that sacred wedding ring, those Salvation Army bells single you out to tell you in their sweet music, that Christmas means "Think of Me."

Those bells tell you that the Salvation Army is counting on you and You and You, to help spread its Christmas cheer to shut-ins, to the aged, to children, and to our servicemen far away from their homes.

So, listen to the Christmas message of the Salvation Army bells.

Help to keep the kettles filled. And Chip in for Cheer!

WINCHESTER HELD ALL SPORTS BANQUET

Jim Tibaudo Football Leader

Lucy Russo Hockey Captain

The Winchester High School Athletic Sports Banquet was held on last Saturday evening in the school gymnasium, after the lapse of a year, with the squads of all the teams in attendance.

At the head table with Principal Miss Fenton of the A. A. were Chairman Robert F. Lybeck and Leo F. Garvey of the School Committee, Superintendent of Schools James J. Quinn, Principal Samuel E. Grafton, Coach Deborah (Fenton) Mathews of girls' sports, and her assistant, Jim Hayward, Athletic Director and Coach Henry Knowlton of boys' sports, Stanley Director of Athletics Ray V. Hayward, Assistant Coaches of Football Andrew Webster and John Stevens, Trainer Louis Goddu, Track Coach Gordon Smith, Ken Hall, who organized the very successful football transportation system this year and last; Jim Penaligan of the Winchester Star, Bill West, captain of last year's unbeaten, untied champion football team, now a Dartmouth V-12 Naval Aviation trainee, Ken Harvey, captain of football; Edith Dover, captain of girls' basketball; Anne Richardson, captain of field hockey and Tony Saraco, captain of baseball.

Besides the guests at the head table, the group of men who donated the use of their automobiles to take the football squad to and from games this fall were also guests of the A. A., occupying seats at the heads of the various student tables. Another guest was big Bob Jackson, star end on West's team a year ago and recently enrolled in the Navy, affectionately known to the present eleven. Programs with clever sports cartoons by Dick Warren were at every place.

The after-dinner speaking program was commendably brief, those who responded to toasts being Mr. Lybeck, Mrs. Mathews, Coach Knowlton and Mr. Graves. Ken Harvey announced next year's captain as Jim Tibaudo, veteran right end, and Anne Richardson introduced next fall's hockey leader as Lucy Russo, sturdy little left fullback on this year's team. Edith Dover announced next year's head cheer-leader as Jane Russell.

Coaches Fenton and Knowlton awarded first and second team letters and certificates to the hockey and football first and second teams. Capt. Harvey presented Coach Knowlton with a fine gun case, the gift of the varsity football team, while Joe Errico presented gifts from the second and third teams to Coaches Webster and Stevens.

At this time Mr. Lybeck was again introduced and stated that a year ago he had presented Bob Jackson with a handsome yellow tie for his end-around touchdown against Woburn. While he hesitated to state this would form the basis for a series of "Lybeck Awards" he did wish, he said, to present mementoes to those on this year's team who had as he expressed it "made football history." Forthwith he presented gifts to Jimmy Haggerty for the longest touchdown run, 73 yards; to Rod Hannon for being the only lineman to score a touchdown; to Tony Saraco for the year's hardest tackle (against Stoneham) and to "Rat" DiMambro for making two 50 yard touchdown runs in succession against Danvers.

Mr. Graves concluded the speaking program by announcing the winners of the coveted Mansfield and Wheeler Sportsmanship Cups as Alan Bugbee, three sport manager; and Edith Dover, two letter athlete and cheer leader.

Following the speaking program, motion pictures were shown in the school auditorium by George Gould, photographer, the official team movies for Coach Knowlton. An old time silent comedy film and the Football Highlights of 1943 were the attractions, and Coach Knowlton saw a Navy split buck in the latter picture that he was going to look over very closely indeed at a subsequent showing of the film.

The Police have had complaints of boys stoning B. and M. trains and last Saturday Patrolman William E. Cassidy talked with several east side boys, specifically about windows being broken in trains on Dec. 1 and Nov. 16. The stoning was done at Grove place and near Winchester Station. After being questioned, two of the boys went to Police Headquarters and [illegible] were released by the authorities.

1944 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE RELEASED

Ray V. Hayward, Manager of Athletics, has released the Winchester High School football schedule for 1944 this week. Only one new team appears upon the list, Winthrop having replaced Pinehard, but there are a couple of early seas in changes that are interesting.

Winchester will not open with Framingham next season as it has for the past four years. Framingham will be played sixth next year, on Oct. 28, and this should make for a better game since both teams will be further along and they are definitely well matched. Winchester played Framingham one, and Framingham one, the other game being a tie. Everyone connected with Winchester football would have liked to play Framingham this past year later in the season.

Dropping Framingham down the line leaves Swampscott as next year's opener and the locals are sure to pick one nothing soft when they stack up against the Sculpins the first time out. Coach Knowlton would prefer a tune-up before facing Swampscott, but it didn't work out that way this time, for Lexington couldn't play here earlier than Sept. 30 and Swampscott, because of its North Shore League engagements, has to meet Winchester early or not at all. The other change is playing Belmont on Armistice Day and most fans will welcome this holiday booking.

For several years Winchester played Wellesley on Armistice Day and before that generally played Watertown. Armistice Day afternoon is emphatically a good time for a football game and should result in a bigger crowd being able to see the Belmont tussle next fall.

Pinehard notified Winchester after its game this fall that it would not consider playing the locals again until its football prospects are better. The last two years the Andover boys have taken quite a shellacking from the locals though in the past they have given Winchester some tough games.

Winthrop ought to be a worthwhile contest for Winchester. The boys from the beach town have been playing regularly in the Mystic League, meeting teams like Woburn, Wakefield and Melrose. They should be year in and year out much tougher than Pinehard and there is no denying that local fans have been getting a bit fed up with setups. Whether they will relish losing to teams that are likely to be stronger than Winchester, only time will tell. Surely there was plenty of squawking when the locals were losing regularly to Melrose, Watertown and Arlington.

Winchester plays six games at home next year and four away. The schedule follows:

September
23 Swampscott
30 Lexington

October
7 Winthrop
14 Danvers
21 Stoneham
28 Framingham

November
4 Reading*
11 Belmont*
18 Wakefield
25 Woburn*

TIBAUDO NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Jim Tibaudo, regular right end the past two seasons, has been elected captain of the Winchester High School football team for 1944, it was announced at the All Sports Banquet last Saturday night.

The announcement was well received and the choice is a popular one. Jimmy "Tom" has been a fixture at right end for the past two years and has been one of the most dependable players on the team over that period. He is a good pass receiver, sure tackler and smart enough to profit by the few mistakes it has been his lot to make. Seldom has Jim been caught out of position and it has been a rare thing to have an opposing play get outside his wing.

Jim has the respect and liking of his team-mates and should make a good leader another fall if Uncle Sam permits him to remain in school. He is the regular catcher on the baseball team, and brother of sophomore Sammy Tibaudo, regular fullback on the eleven.

Elaine Ray, pupil of Oxford street school, received 1st prize in Hall School Christmas Seal Poster Contest. Plan for the Christmas Seals [illegible] days.

HIGH SCHOOL PUCKSTERS BUSY

Enthusiastically welcoming the recent cold snap, hockey second 3 hockey candidates have made the most of ice conditions on Winchester's more remote ponds. Although limited to skating exercises and preliminary hockey practice the squad of over 40 boys has shown "the makings." Since no attempt will be made to limit the squad just yet, more regular practice sessions can be held, all candidates are viewed as potential team material.

Thanks to the presence in actio[n] of several boys, including Warren Connor, Roy Monson, and Tom Derro, recruiting of members occasioned no difficulty. The following are currently doing their best to master stick handling, passing and some semblance of team tactics: Fred Redding, David Smith, Lawrence Goldsmith, Jack Wentworth, Bill Nichols, Jim Migliaccio, Bill Whittemore, Bill Cusack, Tom Derro, Joe Maguire, Bob Quine, Larry Norton, Dick Nihan, Scotty Connor, Sarto Walsh, Spang, Art Burrows, Bill Cole, Roy Monson, Knights, Charlie Lovejoy, Dave Merrow, Don Ellis, Wilson, Don Armstrong, Bill Dingwell, Albree, Barstow, Osborne, Straghau, Doub, Bob Bates, Allan Ulrich, Whip Saltmarsh, McGrail, MacNeil, Dick Collins, Dick Powers, Bob Knoettner, Ralston, Dick Swanson, Bob Tucker, Deane Tolman, Roger Curtis, and others who are interested, but at present unsigned.

"JUNE MAID" READY FOR SATURDAY NIGHT PRESENTATION

"June Maid", by Florence Riverson and Cole Clements, suggested by their novel "This Awful Age" will be presented on Saturday evening at the High School auditorium by a cast chosen from the junior and senior classes. Coach of this year's production is Mr. J. Roy Newton of the faculty, who directed last year's play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

A rollicking comedy which makes light of the teen-age problem, "June Maid" has the usual extravagant features of that type. Playing in this year's show are seniors Herbert Clement, Robert Johnston, Virginia Ollier, John Ottiano, Philip Slocum, Barbara J. Smith, and Larry Smith. Juniors playing important roles are Ewen Cameron, Emily Hanson, Pricilla Morrill, Kippy Mueller, Boardman O'Connor, and Shirley Salyer.

Generously co-operating with the School Department, members of the Group Theater have lent their scenery for an indefinite period, thus removing the necessity for making new flats which would entail the expenditure of time and money. Mr. Newton in his dual role of director and stage designer eagerly accepted Group Theater's offer.

We received several Christmas cards from the boys in the service. We received Christmas cards from Frank [illegible], Carl [illegible], Guy Vespucci and Buttsy Migliaccio. We also received a card from Dan Marrone extending [illegible] to the brothers at home and are also Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Deadhorse Chefalo who was in the Northern Atlantic for some time is back in Davisville, R. I. He is in the Seabees. Being stationed near home he will manage to get home quite often.

Shades of Willie DeMinico. If he was nearer home. What a combination, Willie and Deadhorse.

Well the big bowling match is over. Chick's team won the series 4-3. They won the final and deciding match by only 12 pins, so you can see it was a close game. In the last game Chick bowled 318 for three strings and Massky bowled 316. Sam's team is paying for the chicken dinners, which are going to be enjoyed by Chick's team as Sam's team had (or thought they had) the chicken eaten at the end of the fourth match.

A few statistics on the series: total pinfall, Chick's team 9226, Sam's team 9179. Highest string total, Chick's team 1457. Highest team single string Chick's team 521. Team averages: Chick's team 900.55, Sam's 899. Highest single, A. Tedrow 114. Highest average (21 strings) A. Tedrow 2015.

Well all it was a nice series. The boys had a lot of fun riding each other during the matches. They expect to start another series after the holidays.

Two boys from the corner are home on furlough. They have seen plenty of action and they related some very interesting experiences. Sam Dellenno has been in the South Pacific and has taken part in several major battles.

Frank Marabello was in the South Pacific and took part in a number of battle. In New Zealand he met Mike Gilbert, who is in the Medical Corps.

The Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy of America wishes you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

An Open Letter to the Christopher Columbus Club Members in the Service

At a recent meeting of the Christopher Columbus Club it was voted to remember our brothers who are in service. So it was voted to send the Winchester Star to those of our brothers who are not already receiving it.

We hope to hear from you often. We place the facilities of our club at your service and anything we can do for you we will be honored in doing to the best of our ability.

We hope to hear from the following: Frank Provenzano, Paul Iandine, Chas. Petrone, [illegible] Cpl. A. Marotta, Frank Margiotta, Joseph Fiocchi, Jr., Jimmy DeDonatello, Joe Galuffo and John Della Sventura.

TEACHERS BOWLING LEAGUE

Spotting his fellow mathematician 24 big pins and added no end by the steady rolling of his team mates, William Rodgers piloted his girls to a four point triumph over the struggling Butterses last Monday afternoon to take a two point lead over the Dickmans who lost almost everything to the Silent Stowells. Taking four points from the leaders, the Stowells moved to a position one point shy of a second place tie. The Learys stayed in the reckoning with a three point win over the 36 pin handicapped Brantleys. Aided by a one-pin handicap, the Coopers crept out of the cellar to go into a three-way tie for sixth place with the Butterses and the Learys.

No records were shattered this week, but after a two-week rest the Brantleys are sure to provide fireworks when they return to competition. Capt. William is still in a vengeful mood after losing his single string leadership and attributes his position in fourth place to the 36 pin handicap which saved the Learys.

"The Season's Greetings"

Our Second War Year

The importance of automobiles, and our own automobiles, to the war effort and essential industry has been doubly impressed upon us during this second year of global war. We have kept our service station going at its maximum, but with curtailed man-power and the difficulty of getting parts, it has been hectic. Bear with us. We want to give you the best service we can.

Used cars have been very short, especially in the South and West. Dealers from those sections have crowded the eastern market, but we have not sold them a single unit, believing that our used cars should go to those who have supported us during our eighteen years business in Winchester.

Press reports have stressed the steadily decreased new car quota set by the OPA because of diminishing stocks. It has been our pleasure to furnish twenty-seven new units to the armed forces during the year past. We still have a few new cars for our customers who need, and can buy cars in the coming year.

We hope next year brings back our boys in the Armed Services, (we have twelve located from England to the Fijis), and we will be telling you about our new models. We will bet Ford will be out in front, as usual, with quick production, and another fine car.

"WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND"

Knights Presented Comedy for Service Fund

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, presented the three act comedy, "When a Feller Needs a Friend," by J. C. McMullen, in the Town Hall last Friday evening for the benefit of its Servicemen's Fund. James H. O'Connell directed the production which attracted an appreciative audience of good size. The following cast is named in order of appearance:

Tom Denker, an artist ..... John F. Collins
Bob Mills, a magazine writer ..... J. William Walden
Mrs. Reese, their landlady ..... Louise G. Kelly
Jerry Smith, just returned from "Over There" ..... Dana J. Kelly
Liz, Mrs. Reese's Stepdaughter ..... Miss Ann L. Dolan
"Bing" Dickson, Liz's Steady ..... John J. O'Connell
William Denker, Tom's uncle ..... Joseph P. Haggerty
Alice King, Tom's aunt ..... Florence X. Reardon
Elaine Lynne, Alice King's ward ..... Miss Jean M. Kinton
Angela Scott, Bob's fiancee ..... Miss Mabel A. Foley

Prompters: Ruth Kerrigan, Barbara Kinton

"When a Feller Needs a Friend" proved an amusing show, full of action and those impossible situations that convulse an audience and hold the attention to the final curtain.

The action takes place in Mrs. Reese's apartment house, to which Jerry Smith comes upon his discharge after World War 1. There he becomes associated with two impecunious young men, Tom Denker, an artist, and Bob Mills, a magazine writer. On his first night at the apartment house, Jerry is robbed of everything, including $75 and his clothes. Denker and Smith rally to his assistance by "borrowing" some clothes from an adjacent hock shop, finding a good sized roll of bills in one of the pockets.

This tides the trio over until Denker can wangle further funds out of his guardian, William Denker, on the trumped-up announcement of his marriage. Everything is lovely until Uncle Bill announces that he is coming on to visit the newly-weds.

Faced with the necessity of producing some sort of wife for his guardian to meet, Tom induces Liz, his landlord's daughter, to pose as Mrs. Tom, though he himself goes for Elaine King in a big way, while Liz is starry-eyed over "Bing" Dickson. One hilarious situation follows another until the final happy ending which finds Uncle Bill turning over Tom's legacy to him and all the young people pairing off as they should, Uncle Bill making it unanimous by marrying Elaine King, his nephew's guardian.

The play was on the whole well cast with each member contributing to the success of the production. Mr. Collins as Tom Denker, Mr. Kelley as Jerry, Mrs. Kelly as the landlady, Miss Dolan as Liz and Miss Kinton as Elaine were outstanding.

Piano-accordian selections were played between the acts by Miss Helen Louise Fenel, and after the show there was dancing until 1 o'clock with music by Jack Hennessey's Orchestra.

George F. Young headed the large committee as general chairman, the other members being, program: L. Chester Thibault, Alfred W. Barnard, Charles J. Dolan, Bart T. Conlon; dance: Henry P. Murray, Frank W. Ragon, Samuel M. Kinton, Charles Haggerty, Jake P. Glendon; Tickets: Daniel J. O'Donnell, John J. Crowley, Edward F. Dalton, Walter W. Pyle, Earl L. Smith; property, Frank Nowell, John W. Lane, Jr. and Denny J. Collins.

GIVE THE LADIES CREDIT

Much as he appreciates the honor, Mr. William B. Wood, who was credited with putting on the southern fried chicken dinner at the Unitarian Church last Thursday evening on the occasion of the second anniversary of the local airplane spotting unit, desires that those directly responsible for the repast be given proper credit. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Raymond Terhune, who was assisted by the members of the sewing committee of the church. Mrs. Harold Meyer and Mrs. Herbert T. Stone were in charge of the tables and members of the Young People's Society of the church handled the serving. The ladies, Mr. Wood says, did all the cooking.

Three Winchester girls, the Misses Esther Berg, Edna Ericson and Grace Irwin, all of Dunster lane, are among the members of the Oquilo Club, junior league of the Swedish Charitable Society of Greater Boston taking active part in presenting its 15th annual charity ball on New Year's Eve at the Hotel Puritan, Boston.

Merry Christmas, everybody?

THIS YEAR, when you wish everybody Merry Christmas, think of the millions of American boys who aren't having such a merry time.

Think of the wounded soldiers in Italy, the half-frozen sailors on the Atlantic, the marines in Jap-infested jungles, the American captives behind Nazi barbed wire—

You'll find it a little easier to think about them if you're doing everything you can do to help the cause they're fighting for.

How can you help?
By buying extra War Bonds.

Buy extra Bonds for Christmas gifts.
Buy extra Bonds for the boys overseas.
Buy extra Bonds for yourself and your family.

And remember this:

Every time you buy an extra Bond, you not only help pay for the guns and ships and planes that these boys must have—you also help bring nearer the day when they, like you, can gather around the Christmas tree with their wives and children and mothers and sweethearts and friends and say, "Merry Christmas, everybody!"

BELL RINGERS HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES

Each week of the Christmas holiday season finds the Winchester bell ringers presenting the unique and delightful bell music of their ensemble to new audiences who are amazed at the excellent team work in the group and the beautiful harmonic changes that are developed throughout their presentations of bell music.

This week will include a Christmas dinner engagement with the Quota Club of Boston, Thursday evening and the annual Christmas party of the Women's Republican Club on Saturday afternoon. Sunday, Dec. 19 the Winchester Bell Ringers will be guests of Lt. Col. MacArthur at Fort Devens, all throughout the day, presenting the chapters of Christmas to the boys who are stationed there. The holiday season finds double ends with a luncheon to be given for the Rotary Club of Boston, in the ballroom of the Hotel Statler, Dec. 22.

As the Winchester Bell Ringers and their director, Mrs. Henry A. Prescott are signing off, this week, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year is their wish to all their friends of the past three years of many, many programs here and there and everywhere!

BRANLEY NAMED COACH OF INDOOR TRACK

William F. Branley, manual arts instructor at the Junior High School, has been appointed by the School Committee as coach of the newly organizing indoor track team at Winchester High School. The Committee approved indoor track as a varsity sport only a short while ago.

Bill Branley, as he is familiarly known, has had track experience, both as a competitor and coach. At Fitchburg State Teachers College he competed in the pole vault and quarter mile and he coached the Warren High School track team for five years before coming to Winchester, as well as coaching basketball and baseball.

Bill is making haste slowly in the new local track setup and has refused to tell the Star what things are as yet in the experimental stage. Tentative plans call for two or three practices a week on the Boston Y track and there seems to be plenty of student interest. Indoor track is quite different from the outdoor variety and candidates who have never run on the boards will have plenty to learn before they will be ready to compete on even terms with boys who have been running indoors for several seasons.

Winchester had an indoor relay team back in the days of Lou Gaddu, the other members being Harold and Dean Wheatley, Dwight Thompson and Robert Cutting. The boys were down to race Arlington at the B. A. A. games but the Spy Ponders didn't show up, Gaddu and Thompson waging a strenuous but vain battle to secure the prizes by default. Timely interference by a number of husky gendarmes prevented Lou and "Parrot" from actually doing anybody down, but it was really a close thing for the meet officials and they were very glad to see the cops arrive.

Several years later, if memory serves, Winchester did actually get a relay team into competition in the Schoolboy games at Mechanics, but as we recall it, the less said about the outcome, the better.

WINCHESTER HOOPSTERS AT NEWTON

Winchester High School plays its first basketball game of the current season this afternoon at Newton, meeting Newton High in the latter's gymnasium at 3 o'clock.

Newton is perhaps better known for its hockey than its basketball teams during the winter, but the Garden City boys have put some strong clubs on the court in recent years and Winchester is surely picking nothing soft for its campaign opener. Newton is a huge school. It ought to have oodles more material than Winchester can muster.

Coach Knowlton doesn't have a single letter man available to start against Newton, but he hasn't been too sad about his prospects for the season. At the Sports Banquet last Saturday evening he stated that his candidates have shown a lot of promise to date and that he expects to have a good club on the floor this year.

The probable starting lineup today is Pat Pattterson and Gene Thomson, forwards; Stretch McGovern, center and Dick Callahan and Bert Moore, guards. Of these McGovern, Callahan and Moore have had quite a bit of varsity experience.

Newton isn't too well off for veterans either, having only Royce Bryant back from last year's club which lost only to Watertown.

Miss Priscilla Richmond, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Richmond of Swan road, will attend the allied flag ball, the New York debutante cotillion to be held Monday evening at the Waldorf-Astoria, as the guest of Miss Rosalie Gorter, a New York debutante, who is a classmate at Wellesley College. Miss Richmond will stay at the Junior League while in New York.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING

On Friday, Dec. 17, Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase will open her home on Lakeview terrace for the Florence Crittenton Circle meeting and Christmas tea. A special Christmas program has been planned with a talk by the Rev. Mr. Ralph Rogers of Auburndale on "Christmas in a World at War." Mr. Rogers is a member of the board of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion and popular minister of the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The meeting will be opened by a prayer conducted by the Rev. Mr. Paul Chapman of Winchester.

Reports from the bazaar chairman, sewing and social service as well as membership chairman, will be heard.

Mrs. G. Lindrow Witham and Mrs. Walter Winship of the music committee offer a special program in presenting Mrs. Ethelruby Povelette and her Bell Ringers. The bell ringers who are becoming more famous every day include Miss Virginia Lovejoy, Marion Horwood Betty Engle, Barbara Johnson and Margery Johnston. These young girls have been carefully trained by Mrs. Povelette who has been interested in bells and bell ringing for 10 years. Their costumes were designed by the Museum School of Art and are replicas of those worn by the guards of the Tower of London. The only dress near Boston which can pleat the ruff is at the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum.

The bells were cast at the Whitechapel foundry London, England, which was established in 1570. This is one of the oldest in Europe and Whitechapel bells are noted for their accurate pitch and quality of tone.

Their program follows:

Silent Night, Noel, It Came Upon the Midnight Clear, Joy to the World, St. Paul's Steeple, Les Anges Dausnos campagnes, Good King Wineclas, Tannenbaum, Netherlands Hymns, Adeste Fidelis.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Stephen Nichols and Mrs. Raymond Dickman and their tea committee: Mrs. Colver P. Dyer, Mrs. Don S. Greer, Mrs. William Martin, Mrs. Theodore P. Mercer, Mrs. Charles O. Nichols, Mrs. Clifford Williams.

Pouring will be Mrs. Elisha Pierce and Mrs. Maxwell McCreery. Mrs. Pierce has been chairman of the two day bazaar at the Copley Plaza where the Winchester table made more money than ever before, and Mrs. McCreery has been chairman of chances. More money was also made on the chances than ever before in the Circle's history.

Mrs. Langley Keyes, vice president of the Circle, who will conduct the meeting will offer congratulations to these two successful chairmen.

FORTNIGHTLY CHRISTMAS MEETING

The Fortnightly Christmas meeting held last Monday was truly lovely. The stage attractively decorated with bells, candles and a lighted tree, at the base of which was a great pile of gaily wrapped gifts for the Little Wanderers Home, gave a Christmas atmosphere to the hall.

Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, president, sounded an encouraging note by her reading of "The Bells" by Longfellow, a poem which might well have been written at the present time.

The Winchester Bell Ensemble was delightful. Garbed in bright red and white costumes patterned after those of the guards of the Tower of London, they were most picturesque. Their lovely ringing of the Christmas carols on their clear and sweet-toned, perfectly attuned English bells found a responsive echo in the hearts of the audience.

Miss Cornelia Van Guens, the speaker of the afternoon, seemed like a character out of a storybook as she appeared on the stage attired in a voluminous red and black skirt, a lace apron and kerchief, and a gold and lace headdress, the authentic costume of her Frisian ancestors in northern Holland.

With interesting details she painted a vivid word picture of Holland and its Yuletide imagery and customs. Starting with the early history of her native land she told not only of its actual observances, but showed the deep religious sentiment underlying them. She also sang, in the Dutch language, many of the folk songs connected with the Christmas festivities.

A Christmas tea, with Mrs. Walter W. Winship and Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, concluded an enjoyable afternoon.

Air mail stationery in packs and single sheets; also boxed paper, Winchester Star, 3 Church street.

* — RETURNED FROM SERVICE
 — DIED IN SERVICE

"Our country, however bounded or described — still our country, to be cherished in all our hearts — to be defended by all hands."
— R. C. Winthrop

The will to preserve the American Way of life burned strongly in the breasts of our men and women when December 7, 1941 sounded the call to defend our rights.

Loyalty — priceless and without compromise — to home and country, a consecrated principle dedicated to service, gallantly challenges again, as it has so many times before, the sinister mockeries which have thrown this world into the present burning inferno.

We take our hats off to the 312 Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway employees who have entered the armed forces destined to bring victory and peaceful living into our homes and hearts again. Theirs is the inalienable right not to be forgotten. To them, again we say — Hats Off and open hands will welcome them when that homeward march of Victory brings them back to family, work and tranquility.

Mindful too, are we here, of hats off to those still in our company service who are with the same sense of loyalty and devotion to our American principles carrying on and delivering solidly and unflinchingly to help speed the day of victory.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

The Junior Florence Crittenton Circle will have a rummage sale on Saturday, Dec. 18, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. The sale will be held on the second floor of the Locatelli Building, over Filene's. Bric-a-brac and all types of clothing will be on sale.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, members of the Circle will meet at 7 o'clock at Wedgemere Station to go to the Florence Crittenton Maternity Home in Brighton. This is the annual Christmas party given by the Winchester Junior Circle for the girls in the maternity home. Any member who desires transportation or any information concerning the party may call Mrs. Robert H. Smith at Win. 2751.

Many in Winchester were interested in Sunday's investiture ceremony of Troop 36, Boy Scouts of America, in the Church of the Most Blessed Sacrament at Houghs Neck. Rev. Eugene A. Maguire, old Winchester boy and member of a well known Winchester family, is pastor of that church and conducted the investiture.

STAGE SHOW AT WINCHESTER THEATER

Manager Samuel Grant of the Winchester Theatre is announcing an added attraction to his bill for Saturday night, Dec. 18, in the United States Coast Guard Sparmobile gala show which will give one performance only here on the stage commencing at 8 o'clock.

Here is a show that Winchester patrons should not miss. Presented in conjunction with the Sparmobile Recruiting Drive of the Coast Guard Women's Reserve, no effort has been spared to make it a high grade attraction.

The cast includes Quartermaster Marc Bolero as master of ceremonies, Quartermaster Francis X. Sullivan, popular radio and concert tenor; that inimitable songstress, Spar Audrey Peterson and other equally enjoyable acts. Music will be by the Sparmobile United States Coast Guard Orchestra.

Accompanying screen attractions are Coney Island with Betty Grable, George Montgomery and Cesar Romero, and Ox-Bow Incident starring Henry Fonda, Dana Andrews and Mary Beth Hughes.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

A Christmas turkey dinner featured yesterday noon's meeting of the Rotary Club in Masonic Hall. There was a full attendance of members and it was announced that Winchester now stands fourth in attendance rating. It was voted that the club will hold a night meeting on the evening of Jan. 20 at the Winchester Country Club.

REV. S. WINCHESTER ADRIANCE

Rev. Samuel Winchester Adriance, retired Congregational minister and former widely known resident of Worcester, died in Concord Sunday, Dec. 19 after an illness of six years. He was a resident of this town for about 40 years, breaking up his home on Mt. Pleasant street when he became ill. He was in his 91st year.

Mr. Adriance was the son of William and Mary Elizabeth (Harrington) Adriance. He was born Jan. 9, 1853, in St. Louis, Mo., received his early education at Dutchess County Academy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and at Riverview Military Academy, also at Poughkeepsie, sub-sequently graduating from Dartmouth College with the degree of B. A. in the class of 1875. He was the youngest member of his college class and sang in the Glee Club, of which he was also president. For a short time after graduation he worked at Scribner's in New York.

From 1874 to 1876 he studied at Andover Theological Seminary, the next year continuing his studies at Princeton Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1877. His first pastorate was at Lodi Presbyterian Church, Highland, Ulster County, N. Y., which he held from 1877 to 1880. Later he was pastor of Woodford's (now Portland, Me.,) Congregational Church and of the Highland Congregational Church in Lowell, which he served from 1881 to 1891.

At that time his health became impaired and he held no further regular pastorate. He did however, accept pulpits at the Rollstone Congregational Church in Fitchburg and the North Congregational Church in Newburyport, also preaching and officiating at many other congregational churches all over the state.

In his non-ministerial duties, Mr. Adriance was the first secretary of the board of trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor (later the World's Society of Christian Endeavor), serving as secretary from 1885 to 1890. He was the compiler of the first Christian Endeavor Hymn-book, "Hymns of Christian Endeavor," and himself wrote the words for hymns used on many special occasions.

For 60 years he served as secretary of the Dartmouth Class of 1875, compiling complete reports of each of its members and being feted in his later years at a Dartmouth reunion in Hanover as the oldest Dartmouth class secretary.

These reports were presented to the Dartmouth Library. His file of old time Dartmouth memorabilia was accepted by the Congressional Library in Washington, from which he received a commendatory citation.

Mr. Adriance was a member of the Portland Congregational and the Andover Congregational Clubs and of both the Woburn and Boston Congregational Ministers' Associations, being for many years regular in its attendance at meetings of the latter organizations.

He came to Winchester about 1892, living first on Mystic avenue and later for a short time on Washington street before finally settling on Mt. Pleasant street. During his long residence he became widely known among residents of all walks in life, his tall spare figure and kindly face with its old-fashioned sideburns being well known to everyone.

He was often sought to serve in a ministerial capacity when other clergymen were absent from town, marrying many Winchester couples and officiating at the funerals of people of all denominations.

His interests were many and varied. He was an enthusiastic stamp collector from the age of 15 and a lifetime student of Latin, Hebrew and Greek. He was a Dickens enthusiast and could quote pages of his writings from memory. Continuing his musical interests, he sang for many years in the choir of the First Congregational Church, and for some time he regularly conducted both musical and religious services for the inmates of the Concord Reformatory.

On Oct. 16, 1875, he married Lizzie P. Whitcomb, daughter of Rev. William Whitcomb. She died Nov. 12, 1930. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Frederic B. Wehinger of Winchester; a son, Robert L. Adriance of Maplewood, N. J.; and two granddaughters, Mrs. James Woolley of this town and Mrs. Philip Marvel of Cambridge, daughters of William Adriance, who died in 1929.

Private funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning by Dr. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church. They were held at Sleepy Hollow Cemetery in Concord, where the interment was made.

Christmas 1943

Still in their glad procession
The Christmas stars go by
The carolling hymn of bells
Rings down the vaulted sky.
The wistful heart of all mankind
Makes pilgrimage once more.
Turn now from the gilt and tinsel
And kneel at the manger door.
And pray that the Son of Mary
Will pardon the sins of men
That the peace of His Holy City
May dwell in our hearts again.
Not for ourselves alone, dear God,
Where we stumble in sinful pride;
We humbly pray at the manger door
"Please God, for the Peace world wide!"

In tendering his resignation, Mr. Baldwin who is publicity manager of the Boston and Maine Railroad and of the Maine Central Railroad wrote the local chapter that "I regret that increasing pressure of work in connection with my duties with the railroads, due to the war, makes it impossible for me to devote the proper amount of time to doing a satisfactory job for the Red Cross."

The executive committee of the Winchester Chapter accepted the resignation at its meeting on Tuesday. In notifying Mr. Baldwin, Gladys F. Dutting, executive secretary wrote that the committee did so "with regret. Please accept our most grateful appreciation for the outstanding work you did on our war fund and throughout the year."

Mr. Baldwin formerly was chairman of publicity for the Winchester War Bond Staff and directed the nation-wide publicity which Winchester received in connection with the "Uproar Day" in the first War Bond drive and subsequent bond activities under the direction of Maurice C. Bird, the Winchester War Bond staff chairman.

One of the best known former newspapermen in the east, Mr. Baldwin was formerly connected with the Associated Press and for many years was Night City Editor of the Boston Post. He is a member of the Boston Newspaper Club and is a member of the Board of Governors of the Boston Madison Square Garden Club.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, president of the Winchester Garden Club, entertained the members of the club at luncheon at her home on 12 Foxcroft road on Thursday, Dec. 16. Attractively decorated for the Christmas season, the house made a beautiful setting for the timely program, which consisted of two delightful talks, one by Mrs. Harold Given of Woburn, who spoke of "Christmas in Norway" in the picturesque Norwegian costume and the other by Mrs. Guy Newhall of Lynn who spoke about "Christmas on Beacon Hill."

On the Saturday following seven members of the club, including the president, spent the day at the Lovell General Hospital at Fort Devens, decorating the wards with Christmas greens and bringing cheer to the men who would be unable to spend their Christmas at home.

Jean Bunten, 40 Wildwood street and Joy Pray, 7 Lewis road have returned home for the holidays from Kents Hill School, Kents Hill, Me. Jean and Joy are both members of the choir which sang in the annual Christmas vesper service at the school, Sunday, Dec. 12. Joy was also a member of the dance committee for the formal Christmas dance held at the school on Dec. 11.

COMMITTEE ON HOME HOSPITALITY

The committee on home hospitality for service men continues to be busy. From the material sent in they packed 48 packages of Christmas cheer and took them in to Boston. Some were given to the USO and some to the Union Jack Club. Some also were given to Chaplain Donoghue for those who were in lonely outposts who are not only far from home but also far from their fellow men.

Thirty five men have been entertained here since Thanksgiving and there will be many more at Christmas. The committee feels that there are many more hostesses to be found. If people realized that having some one in your home for a week-end does not mean entertaining in the sense of having parties, we feel sure there would be more offers. To be in a home away from the barracks or camp, free of regulations and having home cooked meals is what appeals to the boy or girl in the service away from their own home and friends.

After the New Year the various women's organizations in town are to act as sub committees for a month at a time. Mrs. Wm. Cusack and the En Ka committee are acting in January and will be glad to receive names of new hostesses. The Civilian Defense Headquarters is always the clearing house.

Don't forget that if you can't open your house you can help in buying railroad tickets. There are so many boys and men who enjoy this Winchester hospitality, so much that they come each free week-end and in some instances each night!

It is a real pleasure for the family host and think how glad we would all feel to have hospitality extended to our own sons and daughters away from home.

RED CROSS CANTEEN CORPS

Under the direction of Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, chairman and Mrs. Percy Bigbee, vice chairman have given 616 hours of service during the past three months.

The work has consisted of serving at the Baddies Club in Boston Monday and Fridays, the Blood Donors Center in Boston Tuesday and Thursdays, teas at the Red Cross Hut at the Chelsea Naval Hospital and serving coffee and doughnuts to our own draftees at 7.30 in the Town Hall, when they leave for Camp Devens.

This work has been possible through the whole-hearted support on the part of the following Canteen Corps members: Mrs. Joseph Butler, Mrs. Wm. Cusack, Mrs. Raymond Dickman, Miss Elenore Dow, Mrs. F. S. Evans, Mrs. Roland Fletcher, Mrs. George French, Mrs. Merton Grush, Mrs. Warren Goddu, Mrs. Don Greer, Mrs. F. S. Hatch, Mrs. A. F. Howard, Mrs. Walter Keyes, Mrs. Ray E. Mauger, Mrs. Wallace C. Miller, Mrs. J. C. Moakler, Mrs. Frederick Ritchie, Mrs. R. H. B. Smith, Mrs. Frederick Stephens, Mrs. Wm. O. Thompson, Mrs. Louisa Wilkins, Mrs. G. B. Willing and Mrs. Wm. L. Thompson.

The largest number of hours given by one individual for a one month period was 17½.

This splendid record of accomplishment by those workers represent the hours actually spent doing Red Cross Canteen work and does not take into consideration any time spent in travel getting to or from Boston or Chelsea for their assignments.

MRS. POIRIER GIVEN PARTY

C., from there going on to Albuquerque, New Mexico, for an extended stay with her daughter, Marie Poirier Carens, wife of Lt. Richard Carens, Army Air Forces instructor, formerly of Arlington.

At last week's party Mrs. Poirier received the best wishes of a group of friends and a number of gifts which will prove useful during her trip. Refreshments were served after the opening of the packages.

WINCHESTER DROPPED HOOP OPENER

Winchester High School found Newton High's basketball team red hot last Friday afternoon and dropped its initial game of the current basketball season in the huge Newton gymnasium, 55-24.

Actually Winchester did not look as bad as the score would indicate, if we may borrow a much over-used expression, and Coach Knowlton was not at all downcast over what would on the surface appear to be a crushing defeat.

Winchester doesn't have a single letter player this season, and the green lineup just couldn't seem to get going at Newton, especially in the first two periods. The boys were slow and over-cautious, and their shooting was far from impressive, while Newton showed a lot of jinegar and shot from every angle, getting a lot in that had plenty of horseshoes on them.

Stretch McGovern, Winchester's towering center, led both teams in scoring with 12 points, but it wasn't until late in the game that he really got going and behind him Gene Thomson's six points were the only ones over a single basket.

Between the halves of the first team game the Newton seconds won a closely contested game from the Winchester seconds by three baskets, 27-21. The varsity summary follows:

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Members and guests of the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church were privileged to enjoy a delightful evening of music last Thursday, Dec. 16, when the club observed ladies night with the members of the church choir present as its special guests. Metcalf Hall was transformed for the occasion with an illuminated Christmas tree and specially decorated supper tables lighted only by red candles. During the evening Santa Claus made a dramatic appearance with a huge sack of beautifully wrapped presents for all the ladies.

An extensive and varied musical program was provided through the courtesy of the regular members of the choir and others.

While this was the club's annual ladies' night, it was utilized as a distinct opportunity to manifest to the members of the choir the sincere appreciation felt by the entire Unitarian Parish for the exceptionally fine music heard every Sunday morning. The evening's entertainment was preceded by a brief business session at which it was reported that the membership of the Men's Club has been nearly trebled in recent weeks so that the committee in charge hopes to be able soon to report a total of a 150. The next meeting will be on Jan. 20, at which time District Attorney Bradford is scheduled to be present as the guest speaker, marking his second appearance as a guest of the club.

ANN RIVINIUS GRADUATED

Miss Anne R. Rivinius, daughter of Mrs. George A. Rivinius of 346 Main street received her degree at Mt. Holyoke College last Sunday in the first December graduation. The class of 1943-D, comprised 72 former members of the class of 1944 who have accelerated in summer session, were graduated on Sunday morning at a baccalaureate service. Diplomas were given out by President Roswell G. Ham.

Miss Rivinius, a graduate of Abbot Academy, majored in English literature at college, and was interested in dramatics. She took part in the Junior show, an Italian play and was on the committee for the Dramatic Club production, "The Duchess of Malfi." She was also a member of the choir and the golf team.

DeTESO NAMED

Anthony E. DeTeso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore DeTeso of 120 Olive street, has been elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," at Tufts where he was a member of the Senior Class until November when he was sent to Norfolk, Va., under the Navy training program. He was co-captain of the football team, played varsity basketball and belonged to the Varsity Club. He was awarded the Bennet Scholarship in October.

HOME FROM MOSES BROWN

Henry L. Barker and Donald Rockwood, students at Moses Brown School are at home for the Christmas holidays.

Barker received honors for the period ending Dec. 8. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Scott of Bonad road.

Rockwood is the son of Mrs. A. Waldo Rockwood of Mystic avenue.

PALMER BEACH HORSESHOE ASSOCIATION

After a lapse of two weeks the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association resumed regular play last week end, four warriors answering the clarion call of President Royal "Paper Trade" Teele.

Perhaps a word or two might not be amiss concerning the unprecedented failure to compete for two weeks running, a defection without parallel in the Association's history, that is with bare ground available.

Among the things which contributed in large measure to the lack of play was Mr. Teele's heater, which chose the first of the playless week-end's to burst, leaving the Teele domicile totally without heat from Friday until the following Tuesday evening.

Royal's usually sunny disposition was so affected by the calamity, and wasn't it one, that he couldn't even contemplate horseshoes, even if he had been left time for them, which he wasn't. In fact so pressed was he during the rush to secure substitute means to keep his folks from freezing that he flatly refused to give Mr. McLaughlin a ride home from down town, driving the iron further into the McLaughlin buzzum by also refusing to give "Willie" a cigar, of which he had several.

Such a lack of camaraderie on the part of the perennial champion of the Boston Paper Trade should indicate clearly that he was not himself and no one who isn't in that interesting condition should attempt horseshoes at Palmer street. The stress of competition there is not for the man who isn't at least 65 per cent on the ball.

There were others besides the president who were not available on that particular week-end. The Secretary was still detinitely down after his losing fight with intestinal grippe, Mr. Pedlham was still "working" and Mr. McLaughlin was so upset by Mr. Teele's rebuff that he spent the week-end in seclusion.

That left Mr. Butters and Mr. Gardner more or less holding the bag. Both claim they reported and in the absence of proof to the contrary their statements must be accepted at face value. Mr. Teele's contention that he reported on the following week-end failed to click with any of the members, it being just too dam cold for horseshoes or any other outdoor sports during that period.

Last week-end was something else again and after a bit of effort enough hardy souls were gathered together for a mess, including besides the President, the Secretary, of all people; "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nabnassett; and Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner. Arthur E. Butters, sometimes called the State of Maine Champ indicated in advance that he would be among those present at the matches, but a last minute injudituous choice of menu made it seem for him the better part of prudence to remain by the family fireside rather than brave the cooling breezes from ice-bound Wedge. Henry "Tiffany" Knowlton was engaged in an insulation job of sorts at home and Mr. Witter was not reported at all.

Arthur was missed, both as a competitor and contributor to the repartee which is not the least enjoyable feature of every meeting of the Association. Also he was doubly missed because he chanced to have both the Association's No. 1 stakes in his possession and Mr. Teele's heavy hammer, without which it is no part of a cinch to insert any stakes at all in solidly frozen ground. Mr. Gardner contributed a ball hammer of sorts, but neither Mr. McLaughlin nor Mr. Teele was enthusiastic about it, after a thorough trial.

Pitching with gloves is not conducive to the highest in accuracy nor does ground the consistency of Portland cement aid in even the better competitor's efforts to have his shoe remain in the immediate vicinity of the stake. In spite of these vicissitudes the quartet of frost-bitten warriors contrived to play a round robin with Mr. Gardner once more emerging a winner in each match.

There was little of an outstanding nature to record about the pitching, though Mr. Teele's joy knew no bounds when he and Mr. Gardner took one game in their winning series from Mr. McLaughlin and the Secretary by the score of 25-7.

Dispute reared its ugly head during the final match, won by Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Gardner, two out of three, with the final game going 25-24. The argument arose over a ringer thrown by the Secretary, about the legitimacy of which Mr. Teele and Mr. McLaughlin were not in accord, "Willie" claiming it was a foul and Mr. Teele contending that it landed inside the three foot limit. The score was 23-22 in favor of the McLaughlin-Gardner duo at the time so the ringer was by way of being important.

Neither disputant could agree as to where the shoe landed, but the spot chosen by Mr. McLaughlin was a couple of inches beyond the three foot mark and with pedagogic determination "Willie" stuck to it that that was the place to put the "X". So adamantine was he that finally Mr. Teele capitulated, thereby giving up the match, since the loss of the ringer so unnerved the Secretary that he could do nothing at all in the last two boxes, and though Mr. Teele covered one of "Wild Willie's" doubles in the final box, this fine sporting effort proved not enough to win.

SONS OF ITALY LODGE NEWS

The annual children's Xmas party was held on Sunday, Dec. 19, at 2 p.m. in Lincoln School Hall. The party was run on the same pattern as in years past, giving the children an hour of movie cartoons and comedies, games, candy, ice cream and cake. Santa Claus, who was capably played by A. P. Tofuri, gave the children their presents. Two of our brothers who are home on furlough were present. They were Sgt. Gaspar "Ragged" Muraco and Capt. Angelo (Doc) Maietta. Anthony C. Ficociello acted as master of ceremonies. The committee thanks our Venerable A. P. Tofuri who gave unselfishly of his time and effort to make the party the success that it was. The committee was as follows: Vincent Puopolo, chairman; Joseph Dilorio, treasurer; Anthony C. Ficociello, secretary; V. Gigliotte, A. Derro, F. Muraco, C. Frongillo, V. Fiociello, L. Manoli, F. Dattilo, E. Staffieri, H. Peluso, S. Casalinuova, A. Giliberti and F. Recco.

The following brothers in the service sent the lodge cards, Lt. John A. Volpe, Lt. Joseph Ciarcia, Pfc. Angelo Tranfaglia, Sgt. Paul Lentine, Cpl. Alfred DeMinico, Sgt. A. Russo, Pvts. A. Giliberti and Dominick Guarina. They were a swell bunch of cards and the Winchester Lodge thanks each and everyone of you.

We also received a card from Mary Tucci, Y-2c who is stationed in Washington, D. C. Thanks Mary, now how about a letter?

We also received two letters, one from Pfc. Angelo Tranfaglia and Lt. John A. Volpe.

Charlie says: "Let us all fill our hearts with Christmas spirit and recall memories of Christmas holidays gone by and look forward to Christmas holidays to come that will be observed with "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward All Men."

Johnny says: "At this time of year my thoughts turn to home and my friends. I particularly miss the spirited meetings and the many pleasant memories of our lodge functions. This year it will be impossible for me to be at your Christmas party. I will be there in spirit. Best wishes for a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year."

Thanks boys and thank you John for your most generous donation to the Christmas party fund.

Capt. Maietta and Sgt. Muraco are home on furlough. As Doc has been so busy with his family I haven't been to see him for any length of time. Rugged has brought his new bride home (wives have a habit of tagging along). So he has been pretty busy [illegible], but I haven't given up hope.

The Lipari twins, Richard and Robert, are home on leave from the Navy. They saw Maggie and they told him to continue to enjoy the Star and the Sons of Italy column. They land in Cuba where they meet Mikey Penta a former employee of the Star. Mike gives them the back issues of the Star that have accumulated since their last landing. After they read them they give them to David Meskell, a former lieutenant of the Winchester Fire Department, who is stationed in Trinidad. After David reads them, he passes them on to others. Boy the Star sure gets around. I wonder just how many service men read one copy of the Star sent to them by the Winchester lodge.

Here's an item from the Camp Peary "log" entitled "Know Your Officers." "We feel sure that our military training officer needs no introduction since he is a familiar figure on the drill field. Lt. (jg) J. A. Volpe has furnished us with one of the finest training programs available in this camp. Proof of the value of his program are the numerous all camp drill pennants that have been won by our area. In addition to his duties as military training officer, Lt. Volpe has taken on the job of announcer and good will ambassador at our weekly assembly programs. For his driving energy, initiative and keen interest in our area, we vote Lt. Volpe our salute of thanks for the week."

WINCHESTER BOYS NAVAL FLIGHT PREP GRADS

Two Winchester boys, Naval Aviation Cadet Frank Proctor Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Jones of 422 Highland avenue, and Naval Aviation Cadet Frank S. Hersom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Hersom of 41 Glen road, were graduated recently from the United States Naval Flight Preparatory School at Williams College.

Both boys are graduates of Winchester High School, Jones in the class of 1941 and Hersom in the class of 1942. Jone subsequently attended Bowdoin where he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. His father was a captain in the Army Medical Corps during World War I and he has a cousin, Paul S. Jones serving in the present war as a navigator in the Army Air Forces.

Hersom was a student at Tufts before entering the Naval Air Corps. His father was a Naval officer in World War I and his brother-in-law, E. R. Smith is now a lieutenant, (jg) in the United States Navy.

Cpl. Harold Fitzgerald, USA, after being hospitalized on the west coast en route home from active duty in the South Pacific, has arrived in Winchester and is about town, tanned and heavier than when he went away. He is the son of Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald of Winchester place and the late Fire Capt. Fitzgerald.

THE WINCHESTER STAR — ESTABLISHED 1880 — PRINTING STATIONERY

Another Christmas rolls around
To fill the hearts of men;
The family car is in the barn
And butter 's short again;
You can't get this, forbidden that,
That stamp is no good now;
No more for the duration,
Get along without, and how!
The bond boys howl, the tax wolves shriek,
Your dough don't go so far;
With schedule X and Form 2-C
You're doggone near ga-ga!
Whiskey is short and so is coal,
We've had another strike;
You'll do that brother, now, or else—
It isn't what you'd like;
F. D. has been to see Stalin,
The columnists look wise,
And hint at a grand strategy
To come as a surprise;
So while we wait and try to get
A turkey for our dinner,
We'll offer up the same old wish
That's always been a winner;
A Merry Christmas, one and all,
To readers, near or far,
And New Year's Greetings for you, too,
From your Winchester Star!

The President, so we read, has decided that the old term "New Deal" is all off. He desires a new slogan for the more abundant life and the underprivileged two thirds. Well—no matter what you call it, it's (just the same).

We note that thousands in Fall River, now in the midst of a big strike, have applied for their unemployment social security. That's one of the freedoms we miss, for we are only one of the suckers who are paying it—not receiving it.

We quote from yesterday's Herald: "State to pay R. I. strikers. Benefits for 800 granted by board." How do you like them onions? What are any of us working for anyway?

The Star has had occasion before to comment upon the carelessness and indifference to the law of those who burn rubbish out of doors, particularly at seasons of the year when high winds are to be expected. The latest consequence of such burning is the loss of about 1000 eight year old evergreen trees placed by the Water Board in the town's well field off Woodside road. These were consumed in about half an hour on Tuesday by a fire which the authorities are agreed started from a fire or fires set by residents of the district. Needless to state the Water Commissioners are not at all happy over the loss of the trees which they have tended carefully since their planting and upon which they have spent considerable sums of money. Had the trees been spared to mature they would have helped to make what the Water Commissioners planned as a real beauty spot. As it is they will not be replaced. Little or nothing can be said in extenuation of those careless enough to start fires out of doors on a day like Tuesday when the wind approached gale velocity. If their identity can be established, they will face prosecution by the Water Commissioners who many have found do not fool with those who interfere with property under their control. It is against the law to burn out-of-doors without a permit, and we can well imagine the response that would have been forthcoming had anyone sought a permit to burn on Tuesday. Winchester residents have flouted the out-of-doors burning law for years. They will apparently continue to disregard it until a few are prosecuted in court. A start in this direction will be made at least if the authorities are successful in locating those who were responsible for Tuesday's fire.—P. S. Yesterday there was another fire at the well field and a lot more trees were burned!

A hearing has been called for Jan. 4 to establish a basis to bring before the Town the old and much worn scheme for building a roadway along the west side of the railroad tracks from the center to Bacon street. This roadway would pass back of the present railroad station, through the high ledge at the east side of Rangely, over the lowland at the southerly end and into Bacon street at the junction of the Parkway. The project has been in the air for a number of years, although it has never hitherfore been taken seriously by the townspeople. So far as is known, beyond the active support of a very small group of town officials, the scheme has no support and has never been taken seriously by the citizens. The present agitation is supported by the idea of providing work for returned soldiers after the War. Winchester has had many wild and a-sinine projects sugge-ted and even carried out during the period in which everyone ha put his brain (?) at work to think up some wonderful idea to electrify the citizens and enter into some so-called beauty project. A good example is one of the more recent accomplishments at upper Mystic Lake, where a beautiful sheet of water has seen turned into what is practically a mud hole. This furnishes a good example of one of the projects we have experienced. Winchester's carly name was "Waterfield," so named through its beautiful ponds and its river. We doubt if it would ever be so named again. Our beautiful ponds and stream have been so filled in that only a few of us can remember the beauty of the Town's early days. The cost of this proposed road on the west side of the railroad tracks has not as yet been publicly stated, but it would undoubtedly cost a lot to blast out the big ledge and erect a suitable retaining wall. But Winchester, like Washington, has never considered the expense of an improvement (?) seriously. The Town has at the present time a through road adjoining the railroad tracks on the east. This runs along the railroad side of Manchester Field and enters Bacon street between the river and the railroad bridges. Why it is not considered sufficient we do not know, but it certainly would appear to many as adequate to handle all traffic between the two points served. In so far as providing post-war work for our men in the service, why does not this group turn its attention to a project which would meet the approval of the whole town? Why not take up the elimination of our grade crossing? With this necessary and desired improvement, which has aggitated the Town for the past 10 years, still in the air, why not endeavor to settle on a method and put it in shape for immediate post-war consumation? Even with a road, totally unnecessary, built on the west side of the railroad tracks, would its use be available if the grade crossing was eliminated? Probably not—unless a lot more money was spent on it. If the Town has a surplus of money it desires to spend for the benefit of the public at large, it could do no better than give its support to the adoption of the Kellaway Plan for the elimination of our railroad crossing, and carry through to accomplishment a crying need which has been the chief point in the nature of improvement for many years. To commit the Town to this scheme of building an expensive road of doubtful utility, and but a few feet distant from an already existing thoroughfare, seems certainly to be the height of something.

HELP THE POOR TAXPAYER?

"I know something of taxes. For three long years I have been going up and down this country preaching that Government Federal and State and local costs too much. I shall not stop that preaching." [Franklin D. Roosevelt, Chicago, July 1932.

"I accuse the present (Hoover) administration of being the greatest spending administration . . . in all our history. One which has piled Bureau on Bureau, Commission on Commission. Bureaus and Bureaucrats have been retained at the expense of the taxpayer. [Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sioux City, September 1932.

"The people of America demand a reduction of Federal expenditure. It can be accomplished by reducing expenditures of existing departments by abolishing many useless Commissions, Bureaus and functions, and by consolidating many activities of Government. [Franklin D. Roosevelt, Brooklyn, November, 1932.

According to the Federal Register and the most reliable information I can secure, there were 2241 Agencies, Bureaus and Commission on June 11, 1943. To list them all would require over 30 pages." No one actually knows the total number."

TEN POINTS

A Substitute for Four Freedoms

1. You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
4. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
5. You cannot lift the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer.
6. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.
7. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
8. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.
9. You cannot build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence.
10. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP TALES

Mrs. Victor Moses' troop 28, who are Brownies, made orange marmalade which they contributed to the hospital. Troop 22, Mrs. Foster Cleaves' Brownies made cranberry relish and brought it over to the ladies at the Home for the Aged. The older girls in the intermediate troops have worked industriously on fracture pillows for the hospital. Wrapping gifts for the U. S. O. for our boys has been a very enjoyable task to Winchester girl scouts, and they have also had fun making Xmas wreathes for shut-ins.

Diantha Lamb was very enthusiastic in her praise of the musical programs presented by Troop 3 at their investiture ceremony. Carols were sung and games played and all the girls received their tenderfoot pins. Some of the girls furnished real party refreshments for after the concert and on the whole a wonderful time was had by all. The girls will miss Barbara Michelsen from this troop but she has gone to join the six graders and Judy Lamprey was elected in her place to secretary.

Troop 6 are doing the first aid badge with Mrs. Rockwood on Mystic avenue and are so pepped up about it that Mrs. Rockwood said they would have stayed until 8 o'clock if she had let them.

There are about 38 girls who will sing Christmas Carols at the Home for the Aged on the 23rd. The girls have rehearsed faithfully with our director Mrs. Greeley in order that they might present a real finished concert.

Merry Christmas to all the friends of Girl Scouting in Winchester, and in the words of Tiny Tim: "God Bless Us Every One."

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late John Edward Callahan wish to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindly expressions of sympathy and the beautiful flowers sent them during their recent bereavement.

NEW YEAR'S OPEN HOUSE

At First Congregational Church

An open house will be held in the parish house of the First Congregational Church on New Year's Day from 1 to 7 o'clock. It will be strictly informal, a family gathering of the church people. Those who have recently connected themselves with the church are especially urged to come and get better acquainted. Members of the church committee and their wives and husbands will be among the hosts and hostesses.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

A post-Christmas service of unusual beauty will be held in the Crawford Memorial Church, Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Christmas music will feature the service. Miss Jean Drake, well known in Winchester for her musical ability will offer two violin selections, Come Saviour by Bach and Handel's Larghetto. The choir will sing Glory Be to God an old French carol arranged by Snow; the famous Gloria 12th Mass by Mozart. This anthem will have a piano accompaniment with the organ. Miss Cora Lakin will be the pianist.

Rev. Roger E. Makepeace will preach on "That Realist from Bethlehem." The organ selections by Miss Warren will include Handel's "Pastorale" as the prelude, and "The Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah" by Handel as the postlude.

This Christmas Eve at 11 o'clock a community candlelight and carol service will be held in the church to which the public is cordially invited to attend. Few hours in the church year are filled with the religious feeling as is this last hour preceding the beginning of Christmas Day. The Methodist Church under the leadership of its present pastor has for five years observed this significant hour with a service of carols, scripture and meditation. The offering given in this service will be received for the cause of Russian War Relief.

The church will be open at 10:30 p. m. for those coming early for meditation.

CANDLELIGHT CAROL FESTIVAL

All the parish of the Epiphany was invited to be the guests of the Young People's Fellowship, Sunday evening, Dec. 19, in the parish hall. Ushers for the evening were Anne Richardson, Barberie Harmer, Jane Rainie, Barbara Bowes, Marjorie Geerts, Jacqueline Geerts, Betty Jane Gallagher, June Moffette and Charlotte Underwood. These placed the guests at the candle-lit tables which filled the hall.

William Everett welcomed the party. Carols in which all present joined were led informally by piano and organ. Anne Richardson at the piano and William Everett at the organ.

Mothers of Fellowship members, with Mrs. G. Norman Albree and Mrs. Granville Flagg as chairmen, supplied the refreshments which were served during the intermission.

Special numbers on the program were an accordian solo by Marjorie Geerts, a piano solo by William Everett and "A White Christmas", sung by the ushers. William Shoemaker read "A Christmas Message," by Bishop Spellman and Mr. Frank Hirons read the Gospel Christmas story.

The master of ceremonies for the evening was Richard Brackett and under his leadership the party co-operatively melted into the rollicking Yuletide gaiety of "Deck the Hall" and "Jingle Bells" and rose to the triumphant ageless carols of the church and the tender Christmas hymns, "Away in a Manger" and "Silent Night."

The guests were so enthusiastic about this first carol festival that they hope the Young People's Fellowship may make it an annual parish event.

Other Scriptural selections will include: Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in sunder. He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions (Psalms 107:15, 16, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. Today the healing power of Truth is widely demonstrated as an immanent, eternal Science, instead of a miraculous exhibition, its appearing is the coming anew of the gospel of 'on earth peace, good-will toward men.' CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

At First Congregational Church

A Christmas Eve service will be held in the church auditorium of the First Congregational Church at 7:30 Friday evening.

There will be carol singing by the choir and congregation, the bell ringers, and a brief devotional service.

This service will take the place of the usual Christmas play.

SUNDAY EVENING SONG SERVICE

Last Sunday evening was "Old Home Night" at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Henry E. Hodge, former pastor was the guest speaker and he was greeted by a large number of his old friends and parishioners. Previous to the 7 o'clock meeting he accompanied a group of 15 men from the Men's Club to the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street where a number of Christmas Carols were sung to the evident appreciation of the family.

Next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the speaker will be Mr. Gordon MacKerron. He is one of the six MacKerron Brothers of Radio fame and will render several musical selections as well as bring us a good live message which will be well worth hearing. Last Sunday afternoon the MacKerron Brothers rendered a musical service at Tremont Temple in Boston. Do not miss this opportunity.

The Sunday evening song service is proving very helpful and the Men's Club who sponsor them feel very well repaid for their efforts. An invitation is again extended to the people of Winchester regardless of denomination to join us in a good "old fashioned song fest." We would also be pleased to receive letters from men in the armed services to be read at these meetings.

DISCARDED CLOTHING DRIVE

One half a ton of discarded clothing and rags were taken to the Town Hall last Saturday in the one day drive. Sponsored by Civilian Defense this drive was under the supervision of Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, director of war services and Otis W. Leary, chairman of salvage. Mrs. Stanley McNeilly and Mrs. A. J. Higgins were in charge of receiving and sorting. Their assistants were Mrs. Everett D. Luttenehl, Mrs. Herbert Ross, Mrs. Leo Gaudette, Mrs. Robert Richardson, Mrs. H. T. Deutermann, Mrs. Frederick E. Morgan, Mrs. Charles Lennahan, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Howard Bennett and Mrs. Ralph Meigs.

The packing and weighing of the material, which has now all been shipped, was done by Mr. Leary, Mr. Charles Noyes, F. Meredith Cooper and Waldron B. Hersey.

MISS ISABELLA SCOTT

Miss Isabella Scott of 4 Myopia Hill road passed away Tuesday, Dec. 21, at the New England Sanitorium, Stoneham, following a short illness.

She was born in Donegal, Ireland, Feb. 21, 1898, the daughter of George Scott and Margaret Harron. She came to this country 23 years ago and was employed as a housekeeper. She was a regular attendant of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Woburn.

She is survived by one sister, Margaret Ellen Scott of Woburn, and a brother, George Scott of Toronto, Canada.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her cousin, George Hammond of 15 Arlington road, Woburn, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. W. H. Duvall officiating. Interment will follow at Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

JAMES F. CARROLL

James F. Carroll, of Reading, who died this week at St. John's Hospital, in Lowell, formerly lived in Winchester and leaves two sisters in this town, Mrs. Delia Mulrenan and Mrs. John Regan. He also leaves his wife, two daughters, a son and another sister.

Mr. Carroll was formerly a motorman on the cars of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company. Lately he had been an insurance agent and had conducted roadside stands, specializing in lobster dinners. He had been in poor health for some time.

NEW HOPE BAPTIST CHURCH

The New Hope Baptist Church has called as its pastor, Rev. Clifford L. Miller of Boston.

The new minister comes to the church free from debt and ready to take steps forward.

Rev. Mr. Miller is at present a defense worker serving in the capacity of inspector of field telephones manufactured by a Boston firm.

In the last war Mr. Miller served as chaplain in France. In this war he has a son-in-law in the service.

Mr. Miller has pastored in New England and New York. He also served as Chaplain in the CCC. He began supplying New Hope Church last September. The church continued having him serve and at the business meeting in November extended the call. Mr. Miller is already on the field serving.

Out of Mr. Miller's rich experience in inter-racial work and social activities it is his hope to get such co-operation on the part of the community as to make possible some larger program to meet the vital needs of the church and the community.

His impression of Winchester is that of a community with great possibilities.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

Pupils of W. H. S. were indoctrinated with the Christmas spirit at an altogether pleasing assembly yesterday morning, when dramatic groups, glee clubs, and bell ringers combined their talent.

The girls glee club opened the service by singing "O Holy Night" and then filed up to the balcony as the assembly sang "O Come All Ye Faithful." Next, with the girls singing from the balcony the boys' glee club led the group in singing "The First Noel" and "Deck the Halls."

A playlet written by Marty Jackson featured sea scouts Roger Curtis, Joseph Foley and William Everett, the ensemble, the bell ringers, Natalie Dickson, Dick Brackett and Teddy O'Rourke.

Following the carols, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" and "Joy to the World", the audience joined in singing "White Christmas."

Next the curtain opened on a tableau as the glee clubs sang "Silent Night." Represented as Mary was Anne Jennings; as three angels, Alix Austin, Gloria Herrick, Nancy Greiner; and as the three shepherds, Gordon McGovern, James Ware, and Richard Spencer.

With true American courage and optimism we are all trying to make this Christmas as merry as possible. Yet in every home there's a knowledge of something lacking. A war-torn world can never know the true spirit of Christmas.

The closest we can come to the happiness of a peacetime Christmas is to look forward and try to make it possible for our boys to be home for the next holiday season.

"JUNE MAD" PLEASED CAPACITY AUDIENCE

A triumph of high school acting and amateur production was the annual Junior-Senior class play, "June Mad", presented by the students of Winchester High School last Saturday night before a capacity audience. Adapted from the novel, "This Awful Age," by co-authors Ryerson and Clements, "June Mad" proved a splendid vehicle for the talent of the youthful actors and actresses. Limited to one stage setting, the living room of the Woods' home in Lynnbrook, and to the present time, the play is practicable for high school theatricals.

The principal character part, that of Mrs. Wood, could be a straight, perhaps, for an older person, but it required the mature talent of Priscilla Morrill to make it attractive. Priscilla's steady acting, with her well modulated voice and restrained gestures certainly give her a place of prominence in any review. Her studied naturalness became most apparent in the scenes in which a less skillful actress would have been too melodramatic.

Cast in straight parts were Barbara J. Smith as Penny and Herbert Clement as Chuck. From the opening scene in which these two were recklessly fencing in the living room, hazardous to sofa and furnishings, to the last scene together, they were altogether real and natural. Allowed by the playwrights to continue as a bouncing, care-free lad, Herbert took advantage of every opportunity, seemed to ignore the audience who watched his every move, and equalled the more or less anonymous interpretation of the hermit in last year's presentation.

B. J. as Penny, short of Penelope, had to run the gamut of emotions which only a mother could understand but all could appreciate. Changeable as the wind she was able at once to enjoy the informality which Chuck exuded, and to yearn for the glamor girl get-up displayed in a store window with which she could overcome a disconcerting difference in age that hampered her advances toward her first "crush." She did a thorough job in preparing the way for one of the priceless remarks by her stage mother: "While you're hating me, you might as well push that carpet sweeper over the rug."

Boardman O'Connor as Elmer, handyman about the Wood household and accomplice for the budding glider-expert, Chuck, seemed at ease whether carrying paint pail or baggage, and always in dungarees, considerably messy. Slow of speech and movement, he helped to emphasize the vitality of Chuck.

Dr. Wood, played by Larry Smith, always gave the impression that he was on the verge of making a speech. Pompous with his children and with his patients, he was easily deflated by his wife, especially when there was work to be done. Larry gave the proper decorum to a doctor's residence.

Irrepressible, though resistible, more or less describes Milly Lou, played effectively by Virginia Terhune, who stepped in at short notice, when Mary Elizabeth Mueller was forced to withdraw because of illness. Listed in the program as the prompter, Virginia proved the truth of the old saying that the prompter knows all of the parts. She not only handled the dialogue flawlessly, but gave an all-round performance of pesky little sister that would be hard to beat.

Effie, the maid, had troubles with her family. Although ration points were not mentioned they were suggested by every gesture and dismayed comment by Virginia Olivier who took that part. Troubled not only by her employers' meagre supply of groceries in the light of more guests for dinner, she had unmentionable troubles of her own, which made the audience howl.

As a study in contrasts, the wolf and the lamb, Roger Van Vleck and G. Mervyn Roberts, played by Robert Johnston and Philip Slocum were good. The former brought along his smile and voice as his stock in trade, but the latter brought his shyness and pathos along to a high degree of effectiveness. In one of the several "triangle" complications, Bob succeeded in drawing a few well meant, but heart-felt jeers from the younger set outside the fourth wall. Phil, on the other hand, capably inspired everyone to pull for him. In an orchid society, Bob had them, but Phil had gardenias.

Emily Hanson as Julie was the third figure in the triangle mentioned. As the genuine glamor girl she purred upon the new-found boy friend, she brushed off small brother and neighbor girl, and she smashed the ardor of the object of her affection, but did a finished bit of turn about when she displayed genuine alarm at the prospect that her brother might really be hurt. In her change of pace there was good acting.

Shirley Salyer as Shirley Wentworth and John Ottiano as Ralph Wentworth were only briefly on the stage, but were pleasing enough to have warranted much more to do if the playwrights had permitted it.

Ewen Cameron as the sad Mr. Harris was bound to be typed as a worried parent, but a sudden change near the end gave him a chance to display enthusiasm, all the more effective because of its suddenness. He gave the correct impression to offset others who played against him.

The direction of the play was excellent. The timing was so obviously good that there were no waits for cues no aimless wandering, and good "business." Besides doing an unusually good job of directing, Mr. Newton had the additional task of providing much of the property and arranging the set, not to mention the thrill which he must have received every time someone jumped on his divan.

Teachers' Club Bowling Results

Nothing more startling than the Dickmans tieing the Rodgerses occurred at the weekly bowling session. As the Butterses moved out of the way, the Coopers took over sole possession of the cellar as a result of their giving away four points to the up and coming Learys, who now have a third place tie with the Branleys and the Smiths. The Stowells have undisputed possession of second place. No records were shattered.

The Salvation Army in New England welcomes Major and Mrs. Paul H. Seiler, the recently appointed provincial secretary for this command.

Staunchly supported by a long, active career in the Army's services, Major Seiler brings with him a wide, valuable experience in the field of social work and public service.

The past seven and a half years, Major Seiler has been serving as divisional secretary and public relations secretary, Southwest Ohio Division, at Cincinnati, Ohio. One of the Majors responsibilities was the financing of the William Booth Memorial Hospital at Covington, Ky. This hospital is considered one of the most modern operated by the Salvation Army in this country.

Major and Mrs. Seiler are talented musicians. They have two children, Paul, Jr., who is in the Army's Training College at New York City and Glenn, 12 years old.

HOW ABOUT THE LEFT FOOT?

Are people right and left-footed as they are right and left-handed? According to Dr. John D. McLean, president of the Massachusetts Chiropody Association, a good deal of work has been done by the Chiropody profession on this problem but the results are not decisive. It seems whether you use one foot more than the other is more a matter of chance than any real right or left-footedness or any deep seated "sidedness." The fact that soldiers start off marching with the left foot is probably merely a military custom and not due to any tendency for people to start off on the left foot.

FIREMEN BUSY

Monday and Tuesday proved busy days for the Fire Department with a large number of grass and brush fires throughout town.

The most destructive of the fires was that which took place at 11:10 Tuesday forenoon at the town well field off Woodside and Ardley roads. Several telephone calls were received, even after apparatus was on the way to the fire, and upon arrival Box 542 was sounded for additional help. Quite a bit of ground was burned over and about 1000 eight year old evergreen trees in the well field were destroyed. Hoods believe burning rubbish in incinerators are blamed for the fire, and spark from an incinerator are also said to have caused the fire that burned trees and shrubs at the home of Mr. William Martens on Ridgefield road. Box 27 was sounded for this fire at 1:44 p. m. on Tuesday, and at 2 o'clock burning grass set fire to some old lumber at the rear of the Stone estate on Cambridge street. At 1:36 the men had to return to the Stone estate to put out a burning tree evidently set during the previous fire.

The other three runs on Tuesday were for grass fires on Kirk street, Allen road and Webster street.

Monday's first run was at 12:25 p. m. for grass and fence afire on Railroad land off White street. Four more grass fires called out the men, the first to White street at 12:55, Calumet road at 1:55, to Washington street at the rear of Seller's Market at 3:10 and to Holland street at 3:50. At 1:03 Monday afternoon Engine 3 in charge of Capt. Edward Noonan went to Medford to cover in, and at 4:51 there was a brush fire at the rear of 16 Norwood street. The final run of the day came at 4:30 for a brush fire near Long Pond.

SLIPPERY GOING MONDAY

Icy Roads Result in Several Accidents

The snow and rain which fell Sunday night and early Monday morning covered the roads with a thin coat of ice and made driving about town extremely hazardous until the Town Highway crews got the streets sanded. Pedestrians going to early trains had to watch their steps in real earnest to prevent falling on the slippery pavements, the first of the winter.

Everywhere about town on the side streets cars were pulled up and were standing where their operators had left them until such time as the driving was better. Several less fortunate drivers did not get out of it so well.

At 5:55 Monday morning a Plymouth sedan, driven south on Main street by Joseph V. Gearty of 42 Poole street, Woburn, skidded when about 50 feet north of Lake street and struck a Edison Light pole on the right side of the road. The front end of the car was badly damaged but no one was injured.

Harold M. Curry of Bay State road, South Tewksbury, reported to the Police that as he was driving his Oldsmobile sedan east on Cross street at 7:30 Monday morning, the car skidded on the hill east of Loring avenue and struck an ice truck, owned by Peter McNulty of 18 Wendell street. The front end of the Olds was damaged but the truck was unharmed and no injuries were reported.

Ten minutes after this accident a Buick sedan, owned and driven by John A. Jones of Maquan street, Kingston, while headed east on Church street, in attempting to pass a town sand truck which had stopped, skidded and crossed the sidewalk into the yard of Dr. Ralph A. Manning, 710 Church street, where it crashed into a tree. The car was disabled and had to be towed away. Annette W. Cook of Maquan street, Kingston, one of two passengers in the car, sustained a bruise on the forehead and was in a dazed condition when the Police arrived. She was taken in the ambulance by Officers Irving Reardon and Edward Bowler to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus. Florence C. Jones, another passenger in the car, and Jones, the operator were not injured.

The most spectacular of the accidents in Winchester was that which took place at 8:55 on Fenwick road where a Mack dump truck, owned by the Metropolitan Coal Company of 65 State street, Boston, and loaded with seven tons of coal for the Bacon Felt Company of this town, skidded wide headed west and tipped over.

According to the Police the truck skidded first about 100 feet from Grove street while going down hill. It struck the right curb and after skidding along for about 40 feet, again struck the curb and tipped over on its right side, about 50 feet above the sharp bend in the road, spilling most of the seven tons of coal on the ground.

The truck was driven by Earle E. Kenney of 15 Monmouth street, East Boston, who had Thomas Duffy of 7 Crinsfield street, Dorchester, as helper. Kenney got out of the truck all right, but Duffy, a man said by the Police to weigh nearly 300 pounds was wedged tightly in the cab of the machine.

Officers Irving Reardon and John Murray of the Police labored in vain to get the huge man from the cab and a call was sent into Fire Headquarters for assistance. Led by Capt. J. Edward Noonan, a squad of firemen, including James L. Nowell, John J. Flaherty, Walter Carroll and Edward Hughes, responded and finally extricated Duffy, by placing a ladder against the cab and rigging a tackle and block.

Once out, Duffy was removed by the Police in the ambulance to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Philip J. McManus. The extent of his injuries could not be immediately determined. The truck was not badly damaged.

ELIAS L. TITUS OF 97 GROVE STREET, OLDEST ENGINEER ON FITCHBURG DIVISION

Elias L. Titus of 97 Grove street, the oldest engineer on the Fitchburg Division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, after 54 years in railroading, still handles the throttle of one of the Boston and Maine's important trains from Boston to Bellows Falls, Vt, and probably will continue to do so indefinitely.

Adding to his contentment is the fact that he and Mrs. Titus have been married for 54 years and together they make as lively and devoted a couple as one could wish. They celebrated their 51st anniversary on Nov. 1.

Several railroad wrecks have figured in Mr. Titus' more than half a century of railroading, but fortunately he escaped without serious injury.

He was born in Cornish, N. H., Sept. 20, 1870 and after spending 14 years on a farm went to Bellows Falls, Vt., to work in one of the paper mills, later removing to Cambridge. He first joined the railroad on Dec. 12, 1889 and was a fireman on a shifting engine from Dec. 15, 1889 until Sept. 28, 1892. For three years he alternated and on Oct. 15, 1895 became a full-fledged engineer.

For 21 years he has operated the locomotive on the "milk train" between Boston and Bellows Falls, Vt., hauling 14 cars of milk. He leaves Boston at 5.10 p. m. and starts back from Bellows Falls at 1 o'clock in the morning. He knows every tie and every length of rail and still gets the same exhilaration from the perfect co-ordination of his locomotive as he did on his first run many years ago.

When Mr. Titus married Miss Lulu E. Nickerson of Cape Sable Island, Nova Scotia, on Nov. 1, 1892 at Somerville, an ideal couple was brought together and through the years they have held their youth and their zest for life and have encouraged and stimulated each other.

Mrs. Titus is as active in domestic and social affairs as her husband is in his work. They both have found much time for outside social and fraternal activities. Mr. Titus having served in all the branches of Odd Fellowship, was department commander and served on the staff of the General Commandant of the world. Mrs. Titus has been a most active member of the Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A delightful family life prevails at 97 Grove street, where they reside in the same house with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Binns and their three daughters. Miss Priscilla A. Binns, Mrs. Elizabeth Griffin, whose husband is in the armed services and Miss Virginia A. Binns. Mr. Binns is sales manager of a large lobster concern in Boston.

The Boston and Maine Railroad conferred the gold pass for 50 years service on Mr. Titus and according to the railroad records there are only six other engineers having longer service.

The first wreck in which Mr. Titus figured occurred in 1900 in Shirley where a train of 32 freight cars, of which he was engineer, left the tracks. The ligaments of his knee were torn and along his leg there were burns from the hot rivit heads of the boiler against which he was pinned for some minutes. He managed to extricate himself from the engine cab before he was seriously burned.

Forty-two years later, on Aug. 13, 1942, his train approached a road crossing in Fitzwilliam after a cloudburst but there was no way for Mr. Titus to know that the flood of water a few minutes earlier had washed out the road for a depth of six feet under the planking between the rails. When the train hit the crossing the roadbed collapsed and the last coach of the eight-car train tipped over. None of the passengers was hurt and Mr. Titus escaped injury.

Mr. Titus is proud of his work and is eager each day to be back at the throttle of his big engine. He enjoys excellent health so, despite his more than 54 years of service, does not even consider retirement. But when, and if, he does decide to retire he will have the contentment of a rare record to look back upon. And he will have the pleasant companionship of the woman to whom he has been married for 51 years and whose outlook on life is as youthful as the day they were married.—[Woburn Times

NEUMANN—WOODWARD

At the home of her parents on Christmas night, Miss Ann Josephine Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Woodward of Oxford street, became the bride of Lt. Augwill Walter Neumann, Army of the United States Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Neumann of Nashota, Wis. Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, read the marriage service at 8 o'clock, before a lighted candelabra having seven candles and flanked on either side by small Christmas trees, the background for the attractive setting being a white satin drop festooned with pine boughs and hung with silver bells.

Mr. Woodward arranged the decorations, which simulated an altar, and also gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Barbara Mabie of Chestnut Hill played the bridal music, first the "Kamenoi Ostrow" of Rubinstein and then the traditional "Wedding March" from Lohengrin by Wagner.

Miss Woodward wore a gown of brocaded white satin with a short tulle veil, caught at either side with orange blossoms. Her flowers were gardenias and maiden-hair ferns.

She was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Zoe Tibbetts of Winchester and Miss Nancy Loveland of Newton, both of whom wore deep rose taffeta dresses and carried bouquets of white snapdragons and ferns.

Lt. Edward Park of Denver, Col., was Lt. Neumann's best man and the ushers, both classmates of the bridegroom at Harvard, were Lt. Tom Palmer of Los Angeles, Cal., and Lt. Sidney Johnson of Pasadena, Cal.

A reception was held after the ceremony, with the bride's aunt, Miss Katherine Woodward of Allandale, Fla., assisting the hostess. Lt. Neumann and his bride left immediately following the ceremony for Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., where the bridegroom is attending the advanced depot quartermaster's school.

Mrs. Neumann graduated from Winchester High School and attended Green Mountain Junior college. She is a member of the present senior class at the Chamberlain School in Boston.

The bridegroom graduated from St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis., from the College of Architecture at the University of Illinois and from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in May, 1943. He is a member of Gargoyle Architectural fraternity.

CELEBRATES 90TH BIRTHDAY

The Star joins with a host of her friends in offering congratulations to Mrs. Ammi C. Winn of 59 Highland avenue, on the occasion of her 90th birthday which she will observe tomorrow, New Year's Day, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rony Snyder, with whom she lives.

Mrs. Winn was born Elizabeth Kyle on Jan. 1, 1854 in Roxbury then known as Boston Highlands. She was educated there and lived there until her marriage on April 18, 1878 to Ammi Cutter Winn of Burlington and Roxbury.

For a few years the couple resided in Somerville, and 61 years ago on March 21, moved to Winchester making their home for a long time on what is now Worthen road, living in the original house on the site of the present home of Loring Gleason. There for many years Mr. Winn engaged in market gardening.

In 1914 they moved "off the hill," and at subsequent times resided on Main street, at 514 Washington street, 5 Marion street and 59 Highland avenue.

In 1928 Mr. and Mrs. Winn celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Winn died not long after.

Up to recent days Mrs. Winn has been very active. At the age of 89 she went to California by train, returning by automobile, and only last March journeyed to Cleveland, Ohio and back by train.

Recent illness and failing eyesight have now forced her to be less active, but she still retains her keen, intelligent interest in people and affairs, and the kindly generous spirit which has made her such a valued friend to many, and made so many people her friends.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

The Winchester Rotary Club held its weekly luncheon and meeting yesterday with almost a full attendance. One visitor, Winn Brown of Woburn, was present and welcomed. President Ernest Dade presided.

The speaker of the noon hour was Dr. Cornelius Thibeault of Wakefield, who illustrated his subject "What the Veterinary Profession Means to Mankind" by a most interesting and entertaining talk.

At this meeting the first report was made by the captains of the two teams of Rotarians appointed to secure additional blood donors for the armed forces. Captains Ralph Bonnell and Ralph Purrington each reported a large number of volunteer donors. The large chart which the Club will maintain to show the progress of the two teams in this important campaign was placed upon the wall and will be marked weekly from now on.

Miss Janet Johnson is spending a few days here in town visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Geerts on Calumet road. She is now on vacation from Mt. Holyoke College and will return to her home in Albany, N. Y. on Sunday.

JESSE G. DAY

Jesse G. Day, familiarly known as "Jay" to his many friends in Winchester, died at noon on Wednesday, Dec. 29, at his home, 15 Church street, after a long illness.

Mr. Day was the son of Leander H. and Nellie (Phelps) Day. He was born June 2, 1882, in Saco, Me., but spent his boyhood in Wakefield, attending the Wakefield schools and Mitchell Academy in Billerica.

As a young man he was associated for a time with an art goods business in Wakefield and Springfield. Later he raised fine horses in Sommerville, N. C., winning many prizes with his mounts at Southern shows. He was himself a great lover of horses, an ardent sportsman and an expert horseman, generally riding his own entries in the various show rings.

At the time of his wife's death six years ago, Mr. Day came to Winchester and had since made his home here. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Horace Likins of this town and Mrs. A. W. Fulton of Springfield.

Funeral services were held this Friday morning at the Kelley and Hawes Chapel with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany officiating. Burial was in Central Cemetery, East Hartford, Conn.

MRS. EMMA LOUISE BERTSCHINGER

Mrs. Emma Louise Bertschinger, widow of Edward Bertschinger and mother of Mrs. Luther A. Parker of 29 Ledyard road, died Friday afternoon, Dec. 24, at the Winchester Hospital, following a three week's illness.

Mrs. Bertschinger was the daughter of Charles and Anna Marie (Hinsgtaken) Kuehler. Born Oct. 22, 1873 at College Point, N. Y., she was for 61 years a resident there, having been a charter member of the College Point Lodge of Rebekahs. For the past seven years she had been making her home with her daughter in Winchester. Besides Mrs. Parker she leaves a son, Major Charles F. Bertschinger, United States Army Ordnance Corps officer at Fort Meade, Md.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in funeral parlors at College Point, N. Y., with Rev. Benjamin Mottram, rector of St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church there, officiating. Interment was in Flushing Cemetery at Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.

THEFT AT IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH

The stand which holds the vigil lights and their offering box was stolen from the Immaculate Conception Church sometime after the midnight mass held there Christmas Eve. The janitor discovered the theft when he unlocked the church the next morning. The vigil candles had been taken from the stand and thrown into one of the rooms in the church.

The Police were notified and commenced an investigation. There was no sign of a break at the church, indicating that the thief or thieve might have remained out of sight in the church after the mass.

Early in the morning following the theft the Burlington Police recovered the missing stand, after a motorist had reported it in the road near St. Mary's Church in that town. The top was missing but the offering box had not been found and about $9 in coins was not when the box was opened by the Pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, Rev. James F. Fitzsimons.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Regular Meeting

Mrs. Clarence B. Whorf will open her home for the next regular meeting of the Winchester League to be held Friday afternoon, Jan. 7 at 2 p. m.

The League is fortunate in having for its speaker that afternoon Mr. Donald G. Lothrop. Mr. Lothrop is the leader of the Community Church in Boston. He is a member of its Social Action Council and in his position is active at the State House on many social measures up for legislation. His subject will be, "Racial and Religious Tensions." All of us have been made aware of these tensions threatening here at home the freedom for which we send our men overseas. There are also many international implications as our actions here at home on this important issue is closely matched abroad. Our speaker will give us some of the background of these differences and help us acquaint ourselves with the problems involved.

Members are cordially invited to bring friends.

THE EPIPHANY MYSTERY PLAY

At 4 o'clock on Friday, Dec. 24, many very young members of Epiphany parish went to church for the first time since they were christened. The occasion was the Christmas Mystery Play of the Church School, traditionally here the center of the children's festival on Christmas Eve.

Very proper church-goers were these little tots, wide-eyed gazers at angels and kings and shepherds twisting little yearling necks with thrilled recognition to follow with their eyes the little sister just a size or two larger who was making her first processional circuit of the church, near the head of the kindergarten and primary ranks. Occasionally a little twitter of speech was barely audible, but in the main these tiny people were all eyes. At the very last they ceased to be just spectators, when gifts were distributed to the Cradle Roll; then, shepherded by a mother's hand, some made a long journey, clear up to Mr. Hadley at the chancel rail and back. An occasional bold spirit made the trip alone. Some sent older brothers or sisters to bring back the treasure. The psychologists say they won't really remember this first visit to church, but if any little trace remains, it will be a happy sense of quiet and color and light and song and tenderly encircling mortal arms.

These young people of the church played the human parts in the Christmas Story:

Mary ..... June Moffette
Joseph ..... William Everett
Shepherds: Charles Wansker, Jack Barnes, Wesley Swanson
Wise Men: Lester Troast, Gregory Kollegian, Thomas Knight
Archangel Herald ..... Anne Albree

The two very tiny angels at the manger were Sally Aitken and Virginia d'Elseaux. Singing angels were Rosanne Borden, Nancy Booth, Betty Parkin, Louise Knight, Elizabeth Seager, Joyce Foster, Helen Walker, Joan Sulman, Virginia Dyer, Carolyn Edgar, Sharon Elledge and Cynthia Hill.

Miss Ethel B. Davis, director of religious education, was ill and absent from the Mystery Play, the first time in 30 years. A message of sympathy and regret was sent to Miss Davis, and to Deaconess Helen Lane, who as director of the Lower School devised the costumes and pageantry of the primary and kindergarten children.

This year Miss Davis was to have directed the play. At her illness, a group of ready spirits took up the work: Mrs. Guy Livingstone, Mrs. John Phelps, Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. Fancis Booth, Mrs. Herbert Kelley, Mrs. Harvard Mann and Miss Nancy Kelley.

PROPER OBSERVANCE

On Nov. 16, the Winchester Co-operative Bank held a small dinner at the Winchester Country Club in observance of the 50th anniversary of its founding. It was an unusual occasion, for there were present four from the Banking Department, Commissioner Perry, Deputy Commissioner Leland, and Lester Whitten and Horace Whynot, respectively, director and assistant director of the Co-operative Bank Division.

Also present as guests were Brendon Shea, treasurer of the Mt. Washington Bank, the only other bank started in 1877, and thus also having arrived at the venerable age of 50 (the bank, not Brendon's). President Ratcliff and Secretary Allen of the Lexington and Misses Martha Salcow and Josephine Bonsignor of the bank's staff.

Vice President Vincent Farnsworth presided in splendid fashion. Hon. Lewis Parkhurst, one of the incorporators, spoke briefly in a reminiscent vein, and President Samuel S. Symmes responded felicitously. Commissioner Perry delivered an inspired and inspiring address. So high regard for Treasurer Ernest R. Eustis was expressessed that the secretary felt impelled to take the floor and tell Ernest's board something of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow co-operative bank executives, evidenced among other ways by the fact that he served longer on the League's Executive Committee than any other member, being elected year after year by his group, the North Middlesex until 1940, when declining re-election he was succeeded by the late William E. Mulliken.

The affair was notable in another respect in that dinner was served at the dot—6:30, and the meeting adjourned at 8:30!—[Co-operative Banker.

WINCHESTER YOUNGSTERS ENTHUSIASTIC GARDNERS

The report of Robert F. Guild, director of the Middlesex County Extension Service in Winchester, shows that 49 boys and girls were engaged in 4-H Club work during 1943, carrying on projects in gardening, poultry and rabbit raising.

Gardening, perhaps because of the national Victory Garden idea, was by far the most popular project of the local 4-H members, plots ranging in size from 300 square feet to 10,000 square feet and being thrifty, well-kept gardens that furnished valuable food for the families of the gardeners and in some instances, surpluses for sale. Several club members were among the exhibitors at the Winchester Victory Garden show in the town hall. Prizes were awarded, as follows:

1st, Harold Moran, for vegetables.
1st Special, Eugene J. Rotundi, Jr., for hen and chickens.
2nd, Eugene J. Rotundi, Jr., for vegetables.
1st Special, Lewis G. Curtis, Jr., for hen and rooster.
1st, Bradford Smith, for Angora rabbit.
2nd, Bradford Smith, for garden care.
3rd, Roger Creelman, for vegetables.

The gardens of 4-H Club members in Winchester were listed by Mrs. A. F. Woodside and Mrs. W. W. Goodhue, both of this town, who were both very helpful and enthusiastic over the efforts of the local youngsters. Cooperating with the local committee, the Middlesex County Department of Agriculture furnished pamphlets to those interested in Victory Gardens and rendered assistance on garden problems whenever requested.

The Winchester Victory Garden exhibit was one of the largest in the country, was extremely well organized and carefully arranged. The interest in and spirit for Victory Gardens as well as the desire to exhibit were most praiseworthy. Judges for the exhibition were furnished by the Extension Service, obviating what otherwise could have been a difficult feature of the show.

EXHIBITION OF ETCHINGS AND CERAMICS TO HAVE PRE-VIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins Art Association Speakers

A uniquely combined exhibition of privately owned etchings and historic New England ceramics will be opened to residents of Winchester and visitors from out of town for the month of January at the opening of the Winchester Art Association gallery on the evening of Jan. 1 at 8 o'clock. Patrons for the accompanying tea will be Mrs. John L. Ebbingier and Mrs. Adin Bailey.

Mr. Charles Hadley Watkins of 2 Ridgefield road, a past president of the Association, and Mrs. Lura Wood Watkins have lent the joint exhibition and will be the speakers of the evening. This exhibition of etchings will comprise a selected group of prints representing styles and periods of distinction ranging from those of the 16th century master, Albrecht Durer, down to the present; and to quote Mr. Watkins, "will be chosen with a view to presenting a cross-section of a private collection which began with a first purchase in 1928, but the bulk of which accumulated during the years between 1936 and the present time." The ever-lurking pitfalls and the thrills which constantly challenge the discriminative daring of the collector of prints are suggested in the subject upon which he has chosen to speak: "Collect, and Beware."

Budding collectors who may aspire to catholicity of taste, or those who may merely wish or even desire to hope, may anticipate a mysterious induction into the darker and more brilliant aspects of the remote habitats of art connoisseurship.

Mrs. Watkins will speak on, "Early New England Pottery." Her excavations into early New England pottery mines, her ceramic exhibitions, including representation in the current one at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and her superb collection of glasses are well known to residents of Winchester and others, as are her authoritative books on the subject which include "Cambridge Glass: 1818 to 1888" and "A History of American Glass-making." In addition to these, her versatile pen has accounted for six charming one-act plays.

This showing of art objects lent by the Association by Mr. and Mrs. Watkins will mark the first of a series of four exhibitions planned by the Exhibition Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Forrest W. Orr of 21 Winslow road, all of which will be strong in local flavor either through reflections of connoisseurship or talent. Coming as a February sequel will be an exhibition of Early American paintings owned by residents of Winchester. This will be followed in March by a collection of artistic maps selected and arranged by Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase of 7 Lakeview terrace, and by the annual exhibitions of paintings from Winchester painters in April.

Possibly the query is in order whether another town of comparable population in America could match such an art program either in versatility or distinction.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The Better Homes Garden Club met in Associates Hall on Dec. 17 for an all day meeting to make Christmas decorations for Lovell General Hospital at Fort Devens. A box lunch was enjoyed the club serving hot bouillon.

The women made more than 50 swags and wreaths besides decorations for the Winchester Home for the Aged and the Public Library.

Nine members of the club left early on the morning of Dec. 18 to take these greens to Fort Devens in Ayer.

There were also women from 12 of the neighboring garden clubs working on this project, of adding the final touches to the wreaths they had made and brought. Huge red ribbon bows with long streamers were attached to each and every piece making them look very gay.

At noon members of the Red Cross Canteen served a delicious and hearty luncheon to the 50 women workers.

After when the green goods were to the different wards, a crew the ones who were able helped in the hanging of them.

They decorated 26 wards, 12 of the wards having small Christmas trees, 16 private rooms, the chapel, the library, lounge and the large recreation hall.

The boys were delighted with everything and said it was the next best thing to being home.

Mrs. Harold Twombly has charge of this work for Lovell General Hospital for the entire year. Which meannot only Christmas, but Easter and Thanksgiving and starting early in the spring providing flowers every Friday all summer for the wards and the chapel. MOTORIST FINED

Robert W. Keleher of Chadwick road, North Billerica, was fined $25 each on two counts by Associated Justice Curtis W. Nash in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning upon complaint of Patrolman James F. Noonan of the Police Department.

Officer Noonan alleged that on Dec. 7 he attempted to stop Keleher on Cambridge street near High street when he believed he was operating his automobile at a rate of speed in access of what was reasonable and proper. Keleher refused to stop until Officer Noonan had chased him in the Police cruiser over the line into Arlington. Then it is alleged he refused to permit Officer Noonan to take his license for means of identification.

Justice Nash found Keleher guilty on both counts and fined him $25 on each. Keleher had no money for his fines and was remanded to East Cambridge jail in lieu of payment.

SONS OF ITALY LODGE NEWS

We received Christmas cards from Larry Penta, Albert Derro and a letter from Jumbo Marrone. In his letter Jumbo writes: "I have been working hard the past few weeks. It snowed down here in Georgia, which made me a little homesick. I went to see Pvt. and Mrs. Albert Derro. Had Christmas dinner with them and we talked about home and our grand times we've had in Winchester. Boy, that town sure looks good to us."

Frank Corbi who was in the South Pacific war zone for over 18 months is home on a short furlough. He is in the best of health in spite of the many hardships he went through on various battlefronts in the South Pacific.

As the letters from you boys in the service are coming in slow I will have to fill in with some personal observations and incidents.

A few days ago I went by Marchesis' store on Swanton street and one of their store windows is full of souvenirs from the South Pacific war zone. They were sent home by Sgt. Paul Marchesi. They were mostly Japanese souvenirs such as money, bayonets, flags, buttons and many others. As I was gazing at them I was trying to imagine the circumstances under which they were obtained. I saw Chinky coming up to one of those rats and, thinking of Pearl Harbor and what they almost did to his brother Fiume, giving it to him with both barrels. As I gazed at each object a different picture passed through my mind. I know many others who looked in that window felt the same.

The Sons of Italy magazine has a few pages in every issue filled with pictures of members who are in the service. The December issue carried the pictures of two members of the Winchester Ladies' Lodge, Grace Marchesi and Y-Ie Mary Tucci. After looking at their pictures I wondered what have the glamour girls of Hollywood got that they haven't got. You're welcome girls, now how about a letter?

Many boys were home over the holidays. Some of them are: Lt. John A. Volpe from Camp Peary, Va., Squeaks Falzano from the Kendall Hospital in Louisiana, Barney Vespucci from Florida, Jerry Fiocicello from Camp Mackall, N. C., Nick Melea from New River, N. C., Joe Melle who is in the Air Corps, was home from the mid-West, as was Sgt. "Mulligan" Fiore of the Air Corps.

Whaddya say fellas and girls, how's about giving out with news about yourselves. I know I keep harping on the subject. The Winchester Star has been generous in giving us all this space in the interest of our servicemen. If you are backward about writing about yourself write about someone else you know. Which brings to mind the old one I heard.

A veteran of World War I was telling his young son about his part in winning the last war. After he got through his son asked him, "Daddy, what did they send the other soldiers over for?"

Hm, not so good, huh? Well, anyway, send those letters along, because, regardless of what you may think, every letter is interesting to us at home.

The Winchester Lodge wishes each and every one of you a Happy New Year.

K. OF C. TO STAGE NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, is holding a New Year's Eve party and ladies' night this evening at the Council Chambers in the White Block on Mt. Vernon street. A large attendance is looked for and the committee in charge has arranged an interesting program.

TWO DOUBLES COVERED

Hot and Cold Pitching at Palmer Beach

Seldom in the annals of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association has it been possible to chronicle much of any success accruing to the Secretary in his competitive efforts with the other members. Generally speaking, he can be designated only as a member of one of the losing teams, which makes his showing of the past weekend all the more remarkable. Only those who actually saw him do it will credit the fact that he covered a double-header.

To be sure he was not the only one to do it at the Association's most recent session, "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the pride of Stowe and Champion of all Nahnassett, also put two shoes on top of two that were around the stake. But in "Willie's" case this is nothing to be wondered at. He has done the same often before, even twice in succession, so another time, more or less, in his case is nothing to stay onside about, as the English put it.

In the Secretary's case, however, covering a double is a feat to marvel at, and everyone at the courts, gallery included, marveled, with the exception of President Royal P. Teele, whose shoes it was the Scrivener covered. Mr. Teele was too provoked to marvel, for it was the second time during that one session that he had a double-header covered, Mr. McLaughlin having previously wiped out six points which Royal was gleefully adding to his side's grand total.

Sportsman that he is, Mr. Teele congratulated the Secretary, much more warmly than he did McLaughlin, who because of an argument over a ringer at the Association's previous meeting is somewhat out of Presidential favor at the moment; but even his felicitations as affecting the Scrivener, who is and has been one of his staunchest supporters, failed to strike on a hearty note. The accompanying handicap was for Teele a mere gesture and the smile, a bit on the wry side. Double ringers when the ground is frozen are much too hard to come by, to be lost with the best of grace.

In addition to covering a double-header the Secretary was as much the session's champion as anyone, another almost unbelievable fact. He lost two out of three with the President, of course; but he won two out of three with "Wild Willie", after dropping the first game 25-7; and he was again a winner with Arthur E. Butters, who is sometimes called the State of Maine Champ. It was during this latter two-out-of-three match that the Secretary covered Mr. Teele's double-header, and his feat disturbed both Royal and McLaughlin to such an extent that they never really recovered.

As a matter of fact Mr. McLaughlin was so upset that he disputed the winning of the deciding game, and it must be admitted that due to some exceptionally sparkling repartee the score was for a time lost track of. It is, however, more than likely that this mental lapse worked out greatly to the advantage of McLaughlin and Teele, both of whom were in the pitching doldrums, while Mr. Butters was going great guns.

The final single game match of the session was won by Mr. Teele and the Secretary from Mr. Butters and Mr. McLaughlin, this odd game giving the Secretary whatever claim he had to titular honors. The score, 25-17, while not exceptional was sufficient to send Mr. Teele home very happy indeed. The Secretary was too stunned by his great good fortune to register emotion of any kind.

Only the quartet whose names have been mentioned above answered the President's call to action last weekend. Mr. Pridham was in Maine visiting Roland, Jr., now in the Army Aviation Corps, and Mr. Wittet may, or may not have received a new consignment of blueberry bushes which needed attention. At least nothing was heard from, or of him.

Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner and Henry "Tiffany" Knowlton went fishing through the ice somewhere or other with "Lou" and "Ward" Goddu and "Chuck" Hucking, all devotees of red flags and chilblains.

Mr. Teele had little to say about the Knowlton defection, "Tiffany's" attendance having been rather unpredictable of late. Concerning Mr. Gardner the President had more to say. "Garrulous" has been very regular in reporting and his play has as a consequence greatly improved. He has won championship honors at three of his last four appearances at the courts.

"Fishing" said Mr. Teele, "can be all right; in its place, that is. Provided of course, you ever actually catch anything. But this roosting on the ice and watching a hole, while slowly freezing to death, and in the end coming home with a couple of "kivvies," if that, can be no substitute for horseshoes, not for a man of "Garrulous's" stamp. I'm surprised, and in a way disappointed. I had expected better things of him!"

Perhaps mention should be made of the gallery which cheered on the warriors last week-end. How "Joe" Flaherty would have loved it. Besides Harry Pilkington, more or less a regular observer, there were Brad Bentley, the Fitts brothers, Dave and Bud, and one or two others, not known to this reviewer, but evidently friends of McLaughlin, since they rooted strongly, if vainly, for him.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS FROM SOUTH PACIFIC

Lt. (jg) Iver Olson, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Olson of Prince avenue, was home for Christmas after seeing several months of active service against the Japanese in the South Pacific.

Former Winchester High School football player and Dartmouth graduate, Lt. Olson commanded a landing craft in the Navy's Amphibious Forces, seeing service in the fighting around New Guinea and Sidney, Australia as well as at Lea. His craft had many close shaves and once was actually lifted from the water by the force of an explosion of a Jap shell which fortunately was a "near miss."

Lt. Olson brought home with him many interesting souvenirs of the fighting in the South Pacific. After spending Christmas with his parents, in Winchester, he left Sunday for Norfolk, Va., where he was to receive assignment orders.

JACKSON AT GREAT LAKES

Big Bob Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Cross street, and star left end on last year's State championship football team at Winchester High School, is now located at the United States Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., where he is attached to Co. 1981 of the 14th Regiment.

"Jack" writes that Great Lakes is a wonderful place and that the food is both good and plentiful. He is kept pretty busy but likes his work and his associates whom he characterizes as a most cooperative bunch of boys. Too bad "Jack" didn't get out to Great Lakes in time for football. The coaches would have welcomed his 225 pounds, speed and football sense.

BAIRSTOW ON BRITISH BROADCAST

Lt. Laurence Bairstow, USAAF, former Winchester High track star and varsity hurdler at Brown, was one of those who spoke on the Kennedy Broadcast from London, England, on Christmas Day.

"Larry," a Fortress pilot and holder of the air medal, expressed optimism concerning the outcome of the war, saying, "We are taking them. That's what I would like to tell them at home for Christmas." He is the son of Mrs. Kate Bairstow of Washington street.

The program was put on by "Gil" Holland, Boston Traveler writer, now covering the Army camps in England.

WINCHESTER BOYS IN ENGLAND

Two Winchester boys, neighbors and schoolmates here, are now on Army duty in England according to information recently received by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Leathers and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keyes, all of Lloyd street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leathers received a Christmas cablegram from their son, Pfc. Harry Leathers, announcing his arrival in England, where he is serving with the ground crew of the Army Air Forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Keyes' son, Sam, former Winchester High School football player, is a second lieutenant in the Army Transportation Corps overseas.

RESCUED DOG AT FALMOUTH

While Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Hadley of Forest street were guests in Falmouth last week, Mr. Hadley received much praise for his rescue of a dog which broke through the ice in Siders Pond there. He and his wife were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blakley of Welch, West Virginia, who were occupying the Bigelow house during a visit to their daughter and son-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. W. B. Belcher.

According to report Mr. Hadley, becoming aware of the dog's plight, ran to the pond nearby and broke his way through the ice, swimming to the dog and bringing it ashore after it had tried vainly to climb out on the thin ice. The dog, a cocker spaniel, belonging to 5-year old Margot Jenkins.

WEEK-END FIRES

The Fire Department was called out several times on Christmas Day to put out grass fires about town. Sunday afternoon the men were called to put out a fire in an automobile on Hillcrest parkway.

Monday morning at 9:05 the Department was called to the Winchester-Medford line on Main street to put out a fire caused by defective wires in an automobile, owned by the Multiple Breaker Co. of New Jersey and driven by Gerry Howard, former Winchester boy. Thirty-five minutes later the men were called to the home of Mr. Oscar R. Kroell, 5 Wolcott road where there was a strong smell of smoke. The fire men found the trouble to be an over-heated motor in the blower of the house heating system.

SKIING AT NORTH CONWAY

A group of Winchester boys enjoyed several days skiing this week on the slopes around North Conway, making their headquarters at Sunnyside Lodge in that town.

Ken Harvey, captain of this year's Winchester High School football team, Earle Spencer, Phinehas Newton and Larry Smith went up to North Conway Monday, being joined there Wednesday by Jim Kimball, Charlie Lovejoy, Bill Wilde and Addison Augusta. The entire group is expected back in town Sunday.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

On Christmas afternoon the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Smith gave a play before their assembled relatives, Patricia Willing and Constance Smith wrote the play "The Fairies Christmas Party" also designed the costumes and scenery. David Smith was master of ceremonies.

The actors included Christopher Smith and Bobby Willing as bunnies, and Marcia Smith, Constance Smith and Patricia Smith as fairies. A collection was taken at the end for the British Relief Fund.

ILL ADVISED PROJECT

To the Editor of the Star:

In the Dec. 24 issue of the Star you have an editorial relative to a new road extending south from Common street to Bacon street on the west side of the railroad and through the several properties in Rangely.

I do not know who is sponsoring this project but who ever it may be it is an ill advised one and of no economic value to the town. If it is to accommodate traffic originating in Woburn and points north so that they will not have to cross the railroad at the center, such traffic now has two routes which carries it around the center directly into Bacon street to the boulevard or Symmes Corner. The first is via Lake street, Palmer and Fletcher and second out of Woburn via Pond, Woodside road, Wildwood and Fletcher streets. Then there is no excuse for traffic other than trucking to come to the center, and if trucking is not to be allowed on this proposed street, light traffic is taken care of.

The object should be to divert traffic away from the center rather than to make more congestion.

The building of this road would practically destroy the several properties in Rangely, south of the high ledge, which in turn would be an expensive piece of construction, and land damages would also be considerable.

If as you say the proposed project is to provide work, I would say it was ill advised since there are works that could be constructed which would help the development of the town.

As for instance, the extension of Wildwood street through to Ridge street which would open up much area as desirable building sites.

Also extend High street to the Lexington line, if it's roads that must provide post war work. However it is hoped that these will not develop that Boondoggling spirit that we had under WPA projects.

The old slogans of "Fill your shovel or fill your coat" should be put in force again, just putting in time should be taboo.

It is hoped that the property owners in Rangely will stop this proposed project and who ever thought of the scheme should have their heads examined. The road through the playground will accommodate the townspeople, let the others use the present good roads that dodge the railroad.

THE LOCK-OUT?

Every Union contract with management carries a clause "no there shall be no "lock-outs" by management during the life of the contract. Unions insist on this clause. Well, there has not been one lock-out by management during the war, not one single case in the entire nation, whether a contract with Organized Labor or with the 90 per cent of management that has no contract with Organized Labor. Management has never had one single lock-out during any war.

Well, Labor, in most of their contracts and absolutely in their pledge to the government, guaranteed "No Strikes" during the war. The result: Thousands of strikes by Labor all over the country in spite of contracts and inspite of their guarantees to government. What can we think?

We hear every 15 minutes of the splendid part Labor has had in the war effort. Labor and thousands of its members have worked well; but it must never be forgotten that technically trained and skilled management taught them how, furnished and invented the tools, the knowledge the brains, and the savings to pay Labor, for, after all, we all work for wages. This all being an indisputable fact, what under the sun is the cry by Organized Labor Leaders that Labor, meaning Organized Labor, about 8,000,000 of the 50,000,000 working in America, shall have so much of the credit for winning the war?

Strikes, Lock-outs? Which has cost the nation and the armed services the most? No one who deserves credit ever has to ask for it. No one is fooled. Such claims are silly.

There are only 50,000,000 citizens laboring in America and only from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 rely on Labor Leaders to get theirs. There are 150,000,000 people in America, Organized Labor, a small minority, having its rights; but the importance given to it by politicians is all out of proportion either to its part in our economy or its importance as a political factor.

Socrates

LABOR

According to the press, Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., a Labor Union, has tried to discourage strikes and help war production; but his members "gang I up on him" with strikes!

Well, according to this same press report, the President of the Union (C. I. O.) is not responsible for strikes, as he cannot control the membership!

What a situation! What good is Organized Labor?

No strikes guaranteed to government!

No strikes during war!

What good Murray?

The A. F. of L., another union in the country, has about the same record.

This would all seem to prove that Organized Labor is not responsible for any of its actions, so why pay much attention to them, politically or otherwise, until they have the same "curbs", that are placed on management?

Socrates

THE FOURTH TERM?

Since 1932 we have lived in a succession of emergencies. Then appeared the eras of durations, the war on depressions, enlisted for the duration, etc. Now there is the war duration, next the post-war duration, and so on and on, one duration following another, indefinitely.

In 1932 we embarked on the Promised Road, of abundant life, until today, 1943, the New Deal High Command, the nobles of centralized bureaucracy, (like the barons) who created kings in order to protect their soft positions) is building up abundant lifers for the same purposes.

The Plan that it was said we needed in 1932, which was never explained to us, is now perfectly clear. The plan was to spend the entire resources of the nation; then everyone would look to the state for his bare necessities of life.

It never pays to be in the middle. We either go on to some form of totalitarianism or we return to the prosperity of our first 150 years.

We must win this war and we will; but we must win the peace or all will be lost.

Socrates

POLITICS

Well, if the Management brains of the United States businesses and corporations had guessed as incorrectly about the future of the economic trends and investment possibilities in America as the New Deal and Army Generals did about Russian strength, German preparedness, and Japanese diplomacy, America would never have become the greatest and richest nation in the history of the world, with the highest standard of living of any nation in the history of the world.

However, the Army and Navy are now making it up, in spite of lack of information and in spite of the New Deal planning.

If post-war is to provide real job opportunities for returning service men, it will be because Management, and not any post-war professor, did the planning. The only thing I have seen is continued spending by New Deal taxes and the government-mortgaging of our children.

Organized Labor and Management of Business better soon get together and demand that a rather large percentage of any business profits be set aside and earmarked for post-war expansion of private business; or, there just will not be opportunities for returning service men; or, dues for Organized Labor!

Socrates

FOOD?

In Nantucket the last "marsh hen" has passed away, no more marsh hens! In one way or another they gave up a few years ago.

Next, the turkey, still struggling to exist. A wag said the wild turkey was never wild until, well, was it the OPA, (Over-seas Pilgrims' Arrival) that made them wild? Now, the turkey: Wild Indians, OPA, or both because? No matter why, New Deal "planning", or how, the OPA has "clipped the wings" of the Pilgrim's national bird.

Will the OPA (Other People's Affairs) never learn that if there's no profit here, even a turkey goes there. There are plenty of turkeys in America. Ceilings have their place, but never for luxuries.

This OPA, after the war, will have to stand trial like all the others who plan too much centralized control and regimentation, no turkeys in Germany nor in the rest of Europe either.

Take milk cattle in Vermont: they are being slaughtered, daily auctions, milk cattle scarce. Without OPA food cattle cannot be fed. Well, if OPA does not have a "Tri-Country Conference" and agree to let Supply and Demand, "Free Enterprise", win one inning, this "ball game," in fact, the "whole league," will become a "bush league!" Think of it; no milk in New England!

This shortage of food in America is the worst thing (if not planned) that ever happened in our nation's history.

FORMER WINCHESTER TEACHER REPORTS ON RED CROSS WORK IN IRAN

Cairo, (By Special Correspondent)

Ardith Todd, American Red Cross Hospital worker is now stationed somewhere in Iran.

Before joining the Red Cross, Miss Todd was assistant supervisor of art in the Winchester School Department in Winchester, Mass.

Now she works from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. taking care of the recreation hall, working at the Post Office and Post Exchange, visiting the wards, running errands for the boys, playing games with them, writing letters and sending cables for the boys. That's during the week. On Sundays she plays the organ for the services held in the recreation hall. In this connection, it is not generally known that the recreation activities overseas are a function of the Red Cross, not U. S. O.

In describing the recreation hall she said, "A discarded table holds the sewing machine, our most popular piece of equipment; the men just flock to it. Our desk, a packing case modeled with a couple of boards tossed in for support, is not pretty, but it has the distinction of having once been the only piece of furniture the commanding officer owned!

"Several old fashioned school room benches do for religious services and other 'sittings' and our utilities shop patched up an aged ping pong table in return for mended pants, seam stripes, and borrowed paint brushes.

"An Indian bed picked up on the premises will be our divan. With a few wooden strips for a back rest and two discarded mattresses it will be a masterpiece!

"The patients have scraped the doors and window frames and are helping us paint them. They sanded our make-shift altar beautifully. One of the men, once a draper, hung our wall hanging in graceful pleats behind the altar in the chapel end of the room. Of course, on week days this section undergoes a change of trimming and becomes a reading room with whatever books and magazines we can provide.

"When the window drapery material finally arrives from Tehran, we shall have quite a sewing party. And the hall will look more like home with the curtains up. We're going to balance the long plain walls opposite the windows with three large bulletin boards, one for the patients' art, one for colored maps which the patients will also make and one for jokes and notes to friends."

Working in the intense heat of Persia is not easy. It takes endless patience, ingenuity and hard work to create an atmosphere of cheerfulness and home out where Miss Todd is working. But it's being done!

MY NEIGHBOR'S RADIO

Am I going to take a vacation? No. Not in the way you mean other do. But in another way that I'm grateful for.

I am able to go from shore to shore
Hear beautiful music and current events.
Some wonderful talks and a little nonsense.
Which make a mixture we humans adore.
And are always willing to listen for more.

Then again to us come from far away
Our dear old hymns that bring a ray
Of sunshine to weary souls; and again
The word of God, full of help to men
In my chair by the window, rocking still.
On vacation I can always take a will.
I am rested and cheered for many a day
By my neighbor's radio, over the way
There's one on each side of the one where I live
And they obey the request to "freely give."
So you see that I am doubly blessed
Do I take a vacation? Have you guessed.

GEORGE D. BOARDMAN

George D. Boardman, who died Wednesday, Dec. 22 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James T. Mobbs, 57 Lake street, was the oldest former member of the Natick Fire Department and believed to be the last survivor of the firemen who fought the great Boston fire. He had lived in Winchester with his daughter for the past eight years.

Born in Appleton, Me., March 23, 1855, Mr. Boardman went to Natick as a boy of six years. He attended the Natick schools and while in high school started as a torch boy for the old Victor hand engine of the Natick Fire Department. Later he was in charge of the town's first fire alarm system and was a member of a horse-drawn hose crew. He retained his membership in the Natick Department while in the employ of the Howe and Company express service for 32 years. Later for 16 years prior to his retirement in 1936 he was employed as a watchman by the Dennison Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Boardman was the oldest member of the Natick Firemen's Relief Association, having continued his membership until the time of his death. His wife, the former Emily Atwood, died in 1938, leaving Mrs. Mobbs as his only survivor.

Funeral services were held on last Sunday afternoon at the Mitchell Funeral Home on Pond street in Natick with Rev. Everett R. Barrows of the Fisk Memorial Methodist Church in that town, officiating.

Bearers were six members of the Natick Fire Department, Chief L. Ivan G. Brown, Deputy Chief James Morris, Frederick Woods, Clarence Augustine, Frank Waggeskworth and William Gledhill. Burial was in Dell Park Cemetery.

Behind a split rail fence near Hodgenville, Kentucky, is the Lincoln Memorial of granite and marble, erected on the farm site where Abraham Lincoln was born. The one room log house is enclosed within the memorial.

Lincoln saw the evils of a country "half slave-half free." We are fighting now to keep Nazi slavery away from our free shores as much as to liberate the conquered peoples of Europe and Asia.

Keep On Backing the Attack With War Bonds

Our Boys Are Fighting For Apple Pie!

In the midst of jungle skirmishes a war correspondent made a survey to see what our fellows were fighting for. He found that most of the boys wanted most to get home for a piece of Mom's apple pie or to have a chocolate malted milk at the corner drug store with the gang.

Sure they're heroes—but they're mighty human ones. They are homesick and they admit it. Let's make a vow and stick to it . . . Lets buy more Bonds to bring our boys back. May we sell you one today?

CIVILIAN AID TO OUR ALLY RUSSIA

Women of the Epiphany Church Service League, at their first meeting of 1944, Jan. 4, will hear about an area of great human need which is opening more and more for the help that civilians and civilian groups can give. Immediately after the luncheon, Mrs. Pitirim Sorokin will speak to them of Russian need as she knows it from men and women who have seen with their own eyes what devastation war has brought to millions of Russians.

The Epiphany League will have on hand cut garments which some members of the Tuesday sewing group will make for Russian War Relief.

Fortunately the chairman of the sewing activity, Mrs. Bernard Swedler, is able to report that the Tuesday sewing for our own church missions, schools and hospitals, is well advanced even though in this parish year of 1943-44 Epiphany undertook to do twice as much of this work as before. Red Cross sewing will be done each Tuesday also from 10 to 4. New workers will be welcome, for their fellowship as well as for their stitches. They may choose whether they will sew for missions, the Red Cross or Russia.

"WILL 1911 BE A YEAR OF DESTINY?"

Mr. Chapman will give an answer to the question at the Unitarian Church in his first sermon of the New Year at the 11 a. m. service. He will also indicate the implications in answers to such questions as: "Will 1944 see the end of the war? Will Japan be defeated? Will the war drag on? No one can give the answers to these questions but everyone should be thinking about them and be prepared to meet what 1944 will bring.

"Will 1944 be a year of Destiny?" What is your answer? Attend the Unitarian Church on Sunday morning and hear Mr. Chapman's answer.

SUNDAY EVENING SONG SERVICE

The speaker next Sunday evening at the Sunday evening Song Service at the First Baptist Church will be Rev. Herbert Jackson, who has just returned from a Japanese Internment Camp on the S. S. Gripsholm as an exchange prisoner.

Mr. Jackson has a real story to tell about prison conditions and it will be worth your while to make a special effort to be present. A large attendance is earnestly hoped for.

Twenty minutes of a real old fashioned Song Service led by Dr. Pride and letters from servicemen now in active service will be read. Make it a point to be there.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Wednesday, Jan. 5, Mrs. Fred Cameron and the steering committee of local British War Relief ask all members of the unit to be present if possible. An important question will be considered during the luncheon pause at 12:30.

Praise of Boston hospitality to men in service has recently come to a member of the Winchester unit, Mrs. John Haines, Jr., from a brother in the Faroes. (Find them on your map of the North!) He wrote: "I met some sailors who had been all over the place and had just come from Boston and they said what a smashing time they had over there. They remarked on the freedom of the place and that was more or less out of the war so far as air raids and alerts are concerned."

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, Jan. 2, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and in all of its branches.

The Golden Text, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God," is from Revelation 21:3. Other Bible citations include, "The four of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether . . . Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward" (Psalms 19:9, 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligations to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them" (p. 261).

THE BOY SCOUTS NEED MEN

Yes, odd as it may sound, what the Boy Scouts of America in this area most need at present is not more boys but more men.

The war has created a critical shortage among the good Americans who, without pay or praise, have long served the Boy Scouts. If you are ineligible for service in the armed forces and yet there is strong in your heart the urge to do something worthy for America, here is your shining opportunity. You need no special talent or experience, only good will and a reasonable background of education. Guidance and instruction for any office you may undertake are readily obtainable from veteran co-workers.

Among the vacancies which most need filling are the following: district committeemen, sponsoring committeemen, merit badge examiners, Scoutmasters and assistant Scoutmasters (for groups of boys 12 years and over); Cubmasters, (for groups of boys of 9 to 12 years); skippers for Sea Scouts; Squadron leaders for Air Scouts.

If you are interested, please write a note to Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, Winchester, saying you are willing to serve. They will promptly send a nearby member of your local district committee to see you and to give you full information.

Mr. Coty was born in Canada 88 years ago, but came as a boy to this country and for the past 75 years had been a resident of Winchester, being well and favorably known among older residents of the town. For 54 years until his retirement about 15 years ago he was in the employ of the Bacon Felt Company of this town. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Parish.

Mr. Coty was a widower. He leaves three daughters, Miss Mabel Coty and Mrs. Irene Harvey of this town, Mrs. Lillian Gillett of Medford; and two sons, William and Henry Coty, both residents of New York City.

WINCHESTER FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mrs. Theodore A. Dissel will speak on Egypt's contribution to the literature of the world at the meeting of the literature group on Monday, Jan. 3 at 2 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall.

As a special feature, Mrs. Gilbert W. Paul, committee chairman, will read a long poem written by the late Mrs. Arzillia M. Higgins. This poem which embodies an old Egyptian legend, was written by Mrs. Higgins at the age of 16, and those who have read it pronounced an unusually fine piece of work. When the year's course of study was formulated in the summer it was planned that she should read the poem herself. This meeting is to be a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Higgins who was so dearly respected and loved by all who knew her and whose modesty kept her talent hidden.

AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Winchester War Fund Committee of the American Red Cross has just received the news from Washington that a War Fund of $200,000,000 will be asked of the American public next March to finance wartime operations of the American Red Cross, Chairman Norman H. Davis announced.

The goal for the third Red Cross War Fund campaign was set after the Central Committee of the American Red Cross carefully reviewed budget estimates for local, national, and international work of the Red Cross for the year beginning March 1, 1944. Of this sum $140,000,000 will be required by the national organization to finance its national and international activities, of which approximately 85 per cent will be spent directly for Red Cross services to America's men in the fighting forces, Mr. Davis revealed.

The remainder of the national goal, $60,000,000 represents the approximate aggregate of the amounts required by the 3756 chapters for work in their own communities, the major portion of which is for assistance to servicemen and their families.

Chairman Davis also announced that Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and chairman of the last Red Cross War Fund campaign, will head a special committee to solicit corporate gifts and will work with Leon Fraser, president of the First National Bank of the City of New York and national chairman of the forthcoming campaign.

"While our 1944 objective is the largest campaign goal in Red Cross history," Mr. Davis said, "It represents the minimum amount required to meet constantly increasing demands from the Army and Navy for Red Cross services. The magnitude of our job is greater than ever before. The American people have never failed to respond to an appeal from the Red Cross. In the approaching campaign I am confident they will contribute most generously to enable the organization to discharge its responsibilities to our armed forces."

HOME NURSING CARE IN INFLUENZA

"No other disease is more disabling to community life, for the reason that so many are placed on the non-effective list at the same time."

We are in the midst of an epidemic of a mild type of influenza. To avoid a feeling of panic, it is well to point out that uncomplicated influenza of the present type is of short duration, and that great advances have been made in making available effective treatment for cases with serious complications.

1. Home Nursing Care of Influenza. Important factors in care and control:
(a) Skillful nursing care for the recovery of the sick person and the prevention of spread of the disease to others in the family, and in the community, are the first objectives.

1. Combination of symptoms likely to occur:
a. Sudden onset
b. Fever with chilly sensations
c. Severe aching: head, back and extremities
d. Symptoms of "common cold" (watery eyes, runny nose, sore throat)
e. Cough
f. Severe prostration

2. Important things for the home nurse to do:
a. Set apart the first case at home, insofar as possible, to reduce the possibility of a house epidemic.
b. Keep the patient in bed as long as fever persists; this benefits the patient and aids in the control of the disease by keeping the patient out of circulation.
c. Record pulse, temperature, and respiration every three hours and note any special character of pulse or respiration.
d. Avoid chilling; keep warm.
e. Give ample fluids.
f. Dispose of nose and throat discharges by burning or boiling. Remember: The discharges from the mouth and nose of the patient will carry the infection to others.
g. Avoid the cough and sneeze of the patient. Instruct the patient to cover mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing. The mode of transmission is believed to be by direct contact with droplets or articles freshly soiled with nose and throat discharges of the patient.
h. Wash your hands after you have given care to the patient.

(Whenever possible, use the local visiting nurse association or the nurses' official registry to supervise home nursing care of the patient.)

3. Danger signals:
a. Fever beyond three days
b. Cough with foul-smelling sputum
c. Earache
d. Persistent drowsiness
e. Persistent nosebleed
4. Possible complications
a. Middle ear infection
b. Acute sinusitis
c. Bronchitis
d. Pneumonia
e. Lung abscess

B. Local health department regulations should be thoroughly understood and strictly followed. Influenza spreads very rapidly. Avoid crowds.

C. A physician should be consulted either by telephone or visitation.
